PREFACE

Here is presented the first volume of the VEDIC VARIANTS. The aim of this work is to present a grammatical and stylistic study of the entire mass of the variant readings in the repeated mantras of the Vedic tradition, as revealed primarily by Bloomfield's Vedic Concordance. That book presents a complete 'index to every line of every stanza of the [then] published Vedic literature [and of some works not yet published at the time], and to the liturgical formulas thereof.' Of its some 90,000 entries, not far from a third occur more than once, ei'ʿ r in the same text or in different texts. Of the repeated text-units, again, it is estimated that about one-third show variations. The VEDIC VARIANTS are concerned with the variant readings of these repeated mantras, numbering roughly 10,000.

As to extent, the variations range all the way from change of a single letter in a single word, to radical rearrangements of the whole text. They may or may not be accompanied by shift of meaning, great or slight. They may be assumed to have been made sometimes consciously and sometimes unconsciously. As to character, they are of the most varied sort. They concern phonetics, the interrelation of different sounds and sound-changes; various departments of morphology, such as formation of stems of nouns, pronouns, and verbs, their inflection, and suffixation; syntax; order of words in the sentence; synonyms; meter; etc. There is hardly an important paragraph in Vedic grammar, or a department of the textual criticism and exegesis of the Veda, on which they fail to throw light.

Furthermore, it is believed that the Variants will have great interest and value for general linguistics. The literature of the world happens to contain no analogous body of material which can compare with them in size and scope. The tradition of the Veda was at first oral; and what was originally one and the same stanza or formula was handed down in the texts of the various schools in more or less varying forms. The variants are often of the same general character as those which appear in the various forms of ballads, or of church hymns: there are simple differences in the order of words; differences due to the substitution of a more familiar, handy, or modern word or grammatical form for an archaic, inconvenient, or obsolescent one of equivalent meaning or function [or the converse of this, due to a conscious archaizing tendency]. To this must be added the very important point that there are also many cases in which a given mantra passage, composed under certain definite circumstances, was later on adapted and changed to serve a new purpose.

Furthermore, Vedic literary production is often in a high degree imitative and mechanical [a trait which it shares with most religious literature]. The poets or priests, more or less consciously, fell into habits of expression such that entire lines of different stanzas or hymns, and considerable sequences of words of different prose passages, show much similarity.

So, but for the bracketed phrases, Bloomfield wrote in the Preface to his Concordance, before he had systematically studied the Variants. Later he would probably have laid greater stress on the presumably unconscious element in the variations, which was perhaps at least as weighty as the conscious, and is certainly at least as interesting linguistically. I suspect, at any rate, that we learn even more about the speech-habits of the Vedic priests from the changes which they introduced without realizing it, than from their deliberate alterations. But whether conscious or unconscious—and at this distance it is obviously impossible to separate the two classes with confidence—any linguistic scholar will see at a glance how many interesting observations can be drawn from these thousands of variations, touching on every field of grammar and of linguistic psychology.

From the pages of the Concordance, Bloomfield collected and classified the Variants in a preliminary way, arranging them topically under ten or a dozen main heads, with numerous subdivisions in each. Of course very many passages had to be included several times over under different headings. This preliminary spade-work was completed when he proposed to the present writer a collaborative enterprise, which offer was gladly accepted. This was about 1913. In the next half-dozen years I worked up from Bloomfield's lists, supplemented by further gleanings of my own, a preliminary draft of four of the major sections of the work: those on Phonetics (including Euphonic Combination or Sandhi), on Noun Formation (stems and suffixes), on Noun Inflection, and on Order of Words. Bloomfield completed the first draft of the greater part of the section on the Verb. There the matter rested, for lack of prospect of publication. Bloomfield left collectanea on Synonyms, Pronouns, and Prepositions and Particles, and a few minor lists, in addition to those already mentioned. A section on Meter would also be desirable.

On Bloomfield's death in 1928, I took charge of the entire work, and I have since revised and completed the section on the Verb, here presented. It seems best to publish it first, since the major part of it can be issued substantially as it came from the pen of one of the world's greatest Vedists and linguistic scholars.

The publication has been made possible by the generous aid of the LINGUISTIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA, and of the AMERICAN COUNCIL OF LEARNED SOCIETIES DEVOTED TO HUMANISTIC STUDIES, to both of which hearty thanks are due and are hereby tendered. The surviving author also desires to express his deep appreciation of the staunch and effective support given to the project by the Chairman of the Committee on Publications of the LINGUISTIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA, Professor George Melville Bolling.

Since the work on the Variants has been a collaborative enterprise, and since it was Bloomfield's intention that it should appear over our joint names, no attempt has been made to separate the contributions of the two authors. It would, indeed, be impossible to make such a separation completely. Credit belongs to Bloomfield alone for the general plan of the whole work on the Variants; it was he who conceived it and sketched its outlines. He also prepared, from the Concordance, the preliminary lists of materials for this as well as for nearly all the volumes to follow. To some extent these lists have been expanded by further search on my part, in the Concordance and elsewhere. Moreover, it was Bloomfield, as stated above, who prepared for publication the first draft of the major part of this volume, on the Verb. To be exact, he wrote out a draft of all except the long chapter on Person and Number, the last in the book. I have checked and revised his manuscript, verifying most of the references from the original texts, and making such changes as seemed to me necessary. Most of the changes were of the sort which I am confident he would have made himself in a final revision. I have preserved his language thruout as far as it was possible to do so. A more radical revision of some paragraphs has been made necessary by the appearance, since Bloomfield wrote his manuscript, of new publications, as for instance Renou's valuable dissertation on La valeur du parfait dans les hymnes védiques (Paris, 1925). When I have made such far-reaching changes, and whenever I could not feel entirely confident that Bloomfield would have been in agreement with what I have written, I have enclosed my additions or substitutions in [square brackets], followed by the initials of my name. I hope and believe that, even in these parts (which are not numerous), I have written little that would not have met with his approval. The chapter on Person and Number is entirely my work, aside from the gathering of the preliminary lists, which in this case proved to be rather incomplete. Under the circumstances I must perforce accept entire responsibility for the final form of the work as printed, as well as for that of all the volumes to follow. In them, unhappily, Bloomfield's share will be much smaller than in this volume; altho I am glad to say that some of the others, notably that on Phonetics, received considerable attention from him.

ABBREVIATIONS AND SYMBOLS

The abbreviations used need little explanation. Vedic texts are referred to by the abbreviations used in the Vedic Concordance; except that, of course, the letter ś is substituted for ç, as also in all Sanskrit words, in accordance with the now prevalent international usage. Other abbreviations are rarely used and, it is hoped, will be self-explanatory. RVRep. = Bloomfield's Rigveda Repetitions.

Two symbols, which are frequently used, require explanation: the asterisk * and the dagger †.

The asterisk * is used to indicate a variant reading of one text when the mantra occurs in the same text with the reading for which this variant is a substitute. For instance: satyaṁ vadiṣyāmi (TA.* vadiṣye) TA. (bis) TU. ŚG. MG. This means that TA. has the pāda in both forms, namely, satyaṁ vadiṣyāmi, and satyaṁ vadiṣye.

The dagger † is used to call attention to a quotation which needs to be corrected in the Concordance. For instance: tat satyaṁ yad vīraṁ bibhṛthaḥ (MŚ.† °taḥ) TB. ApŚ. MŚ. This means that the reading of MŚ. is wrongly quoted in the Concordance (it fails to note the variant bibhṛtaḥ).
CHAPTER I. INTRODUCTORY

Scope and plan of this work

§1. The variations in verbal inflexion are concerned with every leading aspect under which the verb is treated in the grammars. They are, however, dealt with here not in the usual order of the Sanskrit grammars, but either according to their relative importance, or in accordance with certain logical and practical conveniences. These interchanges are, in any case, heterogeneous, partly formal, partly syntactical, and partly stylistic; the boundary lines between these kinds are hazy. The more important rubrics, such as voice, mood, and tense, are, moreover, so large a part of the whole as to call for first consideration; to some extent they serve as a convenient background for assorting and placing the remaining interchanges. It has seemed best then to present the subject under the following nine larger rubrics:

   II. The Voices
  III. The Moods
  IV. The Tenses and Tense-Systems
   V. The Secondary Conjugations
  VI. Interchange between finite Verbs and Verbal Nouns
 VII. Interchanges of equivalent Personal Endings
VIII. Matters pertaining to Augment and Reduplication
  IX. Variation in Grade of Stems and Allied Matters
   X. Person and Number

§2. By way of illustrating the combined effects of most, or at least many, of these phases of verbal variation in the case of a given root, we have chosen the root hū 'call'. The interchanges practised on the body of this root are gathered in the following list:

huve nu (RV. VS. KS. MahānU. hvayāmi) śakraṁ puruhūtam indram RV. AV. SV. VS. TS. MS. KS. MahānU.

sarasvatīṁ sukṛto ahvayanta (AV. havante; comm. ahvayanta) RV. AV. KS.

sarvāṅ agnīṅr apsuṣado huve vaḥ (MS. om. vaḥ) TS. MS. AB.: śivān agnīn apsuṣado havāmahe AV.

taṁ (RV. om.) sarasvantam avase huvema (AV. havāmahe; RV. KS. johavīmi) RV. RVKh. AV. TS. MS. KS. AŚ. ŚŚ.

agniṁ (AV. ukthair; MahānU. ugraṁ) huvema (AV. havāmahe) paramāt sadhasthāt AV. TA. MahānU.

mano nv ā huvāmahe (Vait. °hi; VS. ŚB. KŚ. Kauś. hvāmahe) RV. VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. AB. ŚB. AŚ. ŚŚ. KŚ. LŚ. ApŚ. Vait. Kauś. The Vait. (20.9) reading should be the same as that of its source, Kauś. 89.1; but 3 mss. of Kauś. read hvāmahi, and possibly this should be read in both texts.

rathītamau rathīnām ahva (KS. °nāṁ huva) ūtaye TS. MS. KS.: āśūn huve (AV. iva) suyamān (AV. °mān ahva) ūtaye AV. TS. MS. KS.

havante vājasātaye RV.: huvema vā° RV. SV. MS. KS.: huveya vā° RV. AV.

bṛhaspatiṁ vaḥ prajāpatiṁ vo. . . . . viśvān vo devān viśvataḥ pari havāmahe GB. Vait.: cf. bṛhaspatiṁ viśvān devān ahaṁ huve RV.

§3. If we contemplate this welter of variations we find, in the first place, that it is not due, as might be antecedently supposed, to adaptation. No variant serves a new purpose, different from that of the parallels. They are, without exception, grammatical or mildly stylistic. And they often betray themselves as being blends of two or more existing expressions, which appear in the texts, notably the RV., elsewhere. Thus, in the item taṁ sarasvantam avase huvema (AV. havāmahe, KS. johavīmi), the unmetrical KS. reading is due, secondarily of course, to the parallel pāda sarasvantam avase johavīmi RV.

Here johavīmi is metrically faultless, and its passage into a wrong place was, perhaps, promoted further by the cadences avase johavīmi, RV. 1. 34. 12, and avase johavīti, RV. 3. 62. 2; 7. 38. 6.

§4. In no less than five instances of the above list AV. reads, at the end of its pādas, havāmahe in the place of related expressions in other texts. So favorite a cadence has this become in AV. that we find it in four of these five times as a mildly incommensurable jagatī cadence in otherwise triṣṭubh stanzas: 3. 16. 2; 7. 6. 2; 7. 40. 1; 16. 1. 13.[1] Only in one case, 3. 16. 1, does the AV. cadence conform to the rest of the (jagatī) stanza. It is quite clear that AV., tho well acquainted with all the other present stems of the root hū, has been enticed into this preference for havāmahe by the fact that the word occurs extensively at the ends of pādas; e.g. avase havāmahe RV. 2. 16. 1; 3. 26. 2; 8. 86. 4; 8. 99. 8; 10. 66.

4, reproduced in two of the four AV. instances, 7. 6. 2; 7. 40. 1. For other numerous instances of havāmahe in jagatī cadence see RVRep.
660, under final cadences in -he.

§5. That the four present stems of hū, namely hava, huva, hvaya, and johavī, should interchange in the total oral Vedic tradition, needs no comment. It is, probably, supported by set phrases in which the hū present is accompanied by some other word. The only surprising thing is that the popular AV. has not passed over into the (later regular) stem hvaya, but, on the contrary, finds it in its heart to exhibit in two instances other stems for hvaya of parallel texts[2]:

huve nu (RV. VS. KS. MahānU. hvayāmi) śakraṁ puruhūtam indram RV. AV. SV. VS. TS. MS. KS. MahānU.
sarasvatīṁ sukṛto ahvayanta (AV. havante) RV. AV. KS.[3]

§6. For interchange in this group between moods, tenses, augmented and augmentless forms, and so forth, see the respective rubrics. Barring occasional textual blunders, these and the countless others like them from other roots are one and all outcomes of Vedic tradition as a whole, which in the main does not show the formal, syntactic, and stylistic stability which is customary in literature of a more advanced type. For the most part, as may be seen, rubric by rubric, the variations between text and text are based upon the natural freedom of expression in prayers and songs of praise, and upon the looser syntax which, compared for instance with Greek and Latin, pervades Sanskrit from the Veda to the end of its career. Faults of memory no doubt entered largely into these variations, and so help to account for such instability in the tradition of the Vedic mantras, which was so largely oral.

[1] In one internal occurrence, 7. 63. 1, AV. uses havāmahe where it can only be called a gross metrical blunder: agniṁ (AV. ukthair, MahānU. ugraṁ) huvema (AV. havāmahe) paramāt sadhasthāt AV. TA. MahānU.

[2] See Bloomfield, JAOS. 21. 48; The Atharvaveda 50, n. 5.

[3] Here, to be sure, the AV. comm. reads ahvayanta with the rest. The variant quoted by the Conc. as apāṁ napātam aśvinā huve dhiyā (TS. aśvinā hvayantām) is a slip; TS. reads hayantam and this does not concern the root hū.

Ambiguous grammatical forms: augmented and augmentless preterites

§7. According to a familiar experience of Vedic grammar it is quite often difficult, or even impossible, to determine the precise formal or functional meaning of certain Vedic verbs. This difficulty would, to some extent, seem to be eliminable by means of the variants which are, of course, occasionally in the nature of reciprocal comments. Thus augmentless preterites are not infrequently in interchange with unambiguous modal forms. This makes, or seems at first blush to make, prima facie evidence in favor of the modal (injunctive) value of the corresponding augmentless forms, and as a rule we have so classified them. Thus in the class 'Subjunctive and Injunctive', §167 f., the augmentless forms are regarded as modal. Yet they might in perhaps every case be considered preterites, but for that very interchange with subjunctives, as e.g. in prācīnaṁ sīdat (MS. sīdāt) pradiśā pṛthivyāḥ VS. MS. KS. TB.

Nay more: even in spite of that interchange, there is no way of proving that they are not to be considered preterites. For, as we shall show, §§112 ff., indicatives of all sorts, and §§127 ff. more particularly preterites, exchange with moods of all sorts on a huge scale for good and proper reasons, so that the alternation of sīdat and its apparent interpreter sīdāt really proves nothing in itself. The decision in such cases must be left to tactful individual considerations.

§8. We would draw attention here to a few especially vexing cases of his sort, e.g.:

havyā te svadantām (MS. svadan[4], KS. asvadan) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. 'delightful to taste be (were) to thee the oblations.' Here svadan may be injunctive to match the modal (imperative) svadantām; or it may be preterite indicative to match asvadan.[5] Chi lo sa? Similarly, in kāmaṁ (AV. PB. kāmaḥ, KS. kāmas) samudram ā viśa (AV. viveśa, KS. PB. viśat) AV. KS. PB. TB. TA. AŚ. ApŚ., viśat is ambiguous; it may be preterite, to match viveśa, or injunctive to match viśa. Of a different aspect is āsann ā (SV. PB. āsan naḥ) pātraṁ janayanta (KS. °tu) devāḥ RV. SV. VS. TS. MS. KS. PB. ŚB.

[4] In one of two occurrences the MS. mss. and ed. read svadam (p.p. likewise), which is probably an error as indicated by the other reading in the same text, tho possibly a transitive 1st person sing.

[5] And that whether we regard it as augmentless with the mss. and p.p. of MS., or as intended for 'svadan = asvadan of KS.; we ignore at this point this purely formal question as to whether an augment is or is not felt as present where Vedic sandhi permits the elision of initial a, a question which obviously increases the dubiety of some of the forms we are discussing; see §§264ff.

'the gods begot (shall beget) him (Agni) as a vessel at their (our) mouths.'
We have classified (§136) janayanta as imperfect, because that seems to us the better sense; we are frankly subjective, as we think we must be.
In other words, we refuse to attach value in this instance to the implied comment of the single janayantu of KS. Yet the Kāṭhakas, if we may trust their tradition, evidently conceived the passage reasonably enuf.
Next,

tisro yad agne śaradas tvām ic, chucim ghṛtena śucayaḥ saparyān (TB. saparyan), nāmāni cid dadhire yajñiyāni RV. TB.,

'when for three autumns (seasons? = one year, Bergaigne 2. 117 n.) the pure (gods?) honored with ghee just thee, O Agni, the pure one, they obtained names (forms) worthy of sacrifice.' Here one might classify saparyan as injunctive, because of the modal value of saparyān. But [the reason for this modal form has never been explained (F. E.), and] a glance at §§264 ff. shows that augmentless imperfects may be regarded just as easily as true imperfects. On the whole, in spite of the implied comment of saparyān, we have preferred to construe (§145, d) saparyan as imperfect. [This may, indeed, suggest the reason for TB's variation; to the feeling of TB., as to ours, an imperfect indicative was perhaps required. F. E.]

§9. Similarly, in jātaḥ pṛchad (SV. pṛchād) vi mātaram RV. SV.
(cf. vi pṛchad iti mātaram RV.) 'as soon as born he asked his mother', the SV., wholly contrary to our sense of fitness, imposes modal value upon the verb. More perplexing than these is the small list discussed §268 (cf. §145), in which augmented imperfects interchange with corresponding augmentless forms in dependent clauses. The latter may be either imperfects, or injunctives, which occur freely enuf in relative clauses, see §§125 and 168. In brief, the evidence of the variants, taken by itself, rarely if at all fixes the syntactical value of augmentless preterites.

Uncertainty as to the moods of certain presents and aorists

§10. In this work, as elsewhere, it is hard to distinguish modal forms of the root-present and the accented a-present (aorist present) from the modal forms of the root-aorist and the a-aorist. In two related cases, marto vurīta (TS. vṛṇīta; KS. vareta) sakhyam RV. VS. TS. MS. KS.
ŚB.

dyumnam (KS. also °ne) vṛṇīta puṣyase (KS. vareta puṣyatu) RV. VS.
TS. MS. KS. ŚB.
we have followed what may be called the orthodox classification of the forms vurīta (Lat. volīte) and vareta as aorists.   The decision is grounded on the absence of forms with primary endings by the side of these forms.

We are of course not influenced by the present-tense variant vṛṇīta, which is ambiguous as to mood.[6]   But this criterion is not always valid in our eyes.   In §210 a, occur seven cases in which kṛdhi (once kṛṣva) exchanges with kṛṇu and kuru (once kṛṇuṣva).   We have taken kṛdhi to be aorist imperative, contrary to some authorities (e.g. Grassmann, Wbch. 334b), not deterred by sporadic back-formations (from this very kṛdhi) into the present: kṛthas, kṛtha (cf. Whitney, Roots, 21).   With some hesitation we have also classed as aorists the first of the following pairs: pātam, pibatam (notwithstanding RV. pānti, §210, a); śrotā, śṛṇota (ibidem); manai, manve (§119).   Or we have shirked a final decision as to whether the first is a present or an aorist in the following pairs:
yukṣvā, yuñkṣvā (§192); madasva (probably present), mandasva (ibidem).
Various cases of ambiguity spring from thematic a: is it present sign or subjunctive sign on the body of a non-thematic form?   Thus in karati, karoti (§124, end), cf. karati, kṛṇotu (§154), and karah, kṛṇotu (§104, o), in both of which last cases we classify kara- as aorist subjunctive.   Doubtful also is vanate, varying with both the present vanute and the aorist vaṅsate (§117), or, again, with vanutām (§§116, 154, 191).

§11. In the perfectly clear expression sa tvaitebhyah pari dadat (TA. dadāt) pitṛbhyah RV. AV. TA. N.

'he shall hand thee over to these manes', both forms, though grammatically ambiguous, are treated as respectively subjunctive and injunctive (see §167).   They might also be regarded as imperfect indica-tives, thematic and non-thematic; see §193 where occur what may be felt as the same forms, since the circumstances make it impossible to say whether the augment was felt with them or not.

§12. In all these and similar cases we have often classified on what may be called the line of least resistance, on the basis of common sense and average Vedic habit; and we have not, in all cases, thought it necessary to suggest the obvious alternative.   Cf. on this theme Neisser, BB.
7. 211 ff.

Imperatives (?) or Subjunctives in se

§13. Of exceptional interest are the two forms stuṣe and kṛṣe interchanging with stuhi and kṛdhi, listed §165.   We have inclined to regard

[6] Perhaps best considered optative in view of the parallels, tho in itself it might equally well be injunctive or imperative.

them as 2d person singular middle imperatives, or perhaps better sub-junctives, corresponding to the well-established class of active modal forms in si.

Phonetic variants: interchange between t and th in 2d plurals

§14. A number of phonetic variations are so constant as to raise the question whether the resulting formal differences are not in part mere oral blunders, especially in cases where one of the verb-forms is questionable on some other ground. The most important of these is the interchange between t and th, part of the broad chapter of interchanges between unaspirated and aspirated stops, which will appear as an important part of our volume on Phonetics. Thus the 2d plural endings ta and tha interchange freely, there being rarely any connexion in which either of them, notwithstanding their modal difference, is impossible or even difficult; cf. the other interchanges between indicative and imperative, §116. The chronology of the texts generally decides in favor of one or the other:

taṁ sma jānīta (VSK. °tha) parame vyoman AV. VS. VSK. TS. KS. ŚB. MŚ. Here jānītha, tho perfectly sound grammar, is a secondary blend of jānīta and (subj.) jānātha in the kindred formula: etaṁ jānātha (KS. jānīta; TB. jānītāt) pa° vy° VS. KS. ŚB. TB.; cf. jānīta smainaṁ (TS. MŚ. jānītād enam) pa° vy° AV. TS. MŚ.

§15. In the next, kṛtha is a dubious root present, really a back-formation from aorists such as kṛdhi. Yet it is certainly the original reading: yad āmayati niṣ kṛtha (TS. MS. KS. kṛta) RV. VS. TS. MS. KS.

§16. In the following group, primary tha, with indicative sense, is secondary and more or less inferior to the ending ta with injunctive or imperative sense:

devebhyo bhavata (TB. °tha) suprāyaṇāḥ RV. AV. VS. MS. KS. TB. N.

śivā no bhavata (ApŚ. °tha) jīvase MS. ApŚ.

śuddhāḥ pūtā bhavata (TA. °tha, MG. °ntu) yajñiyāsaḥ RV. TA. MG.

datto asmabhyam (etc., see §250, p. 165) draviṇeha bhadram AV. KS. AŚ. SMB.: dadhatha no draviṇaṁ yac ca bhadram MS.

§17. Wholly anomalous, not to say impossible, are the traditionally recorded tha forms in the next two:

ye 'tra pitaraḥ . . . . bhūyāstha AV. ŚŚ.: ya etasmin loke . . . .
   bhūyāsta TS. TB.   Of course a precative formation cannot, according to decent grammar, have a primary ending; yet apparently all mss. of both AV. and ŚŚ. agree on -tha; see Whitney on AV.
   18. 4. 86.

arālāg udabhartsata (AV. mss. °tha) AV. ŚŚ.   The AV. mss. at 20. 139. 1 read thus; in an augmented form tha is a monstrosity.   Roth's violent emendation, āsannā udabhir yathā, has of course no standing.

§18. On the other hand the forms in tha claim precedence in the following:

payasvatīḥ kṛṇuthāpa (TS. °tāpa) oṣadhīḥ śivāḥ (TS. om. śi°) AV. TS.

ud īrayathā (MS. MŚ °tā; AV. KS. °ta) marutaḥ samudrataḥ RV. AV.
   TS. MS. KS. AŚ. MŚ.

Phonetic variants: interchange between t and th in 2d and 3d duals §20. About equally often the 2d and 3d dual forms interchange so as to involve t and th; these cases will be classified in greater detail in the section on Person, below.   The decision as to priority depends on attendant circumstances, notably the relative chronology of the texts:

hato (SV. TB. hatho) vṛtrāṇy-āryā (AV. TB. aprati) RV. AV. SV. TB.
   Followed in RV. SV. by the next two:

hato (SV. hatho) dāsāni satpatī, and: hato (SV. hatho) viśvā apa dviṣaḥ RV. SV.   An entire stanza is changed here from 3d person reference to direct address; see below, §§329, 332.—As in this case, the t forms are prior in:

sam (ApMB. śam) ūdho romaśaṁ hataḥ (ApMB. hathaḥ) RV. ApMB.
   The form hathaḥ is absurd, though apparently very old in the Ap.
   tradition, see Winternitz, Introduction to ApMB., p. xx.

purā gṛdhrād araruṣaḥ pibātaḥ (TB. °thaḥ) RV. MS. TB.

§21. But in the next two the th form is evidently prior; while in most of the rest here listed there is little clear evidence supporting either one:

citrebhir abhrair upa tiṣṭhatho (MS. °to) ravam RV.† MS. Followed by:

dyāṁ varṣayatho (MS. °to) asurasya māyayā RV. MS.   The p.p. of MS.
   has °thaḥ.   See §337.

ghṛtena dyāvāpṛthivī prorṇuvāthām (VSK. TS. ApS. prorṇvāthām; MS.
MS. prorṇuvātām) VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. ApŚ. MŚ.; cf.

loke(-na) prorṇuvāthām etc. (only MS. °tām; VS. VSK. TS. KSA.
[which reads saṁprorṇuvāthām] ŚB. TB. Vait. °thām).

yā (AV. TS. yāv) ātmanvad bibhṛto (KS.† °tho, AV. viśatho) yau ca rak-ṣataḥ (AV. KS.† °thaḥ) AV. TS. MS. KS.

KS. TS.

yā rājānā (TS. °nam) saratham yātha (MS. yāta) ugrā TS. MS. KS.

tat satyam yad vīram bibhṛthaḥ (MŚ.† °taḥ); and, in same passage:

vīram janayiṣyathaḥ (MŚ. °taḥ); and:

te mat prātaḥ prajanayiṣyethe (MŚ. °te), te mā prajāte prajanayiṣyathaḥ (MŚ. °taḥ) TB. ApŚ. MŚ.

yajñasya yuktau dhuryā (TB. ApŚ. °yāv) abhūtām (MS. °thām) MS. KS.†
TB. ApS. And, in same stanza:

divi (KS. dive) jyotir ajaram (MS. KS. uttamam) ārabhetām (MS. KS.
°thām), same texts. abhūthām is anomalous; see §§56, 337.

kāmam duhātām iha śakvarībhiḥ AV.: rāṣṭram duhāthām iha revatībhiḥ TB. Here, tho the context in AV. requires a 3d person verb, most
mss. read °thām like TB. (but Ppp. °tām).

§22. For lack of a better place here we append here another curious variant between t and th in verbal endings, which concerns neither duals nor 2d plurals:

abhiramyatām (MŚ. 8. 20 °thām!) MŚ. ŚG. YDh. BṛhPDh. So according to Conc. the mss. of MŚ. as recorded by Knauer; since it occurs in the unpublished part of MŚ. it is impossible to verify it, but it is presumably a mistake in copying by either an Indian scribe or a western scholar. The form abhiramyatām is, of course, 3d singular passive imperative.

Phonetic variants: interchange between a and u before v

§23. From out of the confusion of shifting vowel tradition in the variants, to be treated in our volume on Phonetics, one phase tends to unsettle the exact meaning of a certain group of verb changes. Namely, in quite a number of cases u interchanges with a before v, so that the resulting forms may be judged to be either phonetic or morphological, in all probability a mixture of both. Thus, in abhi pra ṇonuvur (SV. nonavur) giraḥ RV. SV.

ṇonuvur is intensive perfect (Whitney, Gr. § 1018a), while nonavur is intensive augmentless imperfect (ibid. §1015).   The SV. reading is surely secondary, and phonetic at least in part, rather than truly morphological.

Considerations of this sort are in order in the following list, in which the frequent interchange between stems bhava- and bhuva- strikes the eye; note particularly the persistent choice of bhuva- on the part of SV in the first six examples (cf. contrariwise SV. nonavur above).   The Black YV. texts also show a preference for u as against a, as we shall show in the Phonetics volume.

sammislo aruṣo bhava (SV. bhuvaḥ)...dhenubhiḥ RV. SV.

upa śravat (MS. śruvat, p.p. śravat) subhagā yajñe asmin RV. MS.

An interchange like: tam ahve (SV. u huve = u hve) vājasātaye RV.
SV., may be suspected of being a similar phonetic variant across the faint pronunciation of h.

Phonetic variants: loss of t (d) as first of a group of three consonants

§24.   In a small group attention is arrested by the interchange between āt (ād) and ā before two consonants, in connexion with which the t (d) makes three consonants.   There are three such cases each before d and before s:

agnir dād (TS. dā) draviṇaṁ vīrapeśāḥ RV. TS. P. p. of TS dāḥ; this form occurs several times in the context, and no doubt flitted thru the mind of the compiler.   But a 2d person form is most bizarre, since a nominative subject (agnir) immediately precedes; despite Keith's attempt to explain it (TS. 162, n. 4), we believe the variant is essentially phonetic.   Cf. the next.

yad ūrdhvas tiṣṭhā (KS. tiṣṭhād) draviṇeha dhattāt RV. MS. KS. AB. TB.
   N. P. p. of RV. tiṣṭhāḥ: 'bestow upon us wealth here when thou standest erect.' All texts have as next pāda, yad vā kṣayo mātur asyā upasthe, showing up the extreme reprehensiblenss of the KS reading. Cf. prec., of which this is the reverse.

āprā (AV. āprād) dyāvāpṛthivī antarikṣam RV. AV. ArS. VS. TS. MS.
   KS. ŚB. TB. AA. TA.

Here both forms are 3d person; AV. has the later form āprād for āprās.

tāṅ ādityāṅ anu madā (MS. madāt) svastaye RV. MS. P. p. of MS.
   mada; madāt may be a mere corruption; see §315.

bodhā stotre (MS. bodhāt stomair) vayo dadhat (ApŚ. vayovṛdhaḥ) RV.
   SV. MS. ApŚ. In MS. part of a different stanza; but a v. l. bodhā is recorded.

   (corrupt; see §153); cf. adho vadādharo vada HG.

Phonetic variants; presence or absence of visarga at the end of words, mostly at the end of pādas

§25. In a number of cases verbal variations depend entirely or in part upon the presence or absence of visarga (ḥ), especially at the end of a pāda. As the sound was pronounced faintly (not, as in modern Hindu pronunciation, as h followed by a vowel), it is quite possible that some of these interchanges are purely phonetic; it would doubtless be going too far to say that they all are. Thus (§158, end) TS. 3. 5. 10. 1 has the anomalous yodhi for yodhāḥ of other texts at the end of a stanza (Whitney, Gr. §839); if this is the only occurrence of yodhi, we might cancel it from our grammars and lexicons. Cf. Keith's note, HOS. 28. 286, n. 1.
The total of such correspondences is not small; those which concern verb forms are supported by others, cf. pibāt somaṁ mamadad (AŚ. ŚŚ. somam amadann) enam iṣṭe (AŚ. ŚŚ. iṣṭayaḥ), AV. AŚ. ŚŚ., §137, where it occurs in noun forms.

pra-pra yajñapatiṁ tira (TA tiraḥ; but Poona ed. tira) AV. VS. TS. MS.
   KS. TA. AŚ. ŚŚ. ApŚ. See §156 for this and the next three.

sūryasya tapas tapa (MS. MŚ. tapaḥ) MS. TA. ApŚ. MŚ.

tāv imā upa sarpataḥ SV. JB.: emām anu sarpata MS. See §116.

agne vittād dhaviṣo yad yajāma (TB. °maḥ) RV. TB. See §124, where also, but in the interior of the passage, dhvarāma: dhūrvāmas, in viśvāḥ pinvathaḥ (TB. °tha) svasarasya dhenāḥ RV. MS. TB. (comm.

Bibl. Ind. ed. °thaḥ, but Poona ed. °tha).   Vacillation of sandhi before s + cons.; one ms. of MS. °tha.

Phonetic variants: interchange between e and ai

§26.   Especially at the end of pādas, but also elsewhere, e and ai frequently interchange.   This, as regards the verb, concerns for the most part interchange between the (indicative or subjunctive) endings mahe, vahe, and the subjunctive mahai, vahai; see §§118, 124, 253.   To illustrate the same phonetic change outside of the verb, we may quote one of many changes between the pronouns asme and asmai:

supippalā oṣadhīḥ kartanāsme (AV. kartam asmai; VSK. kartam asme)
AV. VS. VSK. MS.

In the item brahmāham antaraṁ kṛṇve (KŚ. karave) AV. KŚ., the Conc. suggests the more proper karavai for KŚ.

vi sakhyāni sṛjāmahe (ŚŚ. °mahai; MŚ. visṛjāvahai) AŚ. ŚŚ. Vait. ApŚ.
MŚ. PG.

yaṁ jīvam aśnavāmahai (MS. °he) RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS.

devān yajñiyān iha yān yajāmahai (TS. havāmahe) TS. MS. KS.

rayiṁ yena vanāmahai (SV. °he) RV. SV.

kva tyāni nau sakhyā babhūvuḥ, sacāvahe (MS. °hai, p.p. °he) yad avṛkaṁ purā cit RV. MS.

The same interchange occurs between te and tai as subjunctive endings; all the cases which occur are grouped in §253.

Phonetic interchanges concerning y in combination with other consonants

§27.   For this theme as a whole see Bloomfield, SBE. 42. 418 ff., and the appropriate section of our volume on Phonetics.   The Concordance presents the item:

bhakṣa āgataḥ TS.: bhakṣaḥ pītaḥ VSK.: bhakṣo bhakṣyamāṇaḥ (KS. bhakṣa°) VS. KS.   So the single ms. of KS. (at that time unedited) reads; but the now printed text quite properly emends to bhakṣya-mānaḥ, matching VS. Similarly, vācaspate vāco vīryeṇa sambhṛtatamenāyakṣase (TA. °yakṣyase; ŚŚ. °yachase) MS. TA. ŚŚ. The aorist yakṣase may = the future yakṣyase; and yachase is certainly a phonetic corruption for yakṣ(y)ase.

(net tvā...) dadhṛg vidhakṣyan paryañkhayāte (AV. vidhakṣan pariñkhayātai) RV. AV.: net tvā...dadhad vidhakṣyan paryañkhayātai TS. 'Lest the bold one embrace thee (shake thee about) intending to burn thee', or the like. Many mss. of AV. read vidhakṣyan, which should be adopted. Cf. Whitney on AV. 18. 2. 58.

On the other hand, the fuller kṣy is secondary in the following:

ā te yatante rathyo yathā pṛthak, śardhāṅsy agne ajarāṇi (SV. ajarasya) dhakṣataḥ (ApŚ. dhakṣyase) RV. SV. MS. ApŚ. dhakṣataḥ is aorist participle, gen. sing.; dhakṣyase, 'thou shalt be kindled', connected asyndetically with yatante, is obviously secondary. In fact, Caland on ApŚ. 3. 15. 5 takes it as a mere corruption of the other reading.

§28. Similarly the group ścy is reduced, secondarily:

ā vṛścyantām (AV. vṛścantām) āditaye durevāḥ RV. AV. See §87.

In one instance ṣy is secondarily reduced to ṣ:

ratho na vājaṁ saniṣyann (SV. saniṣann) ayāsīt RV. SV. 'He hath come like a chariot about to win (that hath won) booty.' saniṣyan is a common form, saniṣan an aorist participle made for the occasion. Cf. Oldenberg, Prolegomena 281, and our §234, c.

In a remarkably persistent way the mss. read arātsyam, improper conditional, for arātsam, proper prophetic aorist, in the set formula:

tenārātsyam (ŚŚ. MŚ. GG. v. l. °rātsam) MS. ŚŚ. MŚ. GG.; cf. tan me 'rādhi (Kauś. rāddham) VS. TS. TA. Kauś.

CHAPTER II. THE VOICES

INTERCHANGE BETWEEN ACTIVE AND MIDDLE AND PASSIVE

§29. The number of these interchanges is large. They naturally fall into four rubrics. First, a not very large group of interchanges between active and middle, in which the middle has middle or passive value, and the active has transitive value, so that the two are definitely distinguished.

Second, a very much larger group, involving many roots of the language, in which the interchange between active and middle is without clearly perceptible difference; this is a part of the break-down of the distinction between the two voices which is noticeable from the earliest times. Our variants are grouped in two subdivisions, according as we find the interchange two or more times from a single root, or only once.

Third, interchange between active and passive constructions, as part of a growing movement towards passive forms of expression, which becomes far more pronounced in later Sanskrit.

Fourth, interchanges between middle and passive, a small group in which the middle has passive meaning and is therefore equivalent to the passive form.

1. Transfusions between active and middle psychology, or interchanges between active and middle in their true and original meanings

§30. The primary distinction between active and middle as vehicles of transitive and reflexive (or more broadly, sphere-of-the-subject) function, well named by the Hindu grammarians parasmaipada and ātmanepada, comes to the fore in not a few passages which alternate active and middle forms with more or less material and clear change of meaning; and, we may add, by no means always so that the active passage may be transfused directly into the middle passage. These cases are parallel or analogous to the similar list of variant active and passive constructions, treated below. They are, moreover, flanked by a few others which offer occasion for a quasi-variant use of active and middle, tho they are not true variants of one another, but merely passages derived from similar spheres of conception in which active and middle each are properly differentiated in accordance with the total sense of the passage.

apriyaḥ prati muñcatām AV. 'let the enemy fasten on himself'; apriye prati muñca tat (Kauś.† muñcatam) AV. Kauś. 'fasten thou (ye two) that on the enemy.'

niṣkam iva prati muñcata (and, °tām) AV. (both). In different verses: 'fasten ye on (others) like a necklace', or, 'let him fasten on himself' etc.

ya īm̐ vahanta āśubhiḥ RV. 'who travel (transport themselves) with swift horses'; yadī vahanty āsavaḥ SV. 'if swift horses transport .(him).' Cf. §67, where the two voices of vah are found without difference of meaning.

yad vo 'śuddhāḥ (VSK. °aḥ) parā jaghnur (VSK. jaghānaitad) idam̐ vas tac chundhāmi VS. VSK. ŚB. 'whatever of yours the impure have (has) polluted, that do I here cleanse for you'; yad aśuddhaḥ parājaghāna tad va etena śundhantām KS. 'whatsoever the impure has polluted, as to that for you thru this let them purify themselves (become pure)', or, perhaps, 'let them (indefinite) purify that for you thru this'; cf. below, §71, to which the KS. version belongs if śundhantām has active meaning: yad vo 'śuddha ālebhe tañ śundhadhvam MS. 'what of yours an impure one has handled, do ye purify that for yourselves (or, do ye become pure as to that).'

yat te krūram̐...tat te śudhyatu (TS. ApŚ. tat ta etena śundhatām; MS. tad etena śundhasva) VS. TS. MS. ŚB. ApŚ. See prec., and cf. §§71, 82, 338 end.

sa viśvā prati cāklpe AV. 'he hath shaped himself into all things'; sa viśvam̐ prati cāklpat AŚ. ŚŚ. 'he hath shaped (or, shall shape) the universe.'

ito mukṣīya māmutaḥ (ApŚ. mā pateḥ) VS. ŚB. ApŚ.: preto muñcāmi (AG. ŚG. SMB. MG. muñcātu, PG.† muñcatu, ApMB. muñcāti) nāmutaḥ (ŚG. MG. SMB.† māmutaḥ, PG. mā pateḥ) RV. AV. AG. ŚG. The liturgical series, vācam̐ (etc.) te śundhāmi, VS. 6. 14, 'I purify thy voice' etc., is paralleled by a corresponding list showing true reflexive value, mukham̐ śundhasva etc. Kauś. 44. 19, 'purify thy mouth' etc.

āpo devīḥ śundhata mā...devayajyāyai MS.: daivyāya karmaṇe śundhadhvam̐ devayajyāyai VS. ŚB.: śundhadhvam̐ daivyāya karmaṇe (TS. TB. add devayajyāyai) TS. MS. TB. ApŚ.

yad ahnāt (also, rātriyāt) kurute pāpam TAA.: yad ahnā (and, rātryā) pāpam akārṣam TA. MahānU. 'What evil is done (I have done) by day (night).' kurute has passive force.

agne dakṣaiḥ punīhi naḥ (TB. mā; MS. punīmahe) RV. MS. TB. 'Purify us'; '(may) we become pure.' And similarly:

brahma tena punīhi naḥ (LŚ. mā; VS. KS. punātu mā; MS. TB. punī- mahe) RV. VS. KS. MS. TB. LŚ.: idaṁ brahma punīmahe TB.

evaṁ taṁ (ApMB. tvaṁ) garbham ā dhehi (ApMB. dhatsva) RVKh.
  ApMB. MG. 'Thus set thou the embryo (in her)': 'thus set thou (addressing the woman) the embryo in thyself (receive the embryo).'
  See §302.

madhu kariṣyāmi madhu janayiṣyāmi...JB.: madhu janiṣye (AV.
  °ṣīya) AV. TS. TA. ŚŚ. 'I shall produce honey (for myself).'

ud dharṣantāṁ maghavan vājināni AV.: ud dharṣaya maghavann (AV. satvanām) āyudhāni RV. AV. SV. VS. TS. 'Let strengths be aroused, O generous one!' or, 'arouse the weapons, O generous one (or, the weapons of the warriors).'

tṛtīye nāke adhi vi śrayasva (and, śrayainam) AV. (both). 'Spread thou (him) out upon the third heaven.'

samnahye (KS. °hya, 2d sing. act.) sukṛtāya kam TS. KS. TB ApŚ. MŚ.
  ApMB.: samnahyasvāmṛtāya kam AV. Only KS. has a transitive verb, 'gird on' (the things mentioned in the preceding pādas).
  For the others ('I gird myself', 'gird thyself'), see §308 end.

aśvaṁ medhyam abandhayat (ŚŚ. abadhnata) ŚB. ŚŚ. The subject in ŚB. is a king; the active form goes with the causative: 'he caused a sacrificial horse to be bound', i.e. caused the aśvamedha to be performed. In ŚŚ. the subject is the priests: 'they bound a sacrificial horse'.

§31. We group separately such interchanges of voice in Participles, since they constitute, to some extent certainly, a special problem.
Renou has shown (Valeur du parfait 121–38) that voice in the participles frequently seems not to run parallel to that in finite forms.

parāsutṛpaḥ śośucataḥ śṛṇīhi AV. 'destroy the fiercely burning (demons) that delight in (taking) life'; parāsutṛpo abhi śośucānaḥ (sc. śṛṇīhi) RV. 'destroy (the demons) that delight in (taking) life, burning fiercely against them.' Cf. Renou 128.

viśvasmād īṣataḥ (MS. īṣamāṇaḥ)...paridhiḥ TS. MS. KS. 'the fence from every attacker'; the MS. reading (somewhat uncertain, see editor's note, 1. 1. 12: 7. 10) seems to mean 'fleeing from every attack.'

jajñānaḥ (SV. janayan) sūryam apinvo arkaiḥ RV. SV.   In RV. jajñānaḥ is absolute, 'when born'; in SV. janayan lamely governs sūryam.
   The interchange is of the loosest kind.

§32. In one case active and middle are used in precisely the reverse of the function to be expected:

tasmai tvaṁ stana pra pyāya ApMB. 'do thou, O breast, swell for him'; tasmai stanaṁ pra pyāyasva HG. 'do thou swell out thy breast for him.' [But the middle seems justified, as referring to 'thy' breast.—G.M.B., approved by F. E.]

§33. There are also, as noted above, a few formulas, related in context, but not strictly variants of one another, which contrast the two voices according to the same standards, the middle being reflexive or at least intransitive, the active being transitive.

divo mātrayā variṇā (VS. ŚB. varimṇā) prathasva VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.: r̥ṣayas tvā prathamajā deveṣu divo mātrayā variṇā (VS. varimṇā) prathantu VS. MS. KS. 'with the measure of heaven extend thyself in breadth'; 'the sages of yore. . .shall extend thee in breadth.'

dr̥ṅha pr̥thivīm PB., and pr̥thivīṁ dr̥ṅha VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. JB. MG.
   'make firm the earth': dr̥ṅhasva pr̥thivyām VS. KS. ŚB. 'be firm upon earth.'

iṣe pinvasva, ūrje pinvasva VS. ŚB.: iṣaṁ pinva, ūrjaṁ pinva MG.

vācaṁ me tvayi dadhāni; (response,) vācaṁ te mayi dadhe KBU.   And the same with many other nouns besides vāc, in a long litany.
   The father says: 'Let me place my speech (etc.) in thee.'   The son replies: 'I take thy speech (etc.) in myself.'

2. Interchange between active and middle in the same verb as part of the break-down of this distinction from earliest times

§34. In the preceding cases the varying use of the voices depends, as a rule, on change of construction, or some imaginable difference of attitude towards the same passage.   But the bulk of the interchanges between active and middle of the same root are in passages of identical construction, devoid of any appreciable difference; if there is a difference in meaning between the voices, it is certainly of the most tenuous kind, and while we would not rigorously deny such possibilities here and there, there seems no doubt that by and large they are signs of the almost complete practical erasure of this distinction towards which the language tends from the very beginning, from the RV. on.[7]

    [7] Renou, passim, shows that a verbal system is frequently made up with one tense of one voice and another tense of another, there being no difference of §35. In his admirable Wörterbuch, Grassmann says (column 1070) under yaj, 'Das Medium fügt überall die bekannte reflexive Bedeutung hinzu.' BR. s.v. cite the scholiast to Pāṇ. 1. 3. 72, Vop. 23. 58 to the effect that the active of yaj is used of the priest, the middle of the sacrificing householder (yajanti yājakāḥ, yajamāno yajate). However, both BR. and Delbrück[8] recognize that this distinction is not absolute. The yaj variants, below, show at any rate that it is not adhered to very closely in Vedic tradition. The twin of yajati, namely juhoti, which might be expected to be on all fours with yajati, shows scarcely, if ever, any such distinction, being generally active. This may be due to the fact that juhoti is conceived as the function of the hotar. The root hū 'call', produces only middle forms in the RV. when the present stem is hava-, whereas the other stems show both actives and middles. This is not the place to go into an elaborate investigation of the reason why hava- has no actives; the variants, at any rate, show in almost every instance active forms of the other stems interchanging with middle forms of hava-. In general, our variants are loftily on the other side of right and wrong; the total of this evanescent distinction has broken down, almost every root showing actives in interchange with middles.

§36. Occasionally attendant circumstances show which of the two voices is prior in a given variant. In one case AV. gives us two forms of what is essentially the same pāda: viṣe viṣam apṛkthāḥ 7. 88. 1, ... aprāg api 10. 4. 26b: 'in poison thou hast (he has) mixed poison.'[9] Here, in the first place, metrical considerations come in; 7. 88. 1 is prose, and the formula is made metrical in 10. 4. 26 by the addition of the 'patch-word' api. Aside from the question of meter, when a longer form of one voice is replaced by a shorter one of the other voice, which is then padded out by a patch-word, usually a pronoun or adverb, this latter form of the pāda invariably impresses one as secondary. Other cases are: meaning represented in the voice distinction. Even in essentially the same pāda, active and middle may be equivalent as early as RV.: ajasreṇa śociṣā śośucac chuce 6. 48. 3, ajasreṇa śociṣā śośucānaḥ 7. 5. 4. The needs respectively of jagatī and triṣṭubh are deferred to; see RVRep. 294, 531. Cf. Renou 121ff. (participles and voice).

[8] AISyntax 248; so also Renou 106, 110. Delbrück 241, observes that ci 'pile' (bricks of the altar) exhibits regularly the same distinction, the middle being used of the sacrificer, the active of the priest.

[9] [In a charm against poison, especially that of snakes; there may be in the middle a suggestion of 'for thyself', the poison being magically directed back against its emitter. F.E.]

Aside from such cases there are occasionally other indications as to priority which have been noted whenever they seemed sufficiently certain and not too obvious.

§37. We have arranged the interchanges between active and middle in two lists. In the first a given root interchanges twice or oftener; in the second only once. We have wished in this way to separate the verbs that are more habitually free in their choice of voice from those in which the interchange may be suspected of being either accidental or solecistic. Delbrück, AISyntax 228ff., has collected considerable material for the use of the voices in Brāhmaṇa prose. We have added in parentheses (D.) the pages on which he comments on a large number of our roots.

§38. The following is an alphabetic list of all the roots which so interchange; those which are not treated by Delbrück—a rather large number—are distinguished by italics. The two denominatives rājaya

3. Interchange between active and passive

§80. Encroachment of passive construction upon active is a growing movement thru the history of Classical Sanskrit.   It is already notice-able in the later Vedic texts, and indeed is not entirely absent in the earliest; see Delbrück, AISyntax 268ff., who quotes many instances of passive construction where we should expect the active.

§81. The passive finite forms are originally medio-passive; their most conspicuous representatives, the present passive system, are specialized middles, and the remaining tenses, for the most part, are ordinary middles, not at all differentiated in form.[10]   Hence, occasionally, a present middle construction interchanges with an active construction in a manner comparable with the variants of the present rubric; see above, §30.   In a considerable number of cases, moreover, the passive version uses a past passive participle, with or without copula, for which see §245ff.; and a few similar cases will be found in the rubric Perfect Passive Participles interchanging with Moods, §143f.

§82. There are one or two cases of a present passive form in ya ap-pearing with active endings (cf. Whitney, Grammar §§761b, 774):
yathā tvam agne samidhā samidhyase (SMB   °si) SMB. PG. ApMB. HG.
    But SMB. has a v. l. °se.
yat te krūraṁ...tat te śudhyatu etc., see §71.

§83. In the following list, in which both versions contain finite verbs (or, in a very few cases at the end, active and passive participles), no attempt is made, as a rule, to establish priority for either active or passive construction.   The examples are largely from ritual texts in which both constructions may be assumed to be familiar, and which offer no basis for relative chronology.   In one instance, however, which involves RV., the active construction is clearly prior:
mahe cana tvām adrivaḥ, parā śulkāya deyām RV. 'not would I, even for a high price, sell thee, O (Indra) to whom belong the press-stones!': mahe ca na tvādrivaḥ, parā śulkāya dīyase SV., where tvā and dīyase together make nonsense.   Cf. Oldenberg, Proleg. 278.

§84. On the other hand, in ād id ghṛtena pṛthivī vy udyate (AV.† pṛthivīm vy ūduḥ) RV. AV. MS.

[10] It is to be noted that the well-known 3d person in i (Whitney, Grammar §§ 842ff.), which is the only finite form outside of the present supposed to have exclusively passive function, is used at least once as a middle with active force, interchanging with a perfect active of the same meaning. See yena sūryaṁ tamaso nir amoci (mumoca), §59. Cf. further Neisser, BB. 30. 305, and the variant ā gharmo agnim ṛtayann asādi etc., §84.

KS.: ād it pṛthivī ghṛtair vy udyate TS.: cf. ghṛtena dyāvāpṛthivī vy undhi (KS. vyundan) RV. KS.

the solitary active of AV. is clearly secondary, patterned after RV. 5. 83. 8.

Thus also in the following, the (medio-?) passive of RV. is superior to TA's active:

ā gharmo agnim ṛtayann asādi (TA. asādīt) RV. TA.: ā gharmo agnir amṛto na sādi MS. We agree with Oldenberg, RVNoten on 5. 43. 7, in considering the TA. variant 'meaningless' for the RV., against Neisser (BB. 30. 305) who finds it important and would interpret asādi as a middle; cf. our footnote 10 above, which shows that the middle interpretation of the word is per se quite possible.

§85. The remaining cases involve occasionally direct transmutations of one voice into the other, but for the most part the interrelations are of a looser kind, in which active in one version and passive in the other are not directly convertible.

4. Interchange between passive and middle

§87. This group exhibits interestingly a few cases in which the mediowith bhaktaḥ. Note Delbrück's remark on amoci, op. cit. 266, and, more generally, 263 ff. A few cases of this sort are unreliable on account of the phonetic uncertainty of y in combination with two other consonants, such as vṛścantām and vṛścyantām, the former of which may in reality be equal to vṛścyantām; cf. §§27, 28.

CHAPTER III. THE MOODS

Observations on the scope and character of modal interchanges

§88. In the midst of the variations which concern the verb change of mood looms as the most constant and important. Any mood may be supplanted by any other—bellum omnium contra omnes—in most cases, apparently, without any clear change of meaning. If there is any psychological shift of attitude in these changes, that shift is at the most and solely due to an arbitrary change in the appraisal of the original mood. Granted that the moods really expressed different values, there is no conceivable motive for the mass of these changes, except the subjective feeling of the repeater or reciter of the second form. Of course this does not exclude the possibility of an occasional imitation of a related expression which has come to the mind of the repeater. But it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that independent changes of the repeater's mood are, in the main, and in varying degrees, at the bottom of this unbridled variety, tho such an assumption is, in the circumstances, the purest kind of argument in a circle. In any case the frequency of these changes testifies eloquently to that genuine instability in the use of moods which characterizes Hindu speech at least up to the time of the modern vernaculars. And because they concern all moods, the following pages are a kind of negative syntax of the ancient Sanskrit moods. Needless to say, the conditions described in this chapter happen to be unparalleled in the history of recorded literature and speech. A preliminary selection from them was published by Bloomfield in AJP. 33. 1 ff.

§89. The interest of these interchanges is greatly enhanced by the uncommonly large formal apparatus for expressing mood which is at the disposal of the Vedic language. This apparatus is considerably larger than that of Classical Sanskrit, and, we believe, than that of any other Indo-European language. The following forms carry with them modal value, under circumstances to be dealt with in detail later on; in various ways and various degrees they interchange with one another:

1. Present Indicative
2. Various Preterite Indicatives, notably Aorist; also predicative Past Passive Participles
3. Imperative (including those in tāt)

4. Imperatival forms in si and (?) se
5. Subjunctive
6. Mixed Imperative-Subjunctive forms
7. Injunctive
8. Optative
9. Precative
10. Future
11. Desiderative
12. Infinitive

The rôle of the last two of these twelve classes is unimportant and, as regards strict modal quality, somewhat dubious. This still leaves ten modal categories whose interrelations are the theme of the following pages.

§90. Before entering upon a detailed discussion of the modal interchanges as between two or more different texts, there are three preliminary matters which substantiate this instability, and lend atmosphere to the subject as a whole. First, one and the same text sometimes varies its mood in what may be regarded as a repetition of the same passage. Secondly, the interchanges in different texts sometimes, and not rarely, bring in three or even more different moods. Thirdly, change of tense goes along with change of mood without, again, affecting the resulting meaning. Related with the last class are the numerous cases in which different tense-forms of the same mood interchange, again without the least indication of difference in function; see §§208 ff.

Interchange of moods in passages repeated in the same text

§91. Any single Vedic text is likely to show iteration on an extensive scale (cf. Bloomfield, JAOS. 31. 49 ff.). In these repeated passages the mood may be changed, either, apparently, for no other than subjective reason, or because of some external circumstance provoked by the technique of the text in question. Thus the RV.:

ādityair no aditiḥ śarma yaṅsat 1. 107. 2; 4. 54. 6; ādityair no aditiḥ śarma yachatu 10. 66. 3;

'Aditi, together with the Ādityas, shall offer us protection.' yaṅsat is aorist subjunctive, yachatu present imperative; cf. the same relation between RV. 10. 128. 8a and AV. 5. 3. 8a, and see §106 for the frequent interchange between the stems yacha and yaṅs in general. The motive of the variation is metrical. The first verse is triṣṭubh, the second jagatī. To see any other reason for the change would be sheer hairsplitting; one sentence says exactly the same as the other.

§92. The same criterion governs the choice of kṛdhi, aorist imperative, and kaḥ, aorist injunctive in the two RV. pādas:

asmabhyam indra varivaḥ sugaṁ kṛdhi 1. 102. 4, asmabhyaṁ mahi varivaḥ sugaṁ kaḥ 6. 44. 18.

See RV Rep. 530.—Also in the following, both in KS.:

vācaspatir vācaṁ naḥ svadatu 15. 11, vācaspatir vācam adya svadāti naḥ 13. 14.

The first phrase is prose; the second receives a jagatī cadence. See §104, p.

§93. Only in a partial or one-sided way, if at all, can metrical convenience be assigned as a ground for the following variation:

suvedā no vasū kṛdhi RV. 7. 32. 25, suvedā no vasū karat RV. 6. 48. 15.

'Make (let him make) wealth easy for us to get.' kṛdhi is aor. impv., karat aor. subj.; there is no reason why the poet of 7. 32. 25 should not have used karaḥ to match karat, but as to 6. 48. 15 it may be observed that the meter would oppose the use of the aor. impv. kartu, mixed aor. subj.-impv. karatu, or pres. impv. kṛṇotu or karotu.

§94. In passages repeated in the same vicinity, we find modal variations which appear to be due simply to the stylistic urge for variety; the change is for its own sake. This is prettily illustrated in the following RV. instance:

jeṣaḥ svarvatīr apaḥ 1. 10. 8c, jeṣat svarvatīr apaḥ 8. 40. 10, ajaiḥ svarvatīr apaḥ 8. 40. 11.

'Thou shalt conquer (hast conquered; he shall conquer) the waters rich in light.' In 8. 40. 10 we have a secondary repetition with change of person of 1. 10. 8c; in the next verse this is deliberately modulated by substitution of the aor. indic. for subj. See RV Rep. 39.—Similarly, jyok pitṛṣv āstām AV. 1. 14. 1, 'long may she sit among the fathers', is modulated in vs. 3 of the same hymn to jyok pitṛṣv āsātai,

with subj. for impv., which means exactly the same thing; it may also have been felt as improving the meter.

Here may likewise be recorded abhi prayo nāsatyā vahanti (6. 63. 7 °tu) RV. 1. 118. 4, 6. 63. 7. For in pāda a of 1. 118. 4 occurs the form vahantu, and it seems fairly clear that the following vahanti is a sort of stylistic dissimilation, and is secondary to vahantu of 6. 63. 7. See RV Rep. 124.

AV. 11. 10. 14a sarve devā atyāyanti is repeated in the next verse, 15a, with atyāyantu; again, apparently, the change is for stylistic variety.

§95. Possibly of the same order may be the reason for the change in svadhvarā kṛṇuhi jātavedaḥ RV. 3. 6. 6; 7. 17. 3; svadhvarā karati jātavedāḥ RV. 6. 10. 1; 7. 17. 4;

'Prepare, O Jātavedas (let J. prepare) effective sacrifices!' (Cf. other forms of the same pāda in other texts, §154.) If we assume that the variation originated in 7. 17. 3 and 4, the desire for variety may be sufficient to account for it; we can, at any rate, see no other reason. kṛṇuhi is pres. impv., karati aor. subj. The 3d person subj. forms are just as good imperatives as true imperative forms. Consider the 3d person mixed subj.-impv. forms treated below, §173; and let us remember that the so-called 1st person imperatives are really subjunctives. In view of these facts, and of the enormous number of interchanges between the two moods (below, §§151ff.), we may confidently say that there is no real difference between subjunctive and imperative in the mantras, at least as far as principal clauses go.[11]

§96. In the next, a RV. repetition, jyok paśyema sūryam uccarantam 10. 59. 6, jyok paśyāt sūryam uccarantam 4. 25. 4,

'Long may we (he) behold the rising sun!', the variation between trissyllabic and dissyllabic verb-forms goes hand in hand with dissyllabic and trissyllabic pronunciation of sūryam (sūriam). Since sūria- is commoner in RV., we may perhaps assume that paśyema is secondary. But it must be observed that this has no apparent bearing on the question of moods, since the subj. paśyāma would do just as well in 10. 59. 6, and the opt. paśyet in 4. 25. 4.

§97. In AV. 6. 122. 5, 11. 1. 27 indro marutvān sa dadātu tan me (11. 1. 27 dadād idaṁ me), 'Indra with the Maruts, may he give that to me!', a slight and apparently unnecessary change between tad and idaṁ goes along with, and either causes or is caused by, the exchange between impv. and injunctive (? subjunctive, from stem dada-). Again, AV. 19. 50. 7 has the metrically correct couplet uṣā no ahna ā bhajād, ahas tubhyaṁ vibhāvari, 'may the dawn commit us to the day, the day ʌo thee, O shining one!' For the sake of a slight and unnecessary lexical alteration AV. 19. 48. 2 varies the mood and violates the meter: uṣā no ahne pari dadātv, ahas tubhyaṁ vibhāvari. The meaning is the same.

[11] The chief distinction between the two moods appears to be the exclusion of the 2d person imperative from dependent (except prohibitive) sentences. Cf. RV. 8. 103. 14 mādayasva svarṇare, 'delight thyself with (chez) Svarṇara'; but 8. 65. 2 yad...mādayāse svarṇare, 'when thou mayst delight thyself' etc.

RV. 10. 35. 13 viśve no devā avasā gamantu, 'may all the gods come hither with help for us', is changed in 1. 89. 7 to viśve no devā avasā gamann iha. The patch-word iha helps the substituted subj. gaman (instead of mixed impv.-subj. gamantu) to make a jagatī pāda out of a triṣṭubh.

AV. 7. 60. 7 viśvā rūpāṇi puṣyata, 'prosper ye in all forms', is adapted to the cosmogonic Rohita in 13. 2. 10 viśvā rūpāṇi puṣyasi, 'thou prosperest in all forms.' The Ppp. in the latter passage has prajāḥ sarvā vi paśyasi, 'thou beholdest every way all creatures', a more appropriate saying for the solar Rohita, and probably the original one; the Śaunaka version has mechanically imitated 7. 60. 7 which floated thru the mind of its redactor.

§98. Metrical convenience may again be held to account for the subj.-opt. interchange in RV. 7. 66. 16 jīvema śaradaḥ śatam, appearing secondarily with change of person in 10. 85. 39 as jīvāti etc. For the opt. 3d sing. jīvet would not fit the meter. It is interesting to note that this pāda, RV. 10. 85. 39, is repeated in ApMB. 1. 5. 2 with change of jīvāti to the hybrid subj.-impv. jīvātu, showing the tense sympathy between subj. and impv. in the third person, alluded to above.

yan mā somāso mamadan yad ukthā, ubhe bhayete rajasī apāre 4. 42. 6, 'When the soma libations and the songs of praise incite me, both boundless hemispheres (heaven and earth) are afright.'

purū sahasrā ni śiśāmi dāśuṣe, yan mā somāsa ukthino amandiṣuḥ 10. 48. 4.

We may of course render the aor. of this passage: 'Many thousands do I secure for my worshiper when the soma libations accompanied by songs of praise have incited me.' But in truth the aor. is here just as modal as the subj.; it is the so-called prophetic aorist which states a wish as an accomplished fact. See §127 below.

§100. Again, the imperative in tāt (Whitney, Grammar §571; Delbrück, AISyntax §207; Speyer, Ved. Skt. Synt. §188, n. 1) fails to differentiate itself modally from the ordinary pres. impv. in two RV. parallels:

pra no yachatād avṛkaṁ pṛthu chardiḥ 1. 48. 15, prāsmai yachatam avṛkaṁ pṛthu chardiḥ 8. 9. 1,

'Do thou furnish us (do ye two furnish him) broad protection against enemies.' (Cf. further RV. 8. 27. 4, yantā no avṛkaṁ chardiḥ, with a yet different mood.) The difference is at most chronological; yachatād may be a more archaic form, and it occurs in an older part of RV.; see Oldenberg, Proleg. 262, and RVRep. 82. Thus we may account for the variation between kṛdhi and kuru in ŚŚ. tato no abhayaṁ kṛdhi 3.

20. 2 and ... kuru 13. 2. 2. Here the mood is the same, but the archaic aor. impv. (inherited from RV. and kept in nearly all of the numerous reproductions of the pāda in other texts, see §210, a) is replaced by the commonplace pres. impv. kuru.

§101. We can conceive no reason for the variation between impv. and precative in the following formula, both forms of which are found in KS.: durmitrās tasmai santu (38. 5 bhūyāsur) yo 'smān dveṣṭi 3. 8; 38. 5, 'may they be hostile to him who hates us.'

Instances of more than two modal varieties in the same passage §102. In quite a number of cases more than two moods, usually three, but occasionally even more than three, interchange in different versions of one and the same passage. These are of special interest because they show in a superior degree that the modal distinctions are the reverse of sharp. The cases here listed are not repeated below under the heads of the much more numerous interchanges between two moods; they may be added there without any great inconvenience.

§103. In the formulaic prayer which says 'may I (thou, we, or he) live a hundred autumns!', there is a confluence of almost all modal varieties: subj. jīvāti, impv. jīva, mixed impv.-subj. jīvātu, opt. jīvema, subj. (or impv.) 1st pers. jīvāni and jīvāva; and, finally, present indic. jīvāmi. Their citations may easily be found in the Vedic Concordance; see e.g. jīvāti śaradaḥ śatam. And compare with these the closely related triṣṭubh pāda, śataṁ jīvantu (jīvantaḥ, jīvema, jīvāmi, ca jīva) śaradaḥ purūcīḥ (suvarcāḥ), 'may they (we, I, thou) live a hundred numerous autumns' or 'a hundred autumns being in possession of glory.'

§104. In the majority of the following list of multiple modal interchanges, one or more indicatives figure often along with one or more of the oblique moods; cf. §§112ff. and 127ff. These are followed by cases in which at least three non-indicative forms vary with each other. In the first not less than four moods are found (five if we count the mixed subj.-impv.):

Change of tense

§105. According to a familiar fact of Vedic grammar the mood of any so-called tense has precisely the same value as the corresponding mood of any other tense; or, stated conversely, the moods may avail themselves indifferently of the so-called tenses to express what appears to our feeling as impenetrably undifferentiated modal value. This type of interchange belongs as well to the section on tenses, and is treated there in so far as forms are concerned which are identical in mood but different in tense (§§208ff.). E.g., as between vinda, present imperative, and vida, aorist imperative, there is no difference whatever in the historic period of the language. Now this element of formal tense-difference appears frequently along with modal variation. That is to say, along with a change, say, from imperative to subjunctive, there is also a change from present to aorist, or some other tense change. These interchanges, tho they are necessarily negative on the side of tense, enhance still further the sense of the instability of modal interchange. Many pairs of this sort occur in the preceding and following lists, and can easily be gathered from them. But we have, in addition, separated the modal interchanges that are accompanied by tense interchanges, wherever the groups were large enough to make such a subdivision desirable. Thus, in the case of interchanges between Imperative and Subjunctive (§§151ff.), and between Imperative and Injunctive (§§155ff.).

§106. A number of these combined mood and tense changes will be found quite standard and typical. Thus, to illustrate the crossing of tense and mood in a few roots we may write out in full the following variants:

Present stem yacha-: aorist stem yaṅs- ādityair no aditiḥ śarma yaṅsat (and, yachatu) RV. (both).

mātevāsmā adite śarma yacha (ŚG. aditiḥ śarma yaṅsat) AV. TS. MS. KS. TB. TA. ŚG. ApMB.

uruvyacā no mahiṣaḥ śarma yaṅsat (AV. yachatu) RV. AV. TS. KS.

sa (AV. sā) naḥ śarma trivarūtham vi yaṅsat (AV. ni yachāt) RV. AV. MS. KS. TB. ApŚ. Here both are subjunctives.

§107. More variegated are the correspondences of present imperatives of root bhū (occasionally also as) with combinations of other moods and tenses from bhū. The phonetic element that enters into the interchange between av and uv in several of these cases has been discussed above, §23:

uta trātā śivo bhavā (SV. bhuvo) varūthyaḥ RV. SV. VS. TS. MS. KS. · ŚB. Kauś.

saṁmiślo aruṣo bhava (SV. bhuvaḥ) RV. SV.

sampriyaḥ paśubhir bhava (TS. ApŚ. bhuvat) MS. TB. ApŚ   sampri-yaṁ prajayā paśubhir bhuvat TA.

tvaṁ bhavādhipatir (AV. bhūr abhibhūtir) janānām AV. MS. KS.

śam astu tanve mama AV.: śam v astu tanvai tava VS.: śam u te tanve (TS. tanuve) bhuvat TS. KSA.

[svāveśo anamīvā bhavā naḥ; the Conc. quotation bhuvā for bhavā in ApMB. is to be deleted.]

§108. More briefly we find interchange in the root kṛ, 'make', aor. subj. karati: pres. impv. kṛṇotu (§154), aor. subj. karaḥ: pres. impv. kṛṇotu (and perf. ind. cakāra, §104, o), aor. impv. kṛdhi and aor. subj. karat: pres. impv. kṛṇu (§154). From dā 'give' and dhā 'place', aor. inj. dāḥ and dhāḥ: pres. impv. dehi and dhehi, and dhāḥ: dadhātu (§158); also dhatta, datta: dāta, and dattām: dātām, and dhatta: dhāntu (§198). From ji 'conquer', jayata: jeṣatha (aor. subj., §154), and jayema: jeṣma (§174). From gam and gā 'go', gamema: geṣma, and gan: gamet (§174), each pair in this case consisting of different aorist stems. From nī 'lead', ninetu: neṣat (§154). From pā 'protect', pātu: pāsati (§154). From naś 'perish', naśyatu: neśat (§158). From vid 'obtain', vindatu: vidat (ibidem) and vidanta: vindantu (§159). From sthā 'stand,' tiṣṭha: sthāt (§158). From kram 'stride', krāma: krāmīḥ (§159).

§109. There are also cases in which the indicative of one tense interchanges with an oblique mood of another tense. Thus from mad 'rejoice', mamadan (pres. subj.): amandiṣuḥ (aor. ind. §145, a); from van 'win,' vanute, vaṁsate, and vanate (§117); from man 'think', manve: manai (aor. subj., §119).

Of course the interchange of Precative (aorist Optative) and other moods commonly also involves change of tense; for examples, see §161.

SYSTEMATIC CLASSIFICATION OF MODAL INTERCHANGES

§110. We turn now to a systematic account of the modal variations. As far as we can observe, the texts of different schools show no constitutional preference for any one mood as against any other. On the contrary, they all seem to show complete indifference of choice between them all. It is possible, of course, when a text substitutes e.g. imperative for subjunctive or precative for optative, that it approaches the passage from a slightly altered direction, or with a different quality of emotion. But it is commonly the same passage, in the same connection, uttered in the midst of the same real properties. At least the variants show a very strong tendency to regard the moods as interchangeable.

A good deal depends on the frequency of these interchanges; the more common they are, the greater the chance that they imply indifference to modal distinction, and nothing more. We may remember the numerous cases of interchange between active and middle voices, also for the most part bare of real distinction, which we have presented above.

§111. We shall deal with the moods in the order stated above. The passages in each class involve interchange between two moods only; these may be reinforced here and there from the groups involving more than two modal varieties (above, §104), which are not repeated here.

I. Present indicative in interchange with other moods

§112. This is the most frequent interchange. It includes nearly 300 cases, distributed rather unevenly between imperative, subjunctive, injunctive, and optative. It is in the main temperamental, rather than logical; philological, rather than grammatical. The Vedic mantras deal almost entirely with the praise of gods; with efforts to coax them into good humor and generosity; and with all sorts of magic or hocus-pocus that is supposed to fulfil wishes. In such an atmosphere the indicative, tho by nature a modus rectus, is in truth a sort of modus obliquus (subjunctivus); almost everything that is stated categorically is meant modally. The indicative states things as certain; as a matter of fact these things are merely wished for, hoped for, requested, or importunately insisted upon. So, e.g., to illustrate by one of the keenest desires in every stratum of the Veda, the desire for dakṣiṇā (baksheesh). A poet-priest states, apparently with serene confidence, therefore in the pres. ind., that a certain god is clever (prajānan) in making even the stingy man give gifts to the priests:

   aditsantam̐ dāpayati prajānan VS. KS. ŚB.,
'he cleverly makes the stingy man give.' But in truth the poet is whistling in the woods. What is really meant is, that he wishes, hopes, or requests that the god may, shall, or should do so. Accordingly three other texts read impv. dāpayatu, 'let him make to give', for the ind. dāpayati, 'makes to give':

   aditsantam̐ (AV. utāditsa°) dāpayatu prajānan AV. TS. MS.
Here we find no means for deciding which reading is the better or older.

If this were a question of logic or grammar, and not of temperament or manner of speaking, we might enrich the vocabulary of grammatical terminology by yet one more item, 'hortative indicative'.

§113. The hortative indicative is on the whole perhaps the commonest modal expression in the Veda. Its real interest for grammar is that it varies impartially with pretty much all the oblique moods, showing indirectly that this most generalized kind of wish harbors no modal precision.

§114. We present first the variants which concern principal clauses, divided according to the moods that vary with the present indicative. Afterwards are listed a considerable number of cases concerning dependent (chiefly relative) clauses; the principles at the bottom of both groups are, for the most part, much the same.

Present Indicative and Imperative in principal clauses

§115. This is by far the most frequent of these interchanges. The first persons of the imperative are really subjunctives. They involve peculiar conditions as far as the older language is concerned; we may reserve them for the next section. As for the other two persons, their readiness to take the place of the indicative calls to mind the fact that thruout Sanskrit literature the impv. is in a marked degree a mood of wish as well as command, as when, in contrast with Latin vivat crescat floreat, Sanskrit uses the imperative, jayatu rājā; or, often, the present indicative, which is equally frequent in the drama (e.g. jayati jayati devaḥ, Śakuntala, ed. Pischel, HOS. 16: v. 9. 2), thus showing that the 'hortative indicative' is by no means limited to the Vedic language. The passive imperative is a favorite means of expressing polite request: Speyer, Ved. u. Skt. Syntax §192. The sequel will show that the impv. encroaches upon the other wish-moods to a larger extent than might be expected in a mood of command. Cf. Whitney, Gram. §§572, 575; Delbrück, AISynt. 361; Speyer, op. cit. §§188, 192.

§116. Here belong, first of all, the dozen cases of interchange between the 2d plural endings ta and tha which have been considered previously from the phonetic point of view (§§14–19). They are not repeated here. The long list of the rest is as follows:

Present Indicative and Subjunctive in principal clauses

§117. This is a much rarer interchange than that between present indicative and imperative.   It is quite impossible to feel any distinction between the two classes; we may conclude that, in this sphere of expression, impv. and subj. perform the same function, even if we suspect, as we do, that the impv. is the milder mood of the two.   The following are instances of the 2d and 3d persons:

agnir no vanate (VSK. vanute; SV. TS. KS. vaṅsate) rayim RV. SV. VS.
VSK. TS. MS. KS. 'Agni wins (shall win) wealth for us.'   Here vanute is pres. ind., vaṅsate aor. subj., while vanate is ambiguous, either the one or the other.   Cf. Neisser, BB. 7. 223f.; Oldenberg, Proleg. 289; and above, §10, end.

indro jayāti (MS. jayati) na parā jayātai (MS. jayate) AV. TS. MS.
'Indra shall be (is) victorious, shall not be (is not) vanquished.'

uta prahām atidīvyā jayāti (AV.* °dīvā jayati) RV. AV. (both).   'Moreover the superior gamester shall win (wins) the stake.'   jayati is metrically inferior.

tṛṇaṁ vasānā sumanā asas (HG. asi) tvam AV. HG.   '(O house,) clothed in grass (i.e. thatched), be thou (thou art) well-disposed (towards us)'.

vaśī vaśaṁ nayasa (AV. nayāsā) ekaja tvam RV. AV.   'Thou, sole-born one, bringest (shalt bring) them under control, controlling.' Manyu 'wrath' is addressed.

adhirājo rājasu rājayātai (TS. °ti; MS. °yate) AV. TS. MS.

sa no jīveṣv ā yame AV.: sa no deveṣv ā yamat RV. TA.   'He furnishes (shall furnish) us (long life) among the living (the gods).'   But see note in Whitney's AV. 18. 2. 3, from which it appears that the true reading of AV. is yamet, aor. opt.; this variant would then belong in §169.   yame as 3d sing. is doubly suspicious; the present yamate is quoted in Whitney's Roots only from the Epic and later.   SPP.
with many mss. reads yamet, or rather yamed (followed by d-).

pra rādhasā codayāte (SV. rādhāṁsi codayate) mahitvanā RV. SV.

rejate (SV. bhyasāt te) śuṣmāt pṛthivī cid adrivaḥ RV. SV.   'The very earth trembles (shall be afraid) before thy might, O possessor of the press-stone.'

yāḥ paśūnām ṛṣabhe vācas tāḥ sūryo agre śukro agre tāḥ prahiṇomi (ApŚ.
°hiṇvo)...MS. ApŚ. prahiṇvaḥ is 2d sing. subj. with irregular (weak) stem; cf. Whitney, Grammar §701, end.

saṁjānate manasā saṁ cikitre RV.: saṁ jānāmahai manasā saṁ cikitvā
AV.

§118. Rather more frequent are the interchanges between the first persons subj. and indic.   This is obviously due to the fact that the 1st person subj. forms do duty as imperatives; at no period in the language is there any basis for distinguishing impv. and subj. in the 1st person.

tayānantaṁ (MŚ. tvayāgne) kāmam (ŚŚ. lokam) ahaṁ jayāni (MŚ. jayāmi) AŚ.† ŚŚ. ApŚ. MŚ. ApMB.   'Thru this (offering) may I win endless delight (heaven)', or, 'thru thee, Agni, I win delight.'

brahmāham antaraṁ kṛṇve (KŚ. karave = °vai) AV. KŚ. 'I make (let me make) the charm my inner (defense).' See §26.

taṁ tvendragraha prapadye (ApŚ.* praviśāni) saguḥ...KS. ApŚ. (bis): taṁ tvā pra padye taṁ tvā pra viśāmi sarvaguḥ...AV.

yad ahaṁ devayajanaṁ veda tasmiṅs tvā devayajana ā kṣiṇomi (ŚB. tasmiṅs tvā vṛścāni) ŚB. ApŚ. Acc. to Caland on ApŚ. 10. 2. 10, the HŚ. reads āvṛścāmi.

vi sakhyāni sṛjāmahe (ŚŚ. °mahai; MŚ. visṛjāvahai) AŚ. ŚŚ. Vait. ApŚ. MŚ. PG.

§119. The preceding examples still partake of that temperamental distinction between ind. and the oblique moods, described above. There are, however, also plain cases of such interchange as when we say in English either 'let me eat', or 'I am going to eat'. For the present is so little of a tense as to be at times a future; again, future and subj. are, especially in Sanskrit, close allies. Hence the following cases, which are of course not sharply marked off from the preceding:

(om) un nayāni AŚ.: (om) un nayāmi KS. KŚ. ApŚ. MŚ. 'I (am going to) ladle out.' And others, see Conc.

Present Indicative and Injunctive in principal clauses

§120. The injunctive, or 'improper subjunctive', is identical in form with augmentless preterites of all classes. The distinction between modal value and preterite value is always hard to make; especially since the Veda abounds with preterite indicatives in quasi-modal use (§§127ff.). Moreover, a large part of the injunctive forms are formally identical with imperatives, and some of them with optatives, which further tends to efface the individuality of the injunctive. The present class of interchange is rare in any case. In so far as it occurs it puts the injunctive completely in line with the subjunctive. The following few cases are in a measure supported by some of the same sort in dependent clauses (§125).

pra te divo na stanayanti śuṣmāḥ RV. TS. 'your lightning (fires, O Agni) thunder forth as if from heaven'; pra te divo na stanayanta pari ṣvajante (SV. °ta) janayo yathā patim RV. SV. AV. 'They (shall) embrace him as wives do their husbands.'

ūrdhvas tasthau nem ava glāpayanti (AV. °ta) RV. AV. 'He stands upright; verily they do not (let them not) exhaust him.' [It has been argued that] this stanza has a better form in AV. than in RV.
[See references quoted by Edgerton, Studies in Honor of Maurice Bloomfield 128, and note. But the contrary view is set forth there by the writer. As to this particular pāda, Ppp. agrees with RV.
on glāpayanti, and is followed by Whitney in his Translation. Certainly glāpayanta is secondary. F.E.]

Present Indicative and Optative (Precative) in principal clauses

§121. The optative, a rather indifferent wish mood, stands, perhaps, more in the center of the entire sphere of modality than any other mood. This accounts to some extent for its survival in the later language as the heir of most of the modi subjunctivi. It is, as we shall see (§169), on terms of lively reciprocity with the subj., being, however, rarer than the subj. in the metrical parts of the Veda. With the present ind. it alternates only in a moderate number of cases, especially as compared with the impv.; cf. our remarks on the latter mood above. The present makes here, as usual, the impression of greater certainty or insistence. An occasional precative, interchanging with an indicative, is included at the end of the following list. Noticeable to begin with are half a dozen cases in which indicatives and optatives of the root hū 'call' interchange:

marutvantaṁ sakhyāya havāmahe (SV.† huvemahi) RV. SV. '(Indra) with the Maruts do (would) we call unto alliance.'

taṁ (RV. omits) sarasvantam avase huvema (AV. havāmahe, RV. KS. johavīmi) RV. RVKh. AV. TS. MS. KS. AŚ. ŚŚ.

agnim (AV. ukthair, MahānU. ugraṁ) huvema (AV. havāmahe) paramāt sadhasthāt AV. TA. MahānU. 'Agni (the mighty one; with songs) we (would) call from the highest seat.' AV. is metrically inferior.

ṛtasya patnīm avase huvema (AV. havāmahe) AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. AŚ. ŚŚ.

prātarjitaṁ bhagam ugraṁ huvema (AV. havāmahe) RV. AV. VS. TB. ApMB. N.

prātaḥ somam uta rudraṁ huvema (AV. havāmahe) RV. AV. VS. TB. ApMB.

In these it will be noted that AV. markedly prefers the form havāmahe. The remaining cases are:

(asyed indro madeṣv ā) grābhaṁ gṛbhṇāti (RV. gṛbhṇīta) sānasim RV. SV. 'When exhilarated by this very (soma) Indra makes (shall make) a victorious (rich) haul.' gṛbhṇīta may also be regarded as injunctive or augmentless preterite.

so 'haṁ vājaṁ saneyam agne (KS.† sanāmy agneḥ) VS. TS. MS. KS. '(May) I here gain substance, O Agni (KS., Agni's substance).' The KS. variant is interesting; changing the voc. to a gen. it makes it no longer a direct address to the god, and therefore less in tune with the optative mood.

indravanto vanāmahe (PB. vanemahi) TS. PR.

viśvair viśvāṅgaiḥ saha saṁ bhavāmi (AV. bhavema) AV. MŚ. 'I (may
    we) come into being with all sound-limbed persons.'

ubhau lokau sanem (MŚ. sanomy) aham TB. TAA. ApŚ. MŚ. 'Both worlds (may) I obtain.' sanem is a strange form; see Whitney, Roots, s. v. san.

idaṁ pitṛbhyaḥ pra bharāmi (TA. bharema) barhiḥ AV. TA.

nābhiprāpnoti (MŚ. °pnuyur) nirṛtiṁ parācaiḥ (AŚ. MŚ. parastāt) TB. AŚ. ApŚ. MŚ.

nṛcakṣasaṁ tvā deva soma sucakṣā ava khyeṣam (MŚ. kṣeṣam) TS. MŚ.: nṛcakṣasaṁ tvā nṛcakṣāḥ pratīkṣe ŚŚ.

haviṣmantaḥ sadam it tvā havāmahe RV. VS. SMB. ŚvetU.: haviṣmanto namasā vidhema te TS. MS. KS. TAA. The final pāda of a verse to Rudra is here modulated in four YV. texts, probably under the influence of the RV. pāda, haviṣmanto vidhema te.

evam aham āyuṣā...samindhe (SMB. samedhiṣīya) SMB. PG. 'Thus
    (may) I become aflame (thrive) with life' etc. Cf. with active (causative) impv., evaṁ mām āyuṣā...samedhaya ApMB. HG.
    'Thus make me thrive with life.' See §238.

yad agneḥ sendrasya...aham agne sarvavrato bhavāmi svāhā AG.: yad brāhmaṇānāṁ...tenāhaṁ sarvavrato bhūyāsam ApMB.

ny ahaṁ taṁ mṛdyāsaṁ yo 'smān dveṣṭi etc. MS.: idam ahaṁ taṁ nimṛṇāmi yo 'smān dveṣṭi etc. KS. 'I (would) crush (here) him that hates us.'

viśvā abhiṣṭīḥ pṛtanā jayati MS.: viśvā hi bhūyāḥ pṛtanā abhiṣṭīḥ TS.

asminn ahaṁ sahasraṁ puṣyāmi ApMB.: asmin sahasraṁ puṣyāsam (Kauś. puṣyāsma) ŚB. BṛhU. Kauś.

Interchange between Present Indicative and various modal forms in dependent (mostly relative) clauses

§122. The same interchange between present indicatives and various moods occurs on a smaller scale in dependent clauses, most of which are relative. The indicative states the fact, the modal forms assume it with various kinds or degrees of potentiality. The difference is the same as in principal clauses: bluff assumption on the one hand, prayerful uncertainty on the other. The various moods all figure, but the subjunctive is here decidedly the most frequent (see Delbrück, AISyntax 317ff.), approaching frequently a future value. Imperatives are rare, and 2d person imperatives seem not to occur at all; cf. the shift between mādayasva svarṇare RV. 8. 103. 14, 'delight thyself in the house of Svarṇara', with yad...mādayāse svarṇare, RV. 8. 65. 2, 'when thou delightest thyself in the house of Svarṇara'; see §95, note 11.   Cf.

further the variant sā no dadātu..., yā no dadāti..., §116, end.

Present Indicative and Imperative in dependent clauses

§123. As we have just said, the impv. in dependent clauses is rare:
it is to some extent supported by injunctive forms, and first person subjunctives, which may equally well be considered imperatives (see below):

(ye)...svadanti (MS. TB. °tu; MS. p.p. °ti) devā ubhayāni havyā (TB.
   Poona ed. absurdly, havyāḥ) RV. VS. MS. KS. TB. N.   'The gods who (shall) enjoy both sorts of oblations.'

[yāni (ApMB.* tāni) bhadrāṇi bījāny (HG. yāni prabhūni vīryāṇy)] ṛṣabhā janayanti (HG. ApMB.* °tu) naḥ (AV. ca, ApMB.* nau) AV. ApMB. (bis) HG.   Only in HG. is the impv. found in a relative clause; ApMB. has tāni...janayantu nau, but yāni...janayanti naḥ.   HG. may be a blend of these two.   'Which (these) excellent seeds (or the like) bulls (shall) produce for us.'

Present Indicative and Subjunctive in dependent clauses

§124. In these cases, which are quite common, the subjunctive, as we have observed above, often approaches the sphere of the future.

[yo no maruto abhi (AV. KS. yo no marto maruto; TS. yo no marto vasavo) durhṛṇāyus] tiraś cittāni (KS. ms. cittā, em. by v. Schroeder to

   AV. TS. MS. KS.   'Whatever hostile mortal desires (shall desire) to slay us' etc.   The stanza is otherwise triṣṭubh; TS. makes this pāda metrically consistent with the rest.

yad aham dhanena prapaṇaṅś carāmi ApMB.: *yad vo devāḥ prapaṇam rayiṁ yena vanāmahai (SV. °he) RV. SV. 'Thru whom we (may) obtain wealth.'

yena jayanti (TB. jayāsi) na parā jayante (TB. jayāsai) AV. TB. '(In-dra) thru whom men conquer (thou mayst conquer), are (be) not

MG.: yena bhūyaś carāty ayaṁ, jyok ca paśyāti sūryam, tenāsyāyuṣe vapa ApMB. 'With (the razor) by which he shall live on and long behold (be beheld by) the sun, with that I shear thee (shear thou him unto long life.' And others, see §§330, 337.

(kva tyāni nau sakhyā babhūvuḥ) sacāvahe (MS. °hai, p.p. °he) yad avṛkaṁ purā cit RV. MS. But sacāvahe may possibly be also subj.; see § 253. Cf. Delbrück, op. cit. 278.

In one not certain case we find this interchange in an interrogative clause which gives the effect of a conditional clause:

karati) joṣiṣad dhi RV. MS. KS. ApS. 'Will the Son of the Waters

...adorn (my songs), so as to enjoy them?' That is to say, 'if he will adorn them, he will enjoy them.' The present karoti is secondary, if not corrupt.

In a lest clause the same variation occurs (cf. Delbrück 316f., 545): mā mā hāsīn (MŚ. hāsīr) nāthito net (MŚ. na) tvā jahāni (MŚ. °mi) AV.† KS. MŚ. 'Let him not, implored, abandon me, lest I (may) abandon thee!': mā no hāsīn metthito net tvā jahāma TB. ApŚ.: mā no hiṅsīd dhiṅsito dadhāmi (some mss. omit dadhāmi) na tvā jahāmi AŚ.

Present Indicative and Injunctive in dependent clauses

§125. The few cases noted of this interchange all show injunctive forms which are formally indistinguishable from imperatives; and of course, as usual, they might also be construed as augmentless preterites: (hiraṇyayī araṇī) yaṁ nirmanthato aśvinā (ŚB. BṛhU. yābhyāṁ nirmanthatām aśvinau devau) RV. ŚB. BṛhU. ApMB. HG. MG. '(The foetus) which the Aśvins drill out with their golden drill', or 'the two golden drills with which the Aśvins shall drill out (the foetus)', etc. yā rājānā (TS. °naṁ) sarathaṁ yātha (MS. yāta) ugrā TS. MS. KS. yāta: yātha may be merely phonetic; see §21. ubhe yat tvā bhavato rodasī anu (SV. tvā rodasī dhāvatām anu) RV. SV.

Furthermore, some variants quoted under Present Indicative and Subjunctive have forms which might be considered 1st person Injunctive as well as Subjunctive; e.g. yaṁ dviṣmas (dveṣāma) etc.; see §124.

Present Indicative and Optative in dependent clause

§126. In one somewhat doubtful instance:
yatra devaiḥ sadhamādaṁ madanti (MS. TB. madema) AV. MS. TB. 'Where they revel (we may revel) in common revelry with the gods.' Cf. athā (TB. also yathā) devaiḥ sadhamādaṁ madema KS. TB. ApŚ. But the comm. on AV. 18. 4. 10 reads madema; the isolated madanti is somewhat suspicious, see Whitney's note.

II. PRETERITES IN INTERCHANGE WITH MOODS

§127. We have used the term 'temperamental' more than once in the preceding pages, to describe the uses of the categorical indicative that really carry within them modal values of various kinds and degrees. The Vedic poets show even greater keenness of feeling in their use of preterite indicatives where they really experience moods. Especially is this true of the aorist, which is typically used to denote an accomplished fact within the range of the speaker's own knowledge, so that it is a favorite mode of confident assertion, especially of recent events (Delbrück, AITempuslehre 6;¡ Renou 29).   Altho the imperfect, perfect, and past passive participle all appear commonly enough in interchange with moods, the aorist is the commonest of all.   This kind of aorist, especially common in the literature of magic and conjuration, has been called with some propriety 'prophetic aorist.'   So some texts say:

añjasā satyam upāgām MS. KS.   'I have speedily attained unto truth!'

But the majority, nine in number, use an optative aorist:

añjasā satyam upa geṣam VS. TS. GB. ŚB. AŚ. ŚŚ. Vait. LŚ. ŚG. 'May I speedily attain unto truth!'   And this variant is a valuable commentary on the aorist indicative of the other texts; it really means only that such is the speaker's earnest and insistent desire.   Or, again, one text says:

candramā nakṣatrair anu tvāvīt KS. (aor. indic.), 'The moon with the constellations has helped thee along.'   Another text, using the imperative, says:

candramā nakṣatrair anu tvāvatu TB.   'Let the moon with the constellations help thee along.'

§128. It is worth mentioning that sometimes the same text contains expressions with both verbal forms.   Thus in the reciprocal ūha formulas ŚB. 3. 4. 3. 9 and 3. 6. 3. 21 anu me dīkṣāṁ dīkṣāpatir manyatām (amaṅsta), 'the Lord of Consecration shall favor (has favored) my consecration.'   Or MS. 1. 2. 14 and 4. 13. 8 pṛthivīm upareṇa dṛṅha and pṛ° upareṇādṛṅhīt, 'steady thou (it has steadied) the earth with thy (its) base.'   These show more definitely how close to each other are the two types of expression.

§129. The considerable list which we have classed as preterites with and without augment (§§266ff.) may also contain some cases in which the augmentless form is really modal, and thus belong here.

As in the case of the present variants, we have separated those which occur in principal clauses from those in subordinate clauses.

Aorist Indicative and Injunctive in principal clauses

§132. If the injunctive forms varying with presents (above) and with other modal forms (below) are apt to be doubtful because also interpretable as augmentless preterites, this is a fortiori true of such as vary with augmented past forms. There is, indeed, really nothing that can decide in such a case, whether to regard the augmentless form as a preterite or an injunctive; since, as we have now abundantly seen, the 'true' preterites may be used just as well as modal forms in any situation. Hence, we have preferred to keep most such interchanges in one group, and have classified them below under augmented and augmentless preterites (§264ff.); in this place we add merely one or two instances chosen on more or less subjective grounds, which seem rather more likely than most to contain modal value:

anu (MS. adds māṁ, TA. vāṁ) dyāvāpṛthivī (MS. adds anu me) amaṅsātām (TA. also maṅs°; MS. 'maṅsā°, p.p. amaṅsā°) VS. MS. ŚB. TA. (bis) ŚŚ. LŚ. 'Heaven and earth have favored (shall favor) me.' In adjoining passages in TA.

ing see §337.

these are the true readings.

didhiṣeya is opt. of desiderative. The SV. form is very obscure; Benfey (Glossar, p. 101) follows the comm. in taking it as 1st person aor. subj., but it seems more likely to be felt as a perfect ind., to be sure of anomalous formation (presumably quasi-desiderative). Cf. gṛṇīṣe of RV., treated by Whitney, Roots, as pres. ind.
Both forms must in any case be 1st person.

addrest to the Aṅgirases.

Past Passive Participles interchanging with moods in principal clauses

§143. The same contrast, namely between more or less assumed confidence of statement and mere desire, is brought out by the interchange between a perfect passive participle, with or without copula, and a mood. The participle is thus pretty precisely in the place of the prophetic aorist. It is worth noting in this connection that the same participle also interchanges commonly with a present indicative (§246).
For instance:
yunajmi vāyum antarikṣeṇa (PB. yukto vāto 'nta°) te (MŚ. tena) saha TS. PB. ApŚ. MŚ. 'I yoke (yoked is) the wind with atmosphere for thee (or, with this atmosphere).'
Here the participle states the fact as accomplished in the strained sense of the prophetic aorist, while the present indicative has future modality of a lighter quality, optatival, or the like. In essence such interchanges belong, for the most part, in the same sphere as the group now dealt with.
By the same token modal value lurks often in the passages of present and past indicatives interchanging, §§221ff.

§144. Following is the brief list of past participles exchanging with moods (see also §104, w); all the modal forms are imperatives but the last, an injunctive:

saṁ barhir aktaṁ (VS. ŚB. añktāṁ; TB. ApŚ. sam añktāṁ barhir) haviṣā ghr̥tena AV. VS. ŚB. TB. ApŚ. 'The barhis has been anointed (shall anoint itself, i.e. be anointed, see §87) with oblation, with ghee.' And, in the same stanza:

saṁ devair viśvadevebhir aktam AV.: saṁ indreṇa viśvebhir devebhir (VS.
    ŚB. indro viśvadevebhir) añktām VS. ŚB. TB. ApŚ. Cf. prec.

tenedhyasva vardhasva ceddha (HG. cendhi) AG. HG. 'By this (firewood) burn and grow, thou that art kindled (and kindle!).'

ghr̥tena sītā madhunā samaktā (VS. MS. KS. ŚB. samajyatām) AV. VS.
    TS. MS. KS. ŚB. 'With ghee, with honey, the furrow has been (shall be) anointed.'

tan me rādhyatām (TB.* SMB.* samr̥dhyatāṁ; VS.* TS.* TA.* 'rādhi; Kauś.* samr̥ddham, and rāddham) VS. TS. ŚB. TB. TA. ŚŚ. MŚ.
    Kauś. SMB. All texts have rādhyatām, besides the variants as quoted. 'May this succeed (this has succeeded) for me.'

tān sma mānuvaṣaṭkr̥thāḥ AŚ.: ete nānuvaṣaṭkr̥tāḥ Vait. 'Do not say vaṣaṭ after these'; 'these are not followed by vaṣaṭ.'

Interchange between Preterites and Modal forms in dependent and prohibitive clauses

§145. In quite a number of cases preterites of all sorts and modal forms interchange in dependent clauses. We have quoted above (§99) an example from the RV. itself: yan mā somāso mamadan yad ukthā 4. 42. 6, yan mā somāsa ukthino amandiṣuḥ 10. 48. 4. The tense commonly remains unchanged, but sometimes, as in the case just quoted, it is shifted without any restriction. The present class of variants does not differ in any essential from the group of interchanges between presents and modal forms in dependent clauses, §§122ff. We have included here a few cases of interchange between augmented and augmentless preterite indicative forms; they differ from the similar cases quoted below §268 only in so far that, on subjective grounds, there seem to us to be reasons for finding injunctive force in the augmentless forms quoted here. But no clear line can be drawn between the two groups, and perhaps it would have been better not to try to separate them; at least each must be considered together with the other.

(a) Aorist Indicative and Subjunctive:

yas tvā karad ekavṛṣaṁ janānām AV. 'who shall make thee chief bull of the people'; sa tvākar ekavṛṣabhaṁ svānām TB. 'he has made thee chief bull of thy kinsmen.' yan mā somāso mamadan yad ukthā; and: yan mā somāsa ukthino aman-diṣuḥ RV. (both).   See §99.

(b) Aorist Indicative and Injunctive:

bhūyāṁso bhūyāsta ye no bhūyaso 'karta MS. 'be ye more, ye who have made us more'; bhūyāṁso bhūyāsma ye ca no bhūyasaḥ kārṣṭa Kauś.
'may we be more, and likewise ye who shall make us more.'   But, of course, kārṣṭa may be a mere preterite in force.—The same with annādā bhū°.

(c) Imperfect Indicative and Imperative (? Injunctive):

mṛtyoḥ padaṁ (MG. padāni) yopayanto yad aita (TA. aima; AV. yopa-yanta eta; MG. lopayante yad eta) RV. AV. TA. MG.   'When ye (we) came (come ye, AV.; when ye shall come? MG.) effacing the track of death.'   AV., which lacks the conjunction yad, has clearly imperative; MG. is probably corrupt in yad eta, but eta may be understood as injunctive, or even anomalously as imperative, cf.
§123; probably, however, read etad in MG., see §307.

(d) Imperfect Indicative and Subjunctive:

(yam agne pṛtsu martyam) avā (TS. āvo) vājeṣu yaṁ junāḥ RV. SV. TS.
MS. KS. ŚB.   'The mortal whom thou, Agni, shalt (didst) protect in battles, shalt promote in contests.'   Note that all texts agree on junāḥ, which may be felt either as subj. or as augmentless imperfect.

[yad adya hotṛvarye (ŚŚ. °vūrye)] jihmaṁ cakṣuḥ parāpatat (ŚŚ. °tāt) ŚB.
ŚŚ. ApŚ.   'What today at the choice of hotṛ has escaped (may escape) the crooked (=faulty) eye.'

yad vāskandad dhaviṣo yatra-yatra Kauś. 'or what part of the oblation has dropped anywhere': yad vā skandād ājyasyota viṣṇo TS. KS.
'moreover what part of the butter shall drop, O Viṣṇu.'

ahā yad dyāvo (AV. devā) asunītim ayan (AV. āyan) RV. AV. ayan seems most simply to be taken as subjunctive, rather than augmentless imperfect to present ayati.

[tisro yad agne śaradas tvām ic] chuciṁ ghṛtena śucayaḥ saparyān (TB.
°yan) RV. TB.   See §8.

(e) Imperfect Indicative and Injunctive:

śataṁ yo naḥ śarado 'nayat (MŚ. nayat) KS. MŚ.   'Who has brought (shall bring) us to a hundred autumns.'   Favorable to injunctive interpretation are the readings of the parallel texts.   TS. has an adjective ajītān for (a)nayat; the verb neṣat occurs in the following pāda, as it does also in SMB. PG. The Conc. reading for SMB. is ajījāt, glossed ajījanat; but Jörgensen's edition gives ajīyāt, glossed ajyāt (aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ;...gamayatv ity arthaḥ). PG. has jījān (Stenzler: 'der uns hundert Jahre schaffe'). All these parallels suggest that even KS. probably has distinctly modal force in its 'nayat; and the habits of Indian mss. compel us to consider the writing of avagraha in its text of very dubious authority; possibly nayat, injunctive, may be even KS.'s real reading.

(f) Perfect Indicative and Subjunctive:

yat te grāvṇā cichiduḥ (MŚ. vichindat) soma rājan TB. Vait. MŚ. 'What with the press-stone they have (one may) cut off of thee, King Soma.' vichindat is apparently pres. subj. made irregularly from the weak stem, cf. Whitney, Grammar §687.

yat sāsahat (SV. sāsāhā, KS.† sāsāhat) sadane kaṁcid atriṇam RV. SV. KS. 'Which shall (has) overcome every demon in his home.'

Augmentless and Augmented Prohibitives with mā

§146. In a few cases prohibitives, normally augmentless aorists, vary with augmented forms of the same or a similar tense-system; there is no room for change of meaning. Cf. Whitney, Grammar §579e. The type of augmented prohibitive lasts into Pāli, or is resumed there secondarily; see Jātaka 439 (Fausböll IV. 1, line 15), mā maṁ kiñci avaca, 'do not tell me anything.'

śraddhā ca no mā vyagamat ViDh. MDh. YDh. BṛhPDh. AuśDh śraddhā me mā vyāgāt ApŚ.

gaṇān me mā vi tītṛṣaḥ (MŚ. °ṣat) TS. MŚ.: gaṇān me mā vy arīriṣaḥ Vait.: 'Do not make thirsty (injure) my troops.'

mā naḥ param adharaṁ mā rajo 'naiḥ (MŚ.† param adhanaṁ mā rajo naiḥ) TA. MŚ.: mā na āyuḥ param avaraṁ mānadonaiḥ (corrupt) MS. Both editions of TA. agreeing on 'naiḥ with avagraha, but little importance is probably to be attached to this; cf. §265.

mā no rudro (MS. agniṁ, p.p. agniḥ) nirṛtir mā no astā (MS. na aṣṭān, followed by m-, p.p. āṣṭhāṁ) MS. TA. Both forms are dubious, but TA. apparently understands an augmentless 3d sing. mid. of as 'throw' (comm. asyatu), while MS. seems to understand an augmented form of aś 'attain' (or, in spite of the p.p., the prefix ā may be contained).

§147. There is a single somewhat grotesque case of interchange between Perfect Indicative and Injunctive in prohibitive (mā) clause:

mā tvā ke cin ni (AV. ke cid vi) yaman viṁ (SV. ke cin ni yemur in, TA. ke cin nyemur in [v. l., and comm., as SV.; so read or understand TA.]) na pāśinaḥ RV. AV. SV. VS. TA. 'Let not any hold thee in check as fowlers a bird.' SV. and TA are corrupt. yemur really belongs to a parallel categoric construction with na, rather than mā. See Oldenberg, Proleg. 283.

INTERCHANGES BETWEEN THE MOODS PROPER

§148. We now come to interchanges between the true or 'oblique' moods themselves, after sketching in the preceding pages their relation to the various indicatives. The reference-works on Sanskrit syntax define each mood by itself; they hardly attempt seriously to mark off the territory of one mood as compared with another. And this is wise.
All the authorities recognize the freedom and indefiniteness of the use of moods. The impv., e.g., is a moderate mood of request; it includes not only command but instruction, advice, wish, and prayer, thus covering most of the sphere of the other moods. It would serve no useful purpose for us here to follow in the footsteps of the syntacticians and define precisely the uses of each modal category (see in general, and most conveniently, Delbrück, Vergl. Synt. d. idg. Sprachen 2. 346ff.).
Rather do the following lists show the constancy of transition from one to another, than the peculiar function of any one of them. They represent links in a chain of modality which is scarcely broken by any peculiar use reserved for any one of them. We have also seen (§105) that tense-distinctions in the moods abound, but are totally without significance. Pres. subj. and aor. subj. are quite identical; precative (aor. opt.) has in the Veda purely optative value which does not in the least account for the aoristic element in its make-up. Even the prohibitive use of the injunctive with mā occasionally (tho very rarely) yields to that of the imperative or even optative (§§159, 174, end).
Nor is the preference for aorist, rather than present (imperfect), injunctive by any means a settled fact, as far as the Veda is concerned (§211). As far as we can observe, any one of the true moods may interchange with any other, certainly in principal sentences, but also to a considerable extent in subordinate clauses.

III. IMPERATIVE IN EXCHANGE WITH OTHER MOODS

§149. The imperative, in addition to its very frequent reciprocity with indicatives (already treated), interchanges with subjunctive, injunctive, optative, precative, future, and infinitive. This order is followed in the sequel. In addition, the class of mixed imperative-subjunctive forms, treated below (§173), contains cases which involve not only the proper subj., but also those mixed forms which are part impv. and part subj. And the second person modal forms in si and se (§§164f.), themselves classed as imperatives, alternate with regular impv. forms. Finally the impv. is used also, tho very rarely, as prohibitive with mā, exchanging with prohibitive injunctives (§159).

§150. The impv. in tāt shows in these interchanges a character in no wise different from that of the ordinary impv. See the relation of RV. 1. 48. 15 to 8. 9. 1, described above, §100, and several examples under the heading 'Instances of more than two modal varieties', §104. Cf. also the section on Imperatives in tāt exchanging with other Imperatives, §254.

Imperative and Subjunctive

§151. It will be convenient to assort this large group into three subdivisions: Imperative and Subjunctive without change of tense or person; without change of tense but with change of person; and with change of tense, with or without change of person.

§152. Imperative and Subjunctive without change of tense or person edhasva yamarājasu AV.: edhāsaṁ yamarājye TA. The comm. on edhāsaṁ says, edhasva vardhasva (!). The Conc. suggests edhāse; both versions would then mean, 'thrive thou in the kingdom of Yama (among those whose king is Yama).'

Imperative and Subjunctive, without change of tense but with change of person

§153. The particular interest of this subdivision is that 2d person imperatives vary constantly with 3d person subjunctives. This alternation goes back to RV. itself; see §§93, 95. Metrical convenience is often associated with the shift. A few examples of change of person also occur in the next subdivision.

Imperative and Injunctive

§155. The opportunity for interchange between these moods is lessened by the fact that their forms are identical at many points of their respective paradigms. Of course this means that our grammatical classifications break down at this point. Despite this, the interchanges are not much less numerous than those between Imperative and Subjunctive. We present them in four groups: first, those which involve no change of tense or person; second, those which involve change of person; third, those with change of tense; fourth, prohibitive clauses with mā, a small group of exceptional interest, presenting a rivalry between these two moods which begins (practically) in the later Vedic texts (cf. Whitney, Grammar §579c) and continues thruout classical Sanskrit.

Imperative and Injunctive without change of tense or person

§156. The interchanges in the 2d singular concern in most cases presence or absence of visarga (e.g. vaha: vahaḥ) and in all (four) such instances happen to occur at the end of a pāda; they may to some extent be due to phonetic indistinctness of ḥ, see §25.

viśvasmāt (TA. divo vi°) sīm aghāyata uruṣya (TA. °yaḥ) RV. TA. 'Deliver him from every evil-doer (of the sky).'

Imperative and Optative

§160.   This class is smaller than the preceding and subdivision is unnecessary.   There is but one case of change of tense, the first example; but change of person is frequent.   A certain predilection for the imperative rather than the optative in the second person is noticeable.

only possible reading.

Imperative and Precative

§161. The precative is merely an aorist optative and does not differ, in the Veda, from the regular optative in any way. It interchanges with the imperative about a dozen times, with or without change of person:

Imperative and Future

§162. The future is, in general, more certain than any of the moods (Delbruck, AISynt. 289); but, whenever a future form deals with an event in the future that is not considered quite certain, the barrier between it and the moods falls. And, like other indicatives, it is used in the Veda of things which the poets represent as more certain than they really are, for tactical (magical) reasons. Only a couple of interchanges between it and the imperative have been noted; but compare below the interchanges of future with subjunctive, optative, and precative.

vāg ārtvijyaṁ kariṣyati (ApŚ. karotu) ŚŚ. ApŚ. 'Speech will (shall) do brāhmaṇāns tarpayitavā iti sampreṣyati ApŚ. 4. 16. 17: brāhmaṇāns tarpayeti preṣyati MŚ. 'He gives the order, Treat the brahmans!'

This use of the infinitive in direct discourse (not immediately depending on a verb of command, in which case the infin. would be regular, see Delbrück, AISynt. 427, Speyer, Ved. u. Skt. Synt.
§217) seems to be peculiar to ApŚ., where it occurs at least twice more: uccaiḥ samāhantavā iti sampreṣyati 1. 20. 1, 'he gives the order, Beat loudly together!'; and triṣ phalīkartavā iti sampreṣyati 1. 20. 11, 'he gives the order, Thrice clean the grain.' On the last the comm. says phalīkaraṇaṁ triḥ kartavyam ity arthaḥ. The iti in such phrases seems to exclude the infinitive from direct government by the verb of command. Nevertheless the infin. of command is doubtless the elliptical residue of an infin. dependent on a verb of command [if it is not, after all, felt as governed by the following sampreṣyati, despite the iti; such illogical mixture of direct and indirect forms of speech is not unknown—F. E.]. For the general and comparative aspects of the infin. as impv. see Delbrück, Vergl. Synt. 2. 453ff.

IV. IMPERATIVE SECOND SINGULAR IN si AND (?) se

§164. In the Rigveda occur a number of modal forms restricted to the 2d singular; they are formed by adding si directly to the strong form of the root without other stem or mood formative. See Whitney, Grammar §624; Delbrück, Altindisches Verbum §30, Altindische Syntax 365; Speyer, Ved. u. Skt. Synt. §188, n. 2; Neisser, BB. 7. 230 ff. Imperative value is generally assigned to them, because they are frequently accompanied by other impv. forms in the same sentence. Now it is interesting to note that our repetitions do in fact, in a case or two, substitute an impv. form for such a form in si; and further that forms in si are not entirely limited to passages occurring in the RV.:

deva somaiṣa te lokas tasmiñ chaṁ ca vakṣva pari ca vakṣva (VSK. lokaḥ pari ca vakṣi śaṁ ca vakṣi; ŚBK. tasmiñ chaṁ pari ca vakṣi saṁ ca vakṣi) VS. VSK. ŚB. ŚBK. Cf. śaṁ ca vakṣi pari ca vakṣi MS.TA.
ApŚ. 'This is thy station, god Soma; in it thrive thou well and thoroly.' The verb concerned seems to be vakṣ 'grow', tho Mahīdhara on VS. refers the form to vah 'carry'. In either case we have a modal 2d person in si, exchanging with an impv. in sva, and that in YV. texts only.

dhiyā na (SV. no) vājāṅ upa māsi (SV. māhi) śaśvataḥ RV. SV. Cf.
next.

stuto yāsi (RV. yāhi) vaśāṅ anu RV. VS. TS. KS. ŚB. LŚ. 'Praised, O Indra, go after our desire.' In this and the prec., of course, the forms in si may be construed as indicative (so Keith on TS.). Yet the atmosphere of the passages, together with the unambiguous impv. of the variant forms, seems to suggest modal value.

sam indra no (ṇo) manasā neṣi (AV. neṣa) gobhiḥ RV. AV. VS. TS. MS.
KS. ŚB. TB. AVPpp. reads neṣi, showing that neṣa (aor. impv.) is a somewhat precarious nonce-formation.

Of equal interest is the substitution in TS. of a form in si for a RV. injunctive; it is the more remarkable because it occurs in a subordinate clause (introduced by yad):

pitṝn yakṣad (TS. yakṣy) r̥tāvr̥dhaḥ RV. VS. TS. KS. 'When he shall (thou shalt) sacrifice to the fathers who prosper the r̥ta.'

§165. We append here a couple of cases in which forms in se interchange with imperatives in dhi (hi). It is possible that the se-forms are modal (imperative, or subjunctive?) middle forms corresponding to the actives in si, but the forms are isolated and ambiguous. Perhaps here belongs dhiṣe; see §219, viśvā adhi śriyo etc.

indro vide tam u stuṣe (Mahānāmnyaḥ stuhi) AA. Mahānāmnyaḥ.
'Indra finds, him do thou praise.' But stuṣe may mean 'I praise'; so Keith.

kr̥ṣiṃ susasyām ut kr̥ṣe (KS. kr̥dhi) MS. KS. MŚ. 'The furrow, well-grown with grain, draw thou up.' The verb is problematic in form and meaning; one is almost led to suspect that both kr̥ṣe and kr̥dhi are from kr̥ṣ 'plow' (!).

V. SUBJUNCTIVE IN INTERCHANGE WITH OTHER MOODS

§166. The subjunctive exchanges with the indicative (§§117ff., 124, 131, 137, 140, 145, a, d, f), the imperative (§151ff.); and further with injunctive, optative, precative, future, and desiderative. The first persons, as already remarked, do duty also as imperatives; we treat them here rather than as impvs. In principal clauses there is no perceptible difference between the subj. and its rival moods. In dependent clauses the 2d person impv. does not alternate with subjs. (§95, note 11); but the ind., 3d person impv., inj. and opt. are fairly common and normal.

Subjunctive and Injunctive

§167. Alternation between these moods is not very rare, particularly in principal clauses; and there are a few cases of subordinate clauses which we have classified here. Included are some cases with coincident change of tense and person; and there is a single instance of a prohibitive clause with mā. Some of the forms which we have classified as injunctives may, of course, be regarded perhaps equally well as preterite indicatives without augment; in that case they would belong in §§131, 137, 145.

tasmai devā adhi bravan (MS. KS. TB. [comm. and Poona ed. text] ApŚ. bruvan) VS. TS. MS. KS. TB. ApŚ. 'May the gods bless him.'

tasmai somo adhi bravat (KS. bruvat) RV. AV. KS.

pra bravāma (MS. bru°, v. l. bra°) śaradaḥ śatam VS. MS. TA. ApMB. HG. MG.

upa śravat (MS. śruvat, p.p. śravat) subhagā yajñe asmin RV. MS. 'May the blessed (Sarasvatī) listen to us at this sacrifice.' śruvat, if not merely a corruption, is a tentative and precarious formation modelled on forms like bruvat in the two preceding cases; see §23 where such cases are considered from the phonetic point of view.

agnir havyāni siṣvadat RV.: agnir havyā suṣūdati RV.

iṣam ūrjam anyā vakṣat (TB.* †vākṣīt) VS. MS. KS. TB. 'Let one bring refreshment and food.'

prācīnam sīdat (MS. sīdat) pradiśā pṛthivyāḥ VS. MS. KS. TB.

yajamānāya vāryam ā suvas kar asmai TA.: yajñapataye vāryam ā svas kaḥ MS.: yajñapataye vasu vāryam āsaṁskarase ŚŚ.

pra śmaśru (SV. śmaśrubhir) dodhuvad ūrdhvathā bhūt (SV. ūrdhvadhā bhuvat) RV. SV. So to be classed if bhuvat is a subjunctive from the root-aorist (a)bhūt. But augmented forms in -vat occur (see Whitney, Roots), and both forms may be injunctive, or indeed preterite indic. Cf. next.

sa tvaitebhyaḥ pari dadat (TA. dadāt) pitṛbhyaḥ RV. AV. TA. N. 'He shall hand thee over to these manes.' Both forms ambiguous, somewhat as in the preceding.

§168. In subordinate clauses the subjunctive is much commoner than the injunctive (cf. §§124f.), but some cases of the latter seem to occur, besides those similar forms which we have preferred to regard as preterite indicatives exchanging with subjunctives (§145):

āyuṣmān (AV. °māṅ) jaradaṣṭir yathāsam (AV. °sāni) RVKh. VS. AV.: ...yathāsat AV. AG. PG. ApMB. See Conc. for similar pādas. 'That I (he) may reach old age.' The pāda occurs in four different verses: one in RVKh. VS., two different ones in AV., and a fourth in the Gṛhya texts.

yad iti mām atimanyadhvam HG.: yadi mām atimanyādhvai ApMB. 'When (if) you (thus) disdain me.'

yatra (SV. yatrā) devā iti bravan (SV. bruvan) RV. SV. 'Where people may say "gods".' Of course bruvan may be considered indic.

The single case of a prohibitive with mā is:

sakhyāt te mā yoṣam TB. ApŚ. ApMB. HG. 'May I not be separated from thy friendship': sakhyaṁ te mā yoṣāḥ SMB. 'do not withhold thy friendship.'

Subjunctive and Optative

§169. This interchange is most frequent in first-person forms, where the subj. also does duty as impv. But the following examples include several of 3d person, and others, as well as one of 2d person, will be found among the interchanges of more than two modal forms, §104 above. Several cases occur in subordinate clauses. One case involves change of tense. See also §96 for a RV. case.

vidād (SV. vided) ūrjaṁ śatakratur vidād (SV. vided) iṣam RV. SV.
'May (Indra) the possessor of hundred-fold wisdom obtain food, obtain refreshment.'

imā nu kaṁ bhuvanā sīṣadhāma (SV. TA. ApŚ. MŚ. °dhema) RV. AV.
SV. VS. AB. KB. GB. AA. TA. MŚ. ApŚ. AŚ. ŚŚ. Vait. 'Let us now bring success to these worlds.'

śṛṇuyāma (TA. ApMB. HG. śṛṇavāma) śaradaḥ śatam VS. MS. TA. PG.
MG. ApMB. HG.

bhavāma (AV. bhavema) śaradaḥ śatam AV. TA. ApMB. HG.

vibhuṁ kāmaṁ (VS. vibhūn kāmān) vy aśnavai (MS. aśīya) VS. MS. KS.
TB.

athainaṁ jarimā nayet HG.: yathainaṁ jarase nayāt AV.

In the last the subj. occurs in a subordinate clause, which is made a principal clause with the opt. form. In the following both forms occur in subordinate clauses:

(bhūmyā vṛtvāya no brūhi) yataḥ khanema (TS. khanāma) taṁ vayam VS. TS. MS. KS.

yasyām uśantaḥ praharāma (AV. ApMB. HG. °rema) śepam (AV. śepaḥ) RV. AV. PG. ApMB. HG. N. 'In whom (the bride) we may eagerly insert the member.'

yathā pumān bhaved iha MŚ.: yatheha puruṣo 'sat (SMB. puruṣaḥ syāt) VS. ŚŚ. ApŚ. Kauś. SMB.

§170. Subjunctive and Precative

aham evedaṁ sarvam asāni (ŚB. BṛhU. °vaṁ bhūyāsam) ŚB. BṛhU.
ChU. 'May I myself be (or become) this entire world.'

yan madhuno...tenāham madhuno...'sāni (HG. bhūyāsam) PG. ApMB.
HG.

§171. Subjunctive and Future

varaṇo vārayātai (and, vārayiṣyate) AV. (both): 'the (amulet) made of varaṇa-wood shall defend': varuṇo (but Poona ed. with comm. varaṇo) vārayāt TA.

bhavāsi putrāṇāṁ mātā AV.: teṣāṁ mātā bhaviṣyasi ŚG.

agnau kariṣyāmi GG. BDh.: agnau karavāṇi ViDh.   And others, see vācaspate vāco vīryeṇa sambhṛtatamenāyakṣase (TA. °yakṣyase, ŚŚ.

°yachase) MS. TA. ŚŚ.   See §27.

pra ca havyāni vakṣyasi TS.: pred u havyāni vocati RV. VS. KS.   'Thou shalt (he shall) announce the oblations.'

§172. Subjunctive and (Subjunctive of) Desiderative

brahma vā yaḥ kriyamāṇaṁ ninitsāt (AV. vā yo nindiṣat kriyamāṇam) RV. AV.   'Or whoso shall (seek to) blaspheme our holy charm as it is being performed.'

VI. Mixed Imperative-Subjunctive forms

§173. Of all genuinely modal interrelations that between impv. and subj. is the most frequent.   This intimacy between the two has gained formal expression in the Vedic language in occasional mixed imperativesubjunctive forms.   Thus nudātu is a blend of nudatu, impv., and nudāti, subj.   No less certainly karatu is a blend of subj. karati and impv. karotu.   The function of this blend corresponds to its form.   Cf.
Whitney, Grammar §§740, 752c.   In §104, p, we have quoted several variants showing all three types, true subj., true impv., and mixed.
Here we append others in which the mixed form varies with subjunctive alone:

sa dṛṣṭo mṛḍayāti (MS.† °tu; VSK. mṛḷayāti) naḥ VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS.
'May he, when seen, be gracious unto us.'

dīrgham āyuḥ karati (TA. °tu) jīvase vaḥ RV. TA.

viśve no devā avasā gamantu RV. VS. TS.: viśve no (KS. mā) devā avasā gamann iha RV. VS. MS. KS. ApŚ.   Since the thematic aorist agamat is rare and dubious in the Saṁhitās, it is best to classify the Saṁhitā form gamantu here, rather than as impv. to aor. agam-a-t.   Cf. however gamat sa (gamema)...in §174.

tapto vāṁ gharmo nakṣati (AV. nakṣatu) svahotā AV. AB. AŚ. ŚŚ. sa no muñcātu (RV. SV. rakṣiṣad) duritād avadyāt RV. SV. TA. ādityair indraḥ saha sīṣadhātu (VS. °ti; RV. AV. cīkḷpāti) RV. AV. SV.
    VS. TA. MŚ. ApŚ.
[so 'syai (MG. 'syāḥ) prajāṁ muñcatu mṛtyupāśāt AG. SMB. PG.
    ApMB. HG. MG.   Conc. erroneously quotes muñcātu for SMB.]

VII. Injunctive in interchange with other moods

§174. The injunctive alternates with indicative (§§120, 125, 132, 138, 141, 145, b, e), imperative (§§155ff.), subjunctive (§§167f.), and optative.
There is one case of a prohibitive with mā in which one text anomalously replaces an inj. with an opt., cf. Whitney, Grammar §579b.   Occasionally there is a shift of tense along with that of mood.

Injunctive and Optative ā mā prāṇena saha varcasā gan (AV. gamet) AV. TS. MS. KS.   'May he come to me along with life-breath and strength.'   AV. comm. also gan; MS. p.p. agan.

asyām ṛdhad (ŚB. AŚ. ṛdhed) dhotrāyām devaṁgamāyām MS. ŚB. TA.
    AŚ. ŚŚ.   'May he succeed in this sacrifice that goes to the gods.'
tvayā (VSK. TS. KS. TB. omit) vayaṁ samghātaṁ-samghātaṁ (TS. TB. omit one samghātaṁ; VSK. samghāte-samghāte) jeṣma (KS.† once samjayema, once jayema) VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB.   '(Thru thee) may we be victorious in every fight.' gamat sa (and: gamema, sa gantā) gomati vraje RV. (all).   'He (we) shall go to a stall rich in cattle.'   gamat is commonly taken as subjunctive of a root aorist; but in view of gamema, which can only be opt. of an a-aorist, we class it as inj. of that type. tena vayaṁ gamema (TS. MS. KS. patema; VSK. tena gamema) bradh- nasya viṣṭapam VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.: tena geṣma sukṛtasya lokam AV. nedīya it sṛnyaḥ (TS.† °yā) pakvam eyāt (TS. MS. KS. āyat) RV. VS.
    TS. MS. KS. ŚB. N.
na pāpatvāya rāsīya (SV. raṁsiṣam) RV. AV. SV.   The SV. reading is doubtless an unsuccessful attempt to improve the meter. pra tad voced (TA. MahānU. voce) amṛtasya (VS. TA. MahānU. amṛtaṁ nu) vidvān AV. VS. TA. MahānU.   In AV., 'may (the gandharva) knowing of the immortal proclaim that.'   TA. comm. provāca (3d person!).   The form voce seems well-nigh uninterpretable; the comm. seems to be thinking of the 3d sing. perf. mid. ūce.

The single case of prohibitive with mā is:

mā́ tvāgnir dhvanayīd (MS. dhanayīd; TS. dhvanayid; KSA. dhvanayed) dhūmagandhiḥ RV. VS. TS. MS. KSA.   'Let not the fire, smokescented, make thee crackle', or the like.   On dhvanayid see §285.

VIII. Optative in interchange with other moods

§175. The optative interchanges with indicatives (§§121, 126, 133, 142), imperative (§160), subjunctive (§170), injunctive (§174), preca-tive, and future.

Optative and Precative

The precative is itself only an aorist optative of specialized type.   It interchanges mostly with the present optative, less often with the aorist optative.   Some of the forms classed as precatives are, of course, necessarily indistinguishable from regular aorist optatives; cf. Whitney, Grammar §§568, 921ff.; these interchanges might therefore be classed under §210, d.

tā́bhyāṁ (MS. KS. add vayaṁ) patema sukṛtā́m u lokam (Kauś. pathy-ā́sma sukṛtasya lokam) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. Kauś.   'With these two (wings) may we fly to the world of the pious.'
tvayā́yaṁ vṛtraṁ vadhyā́t (VSK. badhyā́t; VS. ŚB. badhet) VS. VSK. TS.
   MS. KS. ŚB.   'Thru thee may he slay Vṛtra.'
anu vīrair anu puṣyāsma (TB. ApŚ. rā́dhyāma) gobhiḥ VS. TB. ApŚ.
   'May we thrive with heroic sons and cattle.'
jīveyam ŚB.: jīvyā́sam AV. sam aham ā́yuṣā sam varcasā sam prajayā́ (ŚŚ. adds, sam priyeṇa dhā́mnā) sam rā́yas poṣeṇa gmīya (VS. ŚB. ŚŚ. gmiṣīya) VS. MS.
   KS.   But, of course, gmiṣīya may be considered an iṣ-aorist. sinīvālyā́ ahaṁ devayajyayā́ paśumā́n (ApŚ. °matī) bhūyāsam (MŚ. paśūn vindeyam) ApŚ. MŚ.   Similarly with kuhvā̀, and rākāyā́.
suprajā́ḥ prajayā́ bhūyāsaṁ (ApMB.* bhūyā́s)...VSK. TS. ApŚ.
   ApMB. HG.: suprajā́ḥ prajābhiḥ syā́ṁ (VS. and ŚB. also syā́ma; ŚŚ. prajābhir bhūyāsam)...VS. ŚB. AŚ. ŚŚ. priyo dātur dakṣiṇāyā́ iha syām AV.: priyo devā́nāṁ dakṣiṇāyai dātur iha bhūyāsam VS.
bhūyā́ma te sumatau vā́jino vayam RV. SV.: bhūyā́sma te sumatau viśvavedaḥ MS. (so read, for Conc. °vedāḥ; the text has °vedā followed by a vowel, which by the peculiar sandhi of MS. means °vedaḥ). bhūyā́sma (ŚB. KŚ. °yāma) putraiḥ paśubhiḥ ŚB. KŚ. AŚ. ApŚ. ApMB.
   BDh.

sahasrapoṣaṁ vaḥ puṣyāsam (KS. puṣeyam; MS. vo 'ṣīya) TS. MS. KS.
HG.: sahasrapoṣaṁ puṣeyam VS. ŚB.

dyāvāpṛthivyor ahaṁ devayajyayobhayor lokayor ṛdhyāsam (KS.* devaya-jyayā prajaniṣeyaṁ prajayā paśubhiḥ; KS.* MŚ. devayajyayā pra-janiṣīya prajayā paśubhiḥ) KS. (bis) ApŚ. MŚ. Note the anoma-lous (thematic) aor. opt. prajaniṣeyam.

ariṣṭās tanvo bhūyāsma LŚ.: ariṣṭāḥ syāma tanvā suvīrāḥ RV. AV. TS. KS.

ā mā stutasya stutaṁ gamyāt (Vait. gamet) TS. Vait.: ā mā stotrasya stotraṁ gamyāt PB.

api jāyeta so 'smākam ViDh.: api naḥ sa kule bhūyāt MDh.

tasya te bhaktivāṅsaḥ syāma (MS. KS. bhaktivāno bhūyāsma) AV. MS. KS.: tasya te vayaṁ bhūyiṣṭhabhājo bhūyāsma ApŚ.: tasyās te bhakṣivāṇaḥ syāma (MS. KS. bhaktivāno bhūyāsma, ApŚ. °vāṅso bhūyāsma, AŚ. bhāgam aśīmahi) MS. KS. TB. ApŚ. AŚ.

vāmī te saṁdṛśi viśvaṁ reto dheṣīya (KS. dhiṣīya) MS. KS.: viśvasya te viśvāvato vṛṣṇiyāvataḥ tavāgne vāmīr anu saṁdṛśi viśvā retāṅsi dhiṣīya TS.: vāmī nāma saṁdṛśi viśvā vāmāni dhīmahi JB. All the verb-forms are ambiguous, and dhīmahi doubly so, since it might be injunctive; see Whitney, Grammar §837b.

Optative and Future

tau yuñjīta (AV. yokṣye) prathamau yoga āgate AV. SV. 'These two may he (I shall) first yoke up (employ) when the conjuncture arrives.' The AV. (vulgate) mss. all read yokṣe; Ppp. yokṣye.

IX. PRECATIVE IN INTERCHANGE WITH OTHER MOODS

§176. The precative interchanges with indicatives (§§121, 133), imperative (§161), subjunctive (§169), optative (§175), and future. Two of the three forms here classed as precatives might, however, also be considered aor. optative.

Precative and Future

juṣṭām adya devebhyo vācam udyāsam (ŚŚ. vācaṁ vadiṣyāmi) ŚB. ŚŚ. ApŚ. 'Let me (I shall) speak this day speech pleasing to the gods.'

madhu vaṅsiṣīya (ŚŚ. vaniṣye) AV. ŚŚ. 'May I (I shall) win honey.' Whitney would read vaṅsiṣīya in AV. Cf. Bloomfield and Spieker, JAOS. 13, cxviii.

madhu janiṣye (AV. janiṣīya) AV. TS. TA. ŚŚ.: madhu kariṣyāmi madhu janayiṣyāmi madhu bhaviṣyati JB.

X. Future in interchange with other moods

§177. The future interchanges with aorist indicative (§134), imperative (§162), subjunctive (§171), optative (§175, end), precative (just above), and desiderative; and in one doubtful case we may have a future indicative exchanging with a future subjunctive. See also under Tense for interchange of future with other indicative tenses (§234); and see §248a for verbal nouns in tā, simulating the later periphrastic future, exchanging with various finite verb forms.

yad vādāsyan saṁjagārā janebhyaḥ TB.: adāsyann agna uta saṁgṛṇāmi AV.: aditsan vā saṁjagara janebhyaḥ TA. 'If I promise, not intending to give, to people', or the like. Participles are here concerned.

paridhāsyai yaśo dhāsyai (MG. paridhāsye yaśo dhāsye) PG. MG. If the PG. contains finite verb-forms, they must be future subjunctives (Whitney, Grammar §938). But Stenzler and Oldenberg follow the Hindu comm. in taking -dhāsyai as an infinitive (and yaśodhāsyai as a compound). Cf. §134.

XI. Desiderative in interchange with other moods

§178. The desiderative—by definition modal in force—exchanges with indicative aorist (§135) and future (§177); and it forms a subjunctive of its own which varies with another subjunctive (§172).

XII. Infinitive in interchange with imperative

§178a. See §163.

Summary of modal interchanges in dependent and other non-categorical clauses

§179. Starting with the observation that the subjunctive is the favorite in relative clauses, we note (§122) that the 2d sing. impv. is certainly excluded from that construction. This does not apply to the other numbers of the 2d person impv., which are identical in form with injunctives, as may be seen from the example in §168, yad iti mām atimanyadhvam HG., yadi mām atimanyādhvai ApMB., 'when (if) you (thus) disdain me.' The true or exclusive imperative forms, not capable of confusion with either subj. or inj., are (in the active) the 2d and 3d singular and the 3d plural only. They occur, if only rarely, in prohibitive clauses (§159), and the third person also in relative clauses

(§§122f.). We here use the term 'relative' in a broad sense to include clauses introduced by conjunctions derived from the stem ya-, as yadi, yathā, yad, yatra, yataḥ. Understood in this sense we find the following:

§183. Interchange of moods in interrogative and lest-clauses

In one interrogative clause (§124, end) the present indicative interchanges with a subjunctive:
(apāṁ napād āśuhemā kuvit sa) supeśasas karati (karoti) joṣiṣad dhi.

In one lest-clause (§124, end) the present indicative interchanges with a subjunctive:
mā̆ mā hāsīn (hāsīr) nāthito net (na) tvā jahāni (°mi).

CHAPTER IV. THE TENSES. INTERCHANGE BETWEEN TENSES AND TENSE-SYSTEMS

§184. Tense interchange in the Vedic Variants may be treated, in its formal and functional aspects, under three heads:

1. Interchanges between different formations of the same tense. In general these are devoid of functional distinction. This is true alike of the present and the aorist systems. Except that the reduplicated aorist is associated with causative meaning (Whitney, Grammar §856)—and even this exception is by no means a hard and fast rule, as the variants show—the aorist, thruout the history of Sanskrit as of the other Indo-European languages, does not make any functional differentiation of its various formal types. Nor do our variants throw any light on the rare and precarious instances in which different present-systems from the same root are accompanied by genuine differences of meaning, as in the perfective bharati 'carry to': imperfective bibharti 'carry, wear'; see Bloomfield, JAOS. 11. cxxvi ff.; Delbrück, AISynt. 274ff. So far as the variants show, the interchanges between present systems are quite devoid of distinctions of meaning.

2. Interchanges between identical subordinate moods of different tenses, especially present and aorist. These, again, do not manifest the slightest difference in sense. Thus, patiṁ me kevalaṁ kṛdhi (kuru), 'make him solely my husband.' We have encountered this tense variation as a very frequent accessory to modal variation in the chapter on moods; see above, §154, etc. The cases there presented included only those in which mood as well as tense was shifted, as in uruvyacā no mahiṣaḥ śarma yaṁsat (yachatu), §154, where an aorist subjunctive varies with a present imperative. In the present chapter we shall deal with instances in which the mood remains constant, while the tense changes.

3. True interchange of tense, that is to say, interchange in the indicative forms, which (at least in the Veda) do have more or less clearly recognizable differences of meaning. This involves interchanges between present, aorist, imperfect, and perfect, and to some extent future, altho in our view the Vedic use of the future makes it more a mood than a tense and we have accordingly treated it chiefly in the chapter on moods; but see below, §234.

We begin with the first of these classes, which involves two subdivisions: a. Interchange between the Present systems, and b. between the Aorist systems.

1. INTERCHANGES BETWEEN DIFFERENT FORMATIONS OF THE SAME TENSE

a. Interchanges between different Present systems

§185. Interchanges between present systems are carried on in a fairly live fashion, and without the least distinction in meaning between the correspondents. To some extent they represent old established correspondences, such as between the various nasal presents. This is in continuation of prehistoric conditions, largely dependent on the organic derivation of the various nasal classes from different types of 'dissyllabic roots' or bases. See Gustav Meyer, Die mit nasalen gebildeten praesensstämme (Jena, 1873); de Saussure, Mémoire sur le système primitif des voyelles dans les langues indoeuropéennes 239ff.; Hirt, Ablaut 76ff. The nasal classes show also a considerable tendency to interchange with other present classes. Next in importance are the transitions from non-thematic to thematic conjugation, part of a wide movement thruout the history of Hindu speech. In a root or two (mṛḍ, hū) the accented a-class interchanges with ungunated aya-presents, the latter being structurally or chronologically more archaic (hvayāmi = Avestan zbayemi). Intransitive ya-verbs show a somewhat marked tendency to replace other types in late texts; cf. Delbrück, AISynt. 277. There are some interchanges which involve different phonetic treatment of one and the same root, producing the effect of different present systems, such as interchange between raṃṇātu and raṇvatu, ūrṇuhi and vṛṇu, dhvarati and dhūrvati. Above all loom about forty interchanges between the stems kṛṇo- and karo-, involving tangled chronological conditions. And finally there are interchanges between any one and any other system. We shall treat these matters in the approximate order of their frequency or importance, beginning with kṛṇo : karo.

The stems kṛṇo (kṛṇu) and karo (kuru)

§186. Of these two stems, kṛṇo- is guaranteed as a prehistoric form by the Avestan kərənaomi. No less certainly is karo- of ancient organic structure (dissyllabic base kereu*), as is shown by -kūr-min, karv-ara, and the analogous formation tarute. See Bloomfield, JAOS. 16 clx = BB. 23. 110; Hirt, Ablaut 114. The early hieratic language adopted

kṛṇo-, whereas karo- seems likely to have been the true popular form at all times. In the prevailingly hieratic parts of the RV. we find, accordingly, kṛṇo-. On the other hand, however, the AV., tho fundamentally and prevailingly popular, does not favor karo- as we should expect. Whitney's Index to the AV. shows that kṛṇo- is much the commoner stem; and this is perhaps made even more striking by the evidence of the variants, in which, even tho the other texts (largely popular) read karo-, the AV. overwhelmingly favors kṛṇo- (in 13 out of 14 cases; only one karo-!). It is quite clear that in this respect, as in some others, AV., which shares many hieratic passages with RV., has come under the influence of its diction. (It is to be noted, however, that of the passages among the variants showing kṛṇo- in AV., only one is borrowed from RV. Evidently AV. adopted the hieratic stem very definitely as its own. The passages are grouped just below.) Analogously, we find even in some very late texts that kṛṇo- forms are substituted for karo- forms of older texts, by conscious archaism. Thus Vait., certainly a late text but one with hieratic pretensions, employs the doubly archaic kṛṇuhi (ojasvantaṁ mām āyuṣmantaṁ manuṣyeṣu kṛṇuhi, see §255), against kuru of other and older texts. So also the very late NīlarU. revives kṛṇo- over the heads of all the YV. texts in: śivāṁ giritra (MS. giriśa) tāṁ kuru (NīlarU. kṛṇu) VS. TS. MS. KS. NīlarU. On the whole both the later hieratic texts (YV., Brāhmaṇa, and Śrauta Sūtra), as well as the popular Gṛhya Sūtras, incline to karo-, but frequently and very inconsistently fall back into kṛṇo-. The edition of ApŚ. 7. 17. 6, 7 gives both forms in adjoining repetitions of the same formula, arātīyantam adharaṁ karomi (7. 16. 7 kṛṇomi); the hieratic form here may be due to mere desire for stylistic variation. Just so in adjoining verses of the popular ApMB. we have first karomi, then kṛṇomi with further recasting of the phrase which suggests stylistic influence: syonaṁ te saha patyā karomi 1. 5. 16d, and ariṣṭāṁ tvā saha patyā kṛṇomi 1. 5. 17d. There are few Vedic texts of any size or importance so base but that they occasionally use kṛṇo- in place of karo-. Of those represented by more than one variant pāda, only TA., HG., and RVKh. lack kṛṇo- forms. The would-be hieratic (but late and secondary) Vait. poses with kṛṇo- forms three times against other texts with karo-, and without a single instance of the reverse.

§187. We seem to see traces of some school tendencies in this regard. Altho it would doubtless be rash to generalize confidently from these few instances, it seems hardly likely to be accidental that the Taittirīya school texts—TS., TB., TA., ApŚ., MahānU., HG., and ApMB.—

uniformly prefer the popular karo   So does KS.; while contrariwise MS. and its Śrauta Sūtra, MŚ., show a majority for kṛṇo-.

§188. The capricious interplay of hieratic and popular, old and new, is further tangled by half a dozen examples in which the aorists or aoristpresents kṛdhi and kṛṣva interchange with corresponding forms of the bases kṛṇo- and karo-, §210, a.

§189. The distribution of the two stems in the interchanging variants is shown conveniently in the following table:

Interchange between the various nasal classes

§191. Here we have, first, interchanges between the no and nā classes: they involve the roots stabh and skabh (thrice), kṣi 'destroy' (twice), and mi 'diminish' (once). The rest of the cases are stray examples of various nasal formations; they chiefly concern transfer from non-thematic nasal classes to thematic forms. In principle, of course, thematic verbs of nasal classes are just as old as the non-thematic; but in Sanskrit their appearance is sporadic only. The total of these cases is not sufficient to permit deductions.

ājyam uktham avyathāyai (KS. °ya, TS. avyathayat) stabhnātu (MS.

bṛhaspatiṣ ṭvā (TS. KS. ApŚ. °tis tvā) sumne ramṇātu (TS. ApŚ. raṇ-vatu) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. ApŚ. MŚ. The 'root' raṇv is best accounted for as ra-ṇv-(ṛṃ-ṇv-*). Whitney, Roots, regards it as a secondary formation from ran. This and the next belong equally in §196.

deva tvaṣṭar vasu rama (TS. raṇva, KS. raṇa, MS. raṇe) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.

āpas tvā sam ariṇan (MS. ariṇvan) VS. MS. ŚB.: āpaḥ sam ariṇan TS. KS.

agner jihvām abhi (MS. jihvābhi, p.p. jihvāṁ, abhi; AV. KS. jihvayābhi) gṛṇītam (AV. gṛṇata) AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. gṛṇītam is 2d dual of nā-class, gṛṇata 2d plural of accented a-class.

āṅkṣvāsāv āṅkṣvāsau HG.: asāv abhyaṅkṣvāsāv aṅkṣva AŚ.: āṅkṣva tatāsau ApŚ.: āñjasvānulimpasva PG. The thematic present is practically unknown; see Whitney, Roots.

sā mā samiddhāyuṣā . . . samintām (! one ms. °indhatām) TA.: sā mā samiddhā . . . samindhiṣatām MS. Here TA., most mss., has a regular non-thematic present from indh, the anomalous appearance of which doubtless causes the thematic variant °indhatām. MS. has an aorist.

The roots van, man and san may also be included here even tho the nasal is in their case radical; in this grouping we merely follow a custom which is not only well-established but eminently practical. They present, alongside of non-thematic (8th class) presents, certain forms which may be either thematic present indicatives, or aorist subjunctives:

tad agnir devo devebhyo vanate (MS. ŚB. ŚŚ. vanutām) TS. MS. ŚB. TB. AŚ. ŚŚ.

The question is, whether vanate is a pres. of the bhū-class or an aor. subj.; see §§ 116, 154, and the next.

agnir no vanate (VSK. vanute; SV. TS. KS. vaṁsate) rayim RV. SV. VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. See under prec. The question there mooted is here further complicated by the indubitably aor. subj. vaṁsate.

manai (MS. manve) nu babhrūṇām ahaṁ, śataṁ dhāmāni sapta ca RV. VS. MS. KS. ŚB. N. But manai is dubious as a pres. subj.; it is better taken as aorist, see §§10, 119.

ubhau lokau sanem (MŚ. sanomy) aham TB. TAA. ApŚ. MŚ.

Interchange of nasal with non-nasal classes

§192. This rubric is rendered somewhat uncertain in outline because a number of the non-nasal forms in question may be considered as aorists, especially in the case of modal forms. Thus, the SV. repeatedly reads yuṅkṣva for yukṣva of the rest; the latter is structurally ambiguous, tho usually treated as present, like yuṅkṣva. We have followed this custom, altho it seems to us that yukṣva might quite as well be treated as aorist. The fact is that, as we have repeatedly observed, our grammatical categories are more or less whited sepulchres, particularly as regards modal forms. The same considerations apply to some other forms classed here, notably to -viddhi: -vinda, where viddhi might be regarded as either perfect in form (:veda), or aorist (cf. vidanta: vindantu, §159), tho we group it as present:

indrānuvinda (AŚ. °viddhi) nas tāni TB. AŚ.

yasya yoniṁ patireto gṛbhāya (HG. prati reto gṛhāṇa) ŚG. HG.: vy asya yoniṁ prati reto gṛhāṇa ApMB. Cf. Whitney, Grammar §§722, 732.

Possibly here belongs:

kataro meniṁ prati taṁ mucāte (Vait. muñcāte) RV. Vait. But in §210, b, we have classified mucāte as aorist. See that section and the following for one or two other cases which might, less probably, be placed here.

And see further the interchanges between stems tṛmpa and tṛpya, manu and manya, hṛṇī and hṛṇīya, §195.

Interchange between non-thematic and thematic presents

§193. This is one of the most extensive movements in the development of the present systems in their history thruout Hindu speech. Regularly the non-thematic form precedes the thematic form, structurally and chronologically. In the variants the priority of the non-thematic form may generally be assumed. Sometimes the thematic forms are nonce-formations, as when ghnata takes the place of hata, or in the grotesque bodha, 'be', which is coaxed out of bodhi in the example pitā no bodhi (bodha). At the head of our list come several cases in which dissyllabic non-thematic stems are replaced by thematic ones. Cf. also under nasal stems, §191.

interpretation is very dubious. No *vasate 'clothes' is recorded.
Keith on TS. seems to understand vas 'dwell', as if from a type *vaste, which is equally unknown from this root. Mahīdhara on obscure. Possibly MS. understands a form of vas 'dwell' (vasate), and the others vas 'clothe' (vaste). F. E.]

there is no real variant; all mss. of AV. read dadante, and Whitney's Transl. restores it to the text.]

Interchange between a and aya formations

§194. Aside from formations which may with more or less confidence be called causatives, and which we treat separately as such (§§237ff.), this type includes hardly anything but forms of the two roots mṛḍ 'pity' and hū 'call'. The popular (rather than 'late') form hvayāmi is shown to be prehistoric by Avestan zbayemi; it is doubtless a mere accident that it alone survives as a present formation from this root in classical Sanskrit, while huvá and háva, both of which interchange with hvaya, become extinct. See Bloomfield, JAOS. 21. 48. In the following small list the verbs determine but rarely the relative chronology of the passages:

apasedhan (SV.† °dhaṁ) duritā soma mṛḍaya (SV. no mṛḍa) RV. SV.
Here mṛḍa (should = mṝḍa, and hence metrically out of place) together with the patchword no are clearly inferior readings in SV.

tayā no mṛḍa jīvase VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. NīlarU.: tayā no rudra mṛḍaya TS. The parallel is only vague.

[As to the variant quoted in Conc. as: apāṁ napātam aśvinā huve dhiyā (TS. aśvinā hvayantām) AV. TS., the word hvayantām is an error for hayantam (pple. of hi 'impel') in TS.]

In a single variation between parallel pādas in the Vālakhilya hymns the stems svada and svadaya interchange without difference in meaning; nevertheless, svadaya may be considered a causative, cf. §240:

yaṁ te svadhāvan svadayanti dhenavaḥ RV. (Vāl.): yaṁ te svadāvan svad-anti gūrtayaḥ RV. (Vāl.)

Interchange between intransitive ya-stems and others

§195. The prevailing intransitive present formation in ya occasionally offers refuge to intransitives of other formation. One is inclined to regard the ya forms as generally secondary; cf. Delbrück, AI Synt. 277.
The nasal formation tṛmpa (Avestan θ raf-) is old, and manve is more organic than manye.

hutāhutasya tṛpyatam (KS. ŚŚ. tṛmpatam) KS. TB. ŚŚ. ApŚ.

tasya tṛmpatam ahāhāhuhū ŚŚ.: tena tṛpyatam aṅhahau TB. ApŚ.

anāgaso adham it saṁkṣayema TB: anāgaso yathā sadam it saṁkṣiyema Vait. The Conc. suggests reading sadam in TB.: but the comm. has adham, interpreting it by anantaram.

brahmaitad upāsvaitat (MahānU. upāsyaitat) tapaḥ TA. MahānU. But Poona ed. of TA. agrees with MahānU. (with v. l. upāsv°).

manye vāṁ dyāvāpṛthivī subhojasau ArS.: manve vāṁ dyāvāpṛthivī AV.
Vait.

tapate (or ātapate, so KSA. acc. to v. Schroeder; TS. both, acc. to Weber; yat te krūraṁ...tat te śudhyatu (TS. ApŚ. tat ta etena śundhatām; MS. tad etena śundhasva) VS. TS. MS. ŚB. ApŚ.

Here we may also place the somewhat anomalous hṛṇīya of SV.:

mā hṛṇīthā abhy asmān RV.: vājebhir mā hṛṇīyathāḥ SV. The alternative would be to regard hṛṇīya as a sort of denominative.

Different treatments of the same root which produce the effect of different present systems

§196. Here and there sundry morphological processes differentiate one and the same root in such a way as to leave behind two forms which may be regarded as two roots, but which in any case manifest themselves in different present formations. The Hindu lexicons postulate a root ūrṇu which is obviously nothing but an obscured and extended nu- present of the root vṛ (yeru*) 'cover'. The archaic form ūrṇuhi interchanges with the conventional vṛṇu in one case below. Similarly the roots dhvar and dhūrv are intricate precipitates of a type dharu (cf. tvar and tūrv: taru), as Bloomfield as shown in JAOS. 16 clxi = BB. 23. 109. Compare the relation of ramṇātu: raṇvatu, and rama: raṇva, above, §191.

taṁ dhūrvayaṁ vayam dhūrvāmaḥ VS. TS. ŚB. TB.: yaṁ vayaṁ dhvarāma taṁ dhvara (KS. vayaṁ dhūrvāmas taṁ ca dhūrva) MS. KS.

dhūrva taṁ yo 'smān dhūrvati VS. TS. ŚB. TB.: dhvara dhvarantaṁ yo asmān dhvarāt MS.

abhy enaṁ bhūma ūrṇuhi (TA. bhūmi vṛṇu) RV. AV. TA.

Accented and unaccented a-presents (1st and 6th class)

§197. The most conspicuous are those from the root hū 'call.' The presents huva and hava interchange with each other, as well as with hvaya (§194); the instances are gathered in §2 and are not repeated here. Most of the other cases, and indeed some of the huva: hava cases, have phonetic aspects, concerning the phonetic variation of a:u before v; see §23, where are presented three such variants concerning brū (stems brava:bruva), and one concerning hnu (hnava:hnuva). The only other instance we have noted is:

(pra...) suvīrābhis tirate (SV. TS. tarati) vājabharmabhiḥ (SV. TS. °karmabhiḥ) RV. SV. TS. KS. (Correct Conc.) Here pra tirate is superior to pra tarati, if for no other reason because pra tara- occurs but a single time in RV. (10. 53. 8), whereas pra tira- is common. For the stanza as a whole cf. Oldenberg, Proleg. 281.

Reduplicated and other presents

§198. In two pādas concerning the root vṛt, Kauś. has vavṛtsva (a Rigvedic archaism; ā-vavṛtsva and abhi-ā-vavṛtsva both RV., see Grassmann) where other texts have vartasva:

agne 'bhyāvartinn abhi mā ni vartasva (TS. abhi na ā vartasva; KS. abhi no ni vartasva; MS. abhi māvartasva; Kauś. abhi na ā vavṛtsva) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. Kauś.

punar ūrjā ni vartasva (Kauś. ūrjā vavṛtsva) SV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. LŚ. MŚ. Kauś.

The variant īyāna of SV. for iyāna may be classed as a reduplicated present middle participle; there seems no ground for calling it intensive (cf. Whitney, Roots, s.v.):

iyānaḥ (SV. īy°) kṛṣṇo daśabhiḥ sahasraiḥ RV. AV. SV. KS. TA.

stotṛbhyo dhṛṣṇav iyānaḥ (SV. īy°) RV. AV. SV.

The remaining cases concern modal forms of roots dā and dhā, reduplicated and unreduplicated. But the unreduplicated forms may, quite as well, be considered root-aorists (cf. §210, a):

te no dhāntu (SV. dhatta) suvīryam RV. SV.

punar dātām (TA. dattāv) asum adyeha bhadram RV. AV. TA. dattāv is unaccented in TA. and is surely to be read dattām; comm. dattau prayachatām (understanding perfect passive pple. with active meaning!).

devīr āpo apāṁ napād...tam devebhyo devatra (MS. devebhyaḥ śukrapebhyo) dhatta (VS. ŚB. datta, MS. KS. dāta)...VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.

b. Interchanges between different Aorist systems

§199. Considering the large number of available aorist systems, and their general equivalence in meaning, the number of interchanges between them is not large. The only one which can be differentiated as to meaning is the reduplicated aorist, with its well-known tendency to association with the causative. Even this difference appears but rarely among the variants, which in fact present only a few cases of reduplicated aorist forms exchanging with others; and those few are generally not distinguishable in meaning from their rivals. We may remember that other 'causative' forms are from the earliest period of the language frequently used in senses that are indistinguishable from transitive forms of the simple verb. And even intransitive reduplicated aorists are found; see the variant ūrdhvā yasyāmatir bhā adidyutat (atidyutat), below.

§200. Otherwise the variations are purely formal, without possible semantic bearings. The old non-thematic s-aorist (Whitney, Grammar §888ff.) of the type askāntsam, askān, askān, results in 2d and 3d singular forms which often resemble those of the root-aorist; this has yielded a rather constant interchange between the forms askān and askan; or compare again the threefold variation between ruk, rok, and rauk from ruc, below. These variations may be considered, at least in part, phonetic as much as morphological. Phonetic considerations are even more clearly involved in variations like acārṣam: acāriṣam (see §286, a) which on their face are s and iṣ-aorists, but in large part are really cases of svarabhakti (Whitney, Grammar §230c). Phonetic, likewise, is the variant āprā(ḥ); āprād, before dyāvā- (see §24). On the whole the list of aorist forms is very miscellaneous and presents a rather haphazard aspect. A number of the forms are more or less doubtful as to which aorist class they belong to, or whether they are properly called aorists at all.   Attention will be called to such cases specifically.   We number the various aorist types in accordance with Whitney.

§201. Reduplicated Aorists (Class 3) and others gaṇān me mā vi tūtṛṣaḥ (MŚ. °ṣat) TS. MŚ. 'do not (let him not) make my troops go thirsty': gaṇā me mā vi tṛṣan VS. TS. ŚB. 'may my troops not go thirsty.'   Here the proper causative sense of the 3d aor. is apparent, and varies with a non-causative 2d aor.

udgrābheṇod agrabhīt (MS. ajīgrabhat; KS. ajīgrabham and ajīgṛbham) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. 3 and 5 aor.; no difference of meaning; both active, 'he has (I have) lifted up.'

mā dyāvāpṛthivī abhi śocīḥ (TS. śūśucaḥ; KS. śucaḥ; MS. hiṁsīḥ) VS.
   TS. MS. KS. ŚB. 2, 3, and 5 aor.; all active, 'scorch'; no difference of meaning.

maināṁ arciṣā mā tapasābhi (VS. KS. maināṁ tapasā mārciṣābhi) śocīḥ (KS. śocaḥ; TS. śūśucaḥ) VS. TS. MS. KS.   As in prec.: 3 and 5 aor. (śocaḥ is imperfect injunctive.)

amīmadanta pitaro yathābhāgam (Kauś. yathābhāgaṁ yathālokam) āvṛṣāyiṣata (AŚ. āvṛṣāyiṣata; ŚŚ. aṁvṛṣata) VS. VSK. ŚB. AŚ. ŚŚ.
   LŚ. Kauś. SMB. GG. KhG.   Both the forms are somewhat problematic; most texts apparently have a 5 aor. from a denominative (:vṛṣan), while ŚŚ. has a 3 aor. from the primary root vṛṣ; both must mean in the last analysis something like 'they eagerly obtained each his portion.'   See §§243, 285.

yata ścutad agnāv eva tat AŚ.: yata ścutad dhutam agnau tad astu KŚ.: yatra cuścutad agnāv evaitat MŚ.: dyaur yataś cyutad agnāv eva tat ApŚ.   Both forms intransitive, 'dropped'.   But the MŚ. reading cuścutad is a very doubtful emendation of corrupt mss.; in all probability ścutad is the real reading.   See further §219, end.   The 2 aor. aścutat is quoted in Whitney's Roots only from Hindu grammarians.

ūrdhvā yasyāmatir bhā (so divide) adidyutat (VSK. atidyutat) savīmani AV. SV. VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. AŚ. ŚŚ. N.   The VSK. reading is obviously secondary, and phonetic in character; but it is worth noting that the 3 aor. form is here (like the substituted 2 aor.) intransitive ('shone').

Sigmatic Aorists varying with non-sigmatic

§202. 1st and 4th Aorists

askan gām ṛṣabho yuvā KŚ.: askān ṛṣabho yuvā gāḥ TB. TA. ApŚ.

askann (ŚŚ. askān) adhita prājani ŚB. ŚŚ. KŚ.: askān ajani prājani brahman somo 'skan (KS. ApŚ. 'skān) KS. GB. Vait. ApŚ.

drapsas te dyāṁ mā skan (KS. ApŚ. skān; MS. te divaṁ mā skān) VS.
  MS. KS. ŚB. ApŚ.

ahāḥ śarīraṁ (TB. ahāc cha°) payasā sameti (TB. sametya) TB. Vait.
  ahāḥ is 3d person; 'he hath quitted his body' etc.

āprā (AV. āprād*) dyāvāpṛthivī antarikṣam RV. AV. (both) ArS. VS.
  TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB. AA. TA. N.   āprā(ḥ) is 3d sing.; the AV. form is certainly secondary; it has phonetic aspects, see §24.

bhūyāṅso bhūyāsma ye ca no bhūyasaḥ kārṣṭa Kauś.: bhūyāṅso bhūyāsta ye no bhūyaso 'karta MS.   Same with annādā bhū°.

asmaddviṣaḥ sunītho mā parā daiḥ MS.: dviṣā sunīte mā parādāḥ TA.
  The MS. form is best taken as an irregular 4 aor.; cf. Whitney, Grammar §894c, for the closest known parallels.   dāḥ might also, tho less probably, be classed as 4 aor.

api panthām aganmahi (TS. ApŚ. agasmahi) RV. TS. MS. KS. AŚ. ApŚ.
  ŚG.

rasena sam aganmahi (RV. agasmahi) RV. KS. LŚ.

adarśus (ŚŚ. adrākṣus) tvā śāsahastam AB. ŚŚ. adarśus is altogether irregular, and its ending seems borrowed from adrākṣus.

mā bheḥ VS. TS. ŚB. TB. KŚ. ApŚ.: mā bhaiḥ MS. KS. MŚ.   Best taken as 1 and 4 aor.

mā bher mā roṅ (VSK mo roṅ, TS. māro) mo ca naḥ (TS. mo eṣāṁ) kiṁ canāmamat VS. VSK. TS. ŚB.: mā bhair mā ruṅ mo ca (KS. rauṅ mā) naḥ kiṁ canāmamat MS. KS.   rauṅ (rauk) is clearly 4 aor.; roṅ and ruṅ seem both to be best classed as 1 aor.

§203. 1st and 5th Aorists

mā pṛṇan pūrtyā vi rādhiṣṭa (TS. rādhi) TS. MS. KS. rādhi is of course passive; see §87 and Whitney §843.

iṣam ūrjaṁ sam agrabham (TS. agrabhīm) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.   Obviously agrabhīm is a blend of agrabham and agrabhīt; see §262, d.

§204. 2d and 4th Aorists

āpo malam iva prāṇaikṣīt (ApŚ. prāṇijan) AV. ApŚ.

§205. 2d and 5th (and, once, 7th) Aorists

bahu hāyam (MS. ha vā ayam) avarṣīd (TS. avṛṣād, KS. avṛṣad) iti . . . TS.
  MS. KS.   But this variant is only very doubtfully placed here.
  avṛṣād (see Keith on TS. 2. 4. 7. 2) can only be an error for avṛṣad, which may perhaps better be regarded as imperfect than as 2 aor.

āditya nāvam āruksaḥ (SMB. āroksam) AV. SMB.: imāṁ su nāvam (read sunāvam) āruham TS. KS. ApŚ. Cf. §§276, 133. āruksaḥ is a regular 7 aor.; āroksam may be considered 5 aor. with irregular guṇa-vowel.

variants which simulate the same interchange, but are really cases of svarabhakti or the reverse in all probability, see §286.

gāvo bhago gāva indro me achān (AV. ichāt; TB. achāt) RV. AV. KS. TB. achān is of course 4 aor. from chand (chad). AV. evidently intended achāt, like TB.; the form is anomalous (Whitney's Translation adopts the RV. achān), but is doubtless felt also as a 4 aor. from the same root in its denasalized form.

mā no dyāvāprthivī hīḍisethām (thematic stem from 5 aor., hīḍisa-, cf. janiseyam, Whitney, Grammar §907, end) MS. 'be not angry with us, heaven and earth!': mā dyāvāprthivī hīḍisātām TA. 'may h. and ApMB. HG.: pitur nāmeva jagrabha RVKh. jagrabham may best be called augmentless 'pluperfect', cf. Whitney, Grammar §818a. The others are 5 aor. (ApMB. anomalous).

2. Interchanges between identical moods of different tenses

§208. The general aspects of this relation are discussed in §105, where it is shown that tense variation as an accessory to modal change plays no functional rôle whatever. The cases there referred to are properly a part of the present paragraph. The additional examples of interchange in the present rubric are between the same modal form in different tenses; the value of such pairs is a fortiori identical. Modal forms from stems other than present or aorist are rare in all periods; so it happens that all the correspondences of this rubric are between present and aorist. Non-sigmatic aorists are, moreover, frequently indistinguishable from formally identical present system forms. This introduces into the group pairs which may be judged, and have been judged in grammars and lexicons, to be merely corresponding forms of different present systems, such as kṛdhi and kṛṣva in relation to kṛṇu (kuru) and kṛṇuṣva; or pātam to pibatam; or śrotā to śṛṇota. Contrariwise, some modal pairs rubricated as coming from two different present stems, such as yukṣva:yuṅkṣva (§192), may be construed as aorists; such items should, perhaps, be listed in both places. We are inclined to regard the doubtful forms in such pairs as aorists, tho we have followed scholarly tradition in classing yukṣva as present. See our discussion §10ff.

§209. In Classical Sanskrit the prohibitive with mā is regularly an augmentless aorist. In the Veda augmentless imperfects are commoner, and this has produced a group of variants in which augmentless forms of the two tenses vary with each other, in addition to the general instability of the prohibitive moods as summarized in §§181f. The following two rubrics list the tense interchanges in connection with the same mood, first in categorical and then in prohibitive clauses.

3. True Interchanges of Tense

Indicatives of various tenses varying with each other (also a few participles)

[§212. These may be called 'true interchanges of tense' in the sense that, in the Veda at any rate, the several tense-forms are commonly understood to carry differences of function.   To be sure, as between what we call 'present' and 'preterite', for instance, or between the various types which serve, or may serve, as preterites, the distinctions are not always 'temporal' in a narrow sense.   And we shall find here again an elasticity of function quite similar to that which we met in our study of the moods, tho conditioned, of course, by somewhat different circumstances.   We shall discuss the examples under three heads: a. Interchanges between the Preterites, b. Interchanges between Present and the Preterites, and
c. Interchanges between Future and the other tenses.   We may remind the reader that the list of Interchanges between more than two modal varieties (§104) contains several variants which should be added to the following lists.

a. Interchanges between the Preterites §213. The recent work of Renou (La Valeur du Parfait dans les hymnes védiques, Paris, 1925) has absorbed and largely superseded most previous work on the Vedic tenses. Chapter III of that book, more especially pages 29–82, is devoted to a searching study of the preterite use of the perfect and its relation to the corresponding uses of the imperfect and aorist. The work is carried out with great learning, diligence, and acumen, and its results are not likely to be overthrown in any important respects (cf. the review published in JAOS. 49. 64 ff.). Of special interest to us are the remarks on page 41, towards the bottom, where, referring to Bloomfield's article 'On the instability in the use of moods', AJP. 23. 1ff., Renou says: 'la variation dans les temps n'est pas moins manifeste.' Such indeed seems from the variants to be the case. The aorist was shown long ago by Delbrück AI Tempuslehre, 5ff.; Vgl. Synt. 2. 240 f. to be specially appropriate to facts falling within the experience of the speaker, of which he knows personally; consequently, to recent events, and facts about which special confidence exists or is claimed. Hence what we have referred to as the 'prophetic aorist', which is a special favorite, as we saw, in expressing as already accomplished things which the speaker ardently desires (cf. Renou 26f., calling attention to its frequency in magic charms). Hence its variation with the modal forms, described above, and with the present indicative, below. The imperfect and perfect are often used more or less interchangeably referring to events of the remoter past (Renou 30 ff.); such difference as is discernible between perfect and imperfect as narrative tenses appears often in this, that the perfect expresses facts of greater permanence (Renou 49) or importance (65), and is frequently used in standing formulas (64), as distinguished from the normal imperfect of simple narration. Meter often plays a part in the choice of tense-form (Renou 45 f.); thus in the RV. itself we find the variant ava tmanā dhṛṣatā (bṛhataḥ) śambaraṁ bhinat (7. 18. 20 bhet), 1. 54. 4 and 7. 18. 20, where bhinat, imperfect, and bhet, aorist, are merely jagatī and triṣṭubh forms of precisely the same idea. It would be pedantry to try to find any real difference here. Metrical convenience certainly plays a part in a number of other variants, tho it is not always as clear as here.

§214. Even the 'prophetic aorist' is paralleled by equally 'prophetic' uses of the other preterites. One evidence of this is the general fact that, as we saw (§§127 ff.), they vary with modal forms only less frequently than the aorist. But further, the aorist appears in direct and apparently unstrained exchange with other preterites, and that too occasionally in places which seem to cry out for a 'prophetic' form. Thus, trīṇy āyūṅṣi te 'karam AV., 'I have made three lives for thee.' What could be more 'prophetic' than this aorist, more in keeping with the medicine man's confident blah of sorcerous intent? Yet, in a (doubt-less later) form of the same pāda, JUB. reads trīṇy āyūṅṣi me 'kṛṇoḥ, 'thou hast made three lives for me', with imperfect instead of aorist.

§215. Again, a formula where our sense demands a perfect, because it refers to Indra's mythic conquests, appears in the RV. itself with perfect and aorist interchanging:

vy āsa (ānaḍ) indraḥ pṛtanāḥ svojāḥ, 'Indra hath conquered all battles, in his great strength.'

Can the aorist here possibly be justified as picturing the event as coming within the certain knowledge of the speaker? It seems doubtful. Compare also below, §219, yena sūryaṁ tamaso nir amoci (mumoca), where aorist and perfect interchange in a pāda for which the imperfect seems demanded by the usual rules.

§216. It is, of course, evident that the mere appearance of the same formula with now one preterite tense, now another, does not prove that both have precisely the same meaning. For it is not difficult to slip from one psychological attitude into another, while still envisaging the same event. And we shall show below (see, e.g., the pāda: ṛtasya yonau mahiṣā ahinvan etc., §217) that sometimes the alteration is eminently suited to a changed situation. Yet, when all is said and done, and when allowance has been made for the fact that the variants are far less numerous here than in the case of the moods, they seem to show conclusively that there is no very great wrench in substituting one preterite for another, and so furnish presumptive evidence in favor of great laxity in their use.—F. E.]

§217. Imperfect and Aorist

ava tmanā dhṛṣatā (and, bṛhataḥ) śambaram bhinat (and, bhet) RV. (both). See above.

trīṇy āyūṅṣi te 'karam (JUB. me 'kṛṇoḥ) AV. JUB.   See above.

tābhiḥ saṁrabdham anv avindan (TB. saṁrabdho avidat) ṣaḍ urvīḥ AV. TB.   The TB. improves the meter.

avindac charyaṇāvati (MS. °dañ śar°) MS. KS.: tad vidac charyaṇāvati RV. AV. SV. TB.

akarat sūryavarcasam ApMB.: akṛṇoḥ sūryatvacam RV. AV. JB.: avakṛṇot sūryatvacam MG.

yadi vṛkṣād abhyapaptat (HG. vṛkṣāgrād abhyapatat) phalam (AV. phalaṁ tat) AV. HG.: (yadi vṛkṣād yady antarikṣāt) phalam abhya-paptat...ApMB.

apāṁ stoko abhyapaptad rasena (ApMB. °paptac chivena; HG. °patac chivāya) AV. ApMB. HG.

ulūkhalā (ApMB. aulū°; AV. vānaspatyā) grāvāṇo ghoṣam akrata (MG. akurvata) AV. ApMB. HG. MG. akurvata is shown by the meter to be secondary; the MG. substitutes the ordinary narrative imperfect for the archaic aorist.

ṛtasya yonau (RV. yonā) mahiṣā ahinvan (RV. aheṣata) RV. TS. KS. ApMB. The aorist is 'the normal tense to describe the operations of the sacrifice' (Renou 31), and so is appropriate to this description of the soma-pressing in RV. 9. 86. 25d. In fact the YV. pāda is a blend of this pāda with RV. 10. 45. 3d apām upasthe mahiṣā avardhan, and preserves the imperfect which is appropriate to that verse, in a mythic narrative relating to Agni.

pari ṣya suvāno akṣāḥ RV. (akṣār, 3d sing. 4 aor.): pari sya svāno akṣarat SV. The SV. has a later and simpler form, which also eases the meter. See next.

pavitre somo akṣāḥ (SV. akṣarat) RV. SV. As prec.

asapatnā kilābhuvam (ApMB. °bhavam) RV. ApMB. Cf. asapatnaḥ kilābhuvam RV. In this and the next four variants phonetic considerations are involved, and help to explain the variation if they do not completely account for it; see §23.

tatra pūṣābhavat (SV. °bhuvat) sacā RV. SV. KS.

nemiś cakram ivābhavat (SV. MS. °bhuvat) RV. SV. TS. MS.

yat some-soma ābhavaḥ (SV. ābhuvaḥ) RV. SV.

yad dūre sann ihābhavaḥ (SV. °bhuvaḥ) RV. SV. MŚ. N.

apaśyaṁ (and, adṛśan) tvāvarohantam NīlarU. (both). The second (aor.) is a conscious modification of the first (imperf.), several stanzas before it, with change of person and number. No more than stylistic reasons can have dictated the change (variety for its own sake, perhaps).

savitā vy akalpayat ŚG.: sinīvāly acīklpat AV. The imperfect is clearly secondary; cf. akarat: akṛṇoḥ above, to which this is quite similar.

yad vāto apo (MS. MŚ. 'po) aganīgan (TS. KS. ApŚ. agamat) VS. TS. MS. KSA. ApŚ. MŚ. The imperf. intensive is better than the aorist, as Keith observes on TS. 7. 4. 20. 1; mythic events are referred to.

yo mā dadāti sa id eva māvāḥ (ArS. NṛpU. māvat) ArS. TB. TA. TU. NṛpU. N. The comm. on TB. āvāḥ = āvṛṇoti, svīkaroti. āvāḥ seems indeed to be 4 aor. 3d sing. of ā + vṛ. But Deussen, 60 Up. 240 and 765 'wer mich austeilt, der labt mich eben damit.'

[abhi tvā varcasāsiñcan (KS. TB. °sicam) AV. KS. TB. But the true AV. reading is °sican; see Whitney's note on 4. 8. 6.]

(devīr dvāra indraṁ saṁghāte) vīḍvīr yāmann avardhayan (TB. viḍvīr yāman vavardhayan) VS. TB. If correct, vavardhayan would be a nonce-blend of imperf. and perf.; but Poona ed. of TB. reads yāmann avar°, and this is doubtless the true reading.

§219. Aorist and Perfect

vy ānaḍ (and, āsa) indraḥ pṛtanāḥ svojāḥ RV. (both). See above, §215.

yena śravāṁsy ānaśuḥ (SV. āśata) RV. SV. Reference is to ancient events; the aor. is inappropriate.

viśvam id dhītam (MS. dhītam) ānaśuḥ (SV. āśata) RV. AV. SV. MS.
ApŚ. As prec.

narāśaṁse (VS. nārā°) somapīthaṁ ya āśuḥ (KS. ānaśuḥ) VS. MS. KS.
TB. But āśuḥ may also, and perhaps preferably, be taken as perfect. The sense certainly does not suggest the aorist.

naro yat te duduhur dakṣiṇena TB.: naro yad vā te hastayor adhukṣan Vait. Reference is to pressing of the soma, most naturally felt in Vait. as that which has just taken place; the aor. is more appropriate.

yena sūryaṁ tamaso nir amoci (TA. mumoca) MS. TA. 'By which (Trita) freed (of old) the sun from darkness.' An instructive case. According to our feeling the imperfect would be required, since reference is to a mythic event. Yet TA. has the perfect, and MS. the (wholly inappropriate) aorist!

na sīm adeva āpat (SV. āpa tat) RV. SV. ŚŚ. 'No godless man has (ever) attained (or attains; sc. wealth).' A most general statement, to which it would seem that the perfect would be appropriate; yet it is found only in the secondary SV., which may have been influenced by a desire to improve the meter.

achidroṣijaḥ kavayaḥ padānutakṣiṣuḥ (so emended; ms. padāni takṣiṣvat) KS.: achidrā uśijaḥ padānu takṣuḥ TS. Cf. the variant anavas te etc., §218.

iṣam ūrjam aham ita ādam (TS. ApŚ. ādade; MS. KS. MŚ. ādi) VS.
TS. MS. KS. ŚB. ApŚ. MŚ.

yad antarikṣaṁ tad u me (MS.† naḥ) pitābhūt (VSK. pitāsa) VS. VSK.
TS. MS. ŚB.

vrajaṁ gomantam uśijo vi vavruḥ (KS. uśijo apa vran) RV. AV. VS. TS.
MS. KS. ApMB. 'The eager (fathers, of old) opened the stall of cows.' Aorist seems out of place, unless KS. feels the act as brought down into the immediate past.

viśvā adhi śriyo dadhe RV.:. . .'dhita RV. KS. TB.:. . . dhiṣe (present) RV.
The aor. 'dhita (10. 127. 1) has Night for subject; 'she has (just now) assumed all glories.' The perfect dadhe (2. 8. 5) is said of Agni, and is a general and more or less permanent statement; and substantially equivalent is the present of 10. 21. 3, of which the subject is also Agni. Is dhiṣe possibly modal? Cf. §165.

vāk pataṁgāya śiśriye TS.: vāk pataṁgo aśiśriyat (KS. °gā aśiśrayuḥ) AV.
KS. See note in Whitney on AV. 6. 31. 3, and cf. Conc.

pitur iva nāmāgrabhiṣam (ApMB. °bhaiṣam, PG. nāma jagrabham) PG.
ApMB. HG.: pitur nāmeva jagrabha RVKh. See §§206, 267.
jagrabham is pluperfect.

dyaur yataś cyutad agnāv eva tat ApŚ. (dyaur belongs to the prec. pāda, and probably yata ścutad is the true reading): pṛthivyām avacuśco-taitat TB. ApŚ.: yata ścutad (so read) agnāv eva tat AŚ.: yata ścutad dhutam agnau tad astu KŚ.: yatra cuścutad agnāv evaitat MŚ. (so emended; but a better emendation, quite as close to the mss., would be yatra ścutad). The aorist aścutat is quoted only from grammarians in Whitney's Roots.

§220. Pluperfect and other Preterites pitur iva nāmāgrabhiṣam (°bhaiṣam, nāma jagrabham); pitur nāmeva jagrabha, see just above.

priyāṁ yamas tanvam prārirecīt (classed as anomalous plup.; AV. tanvam ā rireca) RV. AV.

puṁsaḥ kartur mātary āśiṣikta JB.: puṁsā kartrā mātari mā niṣiñca (read niṣiñcata?) KBU. Acc. to Deussen, 60 Up. 25, three mss. of KBU. read mā asiṣikta.

indrāya suṣuvur (MS. KS. indrāyāsuṣuvur) madam VS. MS. KS. TB.
But see §267.

ayaṁ dhruvo rayīnāṁ ciketa yat (SV. ciketad ā) RV. SV. ciketad could, of course, be considered modal, but the sense of the passage suggests that it is better taken as augmentless plup. (cf. Whitney, Grammar §820).

yāś ca (AV. yā) devīr (SMB. devyo) antān (AV. antāṅ; PG. devīs tantūn) abhito 'dadanta (SMB.† 'tatantha, PG. tatantha) AV. ApMB. SMB.
PG. The form 'tatantha is a corruption, evidently felt as 3 plur.

plup. mid., for °ta (so Stönner; PG. comm. reads tatantha and takes it as 2 sing. perf. act., despite the impossible sandhi).

toyena jīvān vi sasarja (so!: TA. vya ca sarja, comm. v. l. vyasasarja) bhūmyām TA. MahānU. The text reading of TA. is a mere corruption; the variant, an anomalous augmented perfect. Hardly belongs here; see §267.

Cf. also the interchange between Present and Pluperfect, §233.

b. Interchanges between Present and the Preterites

§221. The entire business of tense in the mantras is emasculated, as it were, or at least confused, because these texts are in the main sentimental rather than narrative or historical. Legends and legendary allusions are, of course, narrative, implying some precision in time statements. They occur often enough in the mantras. Indra slew Vṛtra, or the Aśvins saved the son of Tugra from the machinations of his father, both in the past. In such cases present or future is unimaginable. But Indra also hath aided, did aid, aids, shall, and will aid him that calls upon him. We are again, a large part of the time, in the domain of modality, either belief, wish, or demand, rather than in the domain of genuinely statable fact. Fixation in point or quality of time becomes precarious, because the thing can be and is supposed to happen in any time. Some of the cases of interchange between present and perfect may concern the 'old' use of the perfect, to express something regarded as permanently established (Renou 7 and passim); this is specially suited to such psychological spheres. Thus in agniṁ naras triṣadhasthe sam īdhire (SV. TS. indhate) RV. SV. TS. KS. 'men have kindled (i.e. regularly do kindle; or, SV. TS., simply kindle) Agni on his three seats', the action described is applicable to any situation and time; RV. conceives it as a quasi-cosmic fact. But, as Renou has shown, even the perfect is normally a preterite tense in the RV., and it is doubtful to what extent we should allow its variation with the present to seduce us into assuming the old, non-preterite function for it. For the other preterites exchange about as commonly with the present as it does, and often it seems clear that whatever difference in meaning exists is purely sentimental, a matter of the way the poet looks at things, rather than factual. So that the line of demarcation between even such tenses as are ordinarily differentiated in Hindu speech is a good deal effaced. In the RV. itself we meet the pāda:

ud vāṁ pṛkṣāso madhumanto asthuḥ (4. 45. 2 madhumanta īrate) RV. 4. 45. 2, 7. 60. 4, MS., 'your honeyed steeds (O Aśvins) have started up (rush forth).' We take it that what is really meant in both cases is, 'let them start or rush forth.' Similarly, yam aichāma (ApŚ. ichāmi) manasā so 'yam āgāt RV. ApŚ., whom we craved (I crave), he hath come.' The craving is good for all time; a view which would see in the imperfect its regular sense of 'craved of old' is of course neither demonstrable nor refutable.

§222. In the sphere of charms and exorcisms especially, where desire hovers before the eye of the speaker, and all results are imaginary, the tenses indifferently lapse into moods, if sounded to the bottom. The formal tense distinction between the prophetic aorist and the present is merged into a substantially identical modal value for both, as in:

abadhiṣma rakṣo 'badhiṣmāmum asau hataḥ VS. etc., 'we have slain the demon, slain so-and-so, so-and-so is slain', and: idam ahaṁ rakṣo 'va bādhe VS. etc., 'I drive off this demon.' Both really mean that the speaker eagerly wants to accomplish the result stated. Naturally, therefore, all the preterites, as well as the present, freely interchange with moods, as we have seen above.

§223. For the rest, even in the quasi-narrative sphere of mythology the tenses intermingle because many myths are not sufficiently stable to keep them from doing so. Even the RV. is the final precipitate of ideas and compositions which had a long past; more so the other Vedic texts. Mythic ideas, such as the freeing of the light cows from the demonic Paṇis, are thrown forward into the present, as if to be performed over again at the moment, where they mean extracting dakṣiṇā-cows from grudging non-sacrificers. Many other mythic ideas refer not only to definite events in the past, but to habitual performances in harmony with the subject or character of the myth. Thus the pious, sacrificing sages of the Aṅgiras or Uśij character figure primarily in the past, but easily reproduce themselves in the present:

sarasvatīṁ sukṛto ahvayanta (AV. havante) RV. AV. KS., 'the pious called (call) upon Sarasvatī.' To be sure, AV. comm. reads ahvayanta.

tāṁ dhīrāsaḥ kavayo 'nudiśyāyajanta (v. l. and p. p. °dṛśyā°) MS.: tāṁ dhīrāso anudṛśya (VSK. °diśya) yajante (KS.† anudṛśyāyajanta kavayaḥ) VSK. TS. KS. TB.: tām u dhīrāso anudiśya yajante VS. ŚB., 'her (earth) looking after (pointing to) the sages worship(ped).'

§224. Even an epithet like prathama is not sufficient to prevent this transfer to the present, if we may trust Knauer's quotation from an unedited part of MŚ.:

viśvasṛjaḥ prathame (TB. ApŚ. °māḥ) sattram āsata (MŚ. āsate) PB. TB.

ApŚ. MŚ., 'the all-creators of yore performed (perform) a sattra-session.'

§225. In these cases the presents are logically inferior; in two at least, and probably in all three, they represent secondary readings. But no great wrench is required in order to use them. Similarly in:

oṣadhayaḥ saṁ vadante (VS. avadanta) RV. VS. VSK. TS., 'the plants confer(red) together.'

yatrauṣadhīḥ samagmata RV. VS.: yad oṣadhayaḥ saṁgachante (KS. samagmata) TS. MS. KS. 'where (when) the plants have come (come) together.'

These passages allude to slender, myth-like conceptions which may just as well be conceived in the present as in the past.

§226. It may also be remembered that occasionally a present, at all periods of the language, is 'historical', that is used of past events to add liveliness to the narrative. All these considerations, together with the instability of oral tradition, which at times doubtless introduces really faulty variants, account sufficiently for the considerable number of interchanges between present and all sorts of preterites.

§227. We have alluded above to the special position of the perfect, the use of which has recently been made the object of Renou's study. We may conclude these introductory remarks by mentioning a few variants in which perfect forms seem either certainly or very probably to have no preterite value whatever:

anu vām ekaḥ pavir ā vavarta (TB. vavarti) RV. MS. TB. 'one wagon-tire rolls after you two (Mitra and Varuṇa).' The present of TB., tho secondary of course, is as it were an ancient commentary on vavarta.

prajāḥ pupoṣa purudhā vi rājati RV. VS.: prajāḥ piparti bahudhā vi rājati SV. ArŚ. MS. KS. ApŚ. 'he prospers (furthers) our offspring manifoldly' etc.

saṁ sūryeṇa rocate (SV. didyute, VS.* didyutat) RV. SV. VS. (both) MS. ŚB. TA. Cf. Oldenberg, Proleg. 345. Of course didyutat may be modal.

nindati tvo anu tvo gṛṇāti (MS. vavanda) MS. KS.: pīyati tvo anu tvo gṛṇāti RV. VS. TS. ŚB. N. 'some blame, others praise.' Here the perfect vavanda, replacing the present gṛṇāti and matching the present nindati, can be put down with almost mathematical certainty as non-preterite.

§228. The variants are divided into four groups: Present and Imperfect, Aorist, Perfect, and Pluperfect respectively. We have not thought it worth while to burden our lists with such a ritual litany as

MS. 4. 9. 23–24, where, first, ritual situations are approached anticipatorily, with verbs in the present or future indicative, or in various moods; and then, after the completion of the rite, the same litany is repeated practically verbatim with change of the verbs to preterites; as e.g. agne vratapate vratam carişyāmi...acārşam. A close parallel to this passage in TA. 4. 41. 1–6.

c. Future and other Tenses

§234. The future is rare in the Mantras, its place being taken by the moods, especially the subjunctive. Its own modal value comes to the fore notably in its interchanges with the moods (§177); and in the rare instances where it interchanges with preterite indicative forms, it is rather as a mood than as a tense (§134). For this reason the few scattering finite futures varying with preterite tenses are treated above. Here are gathered, first, a couple of variants between present and future indicatives, and between present and future participles; and then a group of variations between future participles on the one hand and aorist and perfect participles on the other. Some of the future-aorist cases, concerning sigmatic forms on either side, have obvious phonetic bearings which have been dealt with in §§27f. The present-future cases need no comment; since the present designates not a point of time but a quality of action, it is always ready for use as a future. See also §104, e.

Below, in §248a, we shall find a few cases of verbal nouns in tar (nominative, tā) varying with finite verb-forms; attention may be called to them here, because they are forerunners of the later periphrastic future (Whitney §946).

CHAPTER V.   THE SECONDARY CONJUGATIONS

§235. Of the conjugations included by Whitney under this heading, one, the Passive, has been treated above in the chapter on Voice, where it naturally belongs.   Another, the Desiderative, is patently a mood in function, and appears in the Variants only in a very few cases where it interchanges with other moods; it has been treated in that connexion (§178).   This leaves the Intensive, Causative, and Denominative.   The interchanges concerning them are not numerous, nor, with one or two exceptions, do they mark any very important conditions or tendencies in the language of the mantras.

1. Intensive

§236. As the intensive is a fairly frequent form in the Veda, the natural affinity between such ideas as 'lead forth': 'drag out', 'call': 'clamor', 'kill': 'slaughter', etc., manifests itself in corresponding interchanges between intensive and primary verb.   Occasionally the interchange is promoted by another, outside locution; thus in the example taṁ sarasvantam avase huvema (havāmahe, johavīmi), we detect contamination with RV. 1. 34. 12 śr̥ṇvantā vām avase johavīmi, or RV. 3. 62. 2 śaśvattamam avase johavīti.—In two examples, the last of our list, the form of the intensive itself is varied.—Of course all intensive forms are reduplicated; most of the alternative forms in the list are not reduplicated, but in the first four they likewise show reduplication.

pavamānasya jaṅghnataḥ (SV. PB. jighnataḥ) RV. SV. PB.

indro vr̥trāṇi jighnate (ŚŚ. jaṅghanat) RV. AV. ŚŚ.   The ŚŚ. passage is in a different context.

aindraḥ prāṇo aṅge-aṅge nidīdhyat (TS. ni dedhyat; VSK. nidhītaḥ) VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.   See §248.

sarasvatyā (AV. °tyām) adhi manāv (KS. mānā, v. l. manā; AV. erroneously maṇāv; SMB. vanāva, corrected in Jörgensen to manāv) acakr̥ṣuḥ (KS. acakr̥°, v. l. acarkr̥°; SMB. carkr̥dhi, but Jörgensen acakr̥ṣuḥ) AV. KS. TB. ApŚ. MŚ. SMB. PG.   See §136.   Jörgensen assumes that acakr̥ṣuḥ is a phonetic variant of acark°, by dissimilation, referring to Wackernagel I §234 b.

tam sarasvantam avase huvema (AV. havāmahe, KS. johavīmi) RVKh. AV. TS. etc., see §78.

Variant forms of Intensive ni galgalīti dhārakā VS. ŚB.: ni jalgulīti (KSA.† ed. jalgalīti by em., ms. jalgalūti) dhānikā TS. KSA.   Cf. Whitney, Grammar 1002d; galgalīti is irregularly reduplicated.

kanīkhunad iva sāpayan TB.: canīkhudad yathāsapam AŚ.   Unintelligible stuff.

2. Causative

§237. The interchanges of the causative are grouped under four heads:

a. Perhaps the most frequent and typical are those in which a neuter verb with subject expressed or implied is transposed to causative verb with another subject.   The nominative subject of the first form then becomes accusative object in the second form.   Thus in one and the same text (AV.), vedir bhūmir akalpata, 'the earth shaped itself into a vedi': vediṁ bhūmiṁ kalpayitvā, 'he having shaped the earth into a vedi.'   Or, in different texts, apāṁ sadhiṣi sīda TS.: apāṁ tvā sadhiṣi (MS.† sadhriṣu) sādayāmi VS. MS. KS. ŚB.

b. In a few cases, not all of them clear in their bearings, the causative still has causative meaning, being thus distinguished from the primary verb; but the subject and object remain the same, so that there is a more or less definite variation in the sense of the passage.

c. In a considerable number of cases, perhaps nearly as many as in the first group, causative and primary appear indifferently with the same meaning; these are, in other words, early examples of the fading out of the distinctive causative meaning of verb-forms in aya, which in the later language becomes so noticeable, and which led in the Pāli-Pra-krit languages to the vast extension of the -paya- type, as a more clear and unmistakable causative formation.

d. Different forms of the causative.

a. Causatives and primary verbs with transfusion of construction, resulting in equivalence of meaning in both clauses

§238. There may be discovered in some of these cases a flavor of greater assurance or certainty in the causative form of expression, which would possibly bring these variants into the general sphere of modal variations. Nevertheless it seems to us that in general they are hardly more than mechanical equivalents. Besides the two cases mentioned above, we find:

viśvāsu tvā dikṣu sādayāmi KS. ApŚ.: viśvāsu dikṣu sīda MS. ApŚ. MŚ.

arṇave tvā sadane sādayāmi VS. MS. KS. ŚB.: arṇave sadane sīda TS.

uttamaṁ nākam (VS. MS. KS. ŚB. uttame nāke) adhi rohayemam (VS.
MS. KS. ŚB. rohayainam; TA. rohemam) AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.
TA. The TA. version may be rendered at a pinch, 'ascend thou this highest heaven.' But the meter, and text-chronology, show that it is really a corruption, phonetic in character (aya, aye:e).

jajñānaḥ (SV. janayan) sūryam apinvo arkaiḥ RV. SV. 'Born, thou didst swell the sun (begetting the sun, thou didst swell him) with light.'

We may add one similar case in which the reduplicated (causative) aorist figures, cf. §201:

gaṇān me mā vi tītṛṣaḥ (MŚ. °ṣat) TS. MŚ. 'do not make my troops go thirsty': gaṇā me mā vi tṛṣan VS. TS. ŚB. 'may my troops not go thirsty.'

§239. b. Causative and primary verbs with corresponding change of meaning

te arṣantu te varṣantu te kṛṇvantu LŚ. 'they (waters) shall flow, shall rain, shall perform': te varṣanti te varṣayanti AV. 'they rain, they cause to rain'.

maṇḍūkyā su saṁgamaḥ (TA. gamaya) RV.† TA.: maṇḍūky apsu śaṁ bhuvaḥ AV. 'Unite (thyself; or, unite it, sc. the ominous funeral fire) with the female frog.' Addressed to the water-plant (or plants) which are spoken of in the preceding pādas. The AV. has a mere corruption. TA. comm. reads maṇḍūkyāsu (= maṇḍūka-plavanayogyāsv apsu!) saṁgamaya (= imaṁ pretadehaṁ prāpaya, which is unintelligent).

(vi na indra mṛdho jahi) kanīkhunad iva sāpayan (AŚ. *canīkhudad yath-khan; cf. Whitney, Roots, s. v. khud.

aśvaṁ medhyam abandhayat (ŚŚ. abadhnata) ŚB. ŚŚ. See §30.

Participles:

(KS. °viṣṭa ūrā āsādyamānaḥ) TS. KS. Both forms may be rendered by the English 'seated'; yet the sense is not quite the same, since sannaḥ is neuter (intransitive), 'having taken his seat', while the other forms mean 'having been (or being) seated, given a seat.'

rucito gharmaḥ MS. KB. ŚB. TA. ŚŚ. LŚ. KŚ. ApŚ. MŚ.: rocito gharmo rucīya TA.

c. Causative and primary verbs, both in the same sense

§240. The line between this and the last group is not always easy to draw, but in most of the following instances, at any rate, there seems to be no real difference in meaning between the causative verb-form and the non-causative, while in the preceding we seem to find at least a shade of difference. The meaning is, of course, always transitive, unless middle, and generally the primary verb is capable of an intransitive meaning too, which may often be suspected of being the older. Hence it is sometimes doubtful whether we should speak of 'causative in primary sense' or of 'primary in causative sense'. In the RV. itself we find such pairs as:

mādayasva (and, mandasvā su) svarnare, 'enjoy thyself at Svarṇara('s sacrifice)'; or, mitro janān yātayati bruvāṇaḥ, 3. 59. 1, and janaṁ ca mitro yatati bruvāṇaḥ, 7. 36. 2: 'calling himself Mitra, he orders (sets in order) the folk' (somewhat differently Geldner, Ved. St. 3. 15ff.). To find a difference in these cases would seem to us like hearing the grass grow. And, if possible even more surely, there cannot be the slightest difference in the following:

ud vandanam airayataṁ svar dṛśe 1. 112. 5; ud vandanam airataṁ daṁsanābhiḥ 1. 118 6, 'ye (Aśvins) brought forth Vandana' etc.

In the Vālakhilya passages yaṁ te svadhāvan svadayanti dhenavaḥ, and, yaṁ te svadāvan svadanti gūrtayaḥ, the form svadayanti may not be causative; see §194.

§241. In the following list the approximation of the causative stem janaya to its primary correspondent is worthy of note. In the RV. already it is practically impossible to differentiate these two forms in the active, as in 3. 31. 15, indro...ajanad...sūryam: 9. 110. 3, ajījano hi pavamāna sūryam:

tāsāṁ svasṝr ajanayat (MS. svar ajanan, KS.† svasṝr [ms. svasūr] ajanan) pañca-pañca TS. MS. KS. The TS. is poor metrically.

arejetām (TB. arejayatām) rodasī pājasā girā RV. TB.   The meter shows that TB. has a mere blunder, phonetic in character (hyper-Sanskritic aya for e, as a reaction against dialectic e for aya; our Phonetic Variants will show a considerable number of analogous cases).   It is more or less the reverse of what has happened in the variant utta-maṁ nākam etc., §238.

ūrdhvām enām (VS. ŚB. LŚ. also, ūrdhvam enam) uc chrayatāt (VS.

properly belongs here since the difference in meaning between the verbs is obviously due to the difference of voice, not to that between causative and primary.

The meanings of the verbs are not quite clear, but both śamyantu and §242. In a few cases the grade of the root varies between the guṇa and vṛddhi stages (Whitney, Grammar 1042e, g); and in one the stems sūdaya and svadaya interchange, but the 'causative' value is here somewhat dubious:

3. DENOMINATIVE

§243. The variants under this head are few. Most of them concern different vocalism before the denominative sign ya: a-stems appearing with a or ā (Whitney §1059 a, b), and variations between i and ī, zero and ī, in this position. These changes were possibly rhythmic in origin; compare §§259ff. below, and see our volume on Phonetics, which will deal more systematically with such cases.

devān devayate (TB. ApŚ. MŚ. devā°) yaja (MŚ. yajamānāya svāhā) RV. SV. KS. TB. ApŚ. MŚ.

janiyanti nāv agravaḥ AV.: janīyanto nv agravaḥ RV. SV. AŚ. ŚŚ.

putrīyantaḥ (AV. putriyanti) sudānavaḥ RV. AV. SV. In the same stanza as the prec.; the ī (i), in place of stem-final a (putra), is probably suggested by the ī (i) of janīya- (stem jani, janī); cf. however Whitney §1059d.

devā devebhyo (MS. deveṣv) adhvaryanto (KS. adhvarīyanto) asthuḥ VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.

apo vṛṇānaḥ pavate kavīyan (TS. kavyan) RV. SV. TS. KSA.

The remaining variants are unclassifiable. In the next following, both a- and aya-stems are best regarded as denominatives (:dīkṣā)— agnir dīkṣitaḥ pṛthivī dīkṣā sā mā dīkṣā dīkṣayatu (JB. dīkṣeta)...JB. ApŚ. And others; see §§79, 160.

In a single case a sigmatic aorist from a denominative interchanges with a problematic reduplicated aorist made from a primary root:

amīmadanta pitaro yathābhāgam (Kauś. °gaṁ yathālokam) āvṛṣāyiṣata (AŚ. °yīṣata; ŚŚ. avīvṛṣata) VS. VSK. ŚB. AŚ. ŚŚ. LŚ. Kauś. SMB. GG. KhG.   See §§201, 285.

The stem hṛṇīya, in vājebhir mā hṛṇīyathāḥ SV.: mā hṛṇīthā abhy asmān RV., is considered a denominative by some authorities; but see §195.

CHAPTER VI. INTERCHANGE BETWEEN FINITE VERBS AND VERBAL NOUNS

(In a broad sense, including participles, gerunds, etc.)

§244. We have previously dealt, as part of the chapter on modal variations, with a number of instances in which a perfect passive participle with or without copula interchanges with a modal form (§§143f.). Those cases are to be regarded as part of this chapter also. Additional interchange between finite verbs and verbal nouns is found on a considerable scale, and is here treated under three aspects. First, a finite form interchanges with a verbal noun without copula, most commonly a past participle, which performs the same function as a finite verb. Second, the finite form exchanges with a periphrastic combination of verbal noun plus copula or similar verbal form. Thirdly, in a combination of two coordinate finite verb forms, one exchanges with an attributive verbal noun which leans on the other verb in syntactic dependence.

1. Interchange between predicative finite verbs and independent predicative verbal nouns without copula

§245. Such cases are quite numerous. The older grammar was in the habit of defining this type of verbal noun as the elliptic residue of a combination of verbal noun and copula, the copula being 'understood' or 'supplied'. These correspondences support the now generally accepted theory that the verbal nouns in question perform rather the function of predicate verbs, directly and of themselves. They are far more frequent than the cases in which the copula is expressed (see 2, below); the copula is quite superfluous and originally was, no doubt, expressed only for emphasis or for some special reason. A good example of the perfect equivalence of such finite verbs and verbal nouns, without copula, is seen in the opening pādas of RV. 10. 17. 12 and 13 respectively: yas te drapsa skandati yas te aṅśuḥ, and yas te drapsa skanno yas te aṅśuḥ.

§246. In many of these cases the finite verb is active, the participle passive. These belong not only in this group, but also in the larger class of Active and Passive; see §§80ff. We begin with them:

    (v. l. bibhṛto) are very obscure; it is questionable whether the variant belongs here.]

§247. In a smaller group the finite verb is middle (reflexive) with active value. Again the interchange is in effect the same as between active and passive, to be regarded in connexion with those treated in §80ff.:

teṣām apsu sadas kṛtam RVKh.: yeṣām apsu sadas (TS. ApMB. sadaḥ) kṛtam VS. TS. ŚB. NīlarU. ApMB.: ye apsu ṣadāṅsi (KS. *'psu dakṣiṇaṁ (and, savyam) pādam avanenije AB. SMB. GG. KhG. 'I scrub the right (left) foot': imau pādāv avaniktau Kauś. (in different connection), 'these two feet have been washed.'

§248. In the majority of cases, however, the verbal remains upon the same plane with the finite verb, whether active or middle; that is, both predicates, whatever their forms, express the predicative idea in the same voice. The difference between this and the class just listed will be made clear by contrasting the variant teṣām apsu sadas kṛtam, etc., above, in which the middle with active meaning exchanges with a passive participle, with the following:

nānā hi vāṁ devahitaṁ sadas (TB. ApŚ. sadaḥ) kṛtam (TB.* ApŚ.* sado mitam) VS. MS. KS. AB. ŚB. TB. AŚ. ApŚ.: nānā hi devaiś cakṛpe lars, December 1906, p. 10) is passive in force, like kṛtam: 'variously by the gods a seat has been made for you.'

Anticipations of the Periphrastic Future in -tā

§248a. We group separately a few variants in which the verbal noun which varies with a finite verb is the nominative of a nomen agentis in -tar. These forms are, of course, interesting as precursors of the later periphrastic future; cf. Whitney §946. They are found varying with the present indicative, imperative (including that in tāt), optative, and injunctive (? subjunctive); the copula is not used with them:

yo dāśuṣaḥ sukṛto havam eti (TS. MS. KS. havam upa gantā) AV. TS.

monly regarded as subj. but taken by us as a-aor. injunctive because of gamema, see §174.

2. Interchange between finite form and periphrasis of verbal noun and copulaic verb

§249. We have drawn attention above to the rarity of this construction compared with the use of the verbal noun without copula as predicate. In the first two of the following brief list we have variation between active and passive constructions, as in §246 above:

   kuru is a sort of causative copula.

3. Interchange between one of two coordinate verbs and a verbal noun dependent on the other verb

§250. These cases are much commoner than either of the two preceding groups. The verbal noun, whether participle, gerund, or other nonfinite form, takes the place of a finite form in cases where there is another finite verb upon which the verbal noun may lean as an attributive; and vice versa. Or, stated otherwise, two correlative finite verbs exchange with a finite verb and a dependent verbal noun. We might antecedently have expected that there would appear a tendency for later texts to tend to prefer the dependent verbal noun; but we are unable to discover any clear evidence for such a tendency among the variants.

varcayā mukhaṁ mā na āyuḥ pramoṣīḥ HG. 'make lustrous our face, do na āyuḥ pra moṣīḥ AV. 'purifying our face, do not steal our life.' In AV. Whitney proposes to read with one ms. and Ppp. śumbhan; he calls śumbhaṁ unintelligible, but it seems to us interpretable as a gerund (Whitney, Grammar, §995). SPP. śubham.

(manīṣibhiḥ pavate pūrvyaḥ kavir, nṛbhir yataḥ pari kośāṅ acikradat,) tritasya nāma janayan madhu kṣarad, (indrasya vāyoḥ sakhyāya

   (Soma) purifies himself; held by men he hath shouted thru the vessels. Begetting the name of Trita he shall make flow honey in order to procure the friendship of Indra and Vāyu.' In SV. 2. 172c the participle kṣaran, 'flowing', replaces the finite verb kṣarat, 'shall make flow'; the construction is equally easy either way, because kṣaran leans on the finite verb of the first line. This type of interchange between RV. and SV. will be found several other times below.

stuṣeyyaṁ puruvarpasam ṛbhvam RV. AV. N.: stuṣva varṣman puruvart- mānaṁ samṛbhvāṇam AV. stuṣeyya is a gerundive formation, 'him that should be praised', dependent on a verb of the prec. stanza.

In the other form a different stanza precedes, and the finite stuṣva (which, as impv., transfuses the same idea into other words) is therefore substituted.

venas tat paśyat paramaṁ guhā yat (VS. paśyan nihitaṁ guhā sat; TA.
MahānU. paśyan viśvā bhuvanāni vidvān) AV. VS. TA. MahānU.

°tām; but comm. °tā, dual pple., which is the only possible form, a plural verb being uninterpretable.]

CHAPTER VII. INTERCHANGES BETWEEN EQUIVALENT PERSONAL ENDINGS

§251. The variants avail themselves freely of the possibilities of equivalent personal verb endings. The ranging of these interchanges covers nearly all the grammatical territory concerning this matter. We deal with them as follows:

1. r-endings varying among themselves, or interchanging with equivalent endings without r.

2. Subjunctive endings in si and s, ti and t, te and tai, vahe and vahai, mahe and mahai.

3. Imperatives in tāt interchanging with other imperatives.

4. Presence or absence of imperative 2d singular dhi (hi), and interchange between dhi and hi.

5. Second plural active endings with or without final na.

6. Endings in a sometimes rhythmically lengthened to ā.

7. Miscellaneous interchanges of endings.

1. r-endings varying among themselves, or interchanging with equivalent endings without r

§252. There are two variations between ram and ran with wavering chronological indications (RV. adṛśram, AV. adṛśran; but also RV. asṛgran, SV. asṛgram). On the other hand, as between 3 plural middle perfects in re and rire, (Whitney, Grammar §550d) the more archaic forms in re, duduhre and dadṛśre, belong to RV., duduhrire and dadṛśrire to later texts. Unexpectedly, archaizing r-endings replace the normal 3 sing. imperfect middle adhatta (RV. AV.) in adhadrāḥ (SV.), adadhrām (KS.), and athadrām (TA., corrupt). Very anomalously the form adṛśran seems to be used as an active in several YV. texts, only TS. NīlarU. having the regular adṛśan. And the 3 plural present middle duhate varies with duhrate, not only once in the RV. itself, but also once between RV. and AV., the AV. showing the more archaizing duhrate:

ghṛtaṁ duhrata (and, duhata) āśiram RV. (both). See RVRep. 137, 562, and next.

te dakṣiṇāṁ duhate (AV. te duhrate dakṣiṇāṁ) saptamātaram RV. AV. See prec.

asṛgran (SV. °ram) devavītaye RV. SV.

adṛśram (AV.* ArŚ. MS. KS. MŚ. °rann) asya ketavaḥ RV. AV. (both) ArŚ. VS. MS. KS. ŚB. ApŚ. MŚ. KŚ.

trir asmai sapta dhenavo duduhre (SV. Svidh. °hrire) RV. SV. Svidh.
Here the SV. smooths out, secondarily no doubt, the meter in an otherwise jagatī stanza; cf. Oldenberg, Proleg. 287.

śṛṅgāṇīvec chṛṅgiṇāṁ sam dadṛśre (TB. ApŚ. °śrire) RV. KB. TB. ApŚ.
Here the stanza is triṣṭubh.

śerate (AB. śere) 'sya sarve pāpmānaḥ AB. ŚŚ.   On these forms see Whitney, Grammar §§550d, 629.   The AB., in an anuṣṭubh stanza, has better meter; Hillebrandt suggests deletion of 'sya in ŚŚ.

apa snehitūr (SV. snīhitiṁ) nṛmaṇā adhatta (SV. adhadrāḥ, KS. adadhrām) RV. AV. SV. KS.: upa stuhi (Poona ed. snuhi) taṁ nṛmṇām athadrām TA.   In RV., 'the hero-minded (god) has driven away the enemies.'   The r-forms of even SV. and KS. are highly problematic; as to TA., the only certain thing about it is that it is badly corrupted, and this applies to more than the one word athadrām (the comm. has a v. l. athodrām; its gloss is adhodravaṇaśīlam!).

utainaṁ gopā adṛśran (TS. adṛśan) VS. TS. MS. KS.: uta tvā gopā adṛśan NīlarU.   The anomalous adṛśran is obviously felt as 3 plural with active meaning; Mahīdhara, paśyanti.   It might, perhaps, be included under variations between active and middle without change of meaning, §38ff.   This variant is followed in VS. TS. by: adṛśrann (TS.† adṛśann) udahāryaḥ VS. TS.

2. Subjunctive endings in si and s, ti and t, te and tai, vahe and vahai, mahe and mahai

§253. These optional endings of the subjunctive interchange, in general without chronological indications; but metrical criteria are sometimes involved, since the shorter endings s and t help to produce shorter lines.   As to the e and ai endings the phonetic relations between these two sounds must be considered, as set forth in §26; and furthermore some of the e-forms may be considered indicatives, cf. §§118, 124:

3. Imperatives in tāt exchanging with other imperatives

§254. On this interchange see §150. It begins in the RV. itself, in the first of the following list, where there is reason to regard the form in tāt as the older, see §100:

pra no yachatād avṛkam pṛthu chardiḥ RV. 1. 48. 15: *prāsmai yachatam patchword sma in AV. suggests that its reading is likely to be secondary.

4. Presence or absence of imperative 2 sing. ending dhi (hi), and interchange between dhi and hi

§255. As a matter of grammatical genesis the forms with dhi or hi should be anterior to those without ending, and dhi anterior to hi; and the first and fourth examples agree with this.   But in the third, kṛṇuhi of Vait. is hyper-archaic as regards the stem kṛṇu- §186.   And in the second, tanuhi of LŚ is for similar reasons unusable for chronological deductions.   On this whole matter see most recently Bloch, MSL 23.
176; he regards hi (rather than dhi) as the regular ending with polysyllabic bases, and explains śṛṇudhi (as in our fourth example) as due to the analogy of śrudhi from a monosyllabic base.

5. Second plural endings with or without na

§256. The endings tana and thana contain an extra syllable, as compared with ta and tha.   The longer forms are suitable for even syllable cadences ($\cup - \cup \smile$, iambic dipody), the shorter forms for the corresponding catalectic cadence ($\cup - \smile$).   The RV. itself uses this correspondence to construct otherwise identical jagatī and triṣṭubh pādas:
asmabhyaṁ śarma bahulaṁ vi yantana 5. 55. 9, and . . .yanta 6. 51. 5.; adhi stotrasya sakhyasya gātana 5. 55. 9, and. . .gāta 10. 78. 8.

See RV Rep. 530, 563, where these appear among similar metrical and grammatical devices for procuring practically identical or very similar pairs of jagatī and triṣṭubh lines.   At times the use of the shorter form is accompanied by the introduction of a patch-word as metrical compensation, or the longer form replaces such a patch-word, as ir tigmāyudhāya bharatā śṛṇotu naḥ (TB. śṛṇotana) RV. TB. N.

These differences may suggest critical conclusions, as in: paretana (TS. KS. ApŚ. pareta) pitaraḥ somyāsaḥ (TS. ApŚ. somyāḥ) TS. MS. KS.
AŚ. ApŚ., which doubtless read originally paretana pitaraḥ somyāsaḥ.

We group the passages as much as possible with such considerations in mind:

§257. Passages without patch-word, and otherwise essentially identical:

tad asme śaṁ yor arapo dadhātana RV. 10. 37. 11d: athā naḥ śaṁ yor arapo dadhāta (MS. °tana) RV. VS. MS. KS. N.: adhā naḥ śaṁ yor arapo dadhāta AV.: athāsmabhyaṁ śaṁ yor arapo dadhāta TS. In MS. the p.p. reads dadhāta; the longer form disturbs the meter of the (triṣṭubh) stanza. Yet, most interestingly, one AV. ms. also has dadhātana. This reading is obviously due to the influence of RV. 10. 37. 11d, which occurs in a jagatī stanza, and where °tana is therefore in order.

paretana (pareta) etc., see above; the two RV. repetitions quoted above are likewise not repeated here.

athā rayiṁ sarvavīram dadhātana RV. VS. TS. MS. KS.: rayiṁ ca naḥ sarvavīram dadhāta AV. 18. 3. 14d, 44d. All texts except AV. 18. 3. 14 have the pāda in an entirely jagatī stanza, where dadhātana is therefore appropriate; and so the AV. comm. reads on 18. 3. 44. AV. 18. 3. 14 is triṣṭubh, and so has properly dadhāta.

amī ye vivratā (MS. °tāḥ, KS. °tās) sthana (MS. stha) AV. MS. KS. The form stha is metrically poor.

sarāḥ patatriṇīḥ sthana (KS. stha) TS. MS. KS.: sīrāḥ patatriṇī sthana RV. VS. Again the short form is inferior, and clearly secondary.

svāveśā nā āgata MS.: anamīvā upetana AV.

ye ke ca bhrātaraḥ sthana (ŚŚ. sthāḥ?) AB. ŚŚ. The form of ŚŚ. 15. 26c is difficult. Tho it is written sthā and followed by a vowel, Hillebrandt (Index) understands it (doubtfully) as = stha + ā (rather than sthāḥ as given by Conc.). It is in any case secondary.

§258. Passages in which the short form is filled out with a patch-word:

srucā juhuta no (ŚŚ. juhutanā) haviḥ TB. ŚŚ. ApŚ.

ramadhvaṁ mā bibhīta mat (Kauś. bibhītana) AV. Kauś.

gṛhā mā bibhīta mā vepadhvam (LŚ. ApŚ. HG. vepidhvam) VS. LŚ. ApŚ. ŚG. HG. Cf. grhā māsmad bibhītana AV. HG.

tigmāyudhāya bharatā śṛṇotu naḥ (TB. śṛṇotana) RV. TB. N. See §365. Here, of course, the shorter form, in -tu, not -ta, is not the equivalent of the longer one; the variant is quoted as showing a similar trend.

6. Endings in -a sometimes rhythmically lengthened to -ā

[§259. These cases do not concern primarily the Verb Variants, but rather the Phonetic Variants; and we shall reserve a full treatment of them for that section of our work, contenting ourselves here with a very brief summary and a bare list of the instances. The forms in ā are not regarded by the texts themselves as variant endings, but merely as phonetic forms of the endings in short a, on a level with the alterations required by sandhi. This is evidenced by the facts that all the pada-pāṭhas regularly substitute the form in short a for ā; that the ā is not allowed to stand at the end of a pāda; and that in TS. it is not allowed at the end of a kaṇḍikā (cf. Wackernagel 1. §265a, note). For this last reason, in two variant pādas, where all other texts have final ā, the TS. has short a, for the sole reason that the word in question happens to come at the end of that purely mechanical division of its text:

vīrebhir aśvair maghavā bhavā (TS. bhava) naḥ RV. VS. TS. MS. KS.

bṛhaspate pari dīyā (TS. dīya) rathena RV. AV. SV. VS. TS. MS. KS. There is among the variants one case where some texts have the ā at the end of a pāda, namely:

vanaspate 'va sṛjā (KS. sṛja) AV. VS. TS. MS. KS.
Here KS. alone has the short a which is required at the end of a pāda. The case is however peculiar, and it is by no means certain that AV. means to end the pāda here. Indeed, all the mss., both editions, and the Anukramaṇī add to this pāda the next following word, rarāṇaḥ; after which the text proceeds, tmanā devebhyo agnir havyaṃ śamitā svadayatu. Whatever may have been the real intent of AV., there is no doubt that the YV. texts end the pāda with sṛjā. However, the whole stanza is a bungling reminiscence of RV. 3. 4. 10ab, vanaspate 'va sṛjopa devān, agnir haviḥ śamitā sūdayāti (in the last pāda the YV. texts agree with RV.). And there is obviously a connection between the ā of sṛjā and the fact that in the oldest form (in RV.) the word did not end the pāda; as indeed it does not, according to the unanimous tradition, in AV.

§260. The lengthening of the final a is rhythmic, not metrical. See Wackernagel 1. §266a. The poets, to be sure, make free use of the license to lengthen the final a in syllables where the meter requires ā long. But fundamentally it is a matter not of metrical requirements, but of sentence rhythm. It occurred, originally, in places where the next word began with a single consonant, so that the syllable would be otherwise short (be it remembered that it never occurred before a pause!), and regularly where the following syllable was short; perhaps in the beginning when the preceding syllable was also short. That is, it was due to avoidance of a succession of short syllables unrelieved by a long. In the variants clear traces of this fact will appear; we shall show, in our section on Phonetics, that the following word almost invariably begins with a single consonant, and that the following syllable is usually short. The preceding syllable, however, is short only about half the time, among the cases occurring in the variants. That it is not a matter of metrical requirements is shown by the fact that the lengthening occurs most often (among the variants) in syllables where metrical length is not required; it is much commoner in the first part of the pāda than in the cadence.

§261. All these matters will be duly set forth, along with other precisely similar cases of rhythmically lengthened final a in other than verb forms, in our section on Phonetics. The variant pādas which show it in verbal endings are the following, in addition to the above. The reader may be reminded of the somewhat similar variations between long and short vowels in the interior of causative (§242) and denominative stems (§243) and in reduplicating syllables (§271); these are probably also rhythmic in character. 7. Miscellaneous interchanges of endings

§262. Here are grouped various sporadic cases of interchanges concerning endings.

(a) Precatives 3d singular in yās and yāt.

See Whitney, Grammar §838.

pari ṇo hetī rudrasya vṛjyāḥ (VSK. °yāt) RV. VSK.: pari vo hetī rudrasya vṛjyāḥ (TB. vṛñjyāt) RV. TB. See §104, u, and RV Rep. 573.

dhiyo hinvāno dhiya in no avyāḥ (TA. avyāt) RV. TA.: dhiya invāno dhiya in no avyāt MS.

(b) s-aorist 3d singular in older and later forms.

The older non-thematic type of conjugation of s-aorists calls for a 3d singular active ending s, for st; and after a consonant even the s is lost (Whitney, Grammar §888). This form exchanges twice with 3d singulars of the later type in sīt. With these may be compared the forms which we have classified §202 as root-aorists from roots in ā (ahāt, aprāt) which vary with s-aorists from the same roots (ahās, aprās, 3d sing.); the t-forms may also be considered as belonging in this category.

agnis te tanuvaṁ māti dhāk TS. TB. ApŚ.: agnis te tejo mā prati dhākṣīt JB.

yan me 'dya retaḥ pṛthivīm askāntsīt (TA. askān) ŚB. TA. BṛhU.

(c) Confusion of 1st plural mas and ma.

Aside from cases which may be considered different tenses, we find the following small group, on which cf. Whitney, Grammar §§548a, 636d, 795a. They have of course a phonetic aspect; the final visarga was lightly pronounced, see §25 above. It is noteworthy that all occur at the end of pādas, or practically so (followed by a particle of interjection only).

tasmin vayam upahūtās tava smaḥ (MŚ. sma) TB. MŚ.

abhiratāḥ smaḥ (YDh. sma ha) ViDh. YDh. BṛhPDh.

viratāḥ smaḥ (ŚG. sma bhoḥ) ŚG. PG.

prati bhāgaṁ na dīdhima (SV. °maḥ) RV. AV. SV. VS. N. Whitney, Roots, s. v. dhī, regards both forms as 1 plur. perfect.

īśānaṁ tvā śuśrumo (KS. °mā) vayam KS. ApŚ.

anyavratasya (TA. anyad vra°) saścima (RV. saścire, TA. saścimaḥ) RV.
VS. MS. ŚB. TA. 1st plural perfect of sac. But in TA. saścima should be read, with Poona ed. text and comm. (v. l. one ms. °maḥ).

(d) 1st singular preterites active in am, exchanging with m.

In a case or two the preterite 1st singular active ending am is replaced by m, preceded by another vowel (that of the 2d and 3d persons), by analogy with the 2d and 3d persons. Thus, we have in the RV. itself this repeated pāda:

vadhīd vṛtraṁ vajreṇa mandasānaḥ 4. 17. 3; vadhīm etc., 10. 28. 7, where vadhīm is certainly made in direct imitation of vadhīd; see RVRep.
220, 564. Cf. also:

tveṣaṁ vaco apāvadhīt (TS. TB. °dhīm, MS. °dhīḥ) svāhā VS. TS. MS.
KS. ŚB. As (a)vadhīm is a blend of avadham and avadhīt, so agrabhīm in the following is a blend of agrabham and agrabhīt, and abhūm of abhūvam and abhūt:

iṣam ūrjam sam agrabham (TS. °bhīm) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.

abhyaṣikṣi rājābhūm (MS. v. l. °bhūt; ApŚ. °bhūvam) MS. ApŚ.: abhiṣikṣa rājābhuvam (v. l. °bhūvam) MŚ. Cf. Whitney, Grammar §830a.
The MŚ passage is quoted on Knauer's authority from unedited mss.

(e) Subjunctive sign ā interchanging with a in non-thematic forms.

The forms with short a are, of course, morphologically at least, the primary ones; see Whitney, Grammar §§560e, 701.

yathā jyok sumanā asat (ApMB. asāḥ) ApMB. HG.

yathāso mitravardhanaḥ AV. KS.: yathāsā rāṣṭravardhanaḥ TB. (no need to read yathāso as suggested in Conc.)

yat sanavatha (MS. KS. °vātha) pūruṣam RV. VS. TS. MS. KS.

iṣṭāpūrte kṛṇavāthāvir (VSK. ŚB. °vathāvir; TS. TB. MŚ. kṛṇutād āvir) asmai (MŚ. asmāt) VS. VSK. TS. TB. ŚB. MŚ.

punas te prāṇa āyati (so TS.†: TA. āyāti; AŚ. āyātu) TS. TA. AŚ.

   (f) Sporadic and doubtful interchanges of babhūtha and babhūva tvaṁ hi hotā prathamo babhūtha (MŚ. SMB. MG. babhūva; and so 2 mss. of Kauś.) TS. KS. MŚ. Kauś. SMB. MG.   Comm. at SMB. babhūva, babhūtha.

patyur janitvam abhi saṁ babhūtha (TA. °va) RV. AV. TA.   'Thou hast entered into the relation of wife to husband.'   The comm. on TA., which reads babhūva in both edd., glosses samyak prāpnuhi.   These two cases suggest interesting reflections on commentators' psychology, but they are not really as bad as they look; babhūva is probably due to a blend construction, with thought of bhavān or bhavatī understood.   Such constructions are not unknown in the later language.
   See Bloomfield, JAOS 43. 297, and below, §332.—A third interchange between babhūtha and babhūva is rectified in the Poona ed.
   of TB., see §342.

   (g) The endings masi and mas.

A single time, in late texts, these interchange, the form in masi being apparently the original, or certainly metrically superior:

yatra vayaṁ vadāmasi (HG. °maḥ) ApMB. HG.

   (h) 3d plural ūḥ for uḥ:

upo ha yad vidathaṁ vājino guḥ (TB. gūḥ) RV. MS. TB. 3d plural rootaor. of gā; TB. (both edd.) anomalous; comm. gachanto vartante.

   (j) īre for ire in 3d plur. perfect middle (passive).

tāḥ prācya (Vait. °yaḥ; MŚ. prācīr) ujjigāhire (KŚ.† °hīre; Vait. saṁ- jigāīre, all mss.) KŚ. Vait. MŚ.: prācīś cojjagāhire ApŚ.

   (k) Precative 2d plural with primary tha for secondary ta.

ye 'tra pitaraḥ...bhūyāstha AV. ŚŚ.: ya etasmin loke...bhūyāsta TS.
   TB.   The form in tha is of course wholly anomalous, but appears to be read by all mss. of both AV. and ŚŚ.; see Whitney on AV. 18.
   4. 86, and §17.

CHAPTER VIII.   MATTERS PERTAINING TO AUGMENT AND REDUPLICATION

§263. This chapter is concerned with two topics: presence or absence of augment in preterite forms, and various changes in the form of reduplication.

PRETERITES WITH AND WITHOUT AUGMENT

§264. Augmentless forms are ambiguous, being either preterites or injunctives; the functional relation of augmentless forms to corresponding augmented forms is therefore indeterminate. This uncertainty is increased by the frequent correspondence otherwise between preterites and all sorts of definite modal forms which we have met as one of the established features of the variants. Just as those correspondences take place both in principal clauses (§§130 ff.) and in dependent clauses (§145), so the interchanges between augmented and augmentless preterites may be conveniently divided into the same two groups. The following list rests on the assumption that both are preterites. But in the circumstances of Vedic diction there is nothing to prevent one or another of them from harboring interchange between preterite and modal (injunctive) force. Thus, bhargo me 'vocaḥ: bhargam me vocaḥ, might be respectively, 'thou hast bespoken for me luster', and, 'bespeak for me luster'. Such a case would then have to be transferred to the rubric Aorist and Injunctive, §132. And, conversely, various of the forms which we have tentatively grouped under Preterites and Injunctives might perhaps equally well be placed here. See also §146 for a few cases of augmented and augmentless prohibitives.

§265. When the word preceding the variant verb-form ends in e or o, we must further remember that the following augment a is usually (and especially in late texts) represented, if at all, only by the avagraha in our manuscript tradition; and the presence or absence of this avagraha in our edited texts is often a matter of editing only, since the manuscripts are apt to be very undependable. Thus, in the above-mentioned example bhargo me 'vocaḥ, the Conc. records MŚ. 5. 2. 15. 2 as 'vocaḥ, and Knauer's text reads so; but his note tells us that his mss. omit the avagraha, both here and generally. In such cases, therefore, little importance is to be attached to this seeming variation. Hence we have separated in the following list the cases in which the verb is preceded by e or o from the rest.

Preterites with or without augment in principal clauses

§266. a. Preceded by a word ending in e or o.

indrāya tvā sṛmo 'dadāt (ŚG. śramo dadat) MS. MŚ. ŚG. SMB. Cf. §193. Oldenberg regards dadat as modal, which is of course possible.

tad agnir agnaye 'dadāt (KS. MŚ. dadat) KS. ApŚ. MŚ. Again dadat may be modal.

bhargo me 'vocaḥ (PB. text vocaḥ, comm. avocaḥ = uktavān asi; on MŚ. see above) PB. ApŚ. MŚ. AG.: bhargaṁ me vocaḥ ŚŚ. Also with bhadraṁ, bhūtiṁ, yaśo, etc.

ava devair devakṛtam eno 'yakṣi (KS. TS. TB. 'yāṭ) VS. TS. KS. ŚB. TB.: ava no devair devakṛtam eno yakṣi MS. KS. Here both forms seem to be preterites, 'I have (thou hast) sacrificed away'; no modal force is likely.

INTERCHANGES CONCERNING REDUPLICATION

§269. Many of these concern the quantity of the reduplicating vowel, and belong to the class of Rhythmic Changes in Quantity (cf. §§259–261);

they belong really to the section on Phonetics. Obscuration of the original principles of the rhythmic change has resulted in great irregularity, however.

§270. In a series of formulas pipīhi of MS. exchanges with pīpihi of TA. (and ApŚ.); we thus have forms presenting the aspect of a double or compensating rhythmic shift of quantity. [It seems to me likely that MS. understands pipīhi as 'drink!', root pā, while pīpihi certainly means 'swell!', root pyā. F. E.]

> subhūtāya pipīhi (TA. pīpihi) MS. TA. And so with brahmavarcasāya; > iṣe; ūrje; asyai viśe (TA. omits these) mahyaṁ jyaiṣṭhyāya; asmai > (TA. omits) brahmaṇe, and kṣatrāya. ApŚ. also has iṣe, and ūrje, > pīpihi. See §192.

§271. The next group certainly contains cases of rhythmic lengthening, sometimes with metrical bearings, but primarily phonetic in character:

> udgrābheṇod ajigrabhat MS.: . . . ajīgrabham, and ajīgṛbham, KS.
>
> yiyapsyata (AŚ. yī°) iva te manaḥ (AŚ. mukham) AŚ. ŚŚ.
>
> imam agne camasaṁ mā vi jihvaraḥ (TA. jī°) RV. AV. TA. AG.
>
> gṛhān ajūgupataṁ yuvam AŚ.: gṛhān (MŚ. gṛhāñ) jugupataṁ yuvam
> MS. MŚ.
> prajāṁ me (ApŚ. also, no) naryājugupaḥ (ApŚ. and MŚ. v. l. °jūgupaḥ) > MS. KS. ApŚ. MŚ. Also:
> paśūn me (naḥ) śaṁsyājugupaḥ (ApŚ. °jūgupaḥ) MS. ApŚ. MŚ. And > similar formulas in the same passage.
>
> śucanto agniṁ vavṛdhanta (AV. vā°) indram RV. AV. KS. Whitney, > Grammar §786a.

> yeṣu māmṛje TB. The AV. form is the more usual, but that of TB. > is metrically better. See Whitney, l. c.

§272. There is, next, a small group showing confusion between the reduplicating vowels i (characteristic of the present) and a (perfect), which marks a certain blurring of the regular tense distinction between these types. Cf. the item in the Conc.: hastagrābhasya didhiṣos (AV. dadhiṣos)...RV. AV. TA.

> pra bhānavaḥ sisrate (SV. sasrate) nākam acha RV. AV. SV. VS. TS. MS.
> Here sasrate is anomalous; cf. Oldenberg, Proleg. 281.
> vṛṣāva cakradad (and, cakrado) vane RV.: vṛṣo acikradad vane SV. The > forms cakradat (°das) are counted perfect subjunctives; Whitney, > Grammar §810.
> tāḥ prācya (Vait. °yaḥ; MŚ. °cīr) ujjigāhire (KŚ.† °īre; Vait. saṁjigāīre)

KŚ. Vait. MŚ.: prācīś cojjagāhire ApŚ.   Perfect forms; i is anomalous.

§273. The rest are odds and ends which concern reduplication in various ways; they are mostly problematic.   There are a couple of apparent perfect active participles with unreduplicated stems, one obviously due to haplology, the other perhaps corrupt:

viśo-viśaḥ praviśivāṅsam īmahe AV.: viśvasyāṁ viśi praviviśivāṅsam (KS.† praviviśānam) īmahe TS. MS. KS.   Cf. Whitney, Grammar §§790, 803a, and on AV. 4. 23. 1.

viśāṁ vavarjuṣīṇām (AV. viśām avarj°) RV. AV.   See Whitney on AV.
     7. 50. 2.

Once the reduplicated sasṛjmahe exchanges with saṁsṛjmahe, the preposition saṁ replacing the reduplicating syllable sa:

agne sasṛjmahe (MS. saṁsṛ°) girah RV. SV. MS. KS.

The remaining cases are not only anomalous but textually dubious:

saṁ tvā tatakṣuḥ (LŚ. tatakṣnuḥ) Vait. LŚ. KŚ.   See §231, end.   We have little confidence in the edited text of LŚ.

     yāman vavardhayan*) VS. TB.   See §218, end;   read probably avardhayan in TB.

     yāya svāhā* (MS. om.) MS. TB. TA. ŚŚ.]

CHAPTER IX. VARIATIONS IN GRADE OR QUANTITY OF STEMS AND ALLIED MATTERS

§274. The matters included in this chapter are more or less homogeneous in that they all deal with verbal stems or bases which present, in alternative readings, both quantitatively fuller and less full forms.   We have found it convenient to subdivide them as follows, without very much regard for conventional grammatical categories, but so as to bring together forms which seem to us really to belong together:

1. Strong stems mainly of the 5th and 9th Present classes, substituted for weak.

2. Strong and weak Aorist stems (not including ṛ-stems).

3. Strong and weak Perfect forms.

4. Interchanges between strong and weak stems in ṛ (ra, ari), and other variants of ṛ.

5. Interchanges between radical short and long i before y.

6. Other long and short i and u in radical syllables.

7. Long and short 'intermediate i' (in seṭ roots).

8. Presence or absence of intermediate i.

9. Miscellaneous and unclassified strong and weak forms.

1. Strong stems mainly of the 5th and 9th Present classes, substituted for weak

§275. As compared with the almost complete rigidity of Classical Sanskrit in regard to the separation of strong and weak stems in non-thematic presents, the Vedic language shows remarkable fluidity on this point; see Bloomfield's article 'On certain irregular Vedic Subjunctives or Imperatives', AJP 5. 16ff.   This is particularly the case in the 5th and 9th classes; and it usually manifests itself in encroachment of the strong stem on the weak.   The variants, at least, show no case of the converse spread of the weak stem at the expense of the strong; whereas they repeatedly show the normal kṛṇuta or punīhi or the like replaced by kṛṇota or punāhi.   In one formula, barhi stṛṇīhi or stṛṇāhi, ApŚ. shows both forms.   Of course the strong forms are to be regarded, at least morphologically, as secondary, and due to analogical spread from forms where the strong stem is regular.   But it frequently happens that the chronology of the variants runs counter to this; that is, an older text has the 'secondary' or analogical form, which is replaced by the regular form in a later text. Meter sometimes seems to have been concerned in the choice of the irregular form.

nu: no urvī rodasī varivas (TS. KS. °vaḥ) kṛṇotam (KS. kṛṇutam) TS. MS. KS. Here KS. is metrically inferior; we may guess that metrical considerations dictated the use of the analogical kṛṇotam.

sunuta ā ca dhāvataḥ RV.: sunotā ca dhāvata AV. Cf. sunoty ā ca dhāvati RV. The form sunota is well-known in RV.

yunakta sīrā vi yugā tanudhvam (AV. TS. MS. KS. tanota) RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.

etaṁ jānātha (KS. jānīta, TB. jānītāt) parame vyoman VS. KS. ŚB. TB.

In one case the root hā, whose present inflection is analogous to that of the 9th class (cf. Whitney, Grammar 661a), presents a similar variation:

atrā jahāma (AV. jahīta) ye asann aśevāḥ (AV. aśivāḥ, and asan durevāḥ) RV. AV. (bis) TA.: atra (ŚB. atrā) jahīmo 'śivā ye asan VS. ŚB.

2. Strong and weak Aorist stems (not including ṛ-stems)

§276. Owing to the considerable mix-up between the various aorist systems, there is sporadic interchange between their stem-grades; a stem-grade appropriate to one formation is analogically transferred to another. In some cases there is doubt as to which aorist formation we are dealing with, and the variation in the form of the stem is itself often taken as evidence for the fact that different formations are concerned; it is, indeed, not infrequently the only such evidence available. See §§202 ff. for such examples. But the line between them and the class now under consideration is by no means always clear. Thus, in the first example, it is customary to regard bheḥ and bhaiḥ as respectively 1st and 4th aorists, and we have so treated them above; while rok and ruk are placed in this group as being both, apparently, root-aorists.

mā bher mā roñ (VSK. mo roñ; TS. māro) mo ca naḥ (TS. mo eṣāṁ) kiṁ canāmamat VS. VSK. TS. ŚB.: mā bhair mā ruñ mo ca (KS. *rauñ §277. Similarly in several cases of s-aorists active, the vṛddhi vowel alternates with the guṇa (Whitney, Grammar §887a); sometimes one, sometimes the other form seems original:

abhyarakṣīd (AŚ. °rākṣīd) āsmākaṁ punar āgamāt (AŚ. āyanāt) MS. AŚ. iṣam ūrjam anyā vakṣat (TB.* vākṣīt) VS. MS. KS. TB. (both) N.   See rā° vi yoṣam* TS. KS. TA. ApŚ.

ihaiva stam mā vi yauṣṭam (ApMB. yoṣṭam) RV. AV. ApMB.

§278. In two cases the dissyllabic stems grabhai and śarai interchange with their reduced forms grabhi and śari; see Whitney, Grammar §904b; Bloomfield, ZDMG 48. 574ff.

Ppp. reads °śarīt, the regular form.

§279. In a similar manner the 1st singular middle forms of the s and iṣ aorists show variation between reduced vowel and guṇa, in four variants.   These forms may also be considered precatives; see Whitney, Grammar §§567a, 568, 923.

*sa yathā tvaṁ rucyā roco 'sy evāhaṁ paśubhiś ca brāhmaṇavarcasena ca tad adya vācaḥ prathamaṁ masīya (N. maṅsīya) RV. AŚ. ApŚ. N.   The N. reading is not worthy of trust, tho formally regular enough; the meter is against it.   See Roth's note, p. 28 of Erläuterungen.

For aorists in radical ṛ varying with ra or ar, see below, §281.

3. Strong and weak Perfect forms

§280. The root sah 'be strong', exhibits interchange between a and ā in the radical syllable twice in the perfect, as well as once in the aorist (see the item pra sakṣati or sākṣate, etc., under the preceding rubric).
Long ā appears in other forms of this root, as is well known (sāhati, sāhyāma, sāḍha, sāḍhvā, sāḍhṛ, see Whitney's Roots s. v.); in some of these (the last three, at least) 'compensatory lengthening' has operated; possibly the other instances are analogical extensions from such forms.
bibheda valaṁ (AV. AŚ. balaṁ, but SPP. valaṁ for AV.) bhṛgur na sasāhe

Otherwise there are only sporadic interchanges: krūram ānaṁśa (KS.† ApŚ. ānāśa) martyaḥ (KS.† martaḥ) AV. KS. ApŚ.
   Both are in reality variant 'strong' forms of the tangled root *aś, MahānU.   Both forms are anomalous; they are classed as perfect imperatives.   Whitney on AV. 6. 110. 1 would read piprayasva, but we do not see that this is a particularly better form than the other.

ād id antā adadṛhanta pūrve KS.: yaded antā adadṛhanta (TS. adadṛṅhanta) pūrve RV. VS. TS. MS.   Pluperfects.

4. Interchanges between strong and weak stems in ṛ (ra, ari), and other variants of ṛ

§281. Here we group a few cases, mostly aorists (and therefore belonging also with No. 2, §§276 ff. above), in which we suspect that the variation between strong and weak r-forms is more due to phonetic change or corruption.   The three cases of gṛbh: grabh are part of a tendency to reduce r + vowel to ṛ; they will be treated along with similar cases outside the verbal conjugation in the chapter on Samprasāraṇa in our section on Phonetics.   The solitary case of jāgṛtāya for the more normal jāgaritāya is best accounted for as due to the same tendency.   In the sixth example, bhartam: bhṛtam, we have root-aorist forms, analogous to ruk: rok above (§276).   Somewhat similar to the variation between ṛ and ra, ari, is that between ṛ and ri in two variants presently to be quoted, viz. vayaṁ rāṣṭre jāgryāma (jāgriyāma) etc., and āpaprivān (āpaprvān) etc., §287.

bhartam (VS. ŚB. bhṛtam) agniṁ purīṣyam VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.   Whitney, Grammar §831a.

5. Interchanges between radical short and long i before y

§282. Before suffixal y, final radical i appears alternatively as ī in a couple of variants:

sarvān patho anṛṇā ā kṣīyema (AV. kṣi°) AV. TB. TA. ApŚ.   The ī is bad metrically as well as formally.

yūpāyocchrīyamāṇāyānubrūhi (MŚ. °cchriya°) ApŚ. MŚ.   But most mss. of MŚ. read °chrīya°, and as this is (before the ya of the passive) the grammatically regular form, it should probably be read.

§283. Somewhat similar to these variants, which are really phonetic in character and will be dealt with in our Phonetics section, are the two variants showing i or ī in denominative stems (§243; janiyanti and janīyanto..., putriyanti and putrīyantaḥ...); and likewise, from another standpoint, the variant vayaṁ rāṣṭre jāgryāma (jāgriyāma) etc., §287, where influence of the following y may be suspected in the form with ri for ṛ.

6. Other long and short i and u in radical syllables

§284. A miscellaneous list, as follows:

avāmba (VS. ŚB. KŚ. ava) rudram adimahi (VS. ŚB. KŚ. adī°, and so v. l. of MS. KS. MŚ., with MS. p. p.) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB. KŚ. ApŚ. MŚ.   Aorist from dā 'share'.   The meter favors ī.

7. Long and short 'intermediate i'

§285. There are a few cases of unstable quantity in the i which may be called, broadly speaking, the Sanskrit representative of the schwavowel in the second syllable of dissyllabic (set) roots; we include here i and ī before the s of the aorist, since that originally belonged in this category.   Among the latter, it is noteworthy that we find both instances of 3d singular forms with short i where it should be long, and plural or dual forms with long ī where it should be short.   The cases are very few in number, and probably analogical in both instances.

8. Presence or absence of 'intermediate i'

§286. The principal group under this head consists of aorist forms in
-rṣ- or -riṣ-, from roots in r.   Only the first two variants concern a root (car) which regularly forms both s and iṣ aorists; on these see §206.
Otherwise the variants are apparently rather phonetic than morphological in character; they concern svarabhakti, on which cf. Wackernagel

1.   §§49–53; they will be dealt with in our chapter on Insertion and Expulsion of Vowels, in the section of this work on Phonetics.   They are of two sorts.   Some concern roots which form aorists of the simple s type (Whitney's 4th aorist), in which an i is alternately inserted before the s.   The others concern roots of the iṣ type (Whitney's 5th aorist), from which the i is sometimes dropped by a kind of 'hyper-Sanskritism'; the pronunciation -riṣ- seems to have been sometimes felt as dialectic and vulgar, and is occasionally 'restored' to -ṛṣ- by late texts in forms where -riṣ- is the only historically correct form, as in the Kauś. reading tārṣat for tāriṣat, below.   There are thus three divisions of these variations between -ṛṣ- and -riṣ-:

(a) From roots which form aorists in both s and iṣ:

agne vratapate vratam acāriṣam (MS. and MŚ. v. l. acārṣam) VS. TS. MS.
  KS.† ŚB. ŚŚ. ApŚ. MŚ. HG. vratānāṁ vratapate (Kauś. °patayo) vratam acāriṣam (MS. acārṣam) MS.
  TA. Kauś.

(b) From roots regularly forming only s aorist:

dakṣaṁ te bhadram ābhārṣaṁ RV.: dakṣaṁ ta ugram ābhāriṣam AV.
  Most mss. of AV. agree on ābhāriṣam, tho the comm. reads ābhārṣam, which the meter supports.   No iṣ aorist of bhṛ is recorded. diteḥ putrāṇām aditer akārṣam (MS. akāriṣam) AV. MS.   The verse is otherwise jagatī, so that probably akāriṣam is to be read in AV. with many mss. and SPP.; Ppp., however, has akārṣam, and if akāriṣam is the true reading it is a matter of phonetics rather than morphology; no 5th aorist from kṛ is recorded. yad rātriyā (MahānU. and v. l. of TA. °tryā) pāpam akārṣam (TA. v. l. akāriṣam, not recorded in Poona ed.) TA. MahānU.   Cf. prec.
  The meter supports the regular form akārṣam. tan naḥ parṣad (MS. pariṣad) ati dviṣaḥ TS. MS. KS. TB.   (Read pariṣad twice in MS.; in 2. 7. 12c von Schroeder reads parṣad against all his saṁhitā mss.   Acc. to his note l. c. KapS. also has riṣad.)   The form pariṣad is metrically inferior and formally unprecedented (RV. has pāriṣat).

(c) From roots regularly forming only iṣ aorist:

pra ṇa (SV. MS. PB. na) āyūṁṣi tāriṣat (Kauś. tārṣat) RV. AV. SV. VS.
  VSK. TS. MS. KS. PB. TB. TA. AŚ. ApŚ. Kauś. N.   The isolated form of Kauś. (all mss.) can only be an ignorant attempt to 'correct' the supposedly dialectic pronunciation with i.   This is shown not only by the meter, but by the fact that a 4th aorist from the dissyllabic root tṛ is monstrous and unheard of. Cf. Wacker-nagel, 1. §53c. end.

āchettā te (TB. ApŚ. vo*) mā riṣam (KS. riṣat; MS. mārṣam) TS. MS.
KS. TB. ApŚ. MŚ. In MŚ. also mārṣam should be read, with all Knauer's mss. But the form is monstrous. Strictly speaking it is a 2d (thematic) aorist, from the root riṣ, the s as well as the i being radical. But it belongs here as being an instance of hyper-Sanskritic pronunciation or rṣ for riṣ.

§287. There remain only a few cases, more or less dubious in character, which present the aspect of alternative loss or insertion of an 'intermediate i' in other cases than when preceded by r and followed by ṣ:

puru tvā dāśvān (SV. dāśivāṅ) voce RV. SV. N. Cf. Whitney, Grammar §803a. dāśvāṅs is frequently trisyllabic in RV.; Grassmann and Oldenberg assume that the v is vocalic. The SV. here presents a secondary attempt to improve the meter.

āpaprivān (MS. °pṛvān, but p. p. °privān) rodasī antarikṣam RV. VS.
TS. MS. KS. ŚB. These may be regarded as from by-forms of the same root; āpaprivān is connected with prā, while the dubious nonceform of MS., if correct, harks back to pṛ, which has no perfect active.
The variation, if real, resembles the cases of Saṁprasāraṇa mentioned §281.

vayam rāṣṭre jāgṛyāma (KS. MS. °mā; TS. and p. p. of MS. jāgriyāma) purohitāḥ VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. The regular form of the opt. of jāgṛ is jāgṛyāma. This recalls not only the Saṁprasāraṇa variants, like the preceding item, but also (since the following sound y may be suspected of being concerned in the insertion of the vowel
i) the variants mentioned under 5, §§282f.

[utkraṅsyate (KSA. utkramiṣyate) svāhā TS. KSA. So Conc., but the sole ms. of KSA. reads utkrāmyate, which von Schroeder properly emends to utkraṅsyate.]

9. Miscellaneous and unclassified strong and weak forms

§288. Three cases which fall in nowhere else:

madhvā yajñam nakṣati (VS. TS. nakṣase) prīṇānaḥ (AV. prai°) AV. VS.
TS. MS. KS. Ppp. has prīṇānaḥ with the rest.

agne yat te tejas tena tam atejasam kṛṇu (KS. tam prati tityagdhi; MS.
ApŚ. tam prati titigdhi)...AV. MS. KS. ApŚ. The strange tityagdhi of KS. 6. 9 (p. 59, l. 20) is supported by the present prati-tyakti, KS. 7. 6 (p. 68, l. 11). It is an adventurous formation, on the pattern, say, of vidh: vyadh; possibly, however, a thought of the root tyaj may have helped to form it.

ajījapata (TS. TB. ajījipata) vanaspatayaḥ TS. MS. KS. TB. MŚ. Reduplicated (causative) aorists from the root ji 'conquer'; both, but especially ajījapata, are highly anomalous.

Cf. also the variant causative stems listed §242, and denominatives, §243.

CHAPTER X. PERSON AND NUMBER

Introductory remarks

§289. The very numerous variations in person and number of verb forms are superficially quite different in character from the other verbal variants. Yet fundamentally they resemble them more than appears at first sight. Like the rest, broadly speaking, they mark and illustrate temperamental fluidity, or shifts in psychological attitude. Thus, to begin with, an activity to be performed or a result to be obtained by the ritual action of a priest or sacrificer may be expressed by a verb in either first, second, or third person, and either singular or plural number. For many variants alternatively conceive the result accomplished, or the action performed, either by the priest or sacrificer (who may be identified with the speaker, the verb being in the first person, or addressed in the second person as being an associate of the speaker), or by some natural or supernatural potency, agency, or implement, in which power resides or is figuratively spoken of as residing, and which may be addressed in the second person or spoken of in the third. For instance, as the priest cleans various sacrificial implements, he says, addressing the implement: 'do not wipe off (from me) speech or cattle!', vācaṁ paśūn mā nir mārjīḥ MS. MŚ. But other texts, in precisely similar contexts, say: 'may it not wipe off', or 'may I not (by this action) wipe off', etc.: rūpād varṇaṁ mā nirmṛkṣat MŚ.: vācaṁ prāṇaṁ...mā nir mṛkṣam TS.: rūpaṁ varṇaṁ paśūnāṁ mā nirmṛkṣam ApŚ. The real meaning is essentially identical in all. A very considerable proportion of the variations between first person verbs, on the one hand, and second or third (or both) on the other, belong to this category in which the matter is credited now to the medicine-man or priest himself, now to an agency or potency, whether human, divine, or merely instrumental, which is associated with him and thru which he operates. See §§302, 304, 312.

§290. As between first and second person, another important group contains variations in which the subject of the verb is really the same in either case, namely the priest or priests and his or their associates, who may be spoken of indifferently in the first or second person. See §307. Thus, in mitrāya (satyāya) havyaṁ ghṛtavaj juhota (°vad vidhema), 'to Mitra (the true one) offer ye (let us offer) oblation with ghee', it makes not the slightest real difference whether the persons who are to offer oblation are called 'we' or 'ye'; both forms of the pāda occur in precisely the same stanza.   Moreover, either or both of the verbs may in such cases be either singular or plural: 'I' or 'we', 'thou' or 'ye.'   Indeed, nearly all variations between first person singular and first person plural are cases of precisely this sort; see the long list in §345, of which the following may serve as an example: yad dhastābhyāṁ cakara (AV. cakṛma) kilbiṣāṇi AV. MS. TB. TA., 'if I (we) have committed sins with the two hands.'   In such cases it is often impossible to say whether the plural expression really thinks of a group of individuals of whom the speaker is one, or whether it is 'editorial', referring really to none but the speaker himself.   In many cases, undoubtedly, the latter is true; nor is it at all necessary to suppose then that either 'majesty' or 'modesty' is implied in the plural form, altho such may occasionally be the case.   See §344 for a few instances where first plural verbs are certainly used referring to the single speaker alone; e.g. śataṁ jīvema (PG. ca jīvāmi) śaradaḥ purūcīḥ PG. MG., which is spoken by the graduate brahman-pupil: 'may we (which means 'I', as in PG.) live a hundred numerous autumns!'   Even MG. has first singular verbs in the rest of the stanza where this pāda occurs.—For a few similar cases of second person singular and plural, referring to associates of the priestly speaker, see §347; and for mixed cases (first singular and second plural, or vice versa) see §307, end; e.g. tasmā indrāya sutam ā juhota (juhomi), 'to him, Indra, offer ye (I offer) the pressed drink.'

§291. Another class of variations, involving both person and number, consists of generalizing statements, in which the subject is really indefinite, 'people' in general, 'one' (French on, German man).   Such expressions are usually third person, most commonly plural, but sometimes also singular, as in: brahmajāyeyam iti (AV. °jāyeti) ced avocan (AV. °cat) RV. AV., 'if they (indefinite) have (one has) said, she is a brahman's wife!'   See §359 for others of this type.   Such generalizing third persons also vary with 1st or 2d person forms, which are sometimes definite (as are some of the third person singulars which vary with indefinite third plurals), but sometimes also indefinite.   Thus we have a 1st plural indefinite varying with a 3d plural, also indefinite in: yathā kalāṁ yathā śaphaṁ yatha ṛṇaṁ saṁnayāmasi (AV. yatharṇaṁ saṁnayanti), evā duṣvapnyaṁ sarvam āptye (AV. apriye, or dviṣate) saṁnayāmasi RV. AV. (bis), 'as we (= people in general; or, they) load up...a debt, so all the bad-dreaming we load up on (Trita) Āptya (or, the enemy).'   And even a singular form, 1st person as well as third, may be used   this indefinite sense: taṁ tvā bhaga sarva ij johavīmi (RV. VS.

°ti) RV. AV. VS. TB. ApMB., 'on thee, Bhaga, every one calls lustily', or, 'on thee, Bhaga, do every I call'.   Whitney on AV. 3. 16. 5 renders mechanically 'do I call, entire'; but obviously it can only mean 'do I and every one like me call', or the like; the surrounding pādas have 1st person verbs, and have influenced this.   The TB. comm. glosses johavīmi by āhvayati, which is by no means as foolish as it might seem at first sight; indeed, it may be called rather exceptionally acute.—On the other hand it is commoner for definite 1st or 2d person forms to exchange with indefinite 3d persons, whether singular or (more often) plural, as in: vacāṅsy āsā (SV. asmai) sthavirāya takṣam (SV. takṣuḥ) RV. SV., 'I (they = people in general) have fashioned songs for the mighty (Indra) before his face (for this mighty one).'   Or, 2d person: yenendrāya samabharaḥ (MS. KS. °ran) payāṅsi AV. TS. MS. KS., 'by which thou (= Agni) didst (or, they, indefinite, did) collect milk for Indra.'   See §§314, 360.

§292. Among the variations concerning Person, interchanges between 1st and 2d person are relatively rare; those between 1st and 3d are somewhat commoner; but by far the most numerous are those between 2d and 3d.   The great majority of these last do not present any very startling features.   Most commonly they simply concern shifts from direct address to a person or thing to indirect reference, in contexts where both are equally suitable.   See §§327 ff.   Not infrequently an entire stanza, containing several clauses, and several verb-forms, is remodelled in this way, so that we have a series of 2d person verbs varying with a series of 3d persons, as in:

navo-navo bhavati (AV. JUB. °si) jāyamānaḥ, ahnāṁ ketur uṣasām ety (AV.† eṣy) agram (TS. agre), bhāgaṁ devebhyo vidadhāty (AV. °sy) āyan, pra candramās tirate (TS. °ti; AV.† °mas tirase) dīrgham āyuḥ RV. AV. TS. MS. KS. N.; first pāda also TB. AŚ. HG. BDh. JUB. VHDh.; 'Ever new he becomes (thou becomest) born, as banner of the days he goes (thou goest) at the head of the dawns, arriving he shares (thou sharest) out fortune to the gods, the moon lengthens (thou, O moon, lengthenest) out long life.'

§293. It will be noted that, consistently with the verbs, the subject here shifts from nominative to vocative when 2d person replaces 3d; and that the change is made with all verbs in the stanza.   In the majority of cases the syntax is thus consistent in both 2d and 3d person passages.   There remain, however, a good many passages where the change results in more or less inconsistency.   Not seldom we fin third person verb with vocative subject.   This occurs three times in the same stanza in the PG. version of the following:

yena striyam (PG. śriyam) akṛṇutam (PG. °tām; ŚŚ. striyāv akurutam), yenāpāmṛśataṁ (PG. °vamṛśatāṁ) surām, yenākṣān (ŚŚ. °kṣām, PG. °kṣyāv) abhyasiñcatam (PG. °tām), yad vāṁ tad aśvinā yaśaḥ ŚŚ. PG. SMB. Here the direct address to the Aśvins (note the 2d person pronoun vām, showing that aśvinā can only be vocative) in the fourth pāda makes the 3d person verbs unconstruable by strict syntax. Naturally there is a temptation to emend in such cases. But the thrice repeated 3d person forms of PG. seem to prove that such a temptation should not be yielded to lightly. Stenzler quite properly keeps the 3d persons in his text of PG., altho he translates them as if they were 2d persons. The comm. supplies bhavantau as subject. Harsh as the construction seems to us, it was clearly the reading intended; and it is supported by many similar cases, listed §332. In the same pages we find also cases of the converse condition, namely, 2d person verbs with nominative subjects, as in:

tā enaṁ pravidvāṅsau śrapayatam MS.: tāv imaṁ paśuṁ śrapayatāṁ pravidvāṅsau TB. Here only the TB. is syntactically consistent; not only the pronoun and adjective referring to the subject in this pāda, but the noun subjects of śrapayatam in the preceding, are nominative in MS.

§294. A milder form of inconsistency is found in the long list of passages found §333ff., where we find no internal inconsistency of the type just mentioned, as between subject and verb within the same clause, but rather a shift from direct address to third-person reference (or vice versa) in parallel and adjoining passages. This produces an effect of more or less harshness. It is not always, to our feeling, so intolerable as it seems in the SV. reading of the following:

yat sānoḥ sānum āruhat (SV. sānv āruhaḥ) RV. SV. This is followed by the pāda: bhūry aspaṣṭa kartvam. 'When he (Indra) mounted from peak to peak and beheld much labor.' The SV. appears to say, 'When thou (Indra) didst mount from peak to peak and he (Indra) beheld much labor'; unless, indeed, we may suppose that SV. understands āruhaḥ as an anomalous verbal noun or adjective, depending on the subject of aspaṣṭa ('when, mounting etc., he beheld etc.'). But the occurrence of very many other cases where the parallelism is broken almost or quite as harshly justifies us in supposing that the shift in person was not too much for SV. to tolerate.

§295. Attention may be called here to a curious detail which crops out among the variants between 2d and 3d person. When the SV. repeats a RV. mantra containing a verb of which the subject is Soma, it shows a marked tendency to replace a third-person indirect reference by a second-person direct address to Soma. For example, this occurs in each of the four pādas of the following stanza, the subject being appropriately made vocative instead of the nominative of the RV.:

agre sindhūnāṁ pavamāno arṣati (SV. °si), agre vāco agriyo goṣu gachati (SV. °si), agre vājasya bhajate mahādhanam (SV. °se mahad dhanam), svāyudhaḥ sotṛbhiḥ pūyate vṛṣā (SV. °bhiḥ soma sūyase) RV. SV.

And so in practically every case found among the Variants as between RV. and SV. in which the subject of the verb is Soma. In seven other cases besides the stanza just quoted the accompanying text is syntactically consistent in both cases; these are listed §328. But in another half-dozen cases, listed §334, the second-person forms of SV. are more or less inconsistent with the context, which presents parallel third-person verbs even in SV. The reverse change of 2d to 3d person in verbs of which Soma is the subject is extremely rare in SV., and due to special reasons; see §335.

§296. Among the variants concerning number, perhaps the most interesting are those in which a verb with singular subject is made dual or plural by a simple process of multiplication of the subject, or by inclusion within the subject of another entity or entities; or vice versa in either case. The instances of the first type are grouped in §348 ff. They call for no comment; the following will serve as an example:

śundhantāṁ lokāḥ pitṛṣadanāḥ VS. MS. KS. ŚB. MŚ.: śundhatāṁ lokaḥ pitṛṣadanaḥ TS. ApŚ., 'let the worlds (or, world) where the fathers sit be purified.'

For the second type see §§353 ff.; the cases are somewhat less numerous, but still common enough; for example:

āsīdantu (SV. āsīdatu) barhiṣi mitro (TB. adds varuṇo) aryamā RV. SV. VS. TB.

Followed by: prātaryāvāṇo adhvaram. The real subject in RV. is the gods in general; mitro aryamā are merely examples; Sāyaṇa, yo mitro devo yaś cāryamā ye cānye prātaryāvāṇaḥ...devāḥ etc. The plural is here the original form, and the alteration is a case of subtraction or division rather than addition or multiplication of the subject. Both SV. and TB. were troubled by the seeming disagreement between verb and subject (two gods, plural verb), and each tried to better the construction; SV. by making the verb singular, agreeing with the nearer subject, mitro; and TB. by inserting varuṇo and thus providing three subjects instead of two for the plural verb, in defiance of the meter.

§297. Of great interest, tho of equally great rarity, are the cases (§358) in which a grammatically plural or dual subject (either a plurale tantum, or more than one noun felt as constituting a single unit) is alternatively construed with a singular verb, because the subject is thought of collectively as a unit:

drupadād iva muñcatām (TB. °tu, so read with Poona ed.) AV. TB. The subject is found in the preceding pāda, bhūtaṁ mā tasmād bhavyaṁ ca; 'May what has been and what is to be free me from that as from a post.'   It would me mechanical and false to explain the singular verb of TB. as agreeing with the nearer subject bhavyaṁ, as under the type mentioned last.   Rather, the two subjects are felt in TB. as forming a single unitary concept.

§298. There remain, finally, a rather considerable number of shifts in either person or number, or both, which are due to real syntactic reconstructions of the passage involving change of subject.   Either the mantra may be applied in a different connexion, with a different subject for the verb; or the context may remain the same, but owing to an internal reconstruction the subject may be different and may require a different person or number.   The following examples may serve to illustrate these two types; as between second and third person, and between the various numbers, they are hardly capable of further subdivision, and will be found grouped in §§338–41, 361–71.   Most of the variants between first and second person, and between first and third, naturally involve change of subject; in so far as they include recognizable groupings, attention has already been called to them.

§299. First, cases in which the formula appears in different contexts. The first example is a pāda occurring in the RV. itself in no less than four different stanzas, three of which are repeated in other texts; in three of the four the verb is second person, the varying subject being directly addressed in each; while in the fourth the subject is referred to indirectly and the verb is therefore third person.   The anomalous form (bhūtu) of this last version shows that it is a secondary adaptation of one of the others:

asmākam edhy avitā rathānām (AV. tanūnām) RV. AV. SV. VS. TS. MS. KS.: asmākaṁ bodhy av° ra° RV.: as° bodhy av° tanūnām RV. MS. TB. TA. MahānU.: as° bhūtv av° ta° RV. AV. TA.; 'be thou (let him be) aider of our chariots (our persons)!'

Or, a case in which all three numbers, as well as second and third persons, appear, each form being appropriate to its special context:

sunoty ā ca dhāvati RV., 'he presses and adds water'; sunuta ā ca dhāvataḥ RV., 'they two press and add water'; sunotā ca dhāvata AV. 'press ye (plural) and add water!'

§300. Secondly, cases in which the context is essentially the same, but an internal reconstruction furnishes the verb with a different subject, requiring different person or number or both:

ahar no atyapīparat MahānU. SMB., 'the day has brought us across': ahar mātyapīparaḥ AV., 'thou (O sun) hast brought me across the day.'

pibāt somaṁ mamadad (AŚ. ŚŚ. somam amadann) enam iṣṭe (AŚ. ŚŚ. iṣṭayaḥ) AV. AŚ. ŚŚ., 'let him drink the soma, let it exhilarate him at the sacrifice (or, the sacrifices exhilarated him).'

ghṛtena dyāvāpṛthivī ā pṛṇethām (MS. MŚ. pṛṇa; LŚ. prīṇāthām) TS. MS. KS. LŚ. ApŚ. MŚ. 'O heaven and earth, be filled (gratified) with ghee', or, 'fill (O post) heaven and earth with ghee.'

niṣkam iva prati muñcata (°tām) AV. (both). 'Fasten ye on (another) like a necklace', or 'let him fasten on himself like a necklace.' Here, and not infrequently, a change of voice goes with the change of person and number; see §30. Somewhat similarly, but without a change of voice, the verb is used in a different meaning in the following:

indraṁ samatsu bhūṣata SV.: indraḥ samatsu bhūṣatu RV. AV. Preceded by: ā no viśvāsu havyaḥ (SV. °yam). 'Let Indra associate himself with us (SV., praise ye Indra), (Indra) who is to be invoked (of us) in every conflict.'

§301. After these preliminary remarks, we now proceed to list the variants concerning Person and Number. As usual thruout this work, we have followed the lines of practical convenience in classifying them, without being too much bound by formal and external schemes. Thus, in the case of the Person variants, we have found it practicable to divide them first into the four natural groups of those which show (1) all three persons, (2) first and second persons, (3) first and third, and (4) second and third. Cross-references from one group to another will enable the reader to bring together such subdivisions of each group as belong together. But as regards the Number variants, such a primary division has seemed to us inadvisable, and our first division has been psychological rather than formal. We begin with variations between first and second persons singular and plural as referring to the priests and their associates. Next come cases in which the same subject appears as singular, dual, or plural, with accompanying change in number of the verb; and, following this, those in which a more inclusive subject varies with a less inclusive one (§296). After this we place the very few variations in which a singular verb goes with a subject felt as collective, tho formally dual or plural; and next the cases of generalizing plural and singular. Then come the variations in number due to change of subject within the same context; then those due to change of subject involved in a change of context; and finally a few cases which seem to involve errors and corruptions with which little or nothing can be done.   Within each of these groups, however, we have separated the variants which occur into the natural formal subdivisions of singular and plural, dual and each of the other numbers, and variations of all three numbers. Occasionally, and in so far as it seems desirable, we have also recognized accompanying changes of person in our subdivisions.

A. Variants concerning Person

1. Variants between all three Persons

§302. (a) Most of these are of the sort mentioned in §289 above. Namely, they concern cases in which a result is conceived as accomplished either by the priest or sacrificer (first person), or alternatively by some god, potency, agency, or implement, in which magic power resides or is figuratively spoken of as residing, and which is either addressed (in second person), or merely referred to (in third person).   The considerable number of such variants, swelled by a still larger number in which only first and second persons appear (§304), or only first and third (§312), illustrates very interestingly this aspect of Vedic sacrificial psychology.   Thus:

tveṣaṁ vaco apāvadhīt (TS. TB. °dhīm; MS. °dhīḥ) VS. TS. MS. KS.
   ŚB. TB.   Preceded in all by: yā te agne 'yāśayā ('yaḥśayā)... tanūr... 'That...form of thine, O Agni...has driven away harsh words'; or, '... (by it) I have driven away' or 'thou hast driven away' etc.   Also: ugraṁ vaco etc., see Conc.

Here the real agency is the same in either case; the practitioner operates thru an implement or a force which he controls, and it makes no difference whether the activity is attributed to the one or the other. Similarly:

vācaṁ paśūn mā nir mārjīḥ MS. MŚ.: vācaṁ prāṇaṁ...mā nir mṛkṣam TS.: rūpād varṇaṁ mā nirmṛkṣat MŚ.: rūpaṁ varṇaṁ paśūnāṁ mā nirmṛkṣam ApŚ.   And other similar formulas in the same context.
[taṁ mā hiraṇyavarcasam (RVKh. tena māṁ sūryatvacam)] karotu (RVKh. akaraṁ) pūruṣu priyam (ApMB. pūruṣu priyaṁ kuru) ApMB. HG. RVKh. '(O name,) make me here of golden luster, beloved among the Pūrus!' or, 'let it (the name) make me' etc., or,
   'by it (the name) I have made myself sun-colored' etc.
evaṁ garbhaṁ dadhāmi (ApMB. °tu) te ŚB. BṛhU. ŚG. ApMB. HG.:

and (in different but related context) evaṁ taṁ (ApMB. tvaṁ) garbham ādhehi (ApMB. ādhatsva) RVKh. ApMB. MG., evā dadhāmi te gàrbham AV. 'Thus I fix (let him fix) the germ for thee', or, 'fix thou this germ.' In the second version of ApMB., but only there, the woman is addressed: 'Receive thou the germ!' Note the middle voice, and see §30. In all the others the subject is either the practitioner (1st person) or some divine or magical potency (addressed in RVKh. MG., referred to in 3d person in the first version of ApMB.).

mā devānāṁ mithuyā karma (TS. mithuyā kar; MS. yūyupāma; AŚ. momuhad; AVPpp. yūyavad, for mi° karma) bhāgam (AVPpp. TS. MS. AŚ. bhāgadheyam) AV. AVPpp. TS. MS. TB. AŚ. So to be read; see Whitney on AV. 4. 39. 9. 'May we (he; mayst thou) not cheat the share of the gods' or the like. TS. kar is 2d person, with subject Agni who is addressed in the preceding pāda. Agni is also the subject of the 3d person forms of AVPpp. AŚ., which have 3d person references to him in the preceding pāda.

pari ṇaḥ pāhi (also pātu, and pari mā pāhi) viśvataḥ AV. (all): pari tvā pāmi sarvataḥ RVKh. 'Protect us (me; let him protect us; I protect thee) on all sides.' In several different contexts.

brahma tena punīhi naḥ (LŚ. mā; KS. VS. punātu mā; MS. TB. punīmahe) RV. VS. MS. KS. TB. LŚ.: idaṁ brahma punīmahe TB.: 'The charm (O Agni, that is in thy light), by that purify us (me; may we be purified).' The first person is here due to shift to middle (passive) value, see §30. The subject of the 3d person in VS. KS. can only be Agni, tho the vocative remains in these texts; VS. comm. bhavān punātu. Cf. §332.

§303. (b) The rest are of different sorts, and can hardly be classified except as vikāras of one another adapted to different situations; the real, as well as the grammatical, subject is generally different, and to a large extent the formulas are used in different contexts. At most two of the three persons may refer to the same subject, as in the 1st and 2d person forms of the following, where the same individual speaks in one form of the variant and is addressed in the other (cf. §308):

śataṁ jīvantu (AV.* °taḥ, TB.* ApŚ.* MG. jīvema, AV.* SMB. PG.* ApMB.* HG. ca jīva, PG.* ca jīvāmi) śaradaḥ purūcīḥ (suvarcāḥ) RV. AV. VS. ŚB. TB. TA. ApŚ. SMB. PG. ApMB. HG. MG. Somewhat complicated are the variations of this oft-repeated pāda, occurring in several texts more than once. It occurs in three stanzas, at least, which may be considered quite distinct from one another.   In one all texts read jīvantu and purūcīḥ except AV. which has the correlative participle jīvantaḥ.   A second, reading jīvema and purūcīḥ, is found only in TB. ApŚ.   The remaining occurrences seem all to concern variant forms of what is essentially the same stanza, sometimes two forms of it occurring in juxtaposition in the same text (as in ApMB. 2. 2. 7 and 8).   It is used variously; at the marriage ceremony, at the upanayana, at the ceremony marking the close of studentship; and the verb is always 2d person (addressed to the bride or to the brahmacārin) except in PG.

2. 6. 20 and MG. 1. 9. 27, where it is put into the mouth of the brahmacārin; see §308.

uttame nāka iha mādayantām (MŚ. °yadhvam) TS. TB. ApŚ. MŚ.: nākasya pṛṣṭhe sam iṣā madema AV.   Same context.   In all but AV. the subject is devāḥ in the preceding (voc. in MŚ., nom. in TS. TB. ApŚ., see §329).   In AV. it is replaced by devaiḥ, the subject being 'we': 'let (the gods) revel (O gods, revel ye) here in the highest heaven', or 'may we revel together (with the gods) with food on the back of heaven.'

viśvam āyur vy aśnavat RV. TS. MS. TB. Kauś.:...aśnavai (AV. °vam)
AV. VS. MS. KS. TB.:...aśnutaḥ RV.:...aśnutam (AV.* °tām)
RV. AV. ApMB.   In several different contexts, which account fully for the variations of both person and number.

suprajāḥ prajayā bhūyāsaṁ (ApMB.* bhūyās)...VSK. TS. ApŚ. HG.
ApMB.: suprajāḥ prajābhi(ḥ) syām (VS. ŚB. also syāma)...VS.
VSK. ŚB. AŚ. ŚŚ.: supoṣaḥ poṣais...suprajāḥ prajayā syām JB.: supoṣaḥ poṣaiḥ syāt...MS. KS. TB. MŚ.   In several different contexts.

yad vo 'śuddhāḥ (VSK. °aḥ) parā jaghnur (VSK. jaghānaitad) idaṁ vas tac chundhāmi VS. VSK. ŚB.: yad aśuddhaḥ parājaghāna tad va etena śundhantām KS.: yad vo 'śuddha ālebhe tañ śundhadhvam MS.
See §30.

mitrasya mā cakṣuṣā sarvāṇi bhūtāni samīkṣantām; mitrasyāhaṁ cakṣuṣā...samīkṣe; mitrasya cakṣuṣā samīkṣāmahe VS. (all, in same passage; the subject of samīkṣāmahe is reciprocal and includes sarvāṇi bhūtāni): mitrasya vaś cakṣuṣā samīkṣāmahe, and samīkṣadhvam MS. (in same passage).   And others; see Conc. under mitrasya vaś, mitrasya tvā.

tena tvāyuṣāyuṣmantaṁ karomi TS. PG. ApMB.: tasyāyam (and, teṣām ayam) āyuṣāyuṣmān astv asau KS.: tenāyuṣāyuṣmān edhi MS.

2. Variants between First and Second Person

§304. (a) We find under this head, first, a considerable group of the type described above in §§289, 302, in which the action or result is conceived as brought about sometimes by the priest or sacrificer (first person), sometimes by a divine or natural or supernatural agency or implement, which is addressed in the second person. Thus:

ṛtenāsya nivartaye (MŚ. °ya), satyena parivartaye (MŚ. °ya) TB. ApŚ.
MŚ. 'By his divine order do I (thou, addressing the razor) return, by his truth do I (thou) move about.' Spoken in the shaving ceremony, while wielding the razor.

The potency addrest or referred to is not always clearly indicated; we have seen this illustrated in some of the similar variants of all three persons, and shall find the same in not a few of the following ones, as for instance in this:

(pari...) mahe kṣatrāya (also: śrotrāya) dhattana AV.: (pari...) mahe rāṣṭrāya (also: śrotrāya) dadhmasi HG. 'Wrap ye (we wrap) [him] unto great kingship' or the like. In AV. apparently addrest to undefined gods.

vi mimīṣva payasvatīṁ ghṛtācīm AV.: vi mime tvā payasvatīṁ devānām TB. ApŚ. 'Measure thou (Rohita seems to be addrest) the milk-rich, ghee-full (cow)', or 'I measure thee out, the milk-rich (cow) of the gods.'

payo divy antarikṣe payo dhāḥ (TS. dhām) VS. TS. MS. KS. 'Milk do thou place (sc. for me; acc. to VS. comm. Agni is addrest) in the sky, in the air', or, 'may I place' etc.

ava devair devakṛtam eno 'yakṣi (TS. KS. TB. 'yāt) VS. TS. KS. ŚB. TB.: ...'yāsiṣam VS. ŚB. LŚ.: ava no devair devakṛtam eno yakṣi MS. 'I have (thou—[O bath]—hast) removed by sacrifice the god-wrought sin by the gods.' Similarly (but in different context): ava devānāṁ yaja heḍo agne (KS. yaje hīḍyāni; MŚ. yaje heḍyāni) AV. KS. MŚ.: ava devān yaje heḍyān TB. ApŚ.: agne devānām ava heḍa iyakṣva (KS. ikṣva) KS. ApŚ. 'remove thou (I remove) by sacrifice the anger of the gods, O Agni', or the like.

vācaṁ te mā hiṁsiṣam KS.: vācam asya mā hiṁsīḥ MS. And so with cakṣuḥ, caritrān, śrotram, and others. At the slaughtering of an animal: 'may I not harm thy voice etc.', or 'harm not his voice etc.', addressing the animal, or the instrument of slaughter.

garbhān (sc. prīṇāmi) Vait.: garbhān prīṇīhi ApŚ. 'I gratify (, or, gratify thou—addrest to the spoon or the remnants eaten from it) the embryos.'

ava bādhe pṛtanyataḥ (ApŚ. °tā) MS. ApŚ.: ava bādhasva pṛtanāyataḥ

yāḥ paśūnāṁ ṛṣabhe vācas tāḥ sūryo agre śukro agre tāḥ prahiṇomi (ApŚ.
°hiṇvo)...MS. ApŚ. 'These I send forth', or 'these send thou forth' (addressed to the sun? see Caland on ApŚ. 10. 12. 4).

apārarum adevayajanaṁ pṛthivyā devayajanā (ApŚ. adevayajano) jahi
KS. ApŚ.: apāraruṁ pṛthivyai devayajanād badhyāsam VS. ŚB.
'Drive away (I would drive away) Araru' etc.

śuciṁ te (SV. ca) varṇam adhi goṣu dīdharam (SV. dhāraya) RV. SV.
In SV. addressed to Soma, who is addressed in the preceding in RV. also.

sarvaṁ tam bhasmasā (TS. ŚB. masmasā) kuru VS. TS. ŚB.: sarvāṁs tān maṣmaṣā (MS.† mṛsmṛsā) kuru MS. KS.†. TA. sarvān ni maṣmaṣākaram AV. 'Every one I have smashed (smash thou)', or the like.

manasaspata imaṁ deva yajñaṁ (KS. devayajñaṁ svāhā vāci) svāhā vāte dhāḥ VS. KS. ŚB.: manasaspata imaṁ no divi deveṣu yajñam, svāhā divi svāhā pṛthivyāṁ svāhāntarikṣe svāhā vāte dhām svāhā AV.:
manasaspata imaṁ no deva deveṣu yajñaṁ svāhā vāci svāhā vāte dhāḥ TS.: manasaspate sudhātv imaṁ yajñam divi deveṣu vāte dhāḥ svāhā MS. The AV. version is harsher; the voc. manasaspate requires a 2d person verb, which has to be supplied in AV.

stotāram id didhiṣeya (SV. dadhiṣe) radāvaso RV. SV. Similar to prec.;
here SV. has a lectio facilior.

With change of number as well as person:

pra tvā (KŚ. mā) muñcāmi (RV.* pra no muñcataṁ) varuṇasya pāśāt RV.
(both) AV. AŚ. KŚ. AG. ApMB. Dual addressed to Soma-Rudra.

tam (TS. KS. add vaḥ) suprītaṁ subhṛtam akarma (KS. abhārṣam; VS.
°tam bibhṛta) VS. TS. KS. 'This (embryo) we (I) have made pleasant, well-maintained for you', or 'maintain ye' etc.

niḥ kravyādaṁ nudāmasi (MS. nudasva) AV. MS.: niṣ kravyādaṁ sedha VS. TS. KS. ŚB. TB. ApŚ. In AV., 'we drive out the flesh-eating (fire)'; in YV. addressed to Agni. Different contexts.

bharatam uddharem anuṣiñca (MŚ. uddharema vanuṣanti? doubtful text) TB. ApŚ. MŚ. Addressed to the cake (puroḍāśa) at the darśapūr-ṇamāsa. TB. comm. understands uddhara īm (= imam), and Caland on ApŚ. follows him; bharatam means the yajamāna according to comm., according to Caland possibly Agni. Both variants are doubtful.

tayā mā saṁsṛjāmasi HG. ApMB.: tayā mām indra saṁ sṛja RVKh.
'With it (lakṣmī) we unite me', or 'with it unite me, O Indra.'

tābhir ā vartayā punaḥ TS. ApMB.: tābhya enā ni vartaya RV.†: tābhyas tvā vartayāmasi KS. 'By (from) them bring them (we bring thee) back.'

§305. Sometimes the change between first and second person accompanies, and is conditioned by, a change between active and middle or passive voice, or between causative and primary verb-forms. These will be found easily from the lists recorded above in §§30, 83ff., 238f.; it is hardly necessary to repeat them here; as examples we may quote:

agne dakṣaiḥ punīhi naḥ (TB. mā; MS. punīmahe) RV. MS. TB. 'O Agni, purify us (me; may be become pure) by thy power!'
saṁjīvā (AŚ.* ApŚ. °vikā) nāma stha tā imaṁ (AŚ. imam amuṁ) saṁjīvayata MS. AŚ. ApŚ.: saṁjīvā stha saṁjīvyāsam AV. 'Ye are enlivening (by name), do ye make this man live', or 'may I live'.

§306. In some other cases we find essentially the same psychology, but with a slightly different turn in formal expression; as when a phrase of MS., bhūyāṁso bhūyāsta ye no bhūyaso 'karta, 'be ye more, who have made us more', is (as it were) glossed by the variant of Kauś., bhūyāṁso bhūyāsma ye ca no bhūyasaḥ kārṣṭa, 'may we be more, and likewise ye who have made us more.' (Also the same texts with an-nādā bhūyāsta etc.)

The real point is, 'may we be more!' in both cases alike; but this is definitely stated in only one form of the variant, while in the other (MS.) the desired result is nominally wished upon the agency used. Cf. with 1st and 3d persons, §313 below. Similarly in the next subject and indirect object exchange places, without real difference of meaning:

trīṇy āyūṁṣi te 'karam (JUB. °ṣi me 'kṛṇoh) AV. JUB. Addressed to an amulet. 'Three lives have I made for thee', or ' . . . hast thou made for me'; the last is, of course, the real intention even in AV. āditya nāvam ārukṣaḥ (SMB. ārokṣam) AV. SMB.: imāṁ su nāvam āruham TS. KS. ApŚ.: sūrya nāvam ārukṣaḥ AV.: sunāvam āruheyam VS. 'O Sun, I have mounted (may I mount; mount thou) fairly upon a ship', or the like.

The isolated AV. reading (even Ppp. has 1st person forms both times) is curious, and can hardly mean anything fundamentally different from the others; it is explained by the other variants in this section. The comm. on AV. optionally allows the 2d person to be interpreted as 1st person (!).

sannān māvagām (ApŚ. °gāta) MS. ApŚ. MŚ. 'May I not go (go ye not) to those that are sunk.' Addressed to the sacrificial posts.

sūryasya cakṣur āruham (VS. āroha) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. ApŚ. MŚ. 'I have mounted (mount thou) the eye of the sun.'

payasvān (°vāṅ) agna āgamam (RV. āgahi) RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. JB. ŚB. TB. LŚ. ApMB.   'With milk, O Agni, I have come (come thou).'   The context is the same, and the 'milk' is in either case for the benefit of the speaker.

deva tvaṣṭar vasu rama (TS. raṇva, KS. raṇa, MS. raṇe) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.

svargāṅ (AŚ. corruptly svagāṅ; Vait. svargam) arvanto jayata (Vait. jayema; AŚ. jayataḥ [!]) SV. AŚ. ŚŚ. Vait.   'Conquer ye, swift (steeds, vājino, pāda a) heaven!' or 'may we swiftly conquer heaven!' Vait. is obviously secondary but probably gives the real sense of the other, original reading.   On AŚ. see §250.   In AŚ. follows an alternative form of the pāda, svargāṅ arvato jayati, which the comm. says is designed to indicate that either arvanto or arvato may be read; he does not notice the difference in the last word.   In fact, jayati and (dual) jayataḥ are equally unconstruable.

§307.   (b) We come next to a quite different group of first and second person variants, namely those in which both forms alike refer really to the same individuals, viz. the priests or their associates, including the yajamāna with whom they frequently and naturally identify themselves in speech.   See §290 above.   As is well known, the ritualists may say either 'we' or 'you', about equally well, in speaking of themselves and their fellows.   Singular forms, especially of the first person, are also not rare; cf. below, §§344ff., 347, for variants between first singular and plural, and second singular and plural, in this sense.   In this place we list such of these variants as concern either person alone, or both person and number, beginning with those between first and second person plural:

mitrāya (TS. KS.* TB. ApŚ. satyāya) havyaṁ ghṛtavaj juhota (TS. KS. °vad vidhema) RV. TS. KS. TB. ApŚ. MŚ. N.   See §290.   The next is really a mere vikāra of this:

tasmā u havyaṁ ghṛtavad vidhema (ŚŚ. ŚG. °vaj juhota) TS. ŚŚ. ŚG. ApMB.: dhātra id dhavyaṁ ghṛtavaj juhota AŚ.   Dhātar is meant by tasmai.

adha syāma surabhayo (ApŚ. corruptly, syāṃ asur ubhayor) gṛheṣu AV. KS. ApŚ.: athā syāta surabhayo gṛheṣu MS.   'Then may we be (be ye) fragrant in the house.'   AV. has different context from the others.

atra (ŚB. atrā) jahīmo 'śivā ye asan VS. ŚB.: atrā jahāma (AV. jahīta) ye asann aśevāḥ (AV. aśivāḥ, and asan durevāḥ) RV. AV. (bis) TA. 'Here (may) we quit (quit ye) those that may be unpropitious.'

mṛtyoḥ padaṁ (MG. padāni) yopayanto yad aita (TA. aima; AV. yopayanta eta; MG. lopayante yad eta) RV. AV. TA. MG. (Read probably etad in MG.)

yathā me bhūrayo 'sata AV.: yathāsāma jīvaloke bhūrayaḥ TA. The AV. form is very doubtful; mss. 'satah; both edd. 'sata; comm. also 'sata, glossing syāta, as if the form were asatha, 2d plural subj.

pāpmānaṁ te 'pahanmaḥ KŚ.: pāpmānaṁ me hata (Kauś. 'pa jahi) MG. Kauś.

anaḍvāham anv ārabhāmahe VS. VSK. TA.: anaḍvāhaṁ plavam anv ārabhadhvam AV. MG. In different contexts.

iṣaṁ madantaḥ pari gāṁ nayadhvam (AV. nayāmaḥ) RV. AV. MG.

First and second person singular:

hṛdā matiṁ janaye (VS. KŚ. TB. °ya) cārum agnaye RV. VS. MS. KS. TB. ApŚ. 'I produce (produce thou) with the heart a lovely hymn to Agni.'

tena te vapāmy āyuṣe MG.: tenāsyāyuṣe vapa ApMB. See §124. The first form is addressed to the boy who is shaved, the second to the officiating priest who shaves. This might be classed with the following subdivision.

sakhyāt te mā yoṣam TB. ApŚ. ApMB. HG.: sakhyaṁ te mā yoṣāḥ SMB. See §168. A reciprocal relation is here expressed in both cases: 'may I not be separated from thy friendship', or 'do not withhold thy friendship (from me).'

indro vide tam u stuṣe (Mahānāmnyaḥ stuhi) AA. Mahānāmnyaḥ. See §165. To be classed here if stuṣe is first person, as Keith takes it.

With change of number:

tasmā indrāya sutam ā juhota (TB. ApŚ. juhomi) VS. VSK. MS. KS. ŚB. TB. ApŚ. MŚ. Followed by:

tasmai sūryāya sutam ā juhota (ApŚ. juhomi) MS. KS. ApŚ. MŚ.

viśvān devāns tarpayata (BDh. tarpayāmi) TB. BDh.

Somewhat similar is the following variant between first dual and second singular:

sakhāyau saptapadāv abhūva (ApMB. corruptly, °padā babhūva, cf. Winternitz, p. xvi f.) ApMB. HG.: sakhā saptapadī (ApMB. °dā) bhava AG. ŚG. Kauś. ApMB. SMB. The first is spoken by the bridegroom, referring to himself and the bride; the second is addressed to the bride alone. See §367.

§308. (c) We come next to a group in which the same person is the subject of both 1st and 2d personal forms, but in one he is represented as speaking, while in the other he is spoken to.   We have met this type already, §303; and a similar interchange is found between 1st and 3d persons, below, §316f. Thus:

parīdaṁ vājy ajinaṁ (PG. °daṁ vājinaṁ) dadhe 'ham (HG. ajinaṁ dhatsvāsau) ŚG. PG. HG. ApMB. 'I put (put thou) on this skin with vigor' or the like. In HG. spoken by the guru to his pupil; in the others, by the pupil himself.

prāṇasya brahmacāry asi (ApMB. asmi; HG. abhūr asau) AG. HG.
    ApMB. MG. Exactly like preceding; here spoken by the pupil only in ApMB.

marutāṁ (MS. sapatnahā ma°) prasave jeṣam (MS. jaya) TS. MS. TB.
    ApŚ. 'On the impulse of the Maruts may I conquer (conquer thou).' The subject is the king at the rājasūya, who speaks in TS. etc., while in MS. he is spoken to. In a way this might be classed with the preceding group, the king being the yajamāna; cf. the variant tena te vapāmy āyuṣe, tenāsyāyuṣe vapa, quoted above, which may be said equally to belong here. Other forms, see §§158, 370.

syonām āsadam suṣadām āsadam LŚ.: syonām āsīda suṣadām āsīda VS.
    TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB. KŚ. ApŚ. MŚ. 'I have sat (sit thou) on (a throne that is) fair, (that is) a pleasant seat.' Apparently addressed to, or spoken by, the king at the rājasūya.

śataṁ jīvāmi (MG. jīvema, AV. ApMB. HG. ca jīva) śaradaḥ purūcīḥ AV. ApMB. PG. HG. MG. (and others similar, see §303); followed directly in PG. MG. and once in AV. by the following, which occurs in a similar context in the others also:

rāyaś ca poṣam upasaṁvyayasva AV. HG. ApMB.: rayiṁ ca putrān anusaṁvyayasva PG.: rāyas poṣam abhi saṁvyayiṣye PG. MG. In the PG. MG. form of these two pādas, the graduate brahmanpupil speaks in person; in the others he is addressed.

samitaṁ saṁkalpethām VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. MŚ. MG.: sam ayāva saṁ kalpāvahai ApMB. Here a formula belonging originally to the śrauta sphere (addressed to two fires, cf. Keith on TS. 4. 2. 5. 1) is secondarily applied in two gṛhya texts, MG. and ApMB. In the former it is addressed without change to the bride and groom by the officiating priest in the marriage rite, while in ApMB. it is spoken by the bridegroom, of himself and the bride.

samnahye (KS. °hya) sukṛtāya kam TS. KS. TB. ApŚ. MŚ. ApMB.: saṁnahyasvāmṛtāya kam AV. The bride (AV. ApMB.) or the sacrificer's wife (the others) speaks or is addressed: 'I gird myself (gird thyself) unto goodness (immortality).' On KS., see §30.

§309. (d) Of the few remaining first and second person variants little need be said. For the most part they are simply cases in which a phrase is adapted to a wholly new context, and provided therefore with a wholly different subject. In the first pair of variants we have in one form a deliberate vikāra of the other, in adjoining passages:

ati dhanveva tāṅ ihi RV. AV. SV. VS.: dadhanveva tā ihi, followed by:
    nidhanveva tāṅ imi TA. 1. 12. 2d (both). And in the same stanza:

yāhi (TA. also yāmi) mayūraromabhiḥ RV. AV. SV. VS. TA. The second version (in 1st person) of TA. is deliberately modelled on the first (in 2d person). Note the anomalous form imi, for emi (which the meter forbids), under the influence of ihi.

No less surely, in the following variant, is the MS. form secondarily adapted from the original (as in RV.) to fit its wholly new context; while TA., altho it has the same new context as MS., retains or restores the original form of the verb as in the different context of RV.:

atāriṣma (MS. °ṣṭa) tamasas pāram asya RV. MS. KS. TA. ApŚ. In MS. TA. the preceding pāda is: vimucyadhvam aghnyā (TA. °niyā) devayānāḥ: 'be released, O cattle, going to the gods, ye (TA. we, under the influence of the original form) have crossed to the farther shore of this darkness.' In RV. KS. the context is wholly different.

§310. In the next we are reminded of the cases listed in the preceding subdivision; but here the subject is changed, the context being a different one; a god speaks of himself in one variant, while two gods are addressed in the other. See on this point Bloomfield's important observation, RVRep. 384: 'We may perhaps accept it as a general principle, that in hymns in which a god speaks for himself, repeated pādas, which are otherwise attributed by the poets to a god in the 2d or 3d person, are secondary and epigonal.' If this is so, the 1st person form in the following would be secondary:

yat sunvate yajamānāya śikṣathaḥ (śikṣam) RV. (both).

§311. Of the rest it is unnecessary to speak in detail; they contain changes of person to suit very miscellaneous contexts:

vajro 'si (MŚ. hāsmi) sapatnahā Kauś. MŚ.

sūryasyāvṛtam anvāvarte (SMB. GG. anvāvartasvāsau) AV. VS. KS. ŚB.
    SMB. GG.

indrasya sakhyam amṛtatvam aśyām (RV. ānaśa) RV. TB. ApŚ. 2d pl.
    perf. in RV.

sajātānām madhyamasthā edhi (AV. madhyameṣṭhāḥ; MS. KS. °meṣṭhe-

3. Variants between First and Third Person

§312. (a) Here again we find a considerable number of cases in which the statement of something effected by the speaker (expressed in 1st person) varies with a statement of the same thing as effected by the potency on which he relies, which in this case is expressed in the third person, the potency being not addressed directly; cf. above, §§289, 302, 304.

udgrābheṇod agrabhīt (MS. ajigrabhat; KS. añgrabham, and añgṛbham) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. 'With elevation he (Indra) has elevated me', or '...I have elevated myself'. The context is the same, and Indra's instrumentality is implied also in KS.

tāḥ saṁ tanomi (TS. MS. ApŚ. dadhāmi; KS. dadhātu) haviṣā (MS. manasā) ghṛtena TS. MS. KS. AŚ. KŚ. ApŚ. 'These (offerings) I unite (let him, in KS. Viśvakarman, unite) with oblation, with ghee.' The passages are similar, tho not exactly identical, and 1st or 3d would go well enough in all.

tau yuñjīta (AV. yokṣye) prathamau yoga āgate AV. SV. 'Them (Indra's arms) let him (I shall) yoke first' etc.

preto muñcāmi (AG. ŚG. SMB. MG. muñcātu, PG. muñcatu, ApMB. muñcāti) nāmutaḥ (ŚG. MG. SMB.† māmutaḥ; PG. mā pateḥ) RV. AV. AG. ŚG. SMB. PG. ApMB. MG. Two different contexts: one in RV. AV. ApMB., followed by:

subaddhām amutas karam (ApMB. karat) RV. AV. ApMB. 'I release (he, i.e. some god, shall release) her (the bride) from here, not from there; I have (he has) made her well-fastened there.' In the other (GS.) texts, the subject of the verb is Aryaman or Pūṣan, previously mentioned; so, perhaps, ApMB. is to be interpreted. A related but still different formula, ito mukṣīya māmutaḥ (ApŚ. mā pateḥ) VS. ŚB. ApŚ., is spoken (in a different context) by the bride herself; hence medio-passive, see §30.

idam asmākaṁ bhuje bhogāya bhūyāt (MŚ. bhūyāsam) KS. ApŚ. MŚ. 'May this be (may I be here) for enjoyment and feasting unto us.' MŚ. doubtless secondary.

abhi tvā varcasāsicam (AV. °siñcan, read °sican, see Whitney on 4. 8. 6) AV. KS. TB. Followed in AV. by āpo divyāḥ payasvatīḥ, in KS. TB. by divyena (KS. yajñena) payasā saha; Ppp. agrees with TB. The preceding stanza ends in all: abhiṣiñcāmi varcasā; perhaps KS. TB. have altered the original under the influence of this, but the Ppp. version makes it doubtful whether the AVŚ. can contain the original form of the pāda. 'I have (the waters have) poured out upon thee' etc.

nir mā muñcāmi śapathāt LŚ. ApŚ.: muñcantu mā śapathyāt RV. AV.
VS. 'Let (the herbs) free me from the (effect) of the curse': 'I free myself from the curse.'

mama vrate te hṛdayaṁ (AG. ŚG. vrate hṛdayaṁ te) dadhāmi (SMB. MG. dadhātu) AG. ŚG. SMB. PG. MG. 'In my power I set (let him, sc. some god, set) thy heart.'   See Conc. for other, vaguer, parallels.

annādāyānnapatyāyā dadhat Kauś.: annādam annādyāyādadhe (KS. annādyāyānnapatyāyādadhe) TS. KS.: annādam agnim annapa-tyāyādadhe MS.: annādaṁ tvānnapatyāyādadhe AŚ.: agnim annā-dam annādyāyādadhe VS.   The subject in Kauś. is apparently Aditi, who is addressed in the others also; they all have 1st person verbs, of which the priestly speaker is of course the subject.

pāvamānasya tvā stomena...vīryeṇot sṛje MS.: *pāvamānena tvā stomena
...vīryeṇa devas tvā savitot sṛjatu...* (KS. vīryeṇoddharāmy asau) TS.
KS.

bṛhatā tvā rathaṁtareṇa...vīryeṇod dhare (KS. vīryeṇotsṛjāmy asau) MS.
KS.: bṛhadrathaṁtarayos tvā stomena...savitot sṛjatu... TS.

prajām asyai jaradaṣṭiṁ kṛṇotu (and, kṛṇomi) SMB. (both).   Subject of kṛṇotu is Agni.

sa pūrvyo nūtanam āvivāsat (SV. ājigīṣam) AV. SV.   Subject of the 3d person is the sun; Conc. suggests that SV. should read ājigīṣat, and this would certainly be simpler.

sam ākūtīr namāmasi (MS. anaṁsata) RVKh. AV. MS.

garbhaṁ sravantam agadam akaḥ (AŚ. akarma) TB. ApŚ. AŚ.: ukhāṁ (ApŚ. garbhaṁ) sravantīm agadām akarma (KŚ. aganma) KŚ. MŚ.
ApŚ.   Followed in next pāda by a series of names of gods, in most texts in the nominative (e.g. agnir hotā pṛthivy antarikṣam AŚ.
ApŚ.*; agnir indras tvaṣṭā bṛhaspatiḥ TB. ApŚ.*).   akaḥ is 3d sing., the subject being the following agnir (not all the following nouns collectively, as TB. comm. says).   The reading with akarma may be rendered: 'We have made whole the slipping embryo (fire-pot; or, her that drops the embryo),—(and also) Agni, Indra, etc. (have made it, or her, whole).'   Caland on ApŚ. 9. 18. 12 assumes, apparently, that akarma corruptly represents a 3d person, but this is neither necessary nor likely.

rūpād varṇaṁ (ApŚ. rūpaṁ varṇaṁ paśūnāṁ) mā nirmṛkṣat (ApŚ. °kṣam); [see §302;] followed by:

vāji tvā sapatnasāhaṁ sam mārṣṭi (ApŚ. mārjmi) ApŚ. MŚ.   After these two formulas comes the command: iti saṁmārṣṭi, in MŚ. 1. 2. 5. 7; see Knauer's note.   Knauer speaks of 'stellvertretende Spruchrecita-tion'; that is, he supposes that the formulas are recited by another priest than the one who does the cleansing. The simple command iti sammārṣṭi seems to make this improbable, and we prefer to think that it is spoken by the same priest, but that, as in so many other similar formulas, he attributes the effect to the instrument of cleansing, instead of to himself. 'It shall not wipe off' etc. So in the following, where MŚ. (altho its mss. vary, and in one case they read 1st person) seems to have regularly had a 3d person (or at least so Knauer thinks):

agne vājajid...saṁ mārjmi...VS. ŚB. TB. ApŚ. Vait.: ājiṁ tvāgne... sammārṣṭi MŚ. (two formulas, see Conc.)   In one case all MŚ. mss. agree on °mārṣṭi.

§313. As in the case of 1st and 2d persons (§306), this group is swelled by some cases in which the activity or result is, in one variant, nominally attributed to the instrumental potency rather than the speaker:

so 'mṛtatvam aśīya (VSK. aśyāt) VS. VSK. MS. ŚB. ŚŚ.   'May I (he) attain immortality.'   The subject in VSK. is apparently understood as Varuṇa.

upāṅśunā sam amṛtatvam ānaṭ (ApMB. aśyām) RV. VS. MS. KS. TA. AŚ. ApMB. MahānU.   'Thru soma it gained (may I gain) immortality.'   The original subject is ūrmir madhumān; the ApMB. has a facile and slipshod alteration.

pañca (AV. trīṇi) padāni rupo (AV. rūpo) anv aroham (AV. °hat), catuṣ-padīm anv emi (AV. aitad) vratena; akṣareṇa prati mima etām (AV. mimīte arkam), ṛtasya nābhāv adhi (AV. abhi) saṁ punāmi (AV. °ti) RV. AV.   An obscure verse in an obscure hymn, used in RV. in the havirdhāna, in AV. in the funeral rites; see Oldenberg, RV. Noten, ad 10. 13. 3.   In RV. the subject is probably the hotar (Oldenberg), at any rate the same as in the first-person verbs of the preceding verse; in AV. it is probably Yama as in the following verse.

gāyatreṇa chandasā pṛthivīm anu vi krame TS.: pṛthivyām (KS. °vīṁ) viṣṇur (MS. viṣṇuḥ pṛthivyām) vyakraṅsta gāyatreṇa chandasā VS. MS. KS. ŚB. ŚŚ.   And the same with traiṣṭubhena...antarikṣam etc., and jāgatena...divam etc.

Here would belong the following, if the TA. version were to be accepted as a 1st person form:

pra tad voced amṛtasya (VS. amṛtaṁ nu; TA. MahānU. voce amṛtaṁ nu) vidvān AV. VS. TA. MahānU.   In AV. 'may he (Gandharva), knowing of the immortal, proclaim.'   On voce see §174.   It seems that only a 3d person form can be intended here; so the TA. comm., provāca, evidently thinking of ūce, 3d sing. perfect middle.

§314. (b) We referred above (§291) to the fact that third personal forms, either plural or (less often) singular, are frequently used in a generalizing sense, equivalent to French on, German man; and to the further fact that first person plurals sometimes vary with them in this same sense (and even, once, a first person singular). In the first cases about to be presented both 1st and 3d persons seem to be generalizing or indefinite:

[yathā kalāṁ yathā śaphaṁ] yatha ṛṇaṁ saṁnayāmasi (AV. yatharṇaṁ saṁnayanti), [evā duṣvapnyaṁ sarvam āptye (AV. apriye, or dviṣate) saṁnayāmasi] RV. AV. (bis). See §291.

[yat kiṁ cedaṁ varuṇa daivye jane] abhidrohaṁ manuṣyāś carāmasi (AV. caranti) RV. AV. TS. MS. KS. 'Whatever here, O Varuṇa, men (we humans) practise that is hostile to the god-folk.' AV. is less appropriate metrically.

yāṁ (PG. yā; KS. MG. ye) tvā (PG. tāṁ) rātry (PG. MG. rātrīm) upāsate (AV. PG. upāsmahe; SMB. rātri yajāmahe) AV. TS. KS. SMB. PG. MG. Preceded by saṁvatsarasya pratimāṁ (PG. °mā). 'Thee whom, O night, we (they; both indefinite) revere as the image of the year', or the like.

Perhaps here belongs the following:

pra tve havīṅṣi juhure (KS. juhumas) samiddhe (MS. tve samiddhe juhure havīṅṣi) RV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. The form juhure (see §77) may be taken as middle with indefinite subject, 'they offer oblations in thee when kindled' (so Keith on TS.), or as passive with havīṅṣi as subject, 'oblations are offered'; much less likely as a 1st sing. with Ludwig. The KS. reading, 'we offer oblations', favors the first interpretation.

And, once at least, even singular forms are used in the same way:

taṁ tvā bhaga sarva ij johavīmi (RV. VS. °ti) RV. AV. VS. TB. ApMB. See §291.

§315. The rest are generalizing only in the 3d person form, while the 1st person (always singular) is perfectly definite. In the first couple of variants the indefinite 3d person is singular, in all the rest plural:

tāṅ ādityāṅ anu madā (MS. madāt) svastaye RV. MS. If madā is 1st singular subjunctive: 'I will (one shall) revel (? revel thou) to the Ādityas unto welfare.' But MS. p.p. reads mada (2d sing. impv.), 'revel thou', which would make this variant belong in §307, or §261, according as RV. madā be taken as 1st or 2d person.

[yadi jāgrad yadi svapann] ena enasyo 'karam, [bhūtaṁ mā tasmād bhavyaṁ ca drupadād iva muñcatām] AV.: [yadi divā yadi naktam] ena enasyo

'karat, [bhūtaṁ...muñcatu] (so read with Poona ed.) TB. 'If waking or sleeping I, sinful, have committed sin (if by night or day a sinful person has committed sin), may what has been and what is to be free me from that as from a log.' TB. comm. kṛtavān asmi for akarat! Note also mā in TB.; there is no doubt that TB. like AV. really means to refer to the speaker's own sin. But by a touch of sly squeamishness the TB. dodges the incriminating first-personal verb, and speaks of himself as if he didn't know who was meant, 'some one or other'!

yat tvā (KS. te) kruddhaḥ parovapa (KS. ms. °vāpa, 3d person, which may be kept!; AV. kruddhāḥ pracakruḥ) AV. TS. MS. KS. ApŚ. MŚ.
'If I, angry (if an angry man, or angry men) have thrown thee out.'

na vi jānāmi (AB. jānanti) yatarat (AV. °rā) parastāt AV. AB. JB. 'I (they = people in general) do not know which is superior.' (In AV. different context from the others.)

apām rasam udayaṅsam (TA. °san) KS. TA. Comm. on TA. sarve lokā udgatāḥ.

prākto apācīm anayaṁ tad enām AV.: prācīm avācīm ava yann ariṣṭyai TA. The 3d plural of TA. can only be indefinite; comm. vayam avaimo jānīmaḥ!

vacāṁsy āsā (SV. asmai) sthavirāya takṣam (SV. takṣuḥ) RV. SV. 'I (they) have fashioned songs for the mighty (Indra) before his face (or, for this mighty one).'

atrā te rūpam uttamam apaśyam (VSK. °yan) RV. VS. VSK. TS. KSA.
'Here I (they = people) have beheld thy highest form.' To the sacrificial horse in YV. In the stanza before this:

śiro apaśyaṁ (VSK. °yan) pathibhiḥ sugebhiḥ, same texts.—But the VSK. reading is suspicious here, since if Weber's ed. can be trusted, it reads 1st person ajānām like all the others in the first pāda of the same stanza. Furthermore Weber records no variant for VSK. on apaśyam in the preceding, precisely similar stanza (atrā te bhadrā raśanā apaśyam).

yam tvā somenātītṛpāma (TS. °pam; MŚ. °pan) VS. VSK. TS. ŚB. MŚ.
And, in same stanza:

yam tvā somenāmīmadam (MŚ. °dan) TS. MŚ.

ghṛtaṁ mimikṣe (TA. °kṣire) ghṛtam asya yoniḥ RV. VS. TA. MahānU.

sam u vāṁ (vo) yajñaṁ mahayaṁ (°yan) namobhiḥ RV. (both). Grass-mann, 'man schmücket' for mahayan.

apo devīr (VS. ŚB. devā) madhumatīr agṛbhṇām (TS. ApŚ. agṛhṇan, VS.
ŚB. agṛbhṇan) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. ApŚ. 'I (they) have taken the sweet divine waters'; the subject is indefinite in TS. ApŚ.; in VS. ŚB. it is made definite, 'the gods have taken the sweet waters.'

indrasya tvā jaṭhare sādayāmi (AŚ. dadhāmi). . . VSK. KB. GB. AŚ. ŚŚ. LŚ. ApŚ. Kauś: brahmaṇa indrasya tvā (Conc. omits tvā) jaṭhare dadhuḥ MŚ. As one eats (prāśnāti), he says: 'I place (they, indef., have placed) thee in the belly of (Brahman, of) Indra.' The parallel formulas are all 1st singular even in MŚ., and this is certainly an easier reading; one wonders how the 3d plural indefinite crept in to MŚ.

rathaṁ na dhīraḥ svapā atakṣam (RV.* atakṣiṣuḥ) RV. (both) TB. The 3d plural is of substantially the same character as the preceding, even tho a subject (āyavaḥ) is here expressed in the preceding pāda. The first person has priority; see RVRep. 133f.

§316. (c) In a number of cases first and third person forms are used referring, in one way or another, to the same individual as subject. Some of these remind us of the subdivision (b) under First and Second Person variants (§307), in that the subject is both times an associate in the ritual performance, a priest or the yajamāna, who either speaks or is indirectly referred to, as:

snuṣā sapatnā (TB. comm. and Poona ed. text, °nāḥ) śvaśuro 'yam astu (AŚ. 'ham asmi) TB. AŚ. See §116. The subject is the yajamāna both times.

sarve vrātā varuṇasyābhūvan (MS. °bhūma) TS. MS. KS. TB. Spoken by the yajamāna at the rājasūya. 'They (we) all have become the hosts of Varuṇa.' In either case the associates of the yajamāna are meant.

havante vājasātaye RV.: huvema vā° RV. SV. MS. KS.: huveya vā° RV. AV. The contexts are different (see RVRep. 255f.), but the variant may properly be classified here, since in the 3d person form the subject, janāsaḥ or kanvāḥ, is really identical with the speaker and his associates.

§317. Again, there are cases reminding us of subdivision (c) under First and Second Persons (§308), in that the change is conditioned by the fact that the same person speaks himself in one variant, while in the other he is spoken of:

anuvatsarīyodvatsarīye svastim āśāse MŚ. (spoken by the yajamāna): anuvatsarīṇām svastim āśāste TB. ApŚ. (said of the yajamāna by the hotar). The same with parivatsarīṇām etc., saṁvatsarīṇām etc.

§318. As will be seen from this illustration the dividing line between these different types is not clear. The majority of the variants in this subdivision are perhaps best described by saying that in one form a statement is couched in more or less general terms, the subject being not clearly identified with the speaker, while in the other (with first person) this identification is definitely made. In a way, therefore, these cases resemble those listed under the preceding sub-section, §315. The difference, which is not by any means sharp or clear, is that in the cases listed here the subject of the third person form is not so indefinite as in those mentioned above; it could not be rendered by German man or French on, since in fact a subject is expressed, or at least very clearly understood. But this subject is clearly identified with the speaker only in the first-person form of the variant. Thus:

sinanti pākam ati (ŚŚ.† adhi) dhīra eti (ŚŚ. emi) AŚ. ApŚ. ŚŚ.; followed in the first two by:

ṛtasya panthām anv emi (ApŚ. eti) hotā AŚ. ApŚ. 'They (fetters) bind the simple, the wise passes over them (I, being wise, pass etc.); along the path of holy order goes (I go as) the hotar.' Spoken by the hotar.

āchettā te (vo) mā riṣam (KS riṣat; MS. mārṣam) TS. MS. KS. TB. ApŚ.
   MŚ. 'Let (me) your cutter not suffer harm.' Even in the 3d person form the subject is really identical with the speaker.

yad devayantam avathaḥ śacībhiḥ, pari ghraṅsam omanā vām (TB. parighraṅsa vāṁ manā vām) vayo gāt (TB. gām) RV.MS. TB. N. 'When you (Aśvins) aid the pious man mightily, then he (I) shall go to refreshment, passing over heat by your aid', or the like. TB. is badly corrupted, and the comm.'s explanations are mostly worthless, but his gachatu for gām is at least interesting, and not far wrong. The speaker identifies himself with the 'pious man'; as to gām TB., while undoubtedly secondary, need not be considered corrupt.

yaṁ sarve 'nujīvāma TS.: yaṁ bahavo 'nujīvān MS.: yaṁ bahava upajī-vanti AŚ. 'On whom many (we all) may depend.'

tiro (RV. VS. ŚB. AG. antar) mṛtyuṁ dadhatām (TA. ApŚ.* dadhmahe) parvatena RV. AV. VS. ŚB. TA. ApŚ. (bis) AG. ApMB. 'Let them block (hide, or remove; or, 'we hide') death by a mountain.' After the funeral, the living are separated from the dead by a barrier;
   the subject of dadhatām is 'the living'.

§319. If the first-person form is textually sound, the following belongs here; the verb occurs in a relative clause, in one form of which the subject is identified with the speaker, and the verb put in the first person; presumably even the other form really refers to the speaker or his associates:

mā yaḥ somam imaṁ pibāt (KŚ. pibā; KS. somaṁ pibād imam) KS. TB.
KŚ. ApŚ. See §331.

§320. Once a speaker is represented as quoting some one else's words about himself; in the included quotation the subject of the verb, referring to the speaker of the main clause, should logically be third person, but in just half the texts it is made first person, by a natural laxity:

abhy aṣṭhāṁ (MS. MŚ. asthām; TS. KS. ApŚ. asthād) viśvāḥ pṛtanā arātīḥ AV. TS. MS. KS. MŚ. ApŚ. 'I have (he has, referring to the speaker) conquered all battles and hostilities' [thus spake Agni, etc., sc. of me].

§321. In a way the converse of this is found in the next variant, in which in one out of three texts the speaker is made to refer to himself in the third person, because the poet thinks of him in the third person:

upamaṅkṣyati syā (ŚŚ. upamaṅkṣye 'haṁ; AB. nimaṅkṣye 'haṁ) salilasya madhye AB. ŚB. ŚŚ. 'I shall (she, the earth, will) plunge into the middle of the ocean.' The earth is the speaker.

§322. In a still more strange passage both forms refer to the same subject, so far as we can see, which ought to be first person; no justification for the third person is apparent:

prajāpateḥ prajā abhūma (KS. abhūvan) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB. Preceded or followed in all by: svar devā (TS. TB. devāṅ) aganma (MS. agāma); and, amṛtā abhūma. 'We have gone to heaven as gods (or, to the gods); we (KS. they) have become creatures of Prajāpati; we have become immortal.' In KS, as in most texts, this is the order, with first-person expressions flanking the variant formula on either side. Unless 'the gods' is felt as the subject in KS, which seems unlikely, we cannot explain the 3d person.

§323. (d) The remaining cases concern miscellaneous changes of subject, either in the same context (in about half the cases, those which are listed first), or conditioned by a change of context; a few definite ūhas or vikāras are included towards the end; and the section concludes with a few corruptions or errors. First, change of subject in what remains essentially the same context:

viśvāvasuṁ namasā gīrbhir īḍe (ApMB. īṭṭe) RV. ApMB. 'I worship (she, the bride, worships) Viśvāvasu with homage and songs.' The gandharva Viśvāvasu is banished from the bride. All mss. of ApMB. agree, see Winternitz, Introduction, p. xix.

dīrghāyutvāya jaradaṣṭir asmi (MG. astu) PG. MG. In MG. jaradaṣṭir is understood as a tatpuruṣa, while in PG. it is a bahuvrīhi; both mean the same thing: 'I am one that attains old age unto long life,' or, 'let there be (for me) attainment of old age' etc.

abhūn mama (KS. nu naḥ; MS. bhūyāsma te) sumatau viśvavedāḥ (MS.† °daḥ; so text intends with its reading °dā, followed by initial vowel) TS. MS. KS. PG.   'Viśvavedas is in good-will towards me (us)', or, 'may we be in thy good-will, O Viśvavedas.'
nahi te nāma jagrāha AV.: nahy asyā (ApMB. asyai) nāma gṛbhṇāmi RV. ApMB.   See Whitney on AV. 3. 18. 3. vandadvārā vandamānā vivaṣṭu SV.: vande dāruṁ (read vandārur, or vandār-vā?) vandamāno vivakmi RV.   See Bloomfield, Johns Hop- kins Circulars, 1906, p. 1062; Ludwig, 4. 367; Oldenberg, RVNoten, on 7. 6. 1.
apaḥ prerayaṁ (SV. prairayat, TB. prairayan) sagarasya budhnāt RV.
  SV. TB.   Preceded in all by: indrāya giro aniśitasargāḥ.   Only the RV. version is really sensible; the others are careless distortions.
  Benfey is forced to take the preceding pāda as a separate sentence, making Indra the subject of prairayat.   TB. comm. gives giro as the subject and apaḥ as the object of prairayan.   Cf. §138.
yad ahnāt (and, rātriyāt) kurute pāpam TAA. (followed by: tad ahnāt, or rātriyāt, pratimucyate): yad ahnā (and, rātryā) pāpam akārṣam TA. MahānU.   The form kurute is evidently felt as passive:
  'What sin is done (I have done) by day', etc.
o cit sakhāyaṁ sakhyā vavṛtyām RV. AV. (Yamī speaks to Yama): ā tvā sakhāyaḥ sakhyā vavṛtyuḥ SV. (unintelligent revamping of the same pāda; Benfey, 'dich möchten Freunde zu Freundschaft gewinnen'.)
havyā te svadantām (MS. svadan, and once svadam; KS. asvadan) VS. TS.
  MS. ŚB.   'Let thy oblations taste sweet' or the like.   If svadam is right, it must be transitive, 'I have enjoyed thy oblations.'   But probably svadan should be read.

§324.   In some of the above it will be noticed that number as well as person varies in one form of the variant.   Likewise the now following list of variants, in which change of subject is conditioned by a change of context, contains cases with change of both person and number.

[apa dveṣo apa hvaro] 'nyavratasya (TA. anyad vratasya) saścima (RV. saścire; TA. saścimaḥ, but read °ma with Poona ed.) RV. VS. MS.
  ŚB. TA.   In a different context in RV. from the others. āyuṣmāṅ (°mān, °māñ) jaradaṣṭir yathāsat (RVKh. VS. °sam; AV. also °sāni) AV. (both) RVKh. VS. AG. PG. ApMB.   Used in no less than four different stanzas; two in AV., one in RVKh. VS., and one in the GS. texts.
yatra devaiḥ sadhamādaṁ madema (AV. madanti) AV. MS. TB.   In three different contexts; no two alike. But AV. comm. reads madema.

ariṣṭāṁ tvā saha patyā dadhāmi (ApMB. kṛṇomi) RV. ApMB.: ariṣṭāṁ mā saha patyā dadhātu KŚ. MŚ. MG.: ariṣṭāhaṁ saha patyā bhūyāsam VS. Similar stanzas, but extensively recast. 'I set thee (let him set me; may I be) uninjured with thy (my) husband.' In the last two forms the woman speaks.

saṁjānate manasā saṁ cikitre RV.: saṁjānāmahai manasā saṁ cikitvā
AV.

sarvam āyur vy ānaśe (MS. aśnavai) MS. TB. ApŚ.: viśvam āyur vy aśnavai (AV. mss. °vat) AV. VS. KS. TB.: dīrgham āyur vy aśnavai PG. The vulgate text of AV. emends to °vam, unnecessarily; subject is sabhā. The context is different from the rest.

Deliberate ūhas or vikāras:

ayaṁ (AŚ. aham*) śatrūn jayatu (AŚ.* jayāmi) jarhṛṣāṇaḥ (AŚ.* †jar-(AŚ. jayāmi) vājasātau VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB. AŚ. (bis).

In AŚ. 2. 11. 8c we have a vikāra of the other passage.

divyaṁ dhāmāśāste (and, ūha, āśāse) ŚB. TB. AŚ. ŚŚ. ApŚ.

adṛśan (and, apaśyaṁ) tvāvarohantam NīlarU. (both). The first is a vikāra of the other.

taṁ tvā parameṣṭhin pari rohita (pary agnir, pary aham)...dadhātu (da-dhāmi) AV. 13. 1. 17d. 18d, 19d.

jyotiṣe tantava āśiṣam āśāse (KS. 7. 2 °ste) KS. 7. 2, 9 (so, correct Conc.)
If these are the correct readings, we have another case of ūha.
But the sole ms. used by the ed. for 7.2 reads āśāste also in 7.9; if corrupt in one passage, it is likely to be corrupt in the other too.
The better reading seems to be āśāse; probably read so both times, with ms. D on 7.9 and KapS. (see editor's note).

gamat sa (gamema; sa gantā) gomati vraje RV. (all).

jyok paśyema (RV. also paśyāt, and paśyema nu, omitting jyok) sūryam uccarantam RV. (all) AV.

§325. Corruptions or errors:

idaṁ vāṁ tena prīṇāmi ŚŚ.: etad vāṁ tena prīṇāti TB. ApŚ. So Conc., and so Garbe reads in ApŚ. But TB. (both edd.) has prīṇāni, and this is to be read also in ApŚ., see Caland on 2. 20. 6, note 2.

vājino me yajñaṁ vahān (MŚ. text vahāni, followed by iti; probably read vahān with v. l.) MS. KS. MŚ.

rāyas poṣāyotsṛje (MS. erroneously °jet) MS. MŚ.

tāṁ te vācam āsya ādatte (read ādade)...PG. 3. 13. 6 (see Stenzler's critical note): ā te vācam āsyā (āsyāṁ) dade HG. ApMB.

sthāmny aśvāṅ atiṣṭhipam AV.: sthāmni vṛkkāv atiṣṭhipan AV. vulgate, misprint for °pam, see Whitney on 7. 96. 1.
Under: prāṇena vācā manasā bibharmi, Conc. quotes TB. 2. 5. 8. 7 as reading bibharti; this is an error; there is no variant.

4. Variants between Second and Third Person

§326. These are much more numerous than those between first and either second or third person. Nor are they by any means lacking in interest. But little comment is needed on most of them. The great majority are simply cases in which the same subject is alternatively addressed in second person or indirectly referred to in third; and the most interesting feature of this large class is that sometimes one or the other form is inconsistent with its context. This inconsistency may be of two kinds: either the subject of the second person may be a nominative or that of the third person a vocative; or parallel expressions in the surrounding context may be of the opposite type (direct address by the side of third-personal reference) in one form. Examples of all these types have been quoted above, §293f.; they will form the basis of the following classification. We shall conclude with the smaller, but still not inconsiderable, number of cases in which the change of person is associated with a real change of subject, either in the same context, or owing to the use of the phrase in a different context.

§327. (a) First, then, variations between direct address and third-personal indirect reference to the same subject, in which there is no inconsistency with the context in either variant. The subject, if expressed, is nominative with the 3d person and vocative with the 2d; and if there are parallel expressions associated, they present no inconsistencies.
In not a few instances, as we shall presently see, a whole stanza, containing several parallel verbs, is recast, each verb being changed from 2d to 3d person or vice versa.

§328. Attention must first be called to the little group of cases in which Soma is referred to in the 3d person in RV., but directly addressed in the 2d person in a repetition in SV.; see §295, and for cases in which the context is inconsistent, §334.

agre sindhūnāṁ pavamāno arṣati (SV. °si), agre vāco agriyo goṣu gachati (SV. °si), agre vājasya bhajate mahādhanam (SV. °se mahad dhanam), svāyudhaḥ sotṛbhiḥ pūyate vṛṣā (SV. °bhiḥ soma sūyase) RV. SV.
 Here an entire stanza is recast; note that the nominative subject of
 RV. becomes a vocative in SV.
[ayā somaḥ (SV. soma) sukṛtyayā,] mahaś cid abhy avardhata (SV. ma- hān̐t sann abhy avardhathāḥ), mandāna ud (SV. id) vṛṣāyate (SV. °se) RV. SV.

te no dhāntu (SV. dhatta) suvīryam RV. SV. There is no expressed subject, nor other finite verb, in the stanza; Soma is understood as subject.

pavitre pari ṣicyate (SV. °se), krandan devān̐ ajījanat (SV. ʿ*naḥ*) RV. SV. The (unexpressed) subject is Soma.

pavamāno vy aśnavat (SV. °na vy aśnuhi) RV. SV.

nadayann eti (SV. eṣi) pṛthivīm uta dyām; and, in same stanza: pracetayann arṣati (SV. pracodayann arṣasi) vācam emām RV. SV. In this and the rest the unexpressed subject is Soma.

vājān̐ abhi pra gāhate (SV. °se) RV. SV.

hariḥ san yonim āsadat (SV. °daḥ) RV. SV.

§329. The rest are miscellaneous, and need no subdivision. At the beginning of the list are placed a number of instances of entire stanzas, or series of formulas, varying in this way:

navo-navo bhavati (AV. JUB. °si) jāyamānaḥ, ahnāṁ ketur uṣasām ety (AV.† eṣy) agram (TS. agre), bhāgaṁ devebhyo vidadhāty (AV. °sy) āyan, pra candramās tirate (TS. °ti; AV.† °mas tirase) dīrgham āyuḥ RV. AV. TS. MS. KS. N.; the first pāda also TB. AŚ. HG. BDh. JUB. VHDh.

ihi (AV. etu) tisraḥ parāvataḥ, ihi (AV. etu) pañca janān̐ ati, ihi (AV. etu) tisro 'ti rocanāḥ (AV. °nā, despite gender of tisro!) RV. (first two pādas only) AV. TB. ApŚ. Address to, or said of, a rival.

ye rātrim (KS. °īm) anutiṣṭhanti (KS.† °atha), ye ca bhūteṣu jāgrati (KS. °gṛtha), paśūn ye sarvān rakṣanti (KS. °atha), te na ātmasu jāgrati (KS.† jāgṛta) AV. KS.

amoci (AV. amukthā) yakṣmād duritād avartyai (AV. avadyāt), druhaḥ pāśān nirṛtyai codamoci (AV. pāśād grāhyāś codamukthāḥ), ahā avartim (AV. arātim) avidat (AV. °daḥ) syonam, apy abhūd (AV. abhūr) bhadre sukṛtasya loke AV. TB. ApMB. The two verse-halves are secondarily separated in AV. but obviously belong together, see Whitney on AV. 2. 10. 2. The verb ahā(s) may be either 2d or 3d person, and this ambiguity may be responsible for the alteration in the others. Probably AV. with its second persons is secondary (ahās seemed to call for them!), for Ppp. has all verbs in the same form as TB. ApMB. (Barret, JAOS. 30. 193).

yad asarpat (KS. °pas) tat sarpir abhavat (KS. °vaḥ, MS. omits); yan navam ait (KS. ais) tan navanītam abhavat (KS. °vaḥ); yad aghriyata (KS. °thās, TS. adhriyata) tad ghṛtam abhavat (KS. °vaḥ, MS. omits) TS. MS. KS. The butter is referred to or addrest.

hato (SV. TB. hatho) vṛtrāṇy āryā (AV. TB. aprati) RV. AV. SV. TB.: followed in RV. SV. by:

hato (SV. hatho) dāsāni satpatī, hato (SV. hatho) viśvā apa dviṣaḥ RV. SV.
In SV. the entire stanza is changed to a direct address. The first pāda is used in AV. TB. in a different stanza, addressed however to the same gods (Indra and Agni), who are directly addressed in the 2d person; as Whitney remarks, only hatho (as in TB.) is construable; yet all AV. mss., followed by both edd., read hato. This AV. reading belongs to §332 below. It seems clear that it is a very ancient perversion, due to recollection of the Rigvedic form of the pāda.

pitṝn yakṣad (TS. yakṣy) ṛtāvṛdhaḥ; preceded by, yo agniḥ (TS. yad agne) kavyavāhanaḥ (TS. °na; RV. kravya°), and followed by:

agnir me hotā sa mopahvayatām SB.: agne gṛhapata upa mā hvayasva KS. ApŚ. MŚ.: agnaya upāhvayadhvam Vait.

agnināgniḥ saṁvadatām TA.: agne agninā saṁvadasva TA. ApŚ.

iha rama MS. AB. AŚ. ApŚ.: iha ramaḥ† HG. 1. 12. 2 (not rama; construe as noun): iha ramatām VS. ŚB. HG. Used in various connexions, but in VS. and MS. in precisely the same set of formulas.
The immediately preceding formula in both is addressed to gods, referring (in 3d person) to the sacrificial horse; but just before this the horse is directly addressed in a series of formulas; hence it is easy for MS. to address iha rama directly to the horse; no harshness is felt. VS., however, is equally natural in referring to the horse in the third person; the prayer in iha ramatām may quite as well be addressed to the gods just mentioned. Mahīdhara, however, thinks the horse must be addressed, and supplies bhavān with ramatām.— There seems to be nothing inconsistent with the person in the other texts.

dyām (VSK. divam) agreṇāspṛkṣa āntarikṣaṁ madhyenāprāḥ pṛthivīm upareṇādṛṁhīḥ VS. VSK. (for which read in Conc. °āspṛkṣaḥ) KS.
ŚB. (addrest in all to the yūpa); devo vanaspatir (sc. yūpo) varṣaprāvā ghṛtanirṇig dyām agreṇāspṛkṣad āntarikṣaṁ madhyenāprā, pṛthivīm upareṇādṛṁhīt MS. KS. TB. Note that aprās may be either 2d or 3d person, and that KS. has both forms of the variant.

uṣo dadṛkṣe (PB. ūṣā, read uṣā, dadṛśe) na punar yatīva RV. PB.

śivena mā (ApMB. tvā) cakṣuṣā paśyatāpaḥ (ApMḄ. paśyantv āpaḥ), stego na kṣām aty eti pṛthvīm (AV. eṣi pṛthivīm) RV. AV.   In a riddle-some verse, the meaning of which is equally obscure in either form; there is nothing inconsistent with either person in the context.

svargeṇa lokena samprorṇuvāthām Vait.; svarge (TS. TB. suvarge) loke prorṇuvāthām (TS. KSA.† TB. sampror°; VSK. TS. TB. °rṇvā°; MS.
    °tām) VS. VSK. TS. KSA. MS. TB. ŚB.   Addrest to (in MS. said of) the queen and the horse in the aśvamedha.

ghṛtena (Kauś. vapayā) dyāvāpṛthivī prorṇuvāthām (VS. TS. ApŚ. prorṇvātham; MS. MŚ. prorṇuvātām) VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.
    ApŚ. MŚ. Kauś.   The subject, dyāvāpṛthivī, is nom. in MS. MŚ.

sam arīr (MS. KS. arir) vidām (KS. vidaḥ) VS. MS. KS. ŚB.   The formula is obscure; see Eggeling on ŚB. 3. 9. 4. 21.   No basis for preference as to person.

    MŚ. °ta), and: ity amuṁ saṁgrāmam ahan (MŚ. ajayathāḥ, ŚB. ajayat), same texts.   [I question the quotation from MŚ. 9. 2. 2 ayudhyata, since it is inconsistent with all the others; it was furnisht by Knauer from mss. for the Conc., and has not been published even yet.   F. E.]

idaṁ vātena sagareṇa rakṣa (MS. rakṣatu) TS. MS. KS. AŚ.   Subject in prec. pāda, indra (MS. indraḥ) stomena. . .Note that indra before st- might be understood as = indraḥ.   The MS. makes this single pāda (in a triṣṭubh verse) jagatī, and is clearly secondary.

devā deveṣu śrayantām (TB. śrayadhvam), prathamā dvitīyeṣu śrayantām madhumatībhiḥ pṛcyantām VS. VSK. ŚB. ŚŚ.: saṁ revatīr jagatī- bhir madhumatīr madhumatībhiḥ sṛjyadhvam TS. TB.   The adjectives are noms. even in TS. TB., but no noun subject is exprest, so that this cannot be called a syntactic inconsistency.

yadā prāṇo abhyavarṣīt AV.: yadā tvam abhivarṣasi PraśU.   tvam refers to prāṇa; the stanza is identical.

kāmaṁ duhātām iha śakvarībhiḥ AV.: rāṣṭram duhāthām iha revatībhiḥ TB.
 The subject, dyāvāpṛthivī, is nom. in AV., despite which most of its mss. read duhāthām (but Ppp. °tām).   In TB. it is made voc.

aśvināv eha gachatam RV. AB. AŚ. ŚŚ.: ...gachatām (TS. TB. °tam, in the same stanza) RV. TS. TB. N. The subject is nom. with 3d person, voc. with 2d.

asmabhyaṁ citraṁ vṛṣaṇaṁ rayiṁ dāḥ RV. SV. MS. TB.: ...dāt (but so only p.p. in MS., its saṁhitā mss. dāḥ!) MS. TB. Indra is the subject in both, but the stanzas are otherwise different; in the first direct address, in the second indirect reference. The saṁhitā mss. of MS. were influenced by recollection of the other form of the pāda.

kṣeme tiṣṭhāti (ŚG. tiṣṭha, PG. tiṣṭhatu, HG. tiṣṭhati) ghṛtam ukṣamāṇā AV. ŚG. PG. HG. The subject is a house (śālā), which is directly addressed in the sequel even in AV. Nevertheless the 3d person is logical and natural, since the house is indirectly referred to in the preceding.

(pṛṣṭhena dyāvāpṛthivī (MS. adds āpṛṇa)] antarikṣaṁ ca vi bādhase (MS. bādhasva, TS. bādhatām) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. See §116. Addressed to, or said of, one of the altar-bricks. The preceding contains an address to Indra-Agni; the sudden shift to a direct address to the brick may have seemed harsh to the redactor of TS., hence his (evidently secondary) change to third person.

āsmāsu nṛmṇaṁ dhāt MS. TA. ŚŚ.: asmāsu nṛmṇaṁ dhāḥ KB. Same context, but KB's version is fragmentary; it contains nothing inconsistent with the 2d person.

svāttaṁ cit sadevaṁ havyam āpo devīḥ svadatainam TS. ApŚ.: svāttaṁ sad dhavir āpo devīḥ svadantu MS.: āpo devīḥ svadantu (VSK. sad°) svāttaṁ cit sad devahaviḥ VS. VSK. ŚB. Subject āpo devīḥ, voc. or nom.

The KŚ. reading, with voc. subject and 3d person verb, belongs in the next subdivision, but is doubtless corrupt; read probably dīkṣen in KŚ. Cf. however Keith's AA. 237, note.

(indraḥ, SV. indra...) kratuṁ punīta (SV. °ṣa) ukthyam RV. SV.

uṣṇena vāya udakenehi (SMB. GG. udakenaidhi, ApMB. vāyav udakenehi, MG. vāyur udakenet) AV. AG. SMB. GG. PG. ApMB. MG. On the very dubious form of MG. see §136.

apātām aśvinā gharmam VS. ŚB. ŚŚ. LŚ.: gharmam apātam aśvinā (accented in MS! but not in TA.; TA. adds hārdivānam) MS.TA. ApŚ.: aśvinā gharmaṁ pātaṁ hārdvānam (MS. pibataṁ hārdrānum, TA. pātaṁ hārdivānam, LŚ. pātam aharvyānam) VS. MS. ŚB. TA. ŚŚ. LŚ. ApŚ. (in the last aśvinā is voc. in all; this precedes the other form of the variant in all). The MS. form of the first-quoted formula is inconsistent (if not corrupt) and belongs in the next subdivision.

devāṅ ā sādayād (TB. ApŚ. °yā) iha RV. VS. KS. TB. ApŚ. Agni is the subject in both, but the contexts are otherwise different.

nṛmṇā punāno arṣasi RV. SV.: nṛmṇā vasāno (SV. punāno) arṣati RV. SV. Subject is Soma Pavamāna both times. Contrast §328.

with yathā vāyur..., yathādityo... Subject is ūrmiḥ (waters offered to the manes), either directly addressed or indirectly referred to.

viśvedevāso adhi vocatā naḥ (TS. me) RV. TS.: viśve devā abhi rakṣantu (KS. anu tiṣṭhantu) meha AV. KS.† 'O All-gods, bless us (me)', or 'let the All-gods protect (attend) us.' The All-gods are not otherwise mentioned in the stanza; nevertheless the direct address to them seems rather harsh; hence, no doubt, the change to 3d person in AV. KS.; and hence, perhaps, Keith's presumably accidental translation (of TS. 4. 7. 14. 2d) as 3d person ('may the all-gods befriend me'; 'befriend' is not a happy rendering of adhi-vocatā).

vy antarikṣam atiraḥ RV. AV.: ...atirat RV. AV. SV. AB. GB. AŚ. Vait. Subject is Indra; in different stanzas, both consistent.

śyeno na vaṅsu śīdati RV. SV.: śyeno na vikṣu śīdati RV. SV.: śyeno na vaṅsu kalaśeṣu śīdasi RV. Soma Pavamāna is the subject in all.

yajña pratitiṣṭha sumatau suśevāḥ TB. ApŚ.: yajñaḥ praty u ṣṭhāt sumatau matīnām MŚ. See §158.

mātevāsmā adite śarma yacha (ŚG. aditiḥ śarma yaṅsat) AV. TS. MS. KS. TB. TA. ŚG. ApMB.

sahāvaitu jarāyuṇā ŚB. BṛhU.: saha jarāyuṇāva sarpatu (ApMB. oyuṇā niṣkramya) HG. ApMB.: sahāvehi jarāyuṇā RV.: sākaṁ jarāyuṇā pata AV. The contexts are all similar, and each is internally consistent.

indriyaṁ me vīryaṁ mā nir vadhīḥ (MŚ. vadhiṣṭa) TS. MŚ. The subject is soma in either case. The variant belongs here if vadhīḥ is 2d person as assumed by Keith on TS. 3. 1. 8. 3; but since MŚ. has a 3d person, vadhīḥ may also be 3d person as assumed by Caland and Henry, L'Agniṣṭoma 153 (Keith's objection, l. c., is not valid).

yathāvaśaṁ tanvaṁ (AV. ovaḥ) kalpayāti (RV. oyasva) RV. AV. VS. Context contains svarāḍ, nom. (in apposition to subject), even in RV.; this is doubtless responsible for the lectio facilior of AV. VS.; no subject is formally expressed in RV.

vājino vājajito vājaṁ sariṣyanto (TS. ApŚ. add, vājaṁ jeṣyanto) bṛhaspater bhāgam avajighrata VS. TS. ŚB. ApŚ.: vājinau vājajitau vājaṁ jitvā bṛhaspater bhāgam avajighratam (KS. otām) MS. KS. MŚ. The same noun forms, alternatively taken as noms. or vocs. So also in next.

vājino vājajito vājaṁ sasṛvāṁso (KS. jigīvāṁso; TS. sasṛvāṁso vājaṁ jigīvāṁso) bṛhaspater bhāgam avajighrata ni mṛjānāḥ (KS. *bhāge ni singular subject in SV.

asme dhārayatam (MŚ. °tām) rayim RV. MŚ.: asmai dhārayataṁ rayim AV.   Subject agniṣomā, originally voc., felt as nom. in MŚ.

ṛtunā somaṁ pibatam (KS. °tu, MŚ.† °tām) KS. MŚ. ApŚ.   Subject Aśvins in ApŚ. MŚ. (nom. or voc.); in KS. a priest.

mā mā hāsīn (MŚ. hāsīr) nāthito net (MŚ. na) tvā jahāmi (KS. °ni) AV.
    KS. MŚ.: mā no hāsīn metthito net tvā jahāma TB. ApŚ.: mā no hiṁsīd dhiṁsito na tvā jahāmi AŚ.   The subject, in prec., is nom. in all; but the rest of the verse, including the latter part of this variant (note tvā), is thrown into a direct address in 2d person, and MŚ. assimilates its hāsīs to this, instead of hāsīt.   Neither form can therefore be called inconsistent with the context.

asau yaja AŚ.: asau yajate . . . LŚ.

bhuvad viśvam abhy ādevam ojasā RV.: bhuvo viśvam abhy adevam ojasā SV.   Subject is Indra.   Preceded by direct address in 2d person, but followed by reference in 3d person; thus neither form is inconsistent with surroundings.

aśvinā bhiṣajāvataḥ (MS. °tam; TB.† °ta) VS. MS. TB.   See §116.

yā (AV. TS. yāv) ātmanvad bibhṛto (KS.† °tho; AV. viṣatho) yau ca rakṣataḥ (KS.† AV. °thaḥ) AV. TS. MS. KS.   Followed in same texts by:

yau viśvasya paribhū (KS. viśvasyādhipā) babhūvathuḥ (TS.† °tuḥ).
    These are pādas b and c of a verse in which the subjects, Vāyu and Savitar, are in all texts referred to in 3d person in a, and directly addrest in d.   Therefore no text is completely consistent in the verse; and the variant pādas are in every case consistent with a part of the context.

śuddhāḥ pūtā bhavata (TA. °tha, MG. °ntu) yajñiyāsaḥ RV. TA. MG.
    Also in pāda a MG. recasts the expression to make the verb 3d person instead of 2d; it is internally consistent, altho secondary and poor.

imaṁ no yajñaṁ vihave juṣasva (AV. śṛṇotu) RVKh. AV. TS. KS. TB.

The AV. is consistent with the prec. half verse (3d person); the others, with the following pāda (direct address in all). Subject Indra.

rāyas poṣaṁ (KS. tvaṣṭaḥ poṣāya) vi ṣyatu (AV. MS. KS. vi ṣya) nābhim asme (AV. asya) AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. TB. ApŚ. The subject, Tvaṣṭar, is nom. with 3d person, voc. with 2d. On the dual form of the variant (viṣyatām) see §368.

§330. With accompanying change in number:

prathamam artiṁ yuyotu naḥ MG.: pra sa (read su) mṛtyum yuyotana HG.: pra sumartyaṁ (ApMB. su mṛtyum) yuyotana SMB. ApMB. The subject is a god or gods, not clearly specified anywhere.

tena brahmāṇo vapatedam asya (ŚG. adya) AV. TB. AG. ŚG. PG. HG. ApMB.: tena brāhmaṇo vapatu MG: tenāsyāyuṣe vapa ApMB. 'By that (razor), O priests, shave his (head) here' or 'by that let the priest shave (him)', or (a kind of ūha in ApMB.) 'by that shave thou his (head) unto long life.'

tatra rayiṣṭhām anu saṁbharaitam (AŚ. saṁbhavatām, MŚ. saṁbharetām) TB. ApŚ. AŚ. MŚ. In TB. ApŚ. addrest to god Agni (2d sing.); in AŚ. MŚ. subject is two fires (3d dual).

rājānaṁ saṁgāyata (PG. °yetām) ŚG. PG. Stenzler renders PG. as a direct address, as if °gāyethām were the reading, tho he quotes no such reading. There seems to be no reason why the two lute-players should not be referred to in the 3d person: 'let them sing of the king.' In ŚG. a plurality of lute-players is directly addrest.

salakṣmā (MS. KS. °ma) yad viṣurūpā (VS. MS. KS. ŚB. °paṁ) bhavāti (MS. KS. babhūva) RV. AV. VS. MS. KS. ŚB.: viṣurūpā yat salakṣmāṇo bhavatha TS. See §104, h. In the YV. texts used of the animal victim, who is addressed in the sequel; hence the change to 2d person in TS., which is however evidently secondary.

anu ma idaṁ vrataṁ vratapatir manyatām MS.: anu me dīkṣāṁ dīkṣāpatir manyatām (KS. °patayo manyadhvam; ŚB.* °patir amaṁsta)...VS. TS. KS. GB. ŚB. (bis) Vait. See §130.

§331. There are a few variants in which a verb in a relative clause is alternatively made 3d person, because of the relative pronoun serving as subject, tho the person referred to is still directly addrest. This psychological shift is familiar in other languages:

yā tiraścī nipadyase (AŚ. ŚŚ. SMB. °te) ŚB. BṛhU. AŚ. ŚŚ. SMB. ApMB. HG. The same person is directly addrest in all: 'thou who liest (lies) down across... ya ājagma (N. °muḥ) savanemā (TS. KS. savanedaṁ; N. savanam idaṁ; VS. MS. ŚB. ya ājagmedaṁ savanam) juṣāṇāḥ AV. VS. TS. MS. KS.

ŚB. N. '(O gods) who have come' etc.; gods are directly addrest in all. Only N. makes verb 3d person, because of the relative.

yad aiṣi manasā dūram PG.: ya eti pradiśaḥ sarvāḥ ApMB. The subject is addressed in the 2d person (pronoun tvā) in the sequel even in ApMB.; the third person is due to the relative. 'Who goest (or, if thou goest) to all directions (to a distance with thy mind)' is the real meaning of both.

yā rājānā (TS. °naṁ) sarathaṁ yātha (MS. yāta) ugrā TS. MS. KS.
'(O Mitra-Varuṇa,) who go, two kings, mighty, against the (warrior) with his chariot (or, who go, mighty, against the king with his chariot)'—[do ye free us from sin].

               Possibly the following also belongs here:

mā yaḥ somam imaṁ pibāt (KŚ. pibā; KS. somaṁ pibād imam) KS. TB.
KŚ. ApŚ. See §319. The next pāda begins with s; possibly pibāḥ (if not even pibāt) is to be read in KŚ. If the text is correct, of course pibā is 1st person, not 2d.

§332. (b) There remain a number of cases of this same sort in which one form of the variant is more or less inconsistent with its own context.
Thus, first, there are cases in which third-person verbs are used altho the subject is vocative, or is referred to with second-person pronouns, pointing to direct address. These cases, naturally, tempt to emendation; but probably the temptation should usually be resisted, as it certainly should in the following verse of PG. Such third-person verbs occur no less than three times in it, and are translated by Stenzler as second-persons, altho he very properly did not venture to emend his text in view of the insistent tradition. The comm. supplies bhavantau; and this familiar classical third-personal expression for what is really a direct address is, no doubt, influential in many of these expressions in later texts. Cf. bhavati bhikṣāṁ dehi (bhavān bhikṣāṁ dadātu), §329.

yena striyam (PG. śriyam) akṛṇutam (PG. °tām; ŚŚ. striyāv akurutam), yenāpāmṛśataṁ (PG. °vamṛśatāṁ) surām, yenākṣān (ŚŚ. °kṣām, PG.
°kṣyāv) abhyasiñcatam (PG. °tām), yad vām tad aśvinā yaśaḥ, ŚŚ. PG.
SMB. The first pāda also GG. (reading as SMB.); the third also AV., reading yenākṣā abhyaṣicyanta (the dice are made the subject of the now passive verb). See §293.

Or, conversely, one form of the variant has a 2d person verb with a nominative subject, as:

tā enaṁ pravidvāṅsau śrapayatam MS.: tāv imaṁ paśuṁ śrapayatāṁ pravidvāṅsau TB.   Not only the pronoun and adjective referring to the subject in this pāda, but the noun subjects in the prec., are nom. in MS.

mā no gharma vyathito vivyadhīt (TA. vivyatho naḥ) MS. TA.: mā naḥ soma hvarito vihvarasva MŚ.   (so read, see §159); followed in same verse by:

mo ṣvatvam asmān tarādhāt (so read with p.p.) MS.: mā ṣv (Poona ed. mo ṣv) asmāṅs tamasy antar ādhāḥ TA.: mā no andhe tamasy antar ādhāt (mss. ādāt) MŚ.   In view of the voc. gharma (soma), it would appear that MS. MŚ. must understand the subject to be indefinite; but it can hardly be anything else than the gharma.   The formula is a prāyaścitta spoken upon ominous performance of the gharma or soma-offering.

adabdho gopāḥ (KS.† gopaḥ) pari pāhi nas tvam (KS. pari pātu viśvataḥ)
RV. TS. KS.: tvaṁ no gopāḥ pari pāhi viśvataḥ AV.   The subject (in prec. pāda) is agne RV. AV., agnir TS. KS.; TS. is inconsistent (2d person with subject nom.).

agnir dād (TS. dā) draviṇaṁ vīrapeśāḥ RV. TS.   The subject being agnir, TS. is inconsistent; but note the following dr-, and cf. §24.

sṛjad dhārā ava yad dānavān han SV.: sṛjo vi dhārā ava dānavaṁ han RV. N.   The subject is indra, voc., even in SV., and the prec.
parallel verbs are 2d person.

kadā sutaṁ tṛṣāṇa oka ā gamaḥ (SV. gamat) RV. SV. AV.   The subject is the voc. indra, followed by sv- and perhaps felt as nom. (for indraḥ) in SV?   Benfey baldly translates 3d person verb with voc.
subject.

devebhyo havyaṁ (MS. MŚ. MG. havyā) vahatu prajānan RV. AV.
VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB.   Vait. MŚ. Kauś. MG.: devebhyo havyaṁ vaha naḥ (Kauś. omits naḥ) prajānan TB. AŚ. ŚŚ. ApŚ.
Kauś.   There are three different contexts here, one with the second variant, and two with the first.   All are consistent with their contexts except that MŚ. alone has the form vahatu with a preceding voc. subject.

patyur janitvam abhi sam babhūtha (TA. babhūva) RV. AV. TA.   See ˆˆ32, f.   The subject is tvam, and TA. comm. glosses babhūva with a 2d person.

pitā mātariśvāchidrā padā dhāḥ (KS. AŚ. dhāt) TS. KS. AB. AŚ. 5. 9. 1.
In TS. AB. nom. subject with 2d person verb; KS. AŚ. are consistent.

vy astabhnā (VS. ŚB. aṣka°, MS. aṣka°, KS. aṣṭa°, TS. askabhnād, TA. aṣṭabhnād) rodasī viṣṇav (VS. MS. KS. viṣṇa, TS. viṣṇur) ete: followed by:

dādhartha (TS. dādhāra) pṛthivīm abhito mayūkhaiḥ RV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TA.   The prec. half verse is addrest to Heaven and Earth; hence, no doubt, TS. changes these pādas to a 3d person reference to Viṣṇu, which seems less harsh than a direct address to him.   TA. has a blend, being internally inconsistent, or at least harsh; despite the voc. subject and the 2d person verb retained in pāda d, it joins TS. in having a 3d person verb in pāda c.

tasya na iṣtasya prūtasya draviṇehāgameḥ, etc. (see § 104, u).   Here all forms of the variant are self-consistent (nom. with 3d person, voc. with 2d) except MS., which has draviṇāgamyāt; its p.p. reads drávina (accented!); is this form possibly felt as a nom. pl. neuter, with sing. verb?   The following parallel formulas in MS. have 3d person verbs with nom. subjects.

yamasya dūtaś ca vāg vidhāvati (TA. dūtaḥ śvapād vidhāvasi); followed by:

gṛdhraḥ suparṇaḥ kuṇapaṁ niṣevati (TA.† niṣevase) MS. TA.   The TA. comm. regards the gṛdhra as addrest, despite the nom. form.

[viśvasya devī mṛcayasya (ŚŚ. mṛśayasya) janmano] na yā roṣāti na gra-bhat (ŚŚ. grabhaḥ) AB. AŚ. ŚŚ.   'The goddess of the imperishable (?) kind, who shall not be angry, shall not (or, do not) seize us.'   Keith takes grabhat as part of the relative clause, which leaves no main verb in the passage; it seems better to regard grabhat as the main verb, with subject devī.   It may be that the original reading was devi (voc.), followed by grabhaḥ, and that grabhat is due to secondary form assimilation to roṣāti, whose 3d personal form is justified by the relative (cf. §331).   As it stands, ŚŚ. is inconsistent, since the only possible subject for its 2d person verb is nominative.

ajātaśatruḥ syonā no astu TS. MS. AŚ.: ajātaśatrus suhavo na edhi KS.   The subjects (a series of nouns, in the preceding) are all noms.; KS. is harsh.

hato (SV. TB. hatho) vṛtrāny āryā (AV. TB. aprati) RV. AV. SV. TB.   The AV. variant is inconsistent as between subject and person of the verb; see §329.

sa no mayobhūḥ pito (pitav) āviśasva (āviśeha; MŚ. pitur āviveśa) TS. TB.

AŚ. MŚ. ŚG. SMB. PG: sa naḥ pito madhumāṅ ā viveśa Kauś.
Voc. with 2d person verb in all but MŚ. Kauś.; in MŚ. nom. with 3d person (equally consistent); in Kauś., however, if the text is right, we have voc. with 3d person verb! See §69.

madhvā yajñaṁ nakṣati (°se) prīṇānaḥ (prai°) AV. VS. TS. MS. KS.
See § 329. KS. is inconsistent.

imau vīryaṁ (TB. rayiṁ) yajamānāya dhattām (TB. dhattam) MS. TB.
The 2d person of TB. is inconsistent with its nom. subject, aśvínā (accented). The comm. finds no difficulty in ignoring the accent and taking it as voc. But in the next pāda occurs a parallel verb rakṣatām, with the same subject. Even this does not disturb the comm., who calmly interprets it as if it were 2d person (sarvato bhayāt pālayatam). In truth, of course, it is rather dhattam which must be an error for 3d person dhattām.

śarad dhemantaḥ suvite dadhāta (MŚ. °tu) KS. MŚ.: śarad varṣāḥ suvitaṁ (ŚG. sukṛtaṁ) no astu (AV. svite no dadhāta) AV. TS. ŚG.
SMB. In AV. KS. the six season-names which precede are directly addressed in 2d person, tho they are nom. in form, not voc. Doubtless for this reason MŚ. substitutes a 3d person, and since the 3d plural would not fit metrically, makes it singular, agreeing with the nearest of the six subjects; see § 355. The other texts dodge the difficulty by making suvitaṁ the subject of a copulaic verb, astu.

deveṣu naḥ sukṛto (VSK. deveṣu mā sukṛtaṁ) brūtāt (KS. brūta; PB. MŚ. brūyāt) VSK. TS. KS. PB. MŚ.: devebhyo mā sukṛtaṁ brūtāt (ŚB. with ūha, voceḥ) VS. ŚB.: sukṛtaṁ mā deveṣu brūtāt TS. A 2d person is required, and PB. comm. reads brūtāt; probably MŚ. (in an unpublished part of the text) is likewise to be read brūtāt.

vider (VS. KS. ŚB. vided) agnir (VSK. ŚBK. agner; MS. MŚ. agne) nabho nāma VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. ŚBK. MŚ. See Keith on TS. 1. 2. 12. 1, note 2. The TS. is inconsistent (2d person verb with nom. subject). The others all rectify the syntax by one change or another.

mā no dyāvāpṛthivī hīḍiṣethām MS.: mā dyāvāpṛthivī hīḍiṣātām TA. In MS. as well as TA. dyāvāpṛthivī is nom. (accented); and the preceding parallel pāda is in the 3d person. akarat sūryavarcasam ApMB.: akṛṇoḥ sūryatvacam RV. AV. JB.: avakṛṇot sūryatvacam MG. The subject, in the preceding pāda, is indra (voc.) in all but MG.; even ApMB. 1. 1.9 reads so, despite 3d person verb, cf. Winternitz, Introduction, p. xvi. And indeed even MG., tho it makes the subject nom., indras, to agree with the 3d person verb, still retains the voc. epithet śatakrato in pāda b agreeing with it!   Only RV. AV. JB. are really grammatical.

brahma tena punīhi naḥ   (mā; punātu mā; punīmahe), idaṁ brahma punīmahe, see §302.

(abaddhaṁ mano . . .) dīkṣe mā mā hāsīḥ (KŚ. hāsīt, corrupt?) TS. KŚ.
BDh.: (adabdhaṁ cakṣur . . .) dīkṣen mā mā hāsīt . . . MŚ.   The KŚ. is inconsistent.

§333. (c) In a very large number of other cases, while there is no inconsistency between the case of the subject and the person of the verb, we note more or less inconsistency between the person of the verb and the surrounding context, in one form of the variant.   (See §294.)
That is, for instance, in a passage containing several parallel verbs with the same subject, one is suddenly shifted from 2d to 3d person, or vice versa.   Or, a 3d person verb is found when in an adjoining passage direct address to the subject is indicated by a 2d person pronoun; or the like.   The result is a more or less harsh anacolouthon.   This condition is not by any means always secondary; indeed, it happens very frequently that the anacolouthic syntax appears to characterize the older form of the variant, and a later text smoothes it out by a change of person in one verb.

§334. In half a dozen cases, however, of verbs of which Soma is the subject, and which in the RV. are third person, and occur in the context of other (parallel) third-person expressions, the SV. changes the 3d person to 2d, producing a direct address to Soma which is inconsistent with the context (cf. above §§295, 328):

adhi tripṛṣṭha uṣaso vi rājati (SV. °si) RV. SV.   The subject, soma, is spoken of in the 3d person in the preceding even in SV.

āpṛchyaṁ dharuṇaṁ vājy arṣati (SV. °si) RV. SV.   The subject, soma, is referred to in the 3d person in the prec. pāda.

punāno vāraṁ pary ety (SV. vāram aty eṣy) avyayam RV. SV. ApŚ.
The subject, soma, is referred to in 3d person in the 1st half of the same verse.

viśvā yad rūpā pariyāty (SV. °sy) ṛkvabhiḥ RV. SV.   Otherwise 3d person in the verse.

vṛthā pājāṁsi kṛṇute (SV. °ṣe) nadīṣv ā (RV.† once omits ā) RV. (bis) SV.   Otherwise 3d persons in the verse.

arṣan (SV. arṣā) mitrasya varuṇasya dharmaṇā RV. SV.   Parallel verb in the preceding is 3d person in both.

§335. In two cases, however, the reverse change takes place in SV.
in verbs of which Soma is the subject; there are special reasons for both.

vṛṣo acikradad vane SV. 2. 430b, 480b: vṛṣāva cakradad (9. 107. 22b cakrado) vane RV. 9. 7. 3b, 9. 107. 22b. In SV. 2. 430b = RV. 9. 107. 22b Soma is addressed in the latter part of the stanza; yet ʰᵉ is here referred to in the 3d person in SV., probably under the ₁₋ ˃ of the parallel passage 2. 480b = RV. 9. 7. 3b, which has 3d pᵤₛon in both texts.

pṛṣṭheṣv erayā (SV. airayad) rayim RV. SV. Here RV. is inconsistent; the subject, Soma, is the subject of a 3d person verb in the next pāda. In SV. this is smoothed out.

§336. We may note that it is only Soma for which SV. seems to feel this urge towards direct address; e.g., in the following, where the Maruts are the subject, SV. changes secondarily a 2d person address to a 3d person reference, despite direct address to the Maruts in the preceding: viśve pibata (SV. pibantu) kāminaḥ RV. SV.

§337. The long list of remaining cases is as follows:

yat sānoḥ sānum āruhat (SV. sānv āruhaḥ) RV. SV. The subject is Indra, who is otherwise spoken of in the 3d person even in SV.; the next pāda is bhūry aspaṣṭa kartvam. 'When he (Indra) mounted from peak to peak and beheld much labor.' A 2d person verb here is intolerably harsh; one is tempted to guess that SV. felt āruhaḥ as a verbal noun, dependent on aspaṣṭa (!). This would perhaps be no worse than other forms of which SV. is guilty. But probably it merely shifts to direct address to Indra; see § 294.

yena bhūyaś (PG. bhūriś) carāty ayam (AG. ca rātryam, MG. caraty ayam, PG. carā divam), jyok ca paśyati (PG. °si; MG. °yati) sūryam (MG. °yaḥ) AG. PG. ApMB. MG. The subject is the boy in the shaving rite (except that MG. makes it sūryaḥ in the 2d pāda; perhaps also in the first? doubtful); he is addrest in the 2d person in the rest of the verse in AG. PG. MG., spoken of in the 3d in ApMB. As to persons, PG. and ApMB. are consistent; AG. flagrantly inconsistent; MG. patches together a makeshift reading, keeping 3d person but changing the subject.

yajñasya yuktau dhuryā (TB. ApŚ. °yāv) abhūtām (MS. °thām): and (in same verse) divi (KS. dive) jyotir ajaram (MS. KS. uttamam) ārabhetām (MS. KS. °thām) MS. KS.† TB. ApŚ. In prec. pāda both MS. and KS. have the 3d person gachatām; both are therefore inconsistent. On abhūthām (middle!) see §§21, 56.

antaś carati (MahānU. PrāṇāgU. °si) bhūteṣu TA. TAA. MahānU. PrāṇāgU. LVyāsaDh. ŚaṅkhaDh. The subject (paramātmā, TA. comm.) is addrest in the second person in the 2d half of the verse.

saṁpriyaḥ paśubhir bhava (TB. ApŚ. bhuvat) MS. TB. ApŚ.: saṁpriyaṁ prajayā paśubhir bhuvat TA.   The subject (Agni) is referred to in the 3d person even in MS. in the preceding.

viśvo (TS. viśve) rāya iṣudhyati (TS.°si) RV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.   Both variations in TS. are corrupt; see Keith (p. 21, n. 3), who translates the RV. reading.   As K. remarks, the 2d person is apparently intended to match puṣyase in the next line; but this is an infinitive, not a finite form.

mā no hṛṇītām atithir (SV. hṛṇīthā atithim) vasur agniḥ RV. SV.   The subject can only be Agni in SV., which seems to understand the last two words as a separate sentence: 'Be not ashamed of our guest (O Agni!); Agni is good.'

ūrdhvo adhvaro asthāt (VS. ŚB. 'dhvara āsthāt, KS. 'dhvare sthāḥ, ApŚ. adhvare sthāt) VS. MS. KS. ŚB. ApŚ.   'The offering has stood upright', or (KS.) 'thou (Agni) hast stood upright at the offering', or (ApŚ.) 'he (Agni, who is directly addrest in both the preceding and following) has stood' etc.   Caland assumes 'sthāḥ as the true reading of ApŚ.

sā naḥ payasvatī duhām (TS. PG. dhukṣva; MS. duhe; SMB. duhā?) RV. AV. TS. MS. KS. SMB. PG.   The subject (ekāṣṭakā) is spoken of in the 3d person in the 1st half of the same verse even in TS. PG., which here address it directly.   For the doubtful reading of MS. SMB. see §104, b.

subheṣajaṁ yathāsati (AV. °si; LŚ. yathāsat) AV. TS. MS. KS. LŚ.   Different contexts; but, as Whitney remarks ad loc., the 3d person would suit better in AV.

tat satyaṁ yad vīraṁ bibhṛthaḥ (MŚ.† °taḥ); vīraṁ janayiṣyathaḥ (MŚ. °taḥ); te mat prātaḥ prajanayiṣyethe (MŚ. °te); te mā prajāte prajanayiṣyathaḥ (MŚ. °taḥ prajayā paśubhiḥ) TB. ApŚ. MŚ.   Preceded, even in MŚ., by a direct address in 2d person.

arakṣasā manasā taj juṣeta (TS. MS. juṣasva; KS. juṣethāḥ) RV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.   See §160.   In the following 2 pādas Agni is referred to in 3d person.

imaṁ yajñam abhi gṛṇīta viśve RV. VS.: idaṁ no havir abhi gṛṇantu viśve AV.   The subject is the pitṛs, who are addrest in the next line in the 2d person even in AV., and AV. comm. reads gṛṇīta here.

nātārīd (TB. °rūr) asya samṛtiṁ vadhānām (TB. ba°) RV. TB.   The parallel verbs are all 3d person; TB. comm. glosses na prāptavān.

niṣīdan no apa durmatiṁ jahi (TS. hanat) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.   The subject is understood as Agni.   The first part of the verse refers to him in 3d person and is directly addrest to plants; the majority of the texts change to a 2d person address to Agni, while TS. alone, more consistently but presumably secondarily, continues the indirect reference.

parāvata ā jaganthā (AV. jagamyāt; TS. jagāmā) parasyāḥ RV. AV. SV.
VS. MS. KS.   Subject Indra, who in the following is addrest in 2d person in all.

pitaraḥ pitāmahāḥ pare 'vare tatās tatāmahā iha māvata (PG. māvantu) TS. PG.   The last of a series of similar formulas; the preceding ones are 3d person in both texts.

purā gṛdhrād araruṣaḥ pibātaḥ (TB. pibāthaḥ) RV. MS. TB.   In the following TB. also has 3d person verb.

prādāḥ (SMB. prādāt) pitṛbhyaḥ svadhayā te akṣan RV. AV. VS. TS. ApŚ.
SMB.   Subject Agni, addrest in 2d person thruout the verse in most texts, but in SMB. only in the last pāda; in this (the 3d) pāda, and in the 1st (which is a different one from that of the other texts), it has 3d person forms; in the 2d pāda the form is ambiguous (either 2d or 3d).

mā mā hiṁsīt (VS.† KS. ŚB. hiṁsīḥ) VS. TS. KS. ŚB. TB. ApŚ.   Prec. by mā tvā hiṁsīt (KS. ms. hiṁsīḥ).   In the Tait. school texts the verb-form is mechanically assimilated to the preceding; just as in the one ms. of KS. the form of the prec. verb is assimilated to the following (properly emended by von Schroeder, since the object tvā makes 2d person verb obviously impossible).   Subject kṛṣṇājina (Mahīdhara on VS.).

yathā jyok sumanā asāḥ (HG. asat) ApMB. HG.   The prec. formula addresses the boy in 2d person even in HG.

yad ūrdhvas tiṣṭhā (KS. °thād) draviṇeha dhattāt RV. MS. KS. AB. TB.
N.   In KS. inconsistent with context; see §24.

vākpā vācaṁ me pāhi (MS. pātu) TS. MS. AB. AŚ.   And the same with śrotrapāḥ śrotraṁ, cakṣuṣpāḥ etc. vākpāḥ is nom., which makes 3d person at least easier; and the prec. is a 3d person statement in TS.

viśvasmā id iṣudhyate (TB. °se) RV. TB.   Followed by:

devatrā havyam ūhiṣe (RV. ohiṣe and ohire) RV. (bis) SV. TB.   On the relation of the RV. forms see RVRep. 131f.   The SV. occurrences repeat RV. 8. 19. 1 (which has ohire) but seem influenced by RV.

1. 128. 6 (ohiṣe). TB. repeates RV. 1. 128. 6 but makes it more natural; ohiṣe (p.p. ā ūhiṣe) is surrounded by 3d person verbs referring to the same subject (Agni), so that attempts have even been made to explain ohiṣe as an infinitive (see RVRep. loc. cit., and Oldenberg's RVNoten ad loc.).   In TB. the whole passage is made a direct address to Agni—a much easier reading.

śarma varūtham āsadat svaḥ (TS. āsadaḥ suvaḥ) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.   In TS. the verb is assimilated to the person of the 2d half-verse, where Agni is directly addrest in all.   Tho more consistent, it is doubtless secondary.

jayanta upaspṛśatu HG.: jayantopa spṛśa ApMB.   Only HG. is consistent with parallel formulas in the context, which even in ApMB, are 3d person.

upasadyo namasyo yathāsat (AV. bhaveha) AV. TS. MS.   Subject is a king, equated with Indra; in 1st half verse all texts refer to him in 3d person; here AV. changes to direct address (AV. 3. 4. 1 has the same pāda in a different context.)

anu (AV.*prati) dyāvāpṛthivī ā tatantha (AV.*viveśa, AV.*TS.*TB.tatāna) RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB.   Occurs in two different verses; one (A) is addrest to Soma, with verbs in 2d person; the other (B) refers to Agni, with verbs in 3d person.   Only A occurs in RV., only B in AV. TB.; both occur in VS. TS. MS. KS., but VS.
MS. KS. read in B the 2d person form taken from, and appropriate to, A, while only TS. keeps the distinct forms appropriate to each.

andhena yat (TA. yā) tamasā prāvṛtāsīt (TA. °āsi) AV. TA.   The subject (acc. to both comms. a cow, but see Whitney's note on AV. 18. 3. 3) is referred to in the 1st half verse in 3d person in both texts.

āṣṭa (MS. KS. āṣṭhāḥ) pratiṣṭhām avidad dhi (MS. avido hi, KS. avido nu) gādham TS. MS. KS. PG.   So the Conc.   The subject, Viśvavedas, is referred to in the prec. pāda in the 3d person in TS. KS. (while in MS. he is directly addrest).   If, as we believe, the Conc. presents the true text of KS., it alone of the texts is inconsistent with its surroundings.   The matter is, however, not certain.   The single ms. of KS. is quoted as reading āṣṭāḥ and avide, which seem most likely to represent āṣṭhāḥ and avido; but von Schroeder (doubtless for the sake of consistency with the context) emends, overboldly as it seems, to āṣṭa and avidan.

gaṇān me mā vi tītṛṣaḥ (MŚ. °ṣat) TS. MŚ.   'Do not (let him not) make my troops thirsty.'   Only the 2d person is proper, referring to Indra, to whom the whole verse is addrest.   Knauer on MŚ. 2. 4. 1. 35b defends °ṣat of all his mss. by supposing it to refer to Vāyu, understood.   In the same context: gaṇān me mā vy arīriṣaḥ Vait.   In different contexts: gaṇā me mā vi tṛṣan VS. TB. ŚB.; gaṇair mā mā vi tītṛṣata MŚ.   'Let not my troops be thirsty' or 'make me not thirsty with my troops'; shift between causative and simple verbs, with consequent inversion of subject and object.

abhi no vīro arvati kṣameta RV. TB.: tvam no vīro arvati kṣamethāḥ AB.
   In a repetition of the RV. stanza, in which the subject (Rudra) is addrest with 2d person verbs in the preceding pādas, AB. makes this pāda consistent with them.

ā yantu pitaro manojavasaḥ ApŚ.: eta pitaro manojavāḥ, and: āganta pitaro manojavāḥ MŚ. (in same sūtra): paretana (TS. KS. ApŚ. pareta) pitaraḥ somyāsaḥ (TS. ApŚ. somyāḥ) TS. MS. KS. AŚ. MŚ.
   ApŚ. (in different context from the above in ApŚ., but in the same context, separated by one sūtra, from eta etc. in MŚ.; in the next sūtra but one MŚ. has a 3d person reference to the same subject, śundhantām pitaraḥ, thus shifting from 2d to 3d person).

ṛtūṁr (TB. ṛtūn) anyo vidadhaj jāyate punaḥ (AV. jāyase navaḥ) RV. AV.
   MS. TB.   Preceded by the correlate: viśvānyo bhuvanā vicaṣṭe (so AV., the others similarly).   Said of the sun and moon respectively.
   The change to direct address in AV. is harsh and is pretty surely a mere corruption; the comm. reads jāyate.

tena mā saha śundhata (AV. śumbhantu) RV. AV.   The waters seem to be addressed in RV.; they are referred to in 3d person in the preceding.   The AV. reading is uncertain; SPP. adopts śumbhatu, and so Whitney's Translation; see §360.

divo jyote (and, jyotir) vivasva āditya...āsuvadhvam KS.: devajūte vivasvann āditya...āsuvadhvam MŚ.: vivasvān aditir devajūtis... viyantu TS.   Two parallel pādas preceding have vyantu with nom.
   subject in MS. KS. also.

yo devānāṁ carasi prāṇathena VS. MS. KS. ŚB.: devānāṁ yaś carati prā° TS.   Here, paradoxically, it is the 2d person of most texts which is inconsistent with the 2d (not 3d) person verb of the preceding line; for the subjects of the two must be different, being masc. and fem. respectively.   Doubtless this is the reason for TS's change to 3d person here, and for its further change in the next pāda (devi for deva), which makes the entire stanza addrest to the feminine entity mentioned in the first half.   TS. is, of course, secondary.

yasmād bhīta udavāśiṣṭa (and, udavepiṣṭa) MŚ.: yasmād bhīṣāvāśiṣṭhāḥ

(and, bhīṣāvepiṣṭhāḥ) TB. ŚŚ. ApŚ. Surrounding and parallel formulas (addresst to the animal victim) are 2d person even in MŚ.

aśvināv eha gachatām (TS. TB.°tam) RV. TS. TB. N. áśvināv is voc. in TS. TB., aśvínāv nom. in RV. The same pāda with °tam (and áśvināv) in RV. and other texts, in a direct address to the Aśvins, who are here (in RV.) referred to in the 3d person, the stanza being addrest to a priest (the adhvaryu according to comm. on RV., the hotar according to that on TB.). The preceding pāda in TB. as well as RV. is: prātaryujā (= aśvinau) vi bodhaya. TS. changes this to °yujau vi mucyethām, making it also a direct address to the Aśvins. TB. is inconsistent in that the first pāda is addrest to a priest and refers to the Aśvins in 3d person, while the second addresses them directly. TS. by its further change in the first pāda restores consistency. No doubt the 2d person form of the second pāda is due to influence of the other form of the variant with gachatam, in a different stanza in RV.

iyaty agra āsīt (KS. TA. ApŚ. āsīḥ) VS. MS. KS. ŚB. TA. ApŚ. MŚ. In two different stanzas (used in similar connexions), one in KS. ApŚ., the other in the remaining texts. The KS. ApŚ. stanza is consistently in the 2d person, according to ApŚ. addrest partly to a lump of earth, partly to pebbles. The other stanza likewise refers to a lump of earth, which is addrest directly in the next pāda in MS. at any rate (with vocative devi), and according to Mahīdhara also in VS.; M. thus interprets the pronoun te, as referring to the earth; with āsīt Mahīdhara supplies bhavatī, taking the whole as direct address. There is, then, inconsistency between the two pādas in VS. MS. In TA., which has the same context as VS. MS., this inconsistency is removed by changing āsīt into a 2d person.

iṣaṁ tokāya no dadhat (KS. dadhaḥ) RV. SV. KS., and AVPpp. in its version of AV. 7. 20. 2, see Whitney's note on this. The RV. SV. passage is not pertinent since dadhat is a participle; the context is different. But both KS. and AVPpp. have finite verb forms; the stanza in them is otherwise a direct address, and AVPpp. is therefore inconsistent. In both the next pāda reads:

pra ṇa (MS. na) āyūṁṣi tāriṣaḥ (AVPpp. MS. KS. mss. °ṣat) AVPpp. VS.
TS. KS. ŚŚ. N. See preceding. (In all but AVPpp. KS. MS. the preceding pāda is different.) This pāda, with tāriṣat, is found repeatedly in other contexts (see Conc.), in most of which the 3d person is appropriate. Doubtless the reading with tāriṣat here

(and probably in AV. 4. 10. 6e, where a 2d person also seems required) is due to contamination with that form of the phrase.

ṛdhag ayā (TS. MS. KS. ayāḍ) ṛdhag utāśamiṣṭhāḥ (MS. KS. °śamiṣṭa) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. N.: dhruvam ayā dhruvam utāśamiṣṭhāḥ RV.: dhruvam ayo dhruvam utā śaviṣṭha AV. The forms ayā(s) and ayāḍ are both 2d persons; but because the latter looks more like a 3d person, MS. KS. secondarily make the following verb 3d person, despite direct address in the preceding and following pādas. On the corrupt version of AV. see Whitney on 7. 97. 1.

citrebhir abhrair upa tiṣṭhatho (MS. °to) ravam RV.† MS. Followed by:

dyāṁ varṣayatho (MS. °to) asurasya māyayā RV. MS. The preceding pādas speak of the subject (mitrāvaruṇau) in the 3d person; hence the change to 3d person in MS., which makes the syntax smoother. Nevertheless MS. p.p. reads varṣayathaḥ.

dhartā divo rajaso vibhāti dhartā (TA. divo vibhāsi rajasaḥ; VS. ŚB. divo vibhāti tapasas pṛthivyām) VS. MS. ŚB. TA. The context has a parallel verb yacha.

dhruvaidhi poṣyā (PG. °ye) mayi RVKh. ŚG. PG. ApMB.: mameyam astu poṣyā AV. The AV. is inconsistent, for the woman referred to by iyam is addressed in 2d person in the rest of the stanza.

areḍatā (ahe°, see §160) manasā devān gacha (ApŚ. gamyāt) MS. KS. ApŚ. Parallel verbs are 3d person in all.

janiṣṭa (TS. °ṣvā, MS. °ṣva) hi jenyo agre ahnām RV. TS. MS. KS. The subject is Agni, referred to in 3d person by all in the sequel.

pratiṣṭhāṁ gacha (GB. gachan) pratiṣṭhāṁ mā gamaya (GB. °yet) AB. GB. Direct address in the preceding in both. Gaastra considers GB. corrupt.

marya iva yuvatibhiḥ sam arṣati (AV. iva yoṣāḥ sam arṣase) RV. SV. AV. Parallel verbs in the preceding are 3d person in all.

namo viśvakarmaṇe sa u pātv asmān TS. MŚ.: viśvakarman namas te pāhy asmān AV. Preceding parallel is 3d person in AV.

muñcatu (KS. muñcemaṁ) yajñaṁ (ApŚ. yajño; KS. adds muñca) yajñapatim aṁhasaḥ svāhā MS. KS. ApŚ. 3d person forms are used in parallel formulas in KS.

meṣa iva vai saṁ ca vi corv acyase AV.: meṣa iva yad upa ca vi ca carvati (ApŚ. erroneously, carvari) KS. ApŚ. 3d person forms in the rest of AV.; but the stanza is very obscure.

vaptā (ApMB. vaptrā; HG. MG. vaptar) vapasi (PG. °ti) keśaśmaśru (AG. PG. MG. keśān) AV. AG. PG. ApMB. HG. MG. The fourth pāda has 2d person verb in all; the 3d person of PG. is evidently due to the nom. vaptā, felt as subject, tho in the original form (AV.) it is merely appositional to the subject.   Note that HG. MG. also feel this as inconsistent, and try to smooth out the syntax by the converse change of vaptā to voc. vaptar; while ApMB. has an instrumental vaptrā.

sam̐ gachatām̐ (RV.* gachasva) tanvā (TA. tanuvā) suvarcāḥ (RV.* TA. jātavedaḥ) RV. (bis) AV. (bis) TA.   In AV. 18. 3. 58 is repeated RV. 10. 14. 8, with change in this pāda of gachasva to gachatām̐, which is inconsistent with the rest of the stanza in which the dead man is directly addrest.   The change is obviously due to the influence of the very similar pāda RV. 10. 16. 5d = AV. 18. 2. 10d (this also in TA.), which has, consistently, gachatām̐.   Note that conversely AV. substitutes suvarcāḥ of 18. 3. 58d = RV. 10. 14. 8d for jātavedaḥ of RV. 10. 16. 5d, thus making the two pādas exactly alike.

sam (ApMB. śam) ūdho romaśam̐ hataḥ (ApMB hathaḥ) RV. ApMB. See Winternitz, p. xx of ApMB. Introduction; hathaḥ is senseless.

sarvam̐ tad asmān mā hin̐sīḥ (HG. hin̐sīt) ApŚ. HG.   Parallel verbs are 3d person; there is no doubt of the inferiority of ApŚ., which Caland translates by a 3d person.

chandonāmānam̐ (with variants) sāmrājyam̐ gacha (VSK. gachatāt; MŚ. gachet) VS. VSK. TS. ŚB. MŚ.   The subject is Soma, who is addrest directly in the preceding formulas.

trīn samudrān samasṛpat svargān (MS. °gaḥ) VS. MS. ŚB.: samsarpa (KS. °pan) trīn samudrān svargān (ApŚ. svargāṅl lokān) KS. ApŚ. The subject is addrest in 2d person (gacha) in the last part of the stanza in all, and ApŚ., secondarily no doubt, makes samsarpa consistent with this.   Mahīdhara on VS. understands even samasṛpat as direct address (he kūrma yo bhavān . . . samasṛpat), but the only exprest subject is nom. in all (apām̐ patir vṛṣabha iṣṭakānām).

viśvā †deva pṛtanā abhiṣya TB. ApŚ. HG.: viśvāś ca deva (PG. devaḥ) pṛtanā abhiṣyāḥ (PG.† °syak) KS. PG. 'O god (let the god) annihilate all the hosts.'   abhiṣyak for abhiṣyat, 3d sing. injunctive; see Stenzler's Critical Note on PG. 3. 1. 3b.   The 'god' is Agni, who is addrest directly in the preceding pāda even in PG. (sviṣṭam agne abhi tat pṛṇīhi).

§338.   (d) We come next to a group of variants in which the change of person is due to a change of subject, while the general context remains essentially the same.   Thus:

tiro mā santam āyur mā pra hāsīt (AŚ. santam̐ mā pra hāsīḥ) TB. AŚ.

ApŚ.: tiro me yajña āyur mā pra hāsīḥ (one ms. hāsīt) MŚ.† The subject of the 2d person forms is Agni, who is addrest in the prec.; that of the 3d persons is āyuḥ.

kāmaṁ (AV. PB. kāmaḥ, KS. kāmas) samudram ā viśa (AV. viveśa; KS. PB. viśat) AV. KS. PB. TB. TA. AŚ. ApŚ. 'Desire has entered the ocean' or the like; 'enter thou the ocean (of) desire' (TA. comm.: he dakṣiṇe samudrasamaṁ kāmaṁ praviśa).

ūrdhvo adhvaro asthāt etc., see §337.

ahar no atyapīparat MahānU. SMB.: ahar mātyapīparaḥ AV. 'The day has brought us across': 'thou (sun) hast brought me across the day.'

pra yaṁ rāye ninīṣasi RV.: pra yo rāye ninīṣati N. 'Whom thou (Agni) wilt lead to wealth': 'who will lead (thee, Agni) to wealth.'

mā hiṁsīḥ puruṣaṁ jagat VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚvetU.: mā hiṁsīt puruṣān mama NīlarU. The entire verse is addrest to Rudra, who is the grammatical subject of this verb except in NīlarU., where the subject is his weapon.

rarāṭam ud iva vidhyati (HG. °si) HG. ApMB. Prec. by: yat ta etan mukhe 'matam (HG. matam). 'If thou shootest up this thought in thy face': 'if this bad thought...shoots up...'

devi vāg yat te vāco...tasmin mā dhāḥ (KB. ŚŚ. no adya dhāt) TS. KB. GB. PB. JB. AŚ. ŚŚ. Vait. KŚ. The subject in KB. ŚŚ. is Vācaspati, mentioned in the prec.

vācaspate 'chidrayā vācāchidrayā juhvā divi devāvṛdhaṁ (ŚŚ. erroneously, devā vṛdhan) hotrām airayat (KŚ. airayant, TA. erayasva, ŚŚ. airayasva) svāhā (ŚŚ. omits) ŚB. TA. ŚŚ. KŚ. The passage is troublesome; see Eggeling's note in SBE. 44. 122. Sāyaṇa interprets airayat as equivalent to a 2d person, and refers the whole passage to Vācaspati; if he is right, this variant would belong with those listed in §332. But Eggeling translates airayat as a 3d person, referring, apparently, to the yajamāna; the formula is used under certain conditions at his consecration (dīkṣā); and this seems likely to be correct. The 2d person form of the variant is, of course, addrest to Vācaspati.

yo devayānaḥ panthās tena yajño devāṅ apy etu (KS. tena devān gacha) TS. KS. Subject in KS. is iḍā.

āyur dātra edhi VS. ŚB. ŚŚ.: mayo dātre bhūyāt MS.: vayo dātre (VSK. dātra edhi; KS. PB. dātre bhūyān) mayo mahyam (TB. TA. ApŚ. mahyam astu) pratigrahītre VSK. KS. PB. TB. TA. ApŚ. 'Be thou (potency addrest) life (or the like) to the giver' etc., or, 'may there be strength (or the like) to the giver' etc.   The meaning, of course, is virtually the same.   Cf. next.

śāntir no astu MS.: śāntir me astu śāntiḥ TA.: sā mā śāntir edhi VS. Mahīdhara on VS.: mā, māṁ prati, edhi, astu, puruṣavyatyayaḥ (text by error, °vyatyamaḥ).   But this is, of course, a pedantic and unnecessary assumption; the 2d person is of the same sort as in the preceding variant.

dyaur naḥ pitā pitryāc (TA. pitṛyāc) chaṁ bhavāti (TA. °si) AV. TA.   In AV. the subject is dyaur; in TA. the comm. takes it as the yajamāna, no doubt correctly; but the entire stanza is obscure.

viśvasmai bhūtāyādhvaro 'si (ApŚ. °ro astu devāḥ, KS. MŚ. bhūtāya dhruvo astu devāḥ) TS. KS. ApŚ. MŚ.   The subject in TS. is Soma, in the others yajña; all refer to yajña in the 3d person in the preceding.

sūryaṁ (TA. adds te) cakṣur gachatu (AV. cakṣuṣā gacha) vātam ātmā (AV. ātmanā) RV. AV. TA.   'Let thy eye go (or, go with thy eye) to the sun' etc.   In the following pādas the dead man is addressed with gacha in all; AV. makes this pāda consistent with them; but the others are not syntactically inconsistent, since cakṣuḥ is the grammatical subject in them.

sūryasya raśmīn anv ātatāna (MŚ. ātatantha) TB. AŚ. ApŚ. MŚ.   Preceded by yad agne pūrvaṁ prabhṛtam (prahitam, nihitam) padaṁ hi te.   In MŚ. the subject is Agni; in the others, his padam.

sviṣṭakṛd indrāya devebhyo bhara MS. KS. ApŚ.: sviṣṭakṛd devebhya indra ājyena haviṣā bhūt svāhā VS. ŚB.   The subject in most texts is Agni; in VS. ŚB. it is (obviously secondarily) changed to Indra.

samyag āyur yajño (MŚ.† yajñaṁ) yajñapatau dadhātu (MŚ. dhāḥ) KS. MŚ.   See §158.

yat te krūram...tat te śudhyatu (TS. ApŚ. tat ta etena śundhatām; MS. tad etena śundhasva) VS. TS. MS. ŚB. ApŚ.   'Let that of thee become pure (by this)', or, 'as to that become thou pure by this.'

§339.   We think it unnecessary to list here cases in which the change of person accompanies, and is conditioned by, a shift of voice, as between active and middle or passive; such a shift naturally involves very often a change of person, and the instances can easily be found from the lists in §§30, 83 ff.; to these should be added the variant: tās tvā devīr (devyo) jarase (°sā) saṁ vyayantu (vyayasva), §70.

§340.   For cases of this sort in which there is a change of number as well as person, see §365; and for a couple of cases in which a 2d person singular of direct address varies with an indefinite 3d plural, see §360.

§341. (e) We come now to cases in which the 2d and 3d persons appear in different contexts, with different subjects, each appropriate and consistent. We may begin with a pāda which occurs in the RV. itself in no less than four different verses:

asmākam edhy avitā rathānām (AV. tanūnām) RV. AV. SV. VS. TS. MS. KS.: asmākaṁ bodhy av° ra° RV.: as° bodhy av° tanūnām RV. MS. TB. TA. MahānU.: as° bhūtv av° ta° RV. AV. TA. The last, with its anomalous form bhūtu, is obviously a secondary adaptation to a new context with change of person.

adharo mad asau vadāt svāhā ApMB.: adharo vadāsau vadā svāhā HG.† (corrupt; read as ApMB., as Kirste and Oldenberg both assume): adho vadādharo vada HG. The last, which is the only genuine variant, is a conscious imitation of the other, with change of person to suit different context.

te devāso (TS. devā) yajñam imaṁ juṣadhvam (AV. juṣantām) RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.: te devāso havir idaṁ juṣadhvam AV. It is the last-quoted form of AV. which appears in the same context with the others; AV. 7. 28. 1, which reads juṣantām, is in a wholly different context.

tṛptā mā tarpayata (MG. māṁ tarpayantu) KS. MG. Contexts only vaguely similar.

antaścarasy (MS. °ty) arṇave AV. MS. Different contexts.

adhaspadaṁ kṛṇutāṁ (AV.* kṛṇuṣva; TS. kṛṇute) ye pṛtanyavaḥ AV. (bis) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.

bodhāt stomair vayo dadhat MS.: bodhā stotre vayo dadhat (ApŚ. vayovṛdhaḥ) RV. SV. ApŚ. See §§24, 153. The contexts are different, and MS. is interpretable as it stands; but it has a v. l. bodhā.

mā naḥ prajāṁ rīriṣo (TB. 3. 1. 1. 3 rīriṣan) mota vīrān RV. VS. ŚB. TB. (bis). TA. TAA. ApŚ. SMB. HG. MG. N. One case in TB. uses the pāda in a quite different context, found nowhere else; the person of the verb is consistent with its surroundings.

san me bhūyāḥ (Kauś. °yāt) TS. MS. KS. AŚ. ŚŚ. ApŚ. MŚ. Kauś. Different contexts.

sameddhāram aṅhasa uruṣyāt (ŚŚ. aṅhasaḥ pāhi) RV. ŚŚ.

yathāsthānaṁ kalpantām (ApŚ. kalpayadhvam) ŚB. BṛhU. ApŚ.: yathāsthāma kalpayantām ihaiva AV.: yathāsthānaṁ dhārayantām ihaiva ŚŚ. Hardly comparable. See §241.

āyur no dehi jīvase ŚG.: cf. āyuṣ ṭe (AV. āyur no) viśvato dadhat AV. etc. Hardly comparable.

nyaññ uttānām anv eti (and, eṣi) bhūmim RV. (both). Subjects Indra: Agni.

agnī́ rakṣāṅsi sedhati RV. AV. MS. KS. TB. AŚ. ApŚ. MŚ. Kauś.: apa ra° sedhasi (PrāṇāgU. cātayat) AV. PrāṇāgU.

jeṣaḥ (and, jeṣat, ajaiḥ) svarvatīr apaḥ RV. (all).   Indra is the subject each time, but the contexts are different.   See RVRep. 39.   ajaiḥ is 2d person.   The original is jeṣaḥ, RV. 1. 10. 8.

abhy arṣanti (and, arṣati) suṣṭutim RV. (both): abhy arṣata suṣṭutiṁ gavyam ājim RV. VS. KS. ApŚ.   The addition in the latter indicates that it is secondary; but it is consistent with its context.

aśmā bhavatu nas (AV. te) tanūḥ RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KSA.: aśmeva tvaṁ sthirā (MG. ApMB.* sthiro) bhava AG. ŚG. SMB. PG. ApMB.
HG. MG.   Cf. also aśmā bhava paraśur bhava; see Conc.   The AV. context is related to that of the GS. texts, and Ppp. reads aśmeva tvaṁ sthiro bhava; the vulgate AV. has an interesting contamination with the fundamentally unrelated passage of RV. etc.

ā barhiḥ sīdataṁ sumat RV.: sīdatāṁ barhir ā sumat RV.   Subjects Aśvins: Night and Dawn.

ado giribhyo adhi yat pradhāvasi TB.: ado yad avadhāvati AV.: amī ye ke sarasyakā avadhāvati HG. ApMB. (see Winternitz, Introduction, p. xxvi; he supposes that avadhāvata is intended, while Kirste and Oldenberg assume avadhāvanti for HG.): asau yo 'vasarpati VS. TS.
MS. KS.   Four different contexts with different subjects.

imaṁ yajñaṁ mimikṣatām (TB. °tam) RV. VS. TS. MS. KS. JB. TB. ŚB.
ŚŚ. LŚ.   Quite different context in TB. ŚŚ. from the others; see §337.

juṣethām (and, °tām) yajñam iṣṭaye RV.   In three different contexts, two with direct address, one 3d person; different subjects each time.

punar no naṣṭam ākṛdhi (RV. AV. ājatu) RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS.

yat sīm āgas cakṛmā tat su mṛḍatu (and, mṛḍa) RV. (both).

viśvam ā bhāsi (RV.* bhāti) rocanam (AV.* rocana) RV. (tris) AV. (bis) ArS. VS. TS. MS. KS. TA. MahānU.   Subjects Uṣas, Sūrya, and Indra.

viśvā adhi śriyo dadhe RV.: . . .'dhita RV. KS. TB.: . . . dhiṣe RV.

viśve devāsa iha vīrayadhvam (AV. mādayadhvam; VS. ŚB. Vait. LŚ. mādayantām) RV. AV. VS. TS. ŚB. Vait. LŚ. ApMB.: viśve devā iha mādayantām (KS. vīrayadhvam) TS. KS. TB.   Two different contexts, with appropriate persons of verbs in each.

saṁ sūryeṇa rocate RV. VS. MS. ŚB. TA.: . . . rocase RV. AV.   Subjects Soma Pavamāna: Uṣas.

vi mucyantām usriyāḥ VS. ŚB.: vi mucyadhvam aghnyā (TA. ApŚ. aghniyā) devayānāḥ VS. MS. KS. ŚB. TA. ApŚ. MŚ.   Hardly variants of each other.

sa cakārārasaṁ viṣam AV.: sā cakarthārasaṁ viṣam AV.

sajātānām asad (AV. aso) vaśī AV. (both) VS. TS. MS. KS.

sadyo jajñāno havyo babhūtha (and, babhūva) RV. (both).   Subjects Agni: Indra.

sa viśvā bhuwa ābhavaḥ RV. AV.: sa viśvā bhuvo (AV. sa idaṁ viśvam) abhavat sa ābhavat AV. TS. TB.

stṛṇanti (RV.* stṛṇīta) barhir ānuṣak RV. (both) SV. VS. MS. KS. ŚB.
 TB. ApŚ. N.

viṣe viṣam apṛkthāḥ (and, aprāg api) AV. (both).

madhu tvā (AV. me) madhulā karotu (AV. karaḥ, RV. cakāra, MS. kṛṇotu) RV. AV. MS. TA. ApŚ.

sa no vasūny ā bhara (SV. bharāt) RV. SV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS.   Different context in SV.

aviṣaṁ naḥ pituṁ kṛṇu (KS. kṛdhi; TB. ApŚ. karat) VS. 2.20 (omitted in Conc.) TS. KS. ŚB. TB. ApŚ.   In the last two texts the context is different.

For other cases in which there is a change of number as well as person, see §371.

§342. (f) Finally, some instances which include either gross corruptions or errors of various kinds.   Others, involving number as well as person, will be found below, §372.

ihaiva kṣemya edhi mā prahāsīr mām amum (ApŚ. prahāsīn māmum) āmuṣyāyaṇam (AŚ. mā prahāsīr amuṁ māmuṣyāyaṇam) MS. AŚ.
 ApŚ. MŚ.   The true reading of ApŚ. can hardly be anything but prahāsīr, as Caland assumes.

yatra-yatra jātavedaḥ saṁbabhūtha (TB. °bhūva; but Poona ed. text and comm. correctly °tha) TB. ApŚ.: yatra-yatra vibhṛto (KS. bibhrato) jātavedāḥ AV. KS.   See §262, f.

saṁjñānāneṣu vai brūyāt AB.: saṁjānāneṣu vai brūyāḥ ŚŚ.   Several mss. of ŚŚ. read brūyāt.   But Aufrecht 387, conjectures brūyāḥ for AB., and this is approved by Keith, HOS. 25.307, who so translates.

mā tvā vṛkṣaḥ (TA. vṛkṣau) saṁ bādhiṣṭa (TA. once °tām, once bādhethām) AV. TA.   The form bādhethām can hardly be anything but a corruption for °tām; vṛkṣau is accented, and a 3d person is required; comm. saṁbādhitam mā kurutām.   But perhaps this might be placed in §332.

aśrīraṁ (TB.† aślīlam) cit kṛṇuthā supratīkam RV. AV. TB.   Conc. quotes kṛṇuyāt for TB.; Bibl. Ind. ed. reads in fact kṛṇuthāt, but its comm. and Poona ed. text have the correct kṛṇuthā.

teṣāṁ yo ajyānim (PG. 'jyā°) añtim ā vahāt (SMB. Conc. añjim āvahāḥ, but Jörgensen as the others) TS. SMB. PG. BDh.

nivarto yo ny avīvṛtat (HG. avīvṛdhaḥ) ApMB. HG.   The HG. form is corrupt; Oldenberg adopts avīvṛtat.

madhye poṣasya tṛmpatāṁ (MG. puṣyatām) ŚG. MG.: madhye poṣasva tiṣṭhantīm AG.   For poṣasva read poṣasya (Stenzler, Transl.)

yamasya loke adhirajjur āyat (TA. āya; MS. loke nidhir ajarāya) AV.
    MS. TA.   See §153.   TA. is probably corrupt; MS. is still worse.

adharo mad asau vadāt svāhā ApMB.: adharo vadāsau vadā svāhā HG.
    The latter is corrupt and must be read as ApMB., see §153.

barhi (barhiḥ) stṛṇīhi (TS. MS. MŚ. ApŚ.* stṛṇāhi) TS. MS. GB. ŚB.
    Vait. KŚ. ApŚ. MŚ.   The text of MS. reads stṛṇāti, presumably by misprint.

nir ā yachasi madhyame AV. ŚŚ.   The vulgate of AV. reads yachati, by Roth's emendation.

B. Variants concerning Number

§343. We have explained above (§§289–301, especially 301) the principles of classification adopted for the Number variants, and quoted examples of the principal types.   We now proceed to give the lists in full, beginning with—

1. First Person Singular and Plural, referring to the priests and their associates §344. In many—possibly even in most—of these (see §290) the first person plural is only formally plural, and actually refers to a single person, the speaker, alone.   That is, we have a kind of 'editorial we'.

It is not necessary to suppose that either 'majesty' or 'modesty' is implied in such cases, tho one or the other may at times be suspected.
We begin with a few cases where the 'editorial we' seems particularly clear; but in general we have made no attempt to sift out such instances from the general run of variants in which the priest says 'I' or 'we' in referring to himself and his associates.   For it seems to us practically impossible to do so in the large majority of instances.   This lies in the very nature of the case; there is as a rule nothing to show whether the priestly 'we' means the speaker alone, or includes others of his class.

But in the first three variants, at least, it seems clear that it means the single speaker:

idaṁ vatsyāmo bhoḥ AG.: om ahaṁ vatsyāmi bhoḥ ŚG.: idaṁ vatsyāvaḥ HG. In AG. ŚG. alike spoken by the brahman-pupil when about to leave his teacher on a journey. In HG. spoken by the teacher at the upanayana; the dual includes the boy.

brahmacaryam āgām (MG. upemasi; Kauś. text† āgam, misprint?) ŚB. Kauś. SMB. GG. PG. ApMB. ApG. HG. MG. Again spoken by the brahmacārin. The reason for MG's secondary reading is clearly metrical; MG. makes a verse of the passage which in the others is prose.

śataṁ ca jīvāmi (MG. śataṁ jīvema) śaradaḥ purūcīḥ PG. MG. In the same verse, spoken by the graduate brahman-pupil; MG. otherwise has 1st singular verbs. For other forms of the variant see Conc. and §103. The other texts which show plural verb (jīvantu) have a different context.

Once this 'editorial we' varies with a definite first-person dual:

puṅsāṁ bahūnāṁ mātara syāma (HG. °rau syāva) ApMB. MG. In a verse spoken by wife to husband; the dual includes the two spouses, while the plural is evidently 'editorial'.

§345. The remaining long list is as follows:

yad ahaṁ dhanena (AV. yena dhanena, HG. yad vo devāḥ) prapaṇaṁ (ApMB. °ṇaṅś) carāmi (HG. °ma) AV. ApMB. HG.

vairūpe sāmann iha (MS. adhi; KS. vairūpeṇa sāmnā) tac chakeyam (TS. chakema; MS. tañ śakeyam) TS. MS. KS. AŚ. Followed by:

jagatyainaṁ (AŚ. °tyenaṁ) vikṣv āveśayāmi (AŚ. °ni; TS. °maḥ), same texts.

mā mā (TB. AŚ. ApŚ. no) hāsīn (MŚ. hāsīr, AŚ. hiṅsīd) nāthito (TB. ApŚ. metthito, AŚ. dhiṅsito dadhāmi, some mss. omit dadhāmi) net (AŚ. MŚ. na) tvā jahāmi (AV. KS. °ni, TB. ApŚ. °ma) AV. KS. TB. AŚ. ApŚ. MŚ.

idaṁ pitṛbhyaḥ pra bharāmi (TA. bharema) barhiḥ AV. TA. Followed by:

jīvaṁ devebhya uttaraṁ stṛṇāmi AV.: devebhyo jīvanta uttaraṁ bharema TA. TA. spoils the meter.

yad dhastābhyāṁ cakara (AV. cakṛma) kilbiṣāṇi AV. MS. TB. TA.

yam aichāma (ApŚ. ichāmi) manasā so 'yam āgāt RV. ApŚ.

samānena (TB. saṁjñānena) vo haviṣā juhomi (TB. yajāmaḥ) RV. AV. MS. TB.

emaṁ panthām arukṣāma AV.: sugaṁ panthānam ārukṣam ApMB.

tena tvā pari dadhmasi (PG. dadhāmy āyuṣe) AV. PG.   Different contexts, only vaguely parallel.

bhūpate bhuvanapate...tvā vṛṇīmahe (MŚ. vṛṇe) TB. Vait. KŚ. ApŚ. MŚ.

pragāyāmasy agrataḥ PG. ApMB.: pragāyāmy asyāgrataḥ MG.   Note the metathesis of the syllable sya!

abadhiṣma rakṣo... VS. VSK. ŚB.: idam ahaṁ rakṣo 'va bādhe VS. MS. KS. ŚB. ApŚ. MŚ.: avadhiṣma rakṣaḥ TS. MS. KS. TB. ApŚ. Hardly true variants.

apaśyaṁ yuvatiṁ nīyamānām AV.: apaśyāma yu° ācarantīm TA.

achidraḥ prajayā bhūyāsam ApŚ. ApMB. HG.: cf. ariṣṭā asmākaṁ vīrāḥ (santu), ariṣṭās tanvo bhūyāsma, etc., see Conc. Hardly true variants.

tasya doham aśīmahi (KS. aśīya; AŚ. aśīya te) VS. MS. KS. TB. ŚB. TA. AŚ. ŚŚ.

tām adya gāthāṁ gāsyāmi (MG. °maḥ) PG. MG.

te yaṁ dviṣmo yaś ca no dveṣṭi tam eṣām (TS. ApMB.* vo) jambhe dadhmaḥ (TS. KS. ApMB.* dadhāmi) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. ApMB. (both).

anu manyasva suyajā yajāma (MŚ. yaje hi) TS. MŚ.   But most mss. of MŚ. read yajeha (yaja iha), which would make yaja a 2d person addrest to Agni like anu manyasva.

asmin sahasraṁ puṣyāsam (Kauś. puṣyāsma) ŚB. BṛhU. Kauś.

ugraṁ sahodām iha taṁ huvema (MS. huve) RV. VS. TS. MS. KS. TB. ŚB.   Bad meter in MS.

ud asthām amṛtāṅ anu VSK. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TA. AŚ. ApMB.: ud asthāmāmṛtā vayam (HG. abhūma) AV. HG.

gātrāṇāṁ te gātrabhājo bhūyāsma (KS. °bhāg bhūyāsam) TS. KS. Prose.

pṛchāmi (LŚ. °mas) tvā param antaṁ pṛthivyāḥ, pṛchāmi (LŚ. °mo) yatra (TS. KSA. TB. tvā, AV. viśvasya) bhuvanasya nābhiḥ (AV. TS. KSA. TB. °im), pṛchāmi (LŚ. °mas) tvā (AV. omits) vṛṣṇo aśvasya retaḥ, pṛchāmi (LŚ. °mo) vācaḥ paramaṁ vyoma: RV. AV. VS. TS. KSA. TB. LŚ., and the first pāda in ŚB. AŚ. ŚŚ. Vait.

brahman prasthāsyāmaḥ (GB. ŚB. KŚ. ŚŚ. °mi) TS. KB. GB. ŚB. AŚ. ŚŚ. KŚ. ApŚ. MŚ.

brahmann apaḥ praṇeṣyāmi AŚ. Vait. KŚ. ApŚ. MŚ.: brahman praṇeṣyāmaḥ KB.

yasmai ca tvā khanāmy aham (Kauś. khanāmasi) VS. Kauś.: yasmai cāham khanāmi vaḥ RV. VS. TS.

vācaḥ satyam aśīmahi (VS. ŚB. aśīya) RVKh. VS. ŚB. TB.   Bad meter in VS. ŚB.

vaiśvānarāya prati vedayāmaḥ (AV. °mi) AV. TA. BDh.

agnim indram (TB. agnī indrā) vṛtrahaṇā huve 'ham (TB. vām; MS. °haṇaṁ huvema) AV. MS. TB.

etaṁ yuvānaṁ patiṁ (TS. pari) vo dadāmi TS. ŚG. PG. ViDh.: etaṁ vo yuvānaṁ prati dadhmo atra AV.

sugā (TS. ApŚ. svagā) vo devāḥ sadanā (TS. N. °nam) akarma (MS. kṛṇomi; KŚ. Kauś. ApŚ. sadanāni santu) AV. VS. TS. MS. ŚB. KŚ. Kauś. ApŚ. N.: sugā vo devas sadanedam astu KS.

jīvā (TB. ApŚ. jīvo) jīvantīr upa vaḥ sadema (TB. ApŚ. sadeyam) AV. KS. TB. MŚ. ApŚ.

tam (RV. omits) sarasvantam avase huvema (AV. havāmahe; RV. KS. johavīmi) RV. RVKh. AV. TS. MS. KS. AŚ. ŚŚ.

bṛhaspatiṁ vaḥ...havāmahe GB. Vait.: bṛhaspatiṁ viśvān devāṅ aham huve RV. It is doubtful whether these are really related.

marutāṁ pitas tad ahaṁ gṛṇāmi (MS. gṛṇe te; KS. pitar uta tad gṛṇīmaḥ) TS. MS. KS.

mā (VS. ŚB. add vayam) rāyaspoṣeṇa vi yauṣma VS. MS. ŚB.: māhaṁ rā° vi yoṣam TS. KS. TA. ApŚ.

mitrasya (MS. adds vaś) cakṣuṣā samīkṣāmahe VS. MS.: cf. mitrasyāhaṁ cakṣuṣā...samīkṣe, etc., see Conc. and §303.

rudrasya sūnuṁ havasā gṛṇīmasi (and, vivāse) RV. (both). The change is metrical; triṣṭubh and jagatī verses.

vājasyedaṁ (AV. VS. ŚB. vājasya nu) prasava ābabhūva (AV. °ve saṁ babhūvima) AV. VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.

viśvair viśvāṅgaiḥ saha saṁ bhavema (MŚ. bhavāmi) AV. MŚ.

saṁ jyotiṣābhūma (TS. °bhūvam) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. ŚŚ.: saṁ sūryasya jyotiṣāganma AV. In most texts, but not in TS, juxtaposed with formulas containing 1st plural expressions.

tasmin pāśān pratimuñcāma etān MS. KS.: yaṁ dviṣmas tasmin pratimuñcāmi pāśam TS. ApŚ.

suprajāḥ prajayā (prajābhiḥ) bhūyāsam (syām; syāma; bhūyās)...See Conc.; an intricate tangle of formulas; it is doubtful to what extent they are true variants of each other. The plur. syāma only in VS. ŚB., which elsewhere have the sing. form too; VSK. has sing. in the passage corresponding to the plur. of VS.

yaṁ tvā somenātṛpāma (TS. °pam; MŚ. °pan) VS. TS. ŚB. MŚ.

ena enasyo 'karam (TB. 'karat) AV. TB. (see §315): enāṁsi (TS. KS.* TB.* enaś) cakṛmā vayam AV. VS. TS. MS. KS.* TB.* And others, see Conc. In adjoining stanzas of AV.

huvema vājasātaye RV. SV. MS. KS.: huveya vā° RV. AV. Cf. havante vā°, §316.

anu tvendrārabhāmahe AV.: anu tvā rabhe AV. etc. (see Conc.). The latter is prose; the former is made metrical.

ava (RV. abhi; MS. ā vaḥ; VS. ŚB. vācā) somaṁ nayāmasi (RV. mṛśāmasi; VS. ŚB. ava nayāmi) RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.

āganta pitaraḥ pitṛmān ahaṁ yuṣmābhir bhūyāsaṁ...TS.: āganta pitaraḥ

[agne vratapate vratam acāriṣam; for this Conc. quotes KS. as acāriṣma, by error.]

§346.   In the following, one form or the other is more or less at variance with the context.   This does not necessarily mean that the consistent form is more original:

śivaṁ prajābhyo 'hiṁsantam...agnim...khanāmaḥ (TS. KS. °mi) VS.
    TS. MS. KS. ŚB.   A parallel formula just before this has khanāmi in all texts.

idaṁ śreyo (AV. idam uc chreyo) 'vasānam āgām (ApMB. āganma devāḥ; ApŚ. °nam yad āgām) AV. ApŚ. ApMB.   Even in ApMB. (tho it has a different context) first-singular verbs occur in the preceding line of the stanza.

yac cāham eno vidvāṅś cakāra...VS. ŚŚ.: yac cāham eno vidvāṅsaś... cakṛma...MahānU.   The latter is obviously and flagrantly inconsistent with its context.   The comm. lamely supplies a separate verb, akārṣam, with aham.

indrasya manmahe śaśvad id asya manmahe AV.: indrasya manve prathamasya pracetasaḥ TS. MS. KS. In the following pāda all have the sing. pronoun 'me'.

taṁ tvā juṣāmahe...VS. MS. KS. ŚB.: taṁ tvā juṣe...TS. ApŚ. The preceding and parallel formula is 1st sing. in all; presumably TS. has secondarily changed this to be consistent with it.

aṅhomuce pra bharemā (AV. bhare) manīṣām AV. TS. MS. KS. Haplology naturally suggests itself to us, as it did to Lanman ap. Whitney on AV. 19. 42. 3; the meter, and the Ppp. reading bharemā, seem to confirm the suggestion. Yet the curious fact is to be noted that at the end of the next pāda MS. has the singular participle āvṛṇānaḥ as in AV. (while yet reading bharemā!); TS. KS. consistently show plural participles.

śarman (MS. °maṅs) te syāma (VS. tava syāma śarmaṅs; TS. tava syāṁ śarman) trivarūtha udbhau (TS. udbhit) VS. TS. MS. KS. TA. Note that VS. is hypermetric; TS., with the same order and non-enclitic tava for te, corrects the meter with its syām; it is however clearly secondary; plural pronouns referring to 'us' occur in all texts in the preceding pāda.

adveṣe (MS. °ṣye) dyāvāpṛthivī huvema (MS. huve) RV. VS. MS. The MS. reading is not only bad metrically but inconsistent with the pronoun asme in the next pāda.

edho 'sy edhiṣīmahi (AV. °ṣīya) AV. VS. etc. etc. Not only in AV., but also in several texts showing plural verb, the same verse contains the phrase tejo mayi dhehi, with sing. pronoun.

sarvāṅ agnīṅr (AV. śivān agnīn) apsuṣado huve vaḥ (MS. huve; AV. havāmahe) AV. TS. MS. AB. The AV. is inconsistent with mayi of the next pāda; but it probably has the original reading, 'corrected' in the others. We infer this from the bad meter of MS. and the fact that TS. AB. use the 'patch-word' vaḥ to correct the meter.

sutarmāṇam adhi nāvaṁ ruhema (KS. ruheyam) RV. TS. MS. KS. The KS. reading is inconsistent with tarema of the preceding pāda. But to call it 'absurd' and 'a mere blunder' (Keith on TS. 1. 2. 2. 2) is an exaggeration. Keith would probably not have used such strong language if he had seen the evidence of the Variants as to the frequency of such things.

taṁ vaḥ suprītaṁ subhṛtam akarma (KS. abhārṣam) TS. KS. In the next formula KS. also has naḥ.

vāmī te saṁdṛśi viśvaṁ reto dheṣīya (KS. dhiṣīya) MS. KS.: viśvasya te viśvāvato vṛṣṇiyāvataḥ tavāgne vāmīr anu saṁdṛśi viśvā retāṅsi dhiṣīya TS.: vāmī nāma saṁdṛśi viśvā vāmāni dhīmahi JB. The last is inconsistent.

For a few similar variants between first plural and second singular, see §307, end.

2. Second Person Singular and Plural, referring to the priests and their associates

§347. As we found above (§307, cf. §290) the 2d person varying with the first in reference to the yajamāna or priest, the participant in or beneficiary of the rite, so we have here a few cases of 2d person verbs, singular and plural, used variously in reference to such persons. But the instances are very rare compared to the corresponding ones in the first person.

tad anu preta sukṛtām u lokam VS. ŚB.: tam anu prehi sukṛtasya lokam TS. KS. Mahīdhara says, he ṛtvijaḥ. In TS. KS. presumably the yajamāna is meant.

yamaṁ rājānam haviṣā duvasya (TA. °syata; AV. saparyata) RV. AV. MS. TA. The priest here addresses either himself or an associate: Sāyaṇa, he madīyāntarātman yajamāna vā. The plural of TA. AV. is a lect. fac.

ut sṛjata (SMB. GG. sṛja) gām LŚ. SMB. GG.: om utsṛjata (MG. °tu) TA. ŚŚ. AG. PG. ApMB. ApG. HG. MG. (But Jörgensen reads in SMB. with comm.—his text mss. omit the formula—om ut sṛjata!) The object (generally understood) is the cow at the Arghya rite. 'Let it loose!' is spoken by the recipient if he does not wish it killed. Addrest to the person(s) holding the cow, or the giver of it.—Some texts have in the same context various forms of the following variant (meaning 'do it!', i.e. 'kill the cow', if he wishes it killed). But the word occurs also in various other connexions:

om kuruta: kuru: kuruta: kuruṣva: kurudhvam. See Conc. Only in part belonging to related contexts and variants of one another; see under prec.

pāpmānaṁ me hata (Kauś. 'pa jahi) MG. Kauś.

abhi (AV. pari) stṛṇīhi pari dhehi vedim AV. TB. ApŚ.: paristṛṇīta pari-dhattāgnim TB. ApŚ.: stṛṇīta barhiḥ pari dhatta vedim KS. MŚ. The second occurrence of TB. ApŚ. is in a different verse, but one modelled on the other and in the same vicinity. The comm. on AV. and also that on TB. (both times) regard darbha-grass (sing. or plur.) as addrest. But ApŚ. introduces the formula with saṁpreṣyati, indicating that it is a command to an associate priest. The ApŚ. comm. remarks that, since no other priest than the adhvaryu (who speaks here) 'strews', the adhvaryu addresses himself with this command! (cf. Sāyaṇa on yamaṁ rājānaṁ etc. above). That priests, or at least a priest, and not darbha-grass, are addrest seems clear from the KS. MŚ. variant, where barhiḥ is the object.

agnīñ jyotiṣmataḥ kuruta (MŚ. kuru) ApŚ. MŚ. 'Light the fires!' Addrest to priest(s) or attendant(s), not clearly specified.

3. Subject pluralized or dualized, varying with the same subject in the singular

§348. We have referred (§296) to the variants in which a singular verb with singular subject is, as it were, multiplied to a dual or plural. They fall naturally into two groups.   The first, with which we are here concerned, includes those in which the same subject, in the same or at least a very similar context, and without the inclusion of any different entity, is pluralized or dualized, the number of the verb changing with it.   The second group (§§353 ff.), in which the dual or plural is formed by the inclusion of another entity or entities than the singular subject, will be treated in the next subdivision.   Instances of the converse, that is substitution of a singular for plural in the like circumstances, are equally common and are included in the list which follows.   We begin with cases of

vi parjanyaṁ (TS. °yāḥ) sṛjanti (MS. KS. pra parjanyaḥ sṛjatāṁ) rodasī anu RV. TS. MS. KS.   In RV. the subject is the Maruts; in the others, Parjanya, singular or plural.   The RV. form in relation to the others belongs in §361 below, q.v.

agne gṛhapata upa mā hvayasva KS. ApŚ. MŚ.: agnaya upāhvayadhvam Vait.; cf. agnir me hotā sa mopahvayatām ŚB.   'O Agni house-lord (or, O Fires), invite me.'

ārtavo 'dhipatir āsīt TS.: ārtavā adhipataya āsan VS. ŚB.: ṛtavo 'dhipataya āsan MS. KS.   'The season(s, or the like) was (were) over-lord(s).'

dviṣan me bahu śocatu TB. ApŚ.: dviṣantas tapyantāṁ bahu MŚ.   In the preceding pāda all texts refer to a singular 'hater'.

upahūtopahvayasva; upahūtā upahvayadhvam MŚ. (both) ekaśapham asṛjyata MŚ.: ekaśaphāḥ paśavo 'sṛjyanta VS. TS. KS. ŚB.   Here the singular is really a collective and means the same as the plural: 'one-hoofed (animals) were created.'

dhiṣaṇās tvā devīr viśvadevyāvatīḥ (MS. MŚ. dhiṣaṇā tvā devī viśvadevya- vatī)...abhīndhatām (MS. once abhīnddhām, once abhīndhātām) VS.

TS. MS. KS. ŚB. and (pratīka) MŚ. Since a dual form cannot be construed, it seems that the form abhīndhātām (if not corrupt) is a bastard subjunctive-imperative blend, intended to be 3d singular (like abhīnddhām, the proper form).

manojavās tvā pitṛbhir (KS. pitaro) dakṣiṇataḥ pātu (KS. pāntu) VS. TS.
KS. ŚB.: manojavaso vaḥ pitṛbhir dakṣiṇata upa dadhatām TA.: pitaras tvā manojavā dakṣiṇataḥ pāntu MS. In the same passage.
The form manojavās is plural in MS. KS., singular in the others.

śundhantāṁ lokāḥ pitṛṣadanāḥ VS. MS. KS. ŚB. MŚ.: śundhatāṁ lokaḥ pitṛṣadanaḥ TS. ApŚ. 'Let the world(s) where the fathers sit be purified.'

dūrvā rohantu puṣpiṇīḥ (AV. rohatu puṣpiṇī) RV. AV. 'Let flowering dūrvā-plant(s) grow.' Some mss. of AV., followed by comm. and SPP., read as RV., and Whitney reports Ppp. likewise.

mihaṁ na vāto vi ha vāti bhūma RV.: mahī no vātā iha vāntu bhūmau

MS. KS.

imaṁ yajñam avatu yā (AŚ. no) ghṛtācī (TS. avantu no ghṛtācīḥ) TS. MS.
KS. AŚ. Subject is the śakvarī-verse(s), singular or (TS.) plural.

śunaṁ kīnāśā abhi (AV. anu) yantu (MS. kīnāśo abhy etu) vāhaiḥ (AV.
TS. vāhān) RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.

vāk pataṁgo aśiśriyat (KS. °gā aśiśrayuḥ) AV. KS. The same pāda is read: vāk pataṁgāya dhīyate (TS. śiśriye, MS. hūyate), with middle or passive verb and different subject, in RV. AV. SV. ArS. VS. TS.
MS. ŚB.

anavahāyāsmān (KS. adds devi dakṣiṇe) devayānena pathā (TS. patheta, KS. pathā yatī) sukṛtāṁ loke sīdata (KS. sīda) TS. MS. KS. Plural in TS. MS. because the dakṣiṇās there addrest are plural; in KS.
they are considered collectively, or (better) as a personified abstrac-tion, and hence singular. In the same context, and due to the same circumstances:

asmadrātā (TS. asmaddātrā; MS. ŚŚ. add madhumatīr, KS. madhumatī) devatrā gachata (KS. gacha; TS. adds madhumatīḥ) VS. TS. MS. KS.

Quite similar to the preceding three variants is the group of the next three; all in the same passage in the YV. Saṁhitās:

pipṛhi mā (KS. māgne) TS. MS. KS. ŚŚ.: pipṛta māgnayaḥ (PB. ŚŚ. mā) VS. PB. AŚ. ŚŚ. Vait. And:—

mā mā hiṁsīḥ (hiṁsiṣṭa), see Conc. (This last occurs very frequently, and in other connexions.) In these three cases either various altar-fires are addrest, or Fire collectively; or the same personified, as Agni(s).

yad aśuddhaḥ parājaghāna...KS.: yad vo 'śuddhāḥ parā jaghnur (VSK. 'śuddhaḥ parā jaghānaitad)...VS. VSK. ŚB. See §30.

tena yantu yajamānāḥ svasti MS.: tenaitu yajamānaḥ svasti (KS.* ApŚ. svastyā) TS. KS. ApŚ. The real motive for MS's change may have been metrical; the plural may be understood as one of respect; but for plurality and duality of yajamānas see in Conc. under *agnim āyuṣmatyā (°tya) ṛco mā gāta (Vait. māpagāyā; Kauś. mā satsi)...TS.

AŚ. ŚŚ. Vait. Kauś. One or more priests are addrest. Caland on Vait. would read °gāyata, presumably because the surrounding parallel phrases are plural; but the sing. is supported by Kauś.

ud rathānāṁ (AV. vīrāṇāṁ) jayatāṁ yantu ghoṣāḥ (AV. TS. °*tām etu upaitu māṁ devasakhaḥ RVKh. Rvidh.: upa yantu māṁ devagaṇāḥ MG.

niṣaṅgiṇa upa spṛśata HG.: niṣaṅginn upa spṛśa ApMB. Rudra is meant, and is referred to in the singular in other formulas in the context of HG.; we may understand the plural to refer to the Rud-ras, or Rudra's 'hosts'.

pavantām āntarikṣyā RV. SV.: pavatām ā °RV. And:

pavante vāre avyaye RV. SV.: pavate v° a° RV. The subject is soma, singular or plural. The plural occurrences are found in the midst of ṭṛcas with singular soma referred to; see Bloomfield, RV Rep. 427.

atho (TS. MS. athā) yūyaṁ stha (MS. KS. tvam asi) niṣkṛtīḥ (TS. saṁk°, MS. saṁkṛtiḥ, KS. niṣkṛtiḥ) RV. VS. TS. MS. KS. Addrest to herbs, or (MS. KS.) to an herb; but the singular reading is inconsistent with the rest of the verse, both prec. and following pādas, where even MS. KS. have plur.

trāyatāṁ marutāṁ gaṇaḥ RV.: trāyantām marutāṁ gaṇāḥ AV.

bhaga(s) stha bhagasya vo lapsīya KS. ApŚ.: bhago 'si bh° la° MŚ. Addressed to cakes, one of which is taken by each of the participants in the rite. Plur. thinks of the plurality of cakes; sing. thinks of each person addressing his own cake. 'Ye are (thou art) luck' etc.

tatra rayiṣṭhām anu saṁbharaitam (AŚ. saṁbhavatām, MŚ. saṁbharetām) TB. ApŚ. AŚ. MŚ. See §330.

nīlalohitaṁ bhavati (ApMB. °te bhavataḥ) RV. AV. ApMB. The bridal garment, which is made dual (i.e. of two pieces) in ApMB., 'becomes blue-red.'

viśvakarmaṁs tanūpā asi ŚB.. viśvakarmāṇau tanūpau me sthaḥ ŚŚ. Followed in both by a series of formulas addrest to two sacred fires; in ŚŚ. this formula is assimilated to them, viśva° being made an epithet of the fires.

viṣṇor manasā pūte sthaḥ (Kauś. also, pūtam asi) MS. KS. ApŚ. MŚ. Kauś. (both). GG. KhG. Strainers are referred to; two are mentioned in Kauś. in the sūtra just preceding the one which has the singular form.

mā tvā vṛkṣaḥ (TA. vṛkṣau) saṁ bādhiṣṭa (TA. °ṭām, and bādhethām) AV. TA. (bis). The TA. refers to two pieces of wood.

ahorātrās (KS. TA. °trāṇi) te kalpantām VS. KS. ŚB. TA.: ahorātre te (TB. me) kalpetām MS. TB. 'Days-and-nights' or 'day-and-night'.

rājānaṁ saṁgāyata (PG. °gāyetām) ŚG. PG. Subject, lute-players, two in PG., more than two in ŚG., who are commanded to 'sing of the king'.

agner jihvām abhi (MS. jihvābhi, p.p. jihvām, abhi; AV. KS. jihvayābhi) gṛṇītam (AV. gṛṇata) AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. The subject is certain 'divine hotars', plural in AV., dual in the others; according to Mahīdhara on VS. they are Agni and Vāyu, acc. to Griffith on VS., Agni with Āditya or Varuṇa, or Agni celestial and terrestrial. The AV. comm. is missing; Griffith on AV. understands 'priests of the gods'; Ludwig omits the verse in his translation, and Weber omits the entire hymn.

saṁpṛca (°aḥ, °as) stha saṁ mā bhadreṇa pṛṅkta VS. VSK. KS. ŚB. TB. ApŚ. MŚ.: saṁpṛcau sthaḥ saṁ mā bhadreṇa pṛṅktam VS. ŚB. And, in same passage:

vipṛca (°aḥ, °as) stha vi mā (MŚ. omits mā) pāpmanā (VSK. pāpena) pṛṅkta: vipṛcau stho vi mā pāpmanā pṛṅktam, same texts. VSK. has plural in place of the dual of VS. Addrest to grahas, in the dual passage only two in VS. ŚB. (somasurāgrahau, comm.); but in the preceding part of the formula a plurality of them is addresst in these texts also.

vājino vājajito vājaṁ sariṣyanto etc., and: vājinau vājajitau vājaṁ jitvā etc.; also:

vājino vājajito vājaṁ sasṛvāṅso etc., and: vājinau vājajitau vājaṁ jitvā etc., both VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. MŚ. For the various readings see §329. Either two horses of the racing team, or the entire team, are alternatively addrest or referred to in this ritual formula.

agnim adya hotāram (avṛṇītām, and avṛṇata...) ŚŚ.; see Conc. under this item.

4. Subject pluralized or dualized by the inclusion of a different entity or entities from that designated in the singular form.

§353. Here the dual or plural goes with a subject which includes both the subject of the singular form and some other entity or entities, referred to in the context. It differs from the preceding class in that the 'multiplication' is accomplished by including a disparate person or thing.
As before, the process works both ways; sometimes addition or multiplication, sometimes subtraction or division. Very frequently this manifests itself in the following way: a series of coordinate nouns is the joint subject of a plural verb, while in another form of the same formula the verb is made singular, agreeing nominally with the nearest subject alone.
There is, of course, no real difference in the sense in such cases. All three numbers occur in the first variant, which is somewhat complicated:

§354. Singular, Dual and Plural indraṁ karmasv āvatam (MS. VS.* ᶜ*ta*) RV. AV. VS. (both) MS. KS.

ŚB. TB. ApŚ.: indraṁ karmasv avatu MS.: indra karmasu no 'vata VS. KS.: indraḥ karmasu no 'vatu TB. (see below). All in essentially the same stanza, with sometimes extensive modifications.
The original (RV.) subject is the Aśvins, who are meant by the dual verb. The plural includes Sarasvatī, named (in this version) in the preceding pāda; or Sarasvatī and Indra, in the variant reading indra (voc.). In the singular form the subject is Sarvasvatī alone, as nearest subject (MS.). The TB., if the reading were correct, would be interpretable with Indra as subject; but the Poona ed. text and comm., and the comm. of the Bibl. Ind. ed., read indra...'vata, like the second version of VS. KS.

§355. Singular and Plural

āsīdantu (SV. āsīdatu) barhiṣi mitro (TB. adds varuṇo) aryamā RV. SV.
VS. TB. Followed by prātaryāvāṇo adhvaram. The real subject in RV. is the gods in general; mitro aryamā are merely examples (Sāyaṇa: yo mitro devo yaś cāryamā ye cānye prātaryāvāṇaḥ... devās etc.). But both SV. and TB. were troubled by the seeming disagreement (two gods, plural verb), and each tried to better the construction—SV. by making the verb singular (agreeing with the nearer subject, mitro), TB. by inserting varuṇo and thus providing three subjects.

mā vo riṣat (Kauś. te riṣan) khanitā RV. VS. TS. Kauś. The rest of the verse reads in Kauś.: yasmai ca tvā khanāmasi, dvipāc catuṣpād asmākaṁ mā riṣad devy oṣadhe. The plural in a is awkward, but is evidently conditioned by thought of the other subjects in b, c: 'may they (all) not be harmed, (namely) thy digger, he for whom we dig thee, our bipeds and quadrupeds' etc. Perversely, Kauś. has a singular in d (mā riṣad devy oṣadhe) where a plural would be simpler; it is to be explained as a collective, see under §358. The others have a different pāda d.

saṁvatsaraś ca kalpatām (most mss. of TA. kalpantām) TA. MahānU. Preceded by ardhamāsā māsā ṛtavaḥ. The TA. comm. knew both readings; after explaining kalpatām, with subject saṁvatsaraḥ, he goes on: kalpantām iti bahuvacanapāṭhe sarve 'pi kālaviśeṣāḥ...iti yojyam.—The formulas saṁvatsaro me kalpatām and saṁvatsaras te ka° (see Conc.) have no real connexion with this one.

apāṁ garbhaṁ vy adadhāt (MS. °dhuḥ) purutrā VS. TS. MS. KS. The subject in VS. TS. KS. is pitā, mentioned in the prec. pāda; in MS. it either includes the three personages mentioned in pādas a-c (Viśvakarman, gandharva, and pitṛ), or possibly it is a generalizing plural (cf. §359).

ṛtān mā muñcatāṁhasaḥ TB.: kṛtān naḥ pāhy aṁhasaḥ (TA. enasaḥ) MS. TA. In the prec. two pādas first dyāvāpṛthivī are addrest, then sarasvatī. The verb agrees with the nearer subject in MS. TA., while in TB. it includes both.

savitā varca ādadhāt (MG. °dhuḥ) TB. MG. Preceded by: tubhyam indro (MG. adds varuṇo) bṛhaspatiḥ. In MG. the subject is made to include the gods mentioned in the prec. pāda, while in TB. it agrees with savitā alone.

rucaṁ no dhatta (MS. dhehi) bṛhaspate VS. TS. MS. KS. Preceded by: indrāgnī tābhiḥ sarvābhiḥ. The plural verb includes indrāgnī as well as bṛhaspate as subject.

ūrdhvayā diśā (ŚŚ. diśā saha; TS. AŚ. ūrdhvāyāṁ diśi) yajñaḥ saṁvatsaro (TS. ŚŚ. add yajñapatir; AŚ. °raḥ prajāpatir) mārjayantām (MS. AŚ. °yatām) TS. MS. KS. AŚ. ŚŚ.—KS. is unsyntactical in that it has a plural verb with only two subjects. In MS. AŚ. the verb is made singular, agreeing with the nearest subject only.

yajamānāya draviṇaṁ dadhātu (VS. ŚB. KS.* dadhāta) AV. VS. VSK.
TS. MS. KS. (both) ŚB. TB. ApŚ. MŚ.   A long series of gods named in the preceding; in the majority of texts the verb is sing. agreeing with only the last.   On the change of person see §332.

śraddhā prajā (read prajñā?) ca medhā ca tilāḥ śāntiṁ kurvantu svāhā MahānU.: śraddhāmedhe prajñā tu jātavedaḥ saṁdadātu svāhā TAA.   In the latter the verb agrees with prajñā, the nearer subject.

sūryaḥ (also, somaḥ) pavitram sa mā punātu ApŚ.: vāyuḥ somaḥ sūrya indraḥ pavitram te mā punantu N.

hotā yakṣad aśvinau (°nā) sarasvatīm indram surāmṇāṁ somānāṁ pibatu madantāṁ vyantu (KS. indraṁ sutrāmāṇaṁ somānāṁ surāmṇāṁ juṣantāṁ vyantu pibantu somān surāmṇaḥ; AŚ. *indraṁ
. . [as KS.] . . pibantu madantu somān* etc.) MS. KS. AŚ.   In MS. subject of pibatu is Indra alone (the last-mentioned god; he is moreover the soma-drinker par excellence), while all the gods named are the subjects of the other verbs in MS., and in KS. AŚ. of pibantu likewise.

dīrgham āyuḥ kṛṇotu me etc.; see §365.

śarad dhemantaḥ suvite dadhāta (°tu), etc., see §332.

§356. Singular and Dual tasya nāmnā vṛścāmi (MŚ. vṛścāvo) yo 'smān (MŚ. asmān) dveṣṭi . . .

ApŚ. MŚ. 'By its name I (we two, i.e. I and the fireplace addressed) cleave him who hates us.'

yena yamasya (AV. yamasya yena, ApŚ. TB. omit yena) nidhinā (balinā) carāmi (MS. MŚ. carāvaḥ; SMB.† carāṇi) AV. TS. MS. TB. TA.
ApŚ. MŚ. SMB.   'With what treasure (tribute) of Yama I (we
two) go about.'   The dual cunningly draws the god Agni (addressed in the context) into partnership with the sinner!

punar ātman dadhātu me ApŚ.: punar me jaṭhare dhattām GB. Vait.
Preceded in the latter by: agniś ca tat savitā ca; in ApŚ. by: agniṣ ṭat somaḥ pṛthivī (verb agrees with last subject).

saṁ yujyāva (TS. babhūva) sanibhya ā RV. TS.: saṁ sanuyāva varīṣv. ā KSA.   Preceded in all by: aham ca tvaṁ ca vṛtrahan.   The dual is the natural form; TS. (excluding tvaṁ from the subject) is bizarre.

avānyāṁs tantūn kirato dhatto anyān TB.: prānyā tantūṁs tirate dhatte anyā AV.   Inclusive dual in TB.; two separate singulars, each with subject anyā, in AV.   That is, two separate actions are performed by the members of the pair, one apiece, in AV.; both actions are done by both together in TB.

saṃjajñāne rodasī saṃbabhūvatuḥ TB. ApŚ.: samānaṃ yonim abhisaṃ- babhūva MŚ.   Preceded by yad idaṃ (MŚ. ado) divo yad adaḥ (MŚ. idaṃ) pṛthivyāḥ.   In MŚ. the real sense implies a dual subject, but the verb agrees syntactically with the nearer of the two; note that it has no dual noun referring to the subject, as have the others.

saha dharmaṃ cara (GDh. dharmaś caryatām) GDh. NāradaDh.: sahobhau caratām dharmam MDh.

ayāḍ (ŚŚ. ayāl) agnir (MŚ. ayāṣṭām agnīvaruṇāv) agneḥ priyā dhāmāni MS. KS. ŚB. TB. ŚŚ. MŚ.   And, in the same passage: ayāṭ (MŚ. ayāṣṭāṃ) somasya...; ayāḍ (ayāṣṭām) devānām...; yakṣad agner hotuḥ (yakṣato 'gnīvaruṇayor hotroḥ)...; yakṣat svaṃ mahimānaṃ (yakṣataḥ svau mahimānau); āyajatām (āyajeyātām) ejyā iṣaḥ; kṛṇotu so adhvarān (°rā) jātavedāḥ (kṛṇutām tāv adhvarā jātavedasau); juṣatāṃ (juṣetāṃ) haviḥ.   Duals all in MŚ.; singulars (subject Agni) in various of the others, see Conc.

mā mā (KS. māṃ; AB. mainaṃ) hiṃsiṣṭaṃ svaṃ (AB. svāṃ; KS. yat svaṃ) yonim āviśantau (KS. āviśāthaḥ) MS. KS. AB.: mā mā hiṃsīḥ svāṃ (KS. svaṃ) yonim āviśantī (KS. TB. ApŚ. āviśan) VS. KS. ŚB.
TB. ApŚ.   The dual is addressed to soma and surā together (both are mentioned in the preceding); the singular to surā and soma, respectively, alone.

§357. Dual and Plural

aśvinā bhiṣajāvataḥ (MS. °taṃ; TB. °ta) VS. MS. TB.   'O Aśvins, physicians, aid', or, 'let the Aśvins' etc.   In TB. the plural is due to the inclusion of Sarasvatī (mentioned in the preceding) along with the Aśvins in the subject.

vi sakhyāni sṛjāmahe (ŚŚ. °mahai; MŚ. visṛjāvahai) AŚ. ŚŚ. Vait. ApŚ.
MŚ. PG.   The formula is used in dissolving the ritual bond between yajamāna and priests, and dual pronouns occur in the preceding; the dual of MŚ. is therefore quite rational.   But the other texts think of the plurality of priests, together with the yajamāna.

agnīṣomau tam apa nudatām (Conc. quotes °tam)... VS. ŚB.: agnir agnīṣomau tam apanudantu... ŚŚ.   Very simple case of 'addition' to the subject.

[āyuṣkṛd āyuṣpatnī svadhāvantau,] gopā me stam, gopāyataṃ mām, ātmasa- dau me stam mā mā hiṃsiṣṭam AV. 5. 9. 8: [āyuṣṭad āyupatni (ms.
°niḥ; read āyuṣkṛd āyupatnī?) svadhāvo] gopā naḥ stha... KS. 37. 15: [āyukṛd āyuḥpatnī svadhā vo (so text, and so Caland interprets, not as voc. svadhāvo)] goptryo me stha, gopāyata mā, rakṣata mātmasado me stha ApŚ. 6. 21. 1.   The dual verbs of AV. are apparently addrest to the svadhāvantau (note masculine predicates). KS. has plural with masc. predicates, the masc. being really common gender, inclusive of āyuṣpatnī, fem.; ApŚ. has fem. plural, presumably including the sing. āyukṛd (understood as fem.?) and the dual fem. āyuḥpatnī as subjects; if Garbe and Caland are right in dividing svadhā vo, ApŚ. has no unmistakably masc. subject.

5. Singular verb used alternatively with plural or dual subject felt collectively

§358. As we mentioned above, §297, a plural or dual verb, justified by strict grammar, may be replaced by a singular verb because the subject is felt collectively as a unit. In the first instance the plural is a plurale tantum, āpaḥ 'waters', which is unquestionably construed with a singular verb here:

āpo 'mṛtaṁ stha (PrāṇāgU. °tam asi) Kauś. PrāṇāgU. 'O waters, ye are (thou art) nectar!' We believe the context makes it clear that PrāṇāgU. really feels āpaḥ as a collective singular in sense; to explain the form asi as attracted to the number of the predicate noun amṛtam would be, in our opinion, a mechanical and uninspired interpretation of the passage.

Singular and Dual:

drupadād iva muñcatām (TB. °tu, so read with Poona ed.) AV. TB. Preceded by bhūtaṁ mā tasmād bhavyaṁ ca: 'May what has been and what is to be free me from that as from a post.' The singular in TB. might, possibly, be explained as under (e), that is as agreeing with the nearer of the two subjects alone; but this seems to us false and mechanical. Rather, the two subjects are taken together as forming a single unitary concept.

See also the Kauś. reading, 33.9d, quoted under mā vo riṣat etc., §355.

6. Generalising forms, with subject indefinite

§359. We saw above (§291), that the commonest Vedic form used to express an indefinite subject (French on, German man) is the third plural. This varies frequently with a third singular, which is often likewise indefinite, but sometimes has a definite subject. Indefinite third person forms, either singular or more often plural, likewise vary with first and second person, generally with definite subjects. Such variations between first and third person have been listed above §314 f.; the rarer cases of third plural varying with second singular, with one somewhat similar case of second plural and indefinite third singular, are listed below. The great majority of cases concern only third person forms, in which the 3d plural is indefinite, while the third singular is either definite or indefinite:

agnaye sam anamat pṛthivyai sam anamad... TS. KSA.: pṛthivyām agnaye sam anaman sa ārdhnot AV. (And the like with antarik-ṣāya sam etc., see Conc.; and others.) 'To Agni, to the earth, one (they) made obeisance; he (it) throve'. Both singular and plural are indefinite. In the sequel of the same formula, however, TS. has a definite 3d singular, with subject Agni, while the 3d plural of AV. is still indefinite:

yathāgniḥ pṛthivyā sam anamad... TS.: yathā pṛthivyām agnaye sam anamann... AV. 'As Agni made obeisance to the earth', or, 'as on the earth they made obeisance to Agni'.

na yac chūdreṣv alapsata (ŚŚ. alipsata) AB. ŚŚ. 'Which they (one) would not find (even) among śūdras.' 3d plural aor.: 3d sing. desiderative; both indefinite. See §135.

svasti naḥ pūrṇamukhaḥ pari krāmatu (HG. °mukhaṁ pari krāmantu) ApMB. HG. As the priest (only one, even in HG.) walks around (cows etc. used in the ritual) he says: 'With luck may one (they) walk around full-faced (or, around our full face?).' The plural, at least, seems to be generalizing and indefinite in character.

nābhi prāpnoti (MŚ. °nuyur) nirṛtim parācaiḥ (AŚ. MŚ. parastāt) TB. AŚ. ApŚ. MŚ.: na tat prāpnoti nirṛtim parācaiḥ (KŚ. nirṛtiḥ parastāt) KŚ. ApŚ. The isolated reading of MŚ. is probably a mere blunder; the passage is otherwise corrupt in the MŚ. mss., see Knauer's note. But it can at a pinch be interpreted as generalizing, 'they' = 'people', 'man'.

brahmajāyeyam iti (AV. °jāyeti) ced avocan (AV. °cat) RV. AV. Both sing. and plur. are indefinite: 'if they have (one has) said, She is a brahman's wife.'

yat te grāvṇā cichiduḥ (MŚ. vichindat) soma rājan TB. Vait. MŚ. Both sing. and plur. generalizing: 'what with the press-stone they have (one may) cut off, O King Soma.'

yat te grāvā bāhucyuto acucyavuḥ (Vait. acucyot) TB. Vait. In a stanza which immediately follows the preceding. The plural of TB. is really uninterpretable (comm. acyāvayat); it must be rendered: 'what of thee (soma) the press-stone, arm-dropped, has let fall.' But it seems to be felt vaguely as a generalizing plural, no doubt in mechanical imitation of the plural verb in the preceding and similar passage, just quoted.

yebhir vācaṁ puṣkalebhir aryayan (TB. °yat) KS. TB. The plur. is certainly generalizing, and acc. to TB. comm. also the sing. (sarvo jantuḥ is supplied as subject), altho it might be understood as having sūrya of the prec. pāda as subject; cf. next.

yebhir vācaṁ viśvarūpebhir avyayan (TB. °rūpāṁ samavyayat) KS. TB.
In the same passage as the prec. Again the plur. is certainly generalizing, and the sing. may be considered so with as much right as in the prec., altho this time TB. comm. supplies Prajāpati from the prec. pāda.

vāyuḥ paśur āsīt tenāyajanta (KSA. °jata)...VS. TS. KSA. ŚB. And the same with agniḥ, and with ādityaḥ (sūryaḥ). Both forms are generalizing: 'therewith they (= people; or, one) sacrificed.'

tāsāṁ svasṝr ajanayat (MS. svar ajanan, KS.† svasṝr [ms. svasūr] ajanan) pañca-pañca TS. MS. KS. In TS. the subject is dhātā of preceding pāda; in the others there is no definite subject (generalizing plural).

purutrā te manutāṁ (AV. vanvatāṁ) viṣṭhitaṁ jagat RV. AV. VS. TS.
MS. KSA. N. The subject in AV. can only be indefinite, 'they', if the reading is correct; the comm. reads vanutāṁ. In the others jagat is the subject.

ya indreṇa sarathaṁ yāti devaḥ AV.: yenendrasya rathaṁ sambabhūvuḥ MS. KS. ApŚ. In the latter the subject is indefinite; in AV. it is yaḥ = Agni (who is referred to by yena in the others).

§360. For variations between indefinite 3d plural and definite 1st singular, see §315 above. In a few cases we find the same indefinite 3d plural varying with a definite 2d singular; and once or twice, in the first two variants, a somewhat similar variation between a generalizing 3d singular (subject once a relative pronoun used as indefinite) varying with a definite 2d plural:

śamitāro yad atra sukṛtaṁ kṛṇavathāsmāsu tad yad duṣkṛtam anyatra tat AB. AŚ.: yo duṣkṛtaṁ karavat tasya duṣkṛtam Kauś.

tena mā saha śundhata (AV. vulgate śumbhantu, but SPP. śumbhatu, adopted by Whitney on 18. 3. 56) RV. AV. In RV. apparently the waters are addrest; in AV. the plural form (which is read by some mss.) might also refer to them (and then concerns §337);
the singular, if correct, can only be indefinite (Whitney, 'one').

yenendrāya samabharaḥ (MS. KS. °ran) payāṁsi AV. TS. MS. KS. In AV. TS. the subject is Agni; in MS. KS. indefinite. 'By which thou didst (they did) collect milk for Indra.'

nayanto garbham ʳanāṁ dhiyaṁ dhuḥ RV.: nayantaṁ gīrbhir vanā dhiyaṁ dhāḥ SV. The subject in RV. is indefinite 3d plural; in SV. it is Agni, to whom the hymn is addrest. See Oldenberg, RVNoten, on 10. 46. 5.

yena jayanti (TB. jayāsi) na parā jayante (TB. jayāsai) AV. TB. 'By whom people conquer (thou shalt conquer), not be conquered.'

raṇan (SV. raṇā) gāvo na yavase RV. SV. 'May they (indefinite, Ludwig 'man'; in SV., 'do thou') rejoice as cows do in pasture.' Subject Soma in SV.

[sarasvatyā (°tyām) adhi manāv (with variants) acarkṛṣuḥ (acakṛṣuḥ) AV. KS. TB. ApŚ. MŚ. SMB. PG. See §§136, 236. The SMB. is quoted in the Conc., following the older edition, as sa° adhi vanāva carkṛdhi; the only possible subject of the 2d person verb would be Indra, who is mentioned (not addrest) in the sequel. But the true reading is no doubt manāv acakṛṣuḥ, as given by Jörgensen.]

7. Change of Number due to Change of Subject, in the same context

§361. In many cases the shift in verbal number is due to a rearrangement of the syntax of the passage, involving a change of subject. Cf. above, §§ 323, 338. Naturally, there is often a change of person as well as number. We begin with cases in which number alone is changed; and first cases of

Third Person, Singular and Plural brahma devā avīvṛdhan (MS. devan, KS. devāṅ, MS. KS. avīvṛdhat) VS. MS. TS. KS. ŚB. ApŚ. 'The gods have increased brahman', or, 'brahman has increased the gods.'

catuṣṭomam adadhād (TS. °ṣṭomo abhavad) yā turīyā TS. MS. KS.: agnīṣomāv adadhur yā turīyāsīt AV. Subject in AV. must be ṛṣayaḥ in the sequel if the text is correct; but Whitney on 8. 9. 14 would emend to adadhād.

apām upasthe mahiṣo vavardha (RV.* VS. ŚB. mahiṣā avardhan) RV. (both) AV. SV. VS. ŚB. TA. vavardha, intrans., subject Agni, who is the object of avardhan (trans., subject mahiṣāḥ).

tayā devāḥ sutam ā babhūᵛuḥ TS. KSA. TB.: sā no asmin suta ā babhūva VS. MS. See Keith on TS. 4. 1. 2. 1, note 6.

yathāmīṣām (AV. yathaiṣām, SV. yathaiteṣām, VS. yathāmī) anyo anyaṁ na jānāt (VS. jānan) RVKh. AV. SV. VS. The plural in VS. is due to the fact that amī is made the subject. 'So that one of them may not know another', or, 'so that they may not know one the other.'

ekapadī dvipadī...bhuvanānu prathatām svāhā TS.: ekapādaṁ dvipādaṁ tripādaṁ catuṣpādaṁ bhuvanānu prathantām KS.: ekapadīm... catuṣpadīm aṣṭāpadīṁ bhuvanānu prathantāṁ VS. ŚB. The TS. form is intrans., 'let her (the cow) spread out over the worlds'; the others have a trans. verb with indefinite subject, 'let them spread her out' etc. This might be grouped under the preceding subdivision, but for the change of subject.

aśvaṁ medhyam abandhayat (ŚŚ. abadhnata) ŚB. ŚŚ. See §30, end.

tābhiḥ saṁrabdham anv avindan (TB. saṁrabdho avidat) ṣaḍ urvīḥ AV. TB. In AV. ṣaḍ urvīḥ is the subject; in TB. it is made the object, the subject being saṁrabdho (= Rohita).

anvātāṅsīt tvayi (MS. anvātāṅsus tava) tantum etam VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. The subject is somewhat obscure in both cases; Mahīdhara on VS. understands ṛṣayaḥ, despite singular verb! MS. seems to take the subject to be pitaraḥ in the preceding pāda (the others have pitārā or °raṁ).

apochatu (AV. °chantu) mithunā yā kimīdinā (AV. ye kimīdinaḥ) RV. AV. In RV. the subject of the (transitive) verb is doubtless Indra, who is mentioned in the preceding verse; 'let him shine away the paired kimīdins.' In AV. the verb is intransitive, and the subject kimīdinaḥ: 'let the kimīdins fade away.'

achāyaṁ yanti śavasā ghṛtācīḥ KS.: achāyam eti śavasā ghṛtena (AV. ghṛtā cit) AV. TS. VS. MS. Keith on TS. 4. 1. 8. 1 not unfairly calls the KS. reading 'absurd'; but the psychology of it is plain; it is thinking of srucaḥ in the next line. In the others the subject is Agni.

āvir bhuvad (ArS. bhuvann) aruṇīr yaśasā goḥ (ArS. gāvaḥ) RV. ArS. The subject is changed from aruṇīḥ (singular in RV.) to gāvaḥ, no doubt because ArS. feels aruṇīḥ to be a plural adjective.

pibāt somaṁ mamadad (AŚ. ŚŚ. somam amadann) enam iṣṭe (AŚ. ŚŚ. iṣṭayaḥ) AV. AŚ. ŚŚ. 'May it (soma) exhilarate him at the sacrifice'; 'may the sacrifices exhilarate him.'

aryamṇo agniṁ pary etu pūṣan (ApMB. pari yantu kṣipram) AV. ApMB. The subject is the bride in AV., the kinsfolk (or priests?) in ApMB.

āpo malam iva prāṇaikṣīt (ApŚ. prāṇijan) AV. ApŚ. Subject is a plant in AV.; in ApŚ. waters, the verb being drawn into the simile.

taṁ rakṣadhvaṁ mā vo dabhat TS.: taṁ rakṣasva, mā tvā dabhan MS. 1. 2. 13: 22. 12; VS. 5. 39; KS. 3.1 (in Conc. quoted under the two parts separately; but this is the true parallel to the TS. passage, instead of tān rakṣadhvaṁ mā vo dabhan, to which Conc. gives a cross-reference but which is an unrelated passage). rakṣasva is addrest to Savitar, rakṣadhvam to the gods in general (cf. Keith on TS. 1. 3. 4. 2). tam refers to soma, which in TS. is made the subject of dabhat, 'may it not fail you'; the others understand dabh- in a different sense: 'may they (indefinite; acc. to Mahīdhara, the asuras) not injure thee (Savitar).'

niṣkṛtaḥ sa (TS. °kṛto 'yam; KS. MŚ. °kṛtās te) yajñiyam bhāgam etu (KS. MŚ. bhāgam yantu) AV. TS. KS. MŚ. The subject varies from the paśupati to cattle.

vi parjanyam (TS. °yāḥ) sṛjanti (MS. KS. pra parjanyaḥ sṛjatām) rodasī anu RV. TS. MS. KS. In RV. the subject is the Maruts; in the others Parjanya, sing. or (TS.) plural (cf. §349).

sūro aktuṣv ā yaman (SV. yamat) RV. SV. Preceded by: mā na indrābhy ādiśaḥ. RV.: 'O Indra, let not (evil) intentions aim at us in the light of the sun (or, intentions of the sun by night)'; cf. Neisser, Zum Wbch. des RV. s.v. aktu; Oldenberg, RV. Noten 2.144. In SV. sūro is evidently conceived as nom. subject of yamat, presumably with ādiśaḥ object.

§362. Second Person, Singular and Plural

evo ṣv asman muñcatā vy aṅhaḥ RV. MS. KS. ApŚ.: evā tvam asmat pra muñcā† vy aṅhaḥ TS. The Vasus are addrest, even in TS., in the preceding half verse; TS. here changes rather lamely to an address to Agni, who is addrest in the following pāda.

ihehaiṣām kṛṇuhi (TS. MS. KS. TB. kṛṇuta) bhojanāni RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB. Subject in RV. is doubtless Indra, to whom the hymn is addrest, but no subject is mentioned in this verse (Mahīdhara on VS. understands Soma); several texts make the verb plural, referring presumably to gods in general.

annam payo reto asmāsu (ŚB. 'smāsu) dhatta (MŚ. ApŚ. dhehi) VS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB. ŚŚ. ApŚ. All texts have adjoining formulae where Agni is spoken of in the third person; in this, MŚ. ApŚ. obviously regard Agni as addrest directly, while the other (and presumably more original) reading addresses it to some plural concept (TB. comm. gods, VS. comm. priests).

sam pra cyavadhvam upa (TS. anu) sam pra yāta VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.: agne cyavasva sam anu pra yāhi MS. Followed by:

agne (MS. āviṣ) patho devayānān kṛṇudhvam (MS.* kṛṇuṣva) VS. TS. MS. (both) KS. ŚB.: agne pathaḥ kalpaya devayānān AV. In MS. both forms are consistent with the context, since they are addrest (in adjoining stanzas) to Agni and to devāḥ respectively.

In the others only AV. is grammatically 'correct', since no other subject is named along with Agni and the plural is irrational; Mahīdhara on VS. blithely takes kṛṇudhvam as meaning kṛṇuṣva; but two other plural imperatives occur in the preceding in all YV. texts, and they, like kṛṇudhvam, are evidently addrest to the gods in general.

revati predhā yajñapatim āviśa MS. KS.· revati yajamāne priyaṁ dhā āviśa VS. ŚB.· revatīr yajñapatiṁ priyadhāviśata TS. ApŚ. Acc. to the Tait. ritual texts (see Keith 45 n. 5), addrest to the vapāśravaṇās, the two darbha-stalks and the plakṣa-twig, but acc. to TS. comm., to the members of the sacrificial animal. Acc. to VS. comm., Vāc is addrest.

vrataṁ kṛṇuta (VSK. adds: vratam kṛṇu vrataṁ kṛṇuta) VS. VSK. TS. KS. ŚB. KŚ. ApŚ. Acc. to Mahīdhara on VS. 4. 11 and KŚ., the formula vrataṁ kṛṇuta, 'prepare the fast-food', is to be repeated thrice. The comm. on KŚ. says it is addrest to the adhvaryu etc., i.e. the adhvaryu and his assistants. The three-fold repetition is actually found in VSK., but the second time with singular instead of plural; we may no doubt assume that this form (if textually sound) was addrest to a single priest (the adhvaryu?).

anulbanaṁ vayata (KS. vayasi) joguvām apaḥ RV. TS. KS. AB. ApŚ. On this obscure verse see Edgerton, AJP. 40. 188, 192. Four other parallel verbs, before and after this one in the same stanza, are all singular, addrest to Agni. The subject of vayata is doubtful. KS. makes it consistent with the others, of course secondarily.

ā mātarā sthāpayase jigatnū RV. AV.: ā sthāpayata mātaraṁ jigatnum AV. Followed by:

ata inoṣi karvarā purūṇi RV. AV.: ata invata karvarāṇi bhūri AV. In an obscure hymn to Indra, who is the subject in RV.; in one AV. passage there is a sudden change of subject·(to whom?) in the second half of the stanza, the first half of which is still addressed to Indra, here also.

§363. Singular and Dual

dhattaṁ rayiṁ sahavīraṁ (ApMB. daśavīraṁ) vacasyave RV. ApMB.: rayim dhehi sarvavīram vacasyam AV. Dual addrest to the Aśvins, who are addrest in the next pādas also in AV. The singular must be understood as addrest to the bride, but it is not unfairly described as 'senseless' (Whitney).

yad uttaradrāv uparaś ca khādataḥ AV.: yad apsaradror uparasya (so Conc., but KS. ed. °drūr upa°, see note in text; ApŚ. apsararūpara- sya) khādati KS. ApŚ. In AV. the subject is apparently the two araṇis; in the others it must be Agni, but the passage is so obscure that Caland in his translation of ApŚ. makes no attempt to render it.

atha jivrir (ApMB. athā jīvrī; RV. adhā jivrī) vidatham ā vadāsi (RV. vadāthaḥ) RV. AV. ApMB. (The true AV. reading seems to be jirvir, see Whitney's note.) In RV. addrest to the married couple, altho in the preceding pāda the bride alone is addrest. For this reason, doubtless, the later texts also address this pāda to the bride, by assimilation to the preceding.

r̥tunā somaṁ pibatam (KS. °tu; MŚ. °tām) KS. MŚ. ApŚ. Subject Aśvins in ApŚ. MŚ. (aśvinādhvaryū MŚ.); an unnamed priest in KS.

ghr̥tena dyāvāpr̥thivī ā pr̥ṇethām (MS. MŚ. pr̥ṇa; LŚ. prīṇāthāṁ svāhā) TS. MS. KS. LŚ. ApŚ. MŚ. 'With ghee be filled (gratified), O heaven and earth!', or, 'fill heaven and earth with ghee' (addrest to the post).

varuṇasya skambhasarjanam asi (KS. °ny asi; VS. ŚB. °nī sthaḥ) VS. TS.
MS. KS. ŚB. MahānU. See Keith on TS. 1. 2. 8. 2, note 7.

§364. Dual and Plural

tāv imā upa sarpataḥ SV. JB.: emām anu sarpata MS. In SV. said of a pair of horses.

yenākṣā (ŚŚ. yenā kṣām; SMB. yenākṣān; PG. yenākṣyār) abhyaṣicyanta (ŚŚ. SMB. °ṣiñcatam, PG. °tām) AV. ŚŚ. SMB. PG. In AV. the expression is made passive, with akṣā(ḥ) as subject; see §§332, 293.

§365. Singular and Plural, with accompanying Change of Person

We list here only variants in which 2d and 3d person forms, singular and plural, interchange. A few stray cases of 1st person interchanging with 2d and 3d, with shift of number, will be found above, §§302, 304, 312, 323.

svar (TS. suvar) ṇa śukram uṣaso vi didyutuḥ (RV. °taḥ) RV. TS. MS.
'Like bright heaven the dawns have shone forth (or, make thou the dawns to shine forth).'

ā tvā vasavo rudrā ādityāḥ sadantu VS. ŚB.: vasūnāṁ rudrāṇām ādityānāṁ sadasi sīda (KS. sadanam asi; MS. sado 'si srucāṁ yoniḥ) TS. MS. KS. TB. ApŚ.

paktaudanasya sukr̥tām etu lokam AV.: (in next stanza) imaṁ paktvā sukr̥tām eta lokam AV. Subject of eta is the grains composing the porridge (odana); that of etu is paktā, the cooker of the odana.
Conscious vikāra.

hṛdo astv antaraṁ taj jujoṣat (TA. tad yuyota) RV. KS. TA. 'Let (our song) be within (Parjanya's) heart; may he enjoy it.' TA. comm. regards yuyota as addressed to the priests: 'unite it (viz. our song, to Parjanya's heart).' But the reading is hardly more than a corruption; it has phonetic aspects (j:y).

deveṣu naḥ sukṛto (mā sukṛtaṁ) brūtāt (brūta, brūyāt), and others; see §104, t. The 3d person brūyāt is probably corrupt.

yāś ca (yā) devīr (devyo) antān (with variants) abhito 'dadanta (tatantha); see §220. The form tatantha is corrupt, and may not even be intended for a 2d person.

niṣkam iva prati muñcata (°tām) AV. (both). 'Fasten ye on (another) like a necklace', or, 'let him fasten on himself' etc.

indraṁ samatsu bhūṣata SV.: indraḥ samatsu bhūṣatu RV. AV. Preceded by ā no viśvāsu havyaḥ (SV. °yam). 'Let Indra associate himself with us (SV. praise ye Indra),—who is to be invoked (of us) in every conflict.'

salakṣmā (MS. KS. °ma) yad viṣurūpaṁ (RV. AV. °pā) bhavāti (MS. KS. babhūva) RV. AV. VS. MS. KS. ŚB.: viṣurūpā yat salakṣmāṇo bhavatha TS. In RV. AV. of Yama (and Yamī); in YV. different context, and scarcely interpretable: 'when what is (ye that are) different become(s) similar.'

tigmāyudhāya bharatā śṛṇotu naḥ (TB. śṛṇotana) RV. TB. N. 'Bring ye (a hymn) to him of sharp weapons; may he hear us (hear ye)!'
In TB. the verb is assimilated mechanically to bharatā; its second-ariness is attested by the strong form of the stem.

ā sve yonau niṣīdatu (KS. °ta) RV. TS. MS. KS. AB. 'May he (the god) sit (or, sit ye—priests) in his (your) own home.'

indrāya devebhyo juhutā (MŚ. °tāṁ; ApŚ. juṣatāṁ) haviḥ svāhā PB. KŚ.
ApŚ. MŚ.

indrāya pathibhir vahān (MS. vaha) VS. MS. KS. TB. Original subject is Aśvins and Sarasvatī; in MS. awkwardly changed to a priest.

yānti śubhrā riṇann apaḥ RV.: śubhā yāsi riṇann apaḥ AV. Subject Maruts in RV., in AV. Rohita.

ud dharṣaya maghavann (AV. satvanām) āyudhāni RV. AV. SV. VS.
TS.: ud dharṣantāṁ maghavan vājināni AV. 'Let the energies be aroused, O Maghavan!' or, 'arouse the weapons, O M. (the weapons of the warriors).'

tās tvā devīr (SMB. MG. devyo) jarase (SMB. HG. °sā) saṁ vyayantu (PG. °yasva) SMB. PG. HG. ApMB. MG.: tās tvā jarase saṁ vyayantu AV. 'Let these (goddesses) wrap thee up unto (with) old age'; or, 'wrap thyself up' etc.

śivā naḥ śaṁtamā bhava (TA. also bhavantu) AV. AA. TA. (both).
AŚ. LŚ. TA. by an addition in one form of the variant introduces a different subject; see Whitney on AV. 7. 68. 3.

svadhābhir yajñaṁ sukṛtaṁ juṣasva (TB. yajñaṁ prayataṁ juṣantām) RV. VS. TB.   In the original the subject is Agni; in TB. it is made the pitṛs, obviously because in Brāhmaṇa times svadhā belongs particularly to them.

dīrgham āyuḥ kṛṇotu me (AV.* ApMB. vām) AV. JB. Kauś. ApMB.: āyuṣmantaṁ karota mā (RVKh. karotu mām; KS. kṛṇota mā) RVKh. KS. TA. BDh.: sarvam āyur dadhātu me ApŚ.   Occurs in several contexts in AV.; one of these (7. 33. 1) is the same which occurs in all the other texts except Kauś. and ApMB.; the others are quite different.   In the one verse found in the majority of texts, this pāda is found at the end; in the prec. various gods (last, Agni) are invoked in the 3d person for blessings on 'me' ('you' KS. ApŚ.); here Agni alone is invoked, likewise in the 3d person, in all but KS. TA. BDh., where we have instead a 2d person address to the plurality of gods mentioned before.   Note that the strong stem-forms karota and kṛṇota are poor.   This variant might be classed in §355.

8. Change of Number due to Change of Context, with different Subject

§366. In a large number of cases, as in the case of variations in Person, the shift of number is due to the use of the formula in a different context, involving change of the verb's subject.   In some cases, as in the preceding subdivision, both person and number are changed; we list these cases at the end of this subdivision in so far as they concern shifts between second and third persons along with shift of number.   A few cases of the same sort showing first person in variation with second or third, and accompanying shift of number, will be found among the Person variants, above, §§303, 304, 310, 324.   Included are some ritualistic ūhas and vikāras.

§367. Singular, Dual, and Plural akṣaṅs tān VS. KS. TB.· aghastāṁ tān MS. TB.: aghat tam VS.   All aorists from root ghas.   Contexts are different tho related, and with different subjects.   See also under akṣan in Conc.

tayā devatayāṅgirasvad dhruvā sīda VS. TS. etc. (see Conc.):...dhruvaḥ sīda VS. ŚB. TA.:...dhruve sīdatam VS....dhruvāḥ sīdata TS.
Also: tena brahmaṇā...dhruvāḥ sīdata (and,...dhruvā sīda) KS.
(both); tena chandasā.... and tenarṣiṇā..., see Conc.

sa no mṛḍātīdṛśe RV. AV. TS. MS. KS. ApMB. N.: tā no mṛḍāta (VSK. mṛl°) īdṛśe RV. SV. VS. VSK. TS. KS.: te no mṛḍantv īdṛśe AV.   The last is a vikāra of the singular form, used in the same hymn in AV.

maho jyāyo 'kṛta ('krata, 'krātām): all three in MS. (4. 13. 9: 212. 4–9), TB. AŚ. ŚŚ.   Vikāras; same formula modulated with different subjects.   Cf. akrata, and akrātām, AŚ.   In the same connexion, avīvṛdhata (°dhanta, °dhetām).   The formula begins agnir (indrāgnī, devā ājyapā, etc.) idaṁ havir (also ājyam, etc.) ajuṣata (°śanta, °śetām).

idaṁ vatsyāmo bhoḥ etc., see §344.

āsadyāsmin barhiṣi mādayadhvam RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. ŚB. TB.: ...mādayasva RV.:...°yethām RV. AV.   The three RV. occurrences concern different subjects, Viśve derāḥ, Sarasvatī, and Indra-Varuṇa respectively.   On the AV. occurrences (two of which repeat RV. 10. 17. 8, which has mādayasva, but awkwardly substitute mādayadhvam, changing the subject to pitaraḥ) see RVRep. 298.

sakhāyaḥ saptapadā abhūma TB. ApŚ.   sakhāyau saptapadāv abhūva (ApMB.† °padā babhūva, see Winternitz, p. xvif.) ApMB .HG.: sakhā saptapadī (ApMB. °dā) bhava AG. ŚG. Kauś. SMB. ApMB.
MG.   The singular and dual are used in the wedding-rites, addrest to bride alone, or spoken by the groom of himself and the bride.
The plural form is said by the yajamāna as the adhvaryu steps in the seventh footstep of the soma-purchase cow; it is followed by parallel formulas in the 1st person sing., as sakhyaṁ te gameyam, 'may I go to thy (= the cow's) friendship.'   In our pāda we might expect a dual, including cow and yajamāna, 'we have become friends with seven steps'; but it may be the ordinary plural referring to the yajamāna alone (§344), or, perhaps better, it may include the whole sacrificial entourage; note that the actual stepping is done not by the yajamāna who speaks, but by the adhvaryu.   On the change of person see §307.

gopāyata (MS. gopāya; AV. gopāyatam) mā AV. VS. MS. Vait. ApŚ.
Different contexts; hardly proper variants.

premaṁ sunvantaṁ yajamānam avatu (°tām, °ntu) ŚŚ. (all.) And:

śravad (°van, śrutām) brahmāṇy āvasā gamat (°an, gatām) ŚŚ. (all.) Vikāras, with subjects Indra, dyāvāpṛthivī, Ṛbhus.

§368. Singular and Dual

tasmān naḥ pāhy (Kauś. pātam) aṁhasaḥ RV. Kauś.

prāṇāya me varcodā varcase pavasva VS. VSK. TS. ŚB. · prāṇāpānābhyāṁ me varcodasau pavethām MŚ. In MŚ. addrest to Upāṁśu and Antaryāma cups, in the others to Upāṁśu alone.

ā no yātam (yāhy) upaśruti RV. (both). Addrest to the Aśvins or to Indra.

vidhṛtir asi TA. ŚŚ.: vidhṛtī sthaḥ MS. Different contexts.

divaś ca gmaś ca rājathaḥ (rājasi) RV. (both.) See RVRep. 59.

rayiṁ gṛṇatsu didhṛtam (dhāraya) RV. (both.) See RVRep. 271, 528.

rāyaspoṣaṁ yajamāneṣu dhattam (dhehi; dhāraya) RV. (all.)

sutānāṁ pītim arhathaḥ (arhasi) RV. (both): somānāṁ pī° arhathaḥ RV. SV. See RVRep. 137.

mā mā saṁ tāptam (ApŚ. tāpsīḥ) VS. TS. KS. TB. PB. ŚŚ. LŚ. ApŚ. ApMB. HG. MG. · mā modoṣiṣṭam (ŚŚ. modoṣīḥ) MS. ŚB. ŚŚ. The contexts are quite different and the formulas are only in part related to each other. E.g. in TS. Indra-Viṣṇu are the subject, in ŚB. two fires, in ApŚ. Agni, in ŚŚ. pṛthivī.

viṣurūpe ahanī dyaur ivāsi (TA.* iva sthaḥ) RV. SV. TS. MS. KS. TA. (thrice). N. In one TA. passage addrest to dyāvāpṛthivī, in the rest to a single deity. Followed in same passage by:

viśvā hi māyā avasi svadhāvaḥ (SV. °van; TA.* avathaḥ svadhāvantau), same texts.

apriye prati muñca tat (Kauś.† muñcatam) AV. Kauś. In Kauś. addrest to the Aśvins; in AV. probably to an amulet. Cf. apriyaḥ prati muñcatām, §30.

pā indra (and, pātaṁ narā) pratibhṛtasya madhvaḥ RV. (both). Dual addrest to Indra-Vāyu.

āre bādhethām (MS.* KS.* bādhasva) nirṛtiṁ parācaiḥ RV. TS. MS. (both) KS. (both): bādhasva (AV. bādhethām) dūre (AV. dūraṁ, TS. dveṣo) ni° pa° RV. AV. TS. There are three different contexts; the sing. is addressed to Varuṇa, the dual to Soma-Rudra or Mitra-varuṇa. In some cases this is followed by:

kṛtam cid enaḥ pra mumugdhy (AV. TS.* mumuktam) asmat (KS. asmāt) RV. AV. TS. (both) MS. KS. See preceding.

ā modṛcaḥ pātam (KS.* pāhi) MS. KS. (both): te mā pātam āsya yajñasyodṛcaḥ VS. TS. ŚB. The sing. form of KS. is a vikāra of the other (in close proximity).

rāyas poṣaṁ (KS. tvaṣṭaḥ poṣāya) vi ṣyatu (AV. MS. KS. ṣya) nābhim asme (AV. asya) AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. TB. ApŚ.: r. p. vi ṣyatāṁ n. a. RV. MS. TB. Subject of the dual is Soma-Pūṣan; of the sing. Tvaṣṭar (nom. or voc., see §329, end).

ehy aśmānam ā tiṣṭha AV. ŚG. Kauś. MG.: ā tiṣṭhemam aśmānam ApMB. HG.: ā rohemam aśmānam PG.: imam aśmānam ā roha AG. SMB. GG.: etam aśmānam ā tiṣṭhatam MG. Followed by:

aśmeva tvaṁ sthirā (MG. ApMB.* AVPpp. sthiro) bhava AVPpp. (for AV. vulgate 2. 13. 4b aśmā bhavatu te tanūḥ) AG. ŚG. SMB. PG.
ApMB. HG. MG.: aśmeva yuvāṁ sthirau bhavatam MG. The 2d (dual) version of MG. in a vikāra of the other.

asmān su jigyuṣas kṛdhi (kṛtam) RV. (both). Subjects Indra: Indra-Varuṇa.

asme (AV.* asyai) rayiṁ sarvavīraṁ ni yachatam (AV. yacha*) RV. AV.
(both) bādhatāṁ (TB. °etāṁ) dveṣo abhayaṁ (AV.* adds naḥ) kṛṇotu (TB. kṛṇutām) RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. TB. Subjects Indra: Tiṣya and Bṛhaspati.

§369. Dual and Plural

sumnāya sumninī sumne mā dhattam TS. TB. ApŚ.: sumne sthaḥ sumne mā dhattam VS. ŚB.: sumnāyuvaḥ (KS. °yavaḥ) sumnyāya sumnaṁ (KS. sumnyaṁ) dhatta MS. KS. The plural occurs in a different context from the dual.

anu tvā viśve devā avantu (KS. viśve avantu devāḥ) KS. TB.: anu māṁ mitrāvaruṇāv ihāvatām AA.

śaṁsāmo...AB. ApŚ.· śaṁsāvom, śaṁsāvo...AB. 3. 12. 1. GB. Vait.
And other forms, see Conc. Sacrificial exclamations, based upon verb-forms (dual referring to hotar and adhvaryu, plural to priests as a group?).

te māvantu AV. TS. PG.: te (and, tau) māvatām AV. (in same hymn; vikāras). See further in Conc. under tāni no 'vantu.

pra ṇa spārhābhir ūtibhis tireta (°tam) RV. (both.) Maruts: Indra-Varuṇa.

rayiṁ dhattam (dhattha; dhattho) vasumantaṁ purukṣum (śatagvinam)
RV. (all.) See RVRep. 149.

śarma ca stho varma ca sthaḥ VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. ApŚ.: śarma ca stha varma ca stha KS. ApŚ. Quite different contexts and subjects.

sapatnān sahiṣīmahi AV. 3. 6. 4d; sa° sahiṣīvahi AV. 19. 32. 5d; sapatnīṁ me sahāvahai RV. AV. 3. 18. 5d. ApMB. So the AV. vulgate; but sahiṣīvahi is an emendation (see Whitney's note); the mss. of 19. 32. 5 read °mahi. This stanza is a repetition, with modifications to suit the new context, of 3. 18. 5; the dual is there proper, as the subject is ubhe sahasvatī of pāda c, referring to the amulet and the speaker of the charm (there a woman; in 19. 32. 5 changed to ubhau sahasvantau because the speaker is a man). The dual is equally required by the sense in 19. 32. 5. Yet the vulgate Atharvan reading here is clearly sahiṣīmahi (all mss. and comm., altho Ppp. has the correct °vahi, Barret, JAOS. 46. 42), which should be retained; obviously the entire pāda 3. 6. 4d, which belongs to a quite different context where the plural is required, has been mechanically imported without change into 19. 32. 5.

etā asadan sukṛtasya loke TS. TB.: pratīkas, etā asadan, and (ūha) etā asadatām, ApŚ.

§370. Singular and Plural

marutāṁ prasave (VS. ŚB. °vena) ịaya (TS. jayata) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. In TS. addrest to the horses, in the others to the chariot. Different contexts.

tasmā u rādhaḥ kṛṇuta praśastam (AV. kṛṇuhi supraśastam) RV. AV.

anu mā rabhadhvam (ŚŚ. rabhasva) KS. ApŚ. ŚŚ. Hardly to be called variants; different contexts.

indrasya bhāga stha AV.: i° bhāgo 'si VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. MŚ. Also devasya savitur bhāga etc. and others.

dviṣatāṁ (AV. duritāt) pātv aṁhasaḥ RV. AV.: duritāt pāntv aṁhasaḥ (LŚ. viśvataḥ) AV. LŚ. Two different contexts; verb appropriate in both. In AV. we may suspect a mutual rapprochement in phraseology.

edaṁ barhir ni ṣīdata (AŚ. ŚŚ. ṣīda naḥ) RV. VS. KB. AŚ. ŚŚ. Different contexts.

cakṣur me tarpayata (PG. tarpaya) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. PG. Applied to a different context in PG. Similarly with śrotram, apānaṁ, prāṇāpānau, etc.; and likewise:

prāṇaṁ me tarpayata (ŚŚ. tṛmpa) VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. ŚŚ.

mohayitvā nipadyate (RVKh. prapadyante) RV. 10. 162. 6b (correct ref.), AV. RVKh. MG.

viśvābhyo mā nāṣṭrābhyaḥ (VS. ŚB. °bhyas; MS. daṁṣṭrābhyas) pāhi (TS. TB. pāta; PG. paripāhi sarvataḥ) VS. TS. MS. ŚB. TB. TA. PG. In TS. addrest to the arrows used in the rājasūya; in VS. acc. to Mahīdhara to mahāvīradakṣiṇabhūmi.

varco asmāsu dhatta (AŚ. dhehi) AV. AŚ.: varco mayi dhehi etc., see Conc. Numerous items in different contexts; hardly to be considered variants.

apo (TS. udno) dattodadhiṁ bhintta (or bhinta) VS. TS. MS. KS.: udno dehy udadhiṁ bhindhi KS.† There are two different contexts, both of which occur in TS. MS. KS. In one the plural is appropriate, gods being the subject.   In the other (TS. 4. 7. 13. 2, MS. 2. 12.3, KS. 18. 15) only a singular is appropriate, the subject required being Agni, altho KS. is the only text that has the proper sing. form. Apparently MS. TS. copied mechanically from the other passage where the plur. is required.   VS. has the formula only in this latter (properly sing.) context, but nevertheless has like TS. MS. plur. forms, blandly interpreted by Mahīdhara as singulars (datta dehi, bhintta bhinddhi!)—At the end of the same passages occurs the following formula:

tato no (KS. mā) vṛṣṭyāvata (VS.† and KS. once, °āva) VS. TS. MS. KS. ApŚ. MŚ.   Again KS. varies consistently according to the subject, and is this time joined by VS.   (not noted in Conc.), leaving only Tait. and Maitr. texts with inconsistent plurals where singulars are required.

yām indreṇa (AV. adds saṁdhāṁ) samadadhvam (TS. samadhadhvam, AV. samadhatthāḥ) AV. TS. MS. KS. (so correct Conc.); see also Conc. under *iyaṁ vaḥ sā . . . , eṣā vas sā . . . .*The contexts are different, and both verbs are appropriate.

āyātu (TB.* āyāntu) yajñam upa no juṣāṇaḥ (TB.* °ṇāḥ) VS. MS. KS. TB. (both).   Different contexts; subjects Indra: Ādityas.

apa jahi (hata) parigham ChU. (both).   Addrest to singular and plural deities respectively.

āyur me yacha (ApŚ.* yachata) MS. KS. ApŚ. (both) MŚ.

ūrjam no dhehi (MS. KS. each once, dhatta) dvipade catuṣpade VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB. AG. ŚG. ApMB. PrāṇāgU.   Occurs frequently, in several different contexts; sing. number is appropriate in all but one which is addrest to agnayaḥ, plur., the prec. pāda being: te virājam (KS. samrājam) abhisaṁyantu sarve (correct Conc. for MS.), MS. 1. 6. 2d: 88. 2 and 89. 7, KS. 7. 14d.   Here KS., and once MS., have the correct form dhatta.   In MS. 88. 2 the saṁhitā mss. have incorrectly dhehi (note that this form of the variant occurs, in another context which requires the singular, in the same section of MS. 86. 19); the p.p. dhatte (!), pointing to the correct dhatta, which should probably be read here.

yasyauṣadhīḥ prasarpatha RV. VS.: yasyāñjana prasarpasi AV.   Followed in same verse by:

tato yakṣmaṁ vi bādhadhve (AV. bādhase) RV. AV. VS.

tatremaṁ yajñaṁ yajamānaṁ ca dhehi (MŚ. 5. 2. 16. 14d dhatta, correct Conc.) Vait. KŚ. MŚ. (both) ApŚ. Kauś.   In one of the two occurrences in MŚ. the verb is made plural because several priests are addrest; in the others only one is addrest.

mayi ramasva (LŚ. ramadhvam) SMB. GG. LŚ. Hardly to be considered variants.

karat AŚ.: karan (ūha of karat) AŚ.

gātum vittvā gātum ihi MS. ApŚ.: devā gātuvido gātum vittvā (VSK. °tum itvā) gātum ita AV. VS. VSK. TS. MS. KS. ŚB. TB. In the sing. form secondarily addrest to the animal as it is slaughtered.

tasyāgne bhājayeha mā TB.: tasya bhājayateha naḥ RV. AV. SV. VS. TS. MS. KS. TA. ApMB. The plural is addrest to waters.

ye 'smān abhyaghāyanti AV.: yo asmāṅ abhyaghāyati AV.

mama cittam upāyasi AV.: mama cittaṃ cittenānvehi HG.· mama cittam anu cittebhir eta AV. Hardly variants.

praṇaya Vait. MŚ.: praṇayata AŚ. To plurality of priests in AŚ. Hardly variants?

mā me prajāyā (correct Conc.)...prasṛpa motsṛpa (also, °pata, °pata) TA. 1. 14. 2–4 (each thrice). Modulations of the same formula with different subjects.

yukṣvā (yuṅgdhvaṃ) hy aruṣī rathe RV. (both). Subject Agni: Maruts.

rayiṃ ca naḥ sarvavīraṃ ni yachata MS. KS. AŚ. SMB.:...ni yacha AV. (see Conc. for other sing. parallels). As between singular and plural, quite different contexts and subjects.

rāṣṭram anuṣmai datta VS. TS. MS. ŚB. ApŚ. MŚ.· rā° am° dehi VS. ŚB. The latter in stanza preceding the former; modulation with change of subject.

śarma yacha catuṣpade AV.: śarma yachata dvipade catuṣpade RV.

sindhor ūrmā vy akṣaran (SV. °rat) RV. SV. Different contexts; subject in RV. indavaḥ, in SV. ayaṃ (= somaḥ) sa yaḥ.

sukṛtāṃ loke sīdata (AV. sīda) AV. TS. MS. Subjects dakṣiṇāḥ: odanaḥ.

svadantu (svadāti, °tu) havyaṃ (yajñaṃ) madhunā ghṛtena. Different contexts and subjects; plural form RV. AV. VS. MS. KS. TB. N.; sing. VS. MS. KS. TB. The form svadātu, MS. only, seems to be a blend of the other two.

yaśaḥ stha yaśasvī bhūyāsam ApŚ. (subject waters): yaśo 'si yaśo 'haṃ tvayi bhūyāsam (ApMB. adds asau) ApMB. HG. (subject a man).

viśvā rūpāṇi puṣyata (°yasi) AV. (both).

lokaṃ me yajamānāya vinda (and, ūha, vindata) ChU. (both). Subjects Agni or Vāyu: Ādityas.

yajñaṁ naḥ pātu (TB. pāntu) rajasaḥ (TB. vasavaḥ) parasmāt (TB. ApŚ. purastāt) MS. KS. TB. ApŚ.

agna ājyasya vyantu vaujhak; agnim ā° vetu vau°; agninājyasya vyantu vau°; agnir ā° vetu vau°, all ŚB. 2. 2. 3. 19.

apām oṣadhīnāṁ rasa stha TS. TB. (not MŚ.!): apāṁ puṣpam asy oṣadhīnāṁ rasaḥ...PB. TB. LŚ. ApŚ.

āpura stā mā...pūrayata ŚŚ.: āpūryā sthā mā pūrayata TS. AŚ.: āpṛṇo 'si sampṛṇaḥ (ApŚ. corruptly, āpṛṇoṣi saṁpṛṇa)...ā pṛṇa ŚŚ. ApŚ.   Four quite different contexts with different subjects.

imaṁ me agadam kṛta (AV. kṛdhi) RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS. ŚB.   To one or more herbs; different contexts.

kratuṁ punīta (and, punata) ānuṣak RV. (both).   3d sg. and pl. impf. mid.

divas (SV. divaḥ) pṛṣṭhāny āruhan (AV.* °hat) AV. (both) SV. Subjects Aṅgirasas: Agni.

§371. Change of Person (between 2d and 3d) with Change of Number
(a) Singular, Dual, and Plural sunoty ā ca dhāvati RV.: sunuta ā ca dhāvataḥ RV.: sunotā ca dhāvata AV. Cf. RVRep. 315.   Verbs are all appropriate to the respective contexts.

(b) Singular and Dual chinttaṁ śiro api pṛṣṭīḥ śṛṇītam AV.: pṛṣṭīr vo 'pi śṛṇātu yātudhānāḥ AV.   Subjects are Aśvins and Rudra; hardly comparable.

pibataṁ somyam madhu RV. (quinquies) SV.: pibāti so° ma° RV. (semel) SV.

madhvā yajñaṁ mimikṣatam (and, °ti) RV. (both).

śaṁ no bhūtaṁ dvipade śaṁ catuṣpade RV. MS. KS.: śaṁ no bhava etc., śaṁ na edhi etc., śaṁ no astu etc.; in many texts and different connexions, see Conc.

(c) Dual and Plural madhye divaḥ svadhayā mādayante (RV.* °yethe) RV. (both) AV. VS. See RVRep. 118.

ye kīlālena tarpayatho (and, tarpayanti) ye ghṛtena AV. (both).   Subjects Heaven and Earth: Maruts.

indravantau (ŚŚ. °tā) havir idam juṣethām TB. ApŚ. ŚŚ.: indravanto ha° i° juṣantām TB. ApŚ. Vikāra; subjects śunāsīrau: pitaraḥ.

(d) Singular and Plural gaṇān me mā vi tītṛṣaḥ (MŚ. °ṣat) TS. MŚ.: gaṇān me mā vy arīriṣaḥ Vait.: gaṇā me mā vi tṛṣan VS. TS. ŚB.: gaṇair mā mā vi tītṛṣata MS.   See §337.

rāyaś ca poṣair abhi naḥ sacadhvam (and, sacatām) AV. (both).

juṣasva havyam āhutam RV. AV. VS. TS. MS. KS.: juṣantāṁ...TS.
MS. KS.   The last occurs in the same stanza as in RV. 3. 22. 4 = VS. 20. 90, both of which read juṣantāṁ yajñam adruhaḥ.   Contamination between the two pādas is obvious.

svāṁ yoniṁ api gachata (TB. ApŚ.* °tu) TB. ApŚ. (both) AŚ. ApMB.
HG.

iha sphātiṁ sam ā vahān (vaha) AV. (both).   The second is a vikāra of the first.

ārāc cid dveṣaḥ sanutar yuyotu (RV.* °ta) RV. (both) AV. VS. TS. MS.
KS. N.: ārāc cid dveṣo vṛṣaṇo yuyota RV.

iṣam ūrjaṁ yajamānāya dhehi (Vait. dattvā; AV. duhrām) AV. VS. TS.
MS. KS. ŚB. Vait.   Three different contexts, in AV., Vait., and YV. texts respectively.

mamāmitrān vi vidhyata (and, °tu) AV. (both).   Cf. also: amitrān no vi vidhyatām AV.

viśvaṁ puṣyanti vāryam RV. AV.: vi° puṣyasi vā° RV. AV. SV.   See RVRep. 99.

svasti rāye maruto dadhātana (MG. °tu naḥ) RV. KS. AB. MG.   Knauer assumes that maruto is understood as a nom. sing. and made the subject of dadhātu (perhaps for māruto).   Certainly no 3d person is construable; Knauer's suggestion is hardly more than one of despair.
But all his mss. read thus, and the Baroda ed. (GOS. 35; 1926)agrees.

9. Corruptions and Errors

§372.   The following are merely corruptions or errors of one kind or another.   Some involve variants of person as well as number.

(a) Singular and Dual antas tiṣṭhatu (MG. °to) me mano 'mṛtasya ketuḥ SMB. HG. MG.   All mss. of MG. read °to, and the Baroda ed. agrees.   The form cannot be interpreted grammatically.   It must be either a phonetic variant (u:o) or a mere corruption.   See Knauer's note.

śrotrāya me varcodā (TS. °dau) varcase (MŚ. omits) pavasva (TS. pave-thām) VS. VSK. TS. ŚB. MŚ.   So the Conc. wrongly supplies in TS. 3. 2. 3. 2, after the abbreviation śrotrāya which is all that the text reads.   It is addrest to a soma-cup (graha), and clearly a singular expression, not a dual, is understood.   No variant exists.
Similarly under aṅgebhyo me.

(b) Dual and Plural

supippalā oṣadhīḥ kartanāsme (AV. kartam asmai; VSK. kartam asme) AV. VS. VSK. MS. Subject is Śunāsīrā (dual). Mahīdhara can find nothing to say except that the plural form kartana is used in the sense of the dual. It is, indeed, hard to imagine who else may be included in the subject (gods in general?).

viśvāḥ pinvathaḥ (TB. °tha) svasarasya dhenāḥ RV. MS. TB. The TB. form is to be taken as intending pinvathaḥ, dual (sandhi before s+cons.).

apsarasāv anu dattām ṛṇaṁ naḥ (TB. TA. ṛṇāni) AV. TB. TA.: apsarasām anudattānṛṇāni MS. The MS. reading is badly corrupt; anudatta is uninterpretable; p.p. anu, dattāni, ṛṇāni, which is just as bad.

indrāvathuḥ (VSK. °dhuḥ; KS.* TB. ApŚ. °tam) kāvyair (TB. ApŚ. karmaṇā) daṅsanābhiḥ RV. AV. VS. VSK. MS. KS. ŚB. TB.
ApŚ. The VSK. reading is only a corruption, phonetic in character (sonant for surd); and yet a 3d person (dual!) seems required in all texts; see Oldenberg, RV Noten. on 10. 131. 5.

(c) Singular and Plural

puṁsaḥ kartur mātary āsiṣikta JB.: puṁsā kartrā mātari mā ni ṣiñca KBU. The Conc. says 'read ṣiñcata' for KBU. In any case a 2d plural form must be read; according to Deussen, 60 Up. 25, three
mss. read mā asiṣikta, nearly as in JB.

mātā jaghanyā sarpati (HG. gachanti; read gachati, Kirste) ApMB. HG.

pibā somam indra mandatu (Svidh. erroneously mandantu) tvā RV. AV.
SV. TS. AB. KB. PB. AA. ÀŚ. ŚŚ. Vait. Svidh.

hastacyutī (SV. °tam) janayanta (SV.† °yata) praśastam RV. SV. KS. KB.
ApŚ. MŚ. N. Subject is naro, in preceding pāda; unless this is felt in SV. as singular, from the later stem nara, the verb-form is uninterpretable. Benfey translates as plural, regarding the form as anomalous.

aram aśvāya gāyati (SV. °ta) RV. SV. Subject is the n. pr. Śrutakakṣa in the next pāda (nom. in RV., voc. in SV.). The plural verb in SV. is anomalous; it is perhaps vaguely felt as including the associates of Ś. (cf. §§353 ff.), or as a plural of respect (? unlikely).

agnihotreṇedaṁ havir ajuṣatāvīvṛdhata (AŚ. °vīvṛdhanta) *maho jyāyo
'kṛta* TS. AŚ. Read in both texts (with TB. Poona ed.) *agnir hotreṇedaṁ...°vṛdhata...*AŚ. is doubly corrupt. In the same passage, just before this, the same formula with devā ājyapā(ḥ) as subject; read in AŚ. (1. 9. 5) maho jyāyo 'krata (text 'kṛta; this section is listed as a separate formula in Conc., see §367).

taṁ te duścakṣā māva khyan TS. 3. 2. 10. 2 (so Conc., but the reading is khyat, followed by m-, hence n by sandhi): duścakṣās te māva kṣat (khyat, kṣat) MS. KS.

sarasvatyā (°tyām) adhi manāv (with variants) acarkṛṣuḥ (KS. acakṛ°; SMB. carkṛdhi, but Jörgensen acakṛṣuḥ) AV. KS. TB. ApŚ. MŚ. SMB. PG. See §§136, 236.

adārasṛd bhavata (AV. °tu) deva soma AV. TB. ApŚ. bhavata is apparently assimilated mechanically to mṛḍatā of the next pāda, of which maruto is the subject. Here soma is addressed, and the subject is adārasṛd; bhavata makes no sense; Caland renders bhavatu in ApŚ. Yet bhavata is read in both edd. of TB., and was clearly the Tait. school reading. TB. comm. fatuously makes bhavata equivalent to bhava.

ā pitaraṁ vaiśvānaram avase kaḥ (PB. kuḥ; comm. kaḥ = kuru) PB. KŚ. ApŚ. MŚ. Perhaps only a misprint in PB.

divodāsāya randhayaḥ (SV. °yan) RV. SV. Tho Benfey keeps randhayan in his text, he translates 'du übergabst', as if °yaḥ; so the comm., saṁvītavān asi; randhayan is hopeless (perhaps felt as nom. sg. pple.?)

svasti caratād iha (SMB. ayam; MG. caratā diśaḥ) Kauś. SMB. ApMB. HG. MG. Spoken by the guru at the upanayana; caratād is 3d person; subject is the boy. In MG. caratā is only a corruption, phonetic in character; note the following d-, and compare the extensive section on 'False Divisions' which will appear in our volume on Phonetics.

INDEX OF WORDS

Note.—A complete index of words would manifestly be extremely bulky, and seems to me unnecessary in view of the following Index of Mantras. Here are listed a few important or anomalous words and forms, the importance or anomaly of which is not, or not primarily, a function of the variant mantras in which they occur. Others can easily be located by locating the mantras containing them. References are to sections except when preceded by p. = page.
